The Isle of Man.

1. O. IOHN . MVRREY . 1668 = HIS PENNY. I . M.

R. QVOCVNQVE . GESSERIS . STABIT = The three legs of Man. I

On a specimen 'in the Bodleian Collection, at Oxford, someone has engraved "OF . DOVGLAS . IN . MAN" in place of the three legs of the Isle of Man, probably copying No. 2.

John Murray gave security to exchange his pennies, which his executors performed, when the copper money of the Earl of Derby was issued in 1709.—Snelling.

2. O. IOHN . MVRRAY . 1668 = HIS PENNY. I . M.

R. QVOCVNQVE . GESSERIS . STABIT = OF DOVGLAS IN MAN. I

The above is larger than No. 1.

The Channel Islands.

WE have not met with any tokens of these islands, nor can we find that they ever issued any. From their nearness to France no doubt the denier and double tournois of France formed the inferior currency.

Middlesex.

NUMBER OF TOKENS ISSUED	259
NUMBER OF PLACES ISSUING TOKENS	50
TOWN PIECES ISSUED	NONE.

Middlesex.

LONDON having been created by a recent Act a separate county, the tokens of Middlesex are reduced by the whole of those issued in the new County of London.

The tokens of Middlesex are, however, numerous, and the Editor had every hope of making them a series of peculiar interest from the presence of numerous notes on the issuers. A series of fatalities has, however, befallen the bulk of the notes. The originals of some were passed on for correction to a brother collector who, in a change of residence, entirely lost sight of them, and others in the possession of another helper were accidentally committed to the flames. Owing to the fact that many of these notes had been collected from odd sources abroad many years ago, it was impossible to replace them, and the Editor is therefore obliged, with much regret, to present the county of Middlesex corrected up as closely as possible, but containing very few notes as to issuers.

It has too frequently happened in relation to Middlesex that the absorbing interest of London has prevented much attention being given to those portions of the county which are not considered portions of the Metropolis.

Up to the present time no collector has been found who will systematically investigate the history of many of the Middlesex tokens, and a fair field is open full of many choice opportunities to a zealous investigator of archæological lore.

To Mr. H. S. Gill, J.P., of Tiverton; Mr. Gerard E. Hodgkin, of Richmond, and Mr. Luther Clements, of Peckham, the Editor is indebted for aid in compiling the county list, and up to the discoveries of the present date it is believed it will be found accurate and complete.

Several places issuing tokens are added to those mentioned by Boyne, including Finchley, Heston, Knightsbridge, Newington Green, Turnham Green, and Walham Green.

Of new tokens and varieties eighty-two have been added to Boyne's list, raising the aggregate from 179 to 261.

There are no town pieces amongst the number, and there is but one penny token issued at Stoke Newington.

Eight of the tokens are of unusual shapes; one issued at Acton is octagonal, and the Knightsbridge one is the same shape.

Two issued at Hampton Court are heart-shaped, and also one Hoxton token and one Mimms token are of this picturesque shape.

One Hampton token is square, and another Hoxton token is diamond-shaped.

The series embraces two issues of the greatest possible rarity.

The token of the Toy at Hampton Court is the rara avis of all collectors, while Mr. Hodgkin's specimen of the Chelsea College token is believed to be unique.

Many of the inns which issued their tokens are still in existence, amongst which may be mentioned the Gate House, Angel, and Red Lion, at Highgate ; the Mother Red Cap, at Holloway ; the White Lion, Islington ; the World's End, Shadwell, and others.

The very rare pattern piece issued in 1644 in the city of London is retained in the list, although not strictly belonging to the series, but it is a piece of unusual beauty and peculiar interest.

CHELSEA.

22. O. CHELSEY | COLLEDGE | FARTHING | 1667 (in four lines across the field).
R. A view of the college.

Chelsea College was founded in 1610 by Dr. Matthew Sutcliffe, Dean of Exeter, "to this intent, that learned men might there have maintenance to answere all the adversaries of religion." Archbishop Laud called it Controversy College, and the Roman Catholics in derision gave it the name of an alehouse. After the death of the third Provost, Dr. Slater, suits were commenced in the Court of Chancery respecting the title, when it was decided that Dr. Sutcliffe's estates should revert to their rightful heirs, upon their paying to the college certain sums of money. The college buildings were afterwards devoted to various inappropriate purposes, being at one time used as a receptacle for prisoners, and at another as a riding-house.

In 1667 (the year in which this token was issued) Evelyn delivered by order to the Royal Society the possession of Chelsea College as a gift from Charles II. It was afterwards repurchased by that monarch (but query if the purchase-money was ever paid), and its site utilized for the present hospital.

It does not seem at all clear for what purpose or by whom the farthing was issued, but it may be mentioned that tokens were issued by the authorities of Newgate Prison and Christ's Hospital. [London, Nos. 2043 and 632-3.]

A specimen is in the possession of Mr. J. Eliot Hodgkin, F.S.A., and is probably unique. Notes and Queries, 7th S., March 10, 1888, p. 185.

The house whence these tokens were issued was a favourite resort of Londoners until 1857, when it was pulled down to make room for private houses. Lysons remarks ("Historical Account of Parishes in Middlesex," p. 75): "In the survey of 1653 (in the Augmentation Office), mention is made of a piece of pasture-ground near the river, called the Toying place, the site, probably, of a well-known inn near the bridge, now called the Toy."

This is the only instance of the sign of the Toy given in Larwood and Hotten's "History of Sign-boards" (p. 505); but they mention a Hoop and Toy in Brompton.

Specimens of the token are no less scarce than those of the sign.

The Toy continued to be a favourite resort for visitors to Hampton Court Palace till the year 1857; it was then converted into three dwelling-houses.

Barnabee's Journal.

“So we rode easily through, and only drinking at Holloway, at the sign of a woman with cakes in one hand and a pot of ale in the other, which did give good occasion of mirth.”—Pepys, September 25, 1661.

Formerly the following verses accompanied this sign :

“Old Mother Redcap, according to her tale,
 Lived twenty and a hundred years by drinking this good ale;
 It was her meat, it was her drink, and medicine beside;
 And if she still had drank this ale, she never would have died.”

Larwood and Hotten's “History of Sign-boards,” p. 96.

Monmouthshire.

THE tokens of this county are few in number, and are all of late date; the earliest was issued in the year of the Restoration. Snelling gives the token of William Meredith, of Caerleon, as a town-piece, but he was mistaken.

In the former edition fifteen tokens were described. The following list, besides corrections, includes five additional descriptions.

The county of Monmouth distinguished itself during the Civil War by its strong adherence to the cause of the King, due no doubt to the influence and example of its most worthy noblemen, the Marquis of Worcester and his son, whose loyalty and devotion to the royal cause cost them so dearly. The tokens of the county bear witness to the feelings of its inhabitants by the mottoes and objects represented on their obverse and reverse, viz., the King's head, the Prince of Wales's plumes, and the portcullis, which was the crest of the Marquis of Worcester.

Norfolk.

FOR many of the notes on issuers of Norfolk and Norwich tokens we are greatly indebted to Mr. E. A. Tillett's (privately printed) "Norfolk Tokens." We have also to thank the Rev. C. R. Manning and other contributors for their valuable assistance.

The number of seventeenth-century tokens issued in the county of Norfolk and city of Norwich was very large—greater, in fact, than any other county, excepting Middlesex, Surrey, Kent, and Yorkshire—and is just about equal with Suffolk, there being over 350 issues and varieties, from upwards of fifty towns and villages. No fancy shapes occur, the tokens being round in shape and mostly farthings, only a few halfpence and no pence being issued. Norwich, with over a hundred issuers, produced nothing but farthings. Town-pieces (all farthings) were issued in Norwich (three dates), Yarmouth (two dates), Lynn Regis (two dates), and Cley and Diss one each. All of these bear the arms of their towns excepting that of Cley, which has an anchor and a horseshoe on the obverse and reverse sides respectively.

Many tavern signs are borne upon the tokens of Norfolk, among which we find the Anchor, Bell, Bull, Cross Keys, Crown, Cock, Dove, Eagle and Child, Feathers, Grapes, George and Dragon, Horse, King's Head, Lion, Lamb, Man-in-the-Moon, Rose, Swan, Sun, Wounded Hart, etc.; also showing trade emblems of their issuers, as a ship, shuttle, sugarloaf, man dipping candles, jug, scales, mortar, stocking, key, woolcomb, trowel, helmet, fleece, crossed swords, spade, wheatsheaf, sheaf of arrows, etc. We must not, however, accept the symbol upon the token as necessarily showing the issuer to be an innkeeper, or that the sign actually represented his trade, nearly all traders using a distinctive sign of their own: for instance, we have in Asby the haberdashers' arms and a bull's head on the same coin, a Lynn woolcomber has a rose, Cooper of Norwich has a king's head and a full-blown rose; L. Goodwyn, confectioner, lived at the Golden Camel; and so we have many others. A few of these old signs are still in existence. In Norwich we have the Golden Key, Grasshopper, and Fleece, still shown as old trade signs.

A few issuers indulged in monogram, and a larger number were content with their (and often their wife's) initials only, or, conjointly with date, merchant's marks, and curious devices derived from the names of the token issuer are also found in limited numbers.

Many of the arms of the guilds or companies are shown as a device, upwards of 180 of the Norfolk tokens being so treated. The arms of the Grocers' Company appears in sixty-seven, the Mercers' upon twelve, the Bakers' upon five, the Drapers' and Tallowchandlers' four each, the Apothecaries' and Merchant Tailors' three each, the Blacksmiths', Haberdashers', and Ironmongers' two each, and the Coopers', Cordwainers', Brewers', Dyers', Fruiterers', Upholsterers', and Weavers' one each. The arms of the city of Norwich and of the Duke of Norfolk are also shown. Some few use the armorial bearings of their own families.

The whole of the large series of Norfolk tokens was issued from 1650 to 1671, these being the earliest and latest dates known among them.

We believe the tokens shown on the plate illustrating the issue of this county (kindly given by J. J. Colman, Esq., M.P.) have not been previously engraved in any published work.

65. Another similar, dated 1669 (smaller).

From the Town Books of Lynn :

"November 4th, 1670.—Forasmuch as Mr. Mayor (Henry Bell, Esq.) did this day present to this House, 2 Letters, the one from Mr. Recorder, and the other from Mr. Wright, for and about the danger the Town is lyable too for and concerning their putting out Farthings: Mr. Mayor is desired to answer the said Letters, and to let them know this House doe desire that they would both effectually take care to use all means to prevent the Quo-ranto issuing out against the Town, and to petition his Majesties pardon, and to doe whatsoever else they shall judge necessary to prevent any trouble that may fall on this Corporation for the putting out these farthings, which are out on the corporation account."

It was two years before the King's pardon was obtained, which is thus noticed in the town books :

"November 2nd, 1672.—Ordered the Town Seal to be fixed to an instrument acknowledging his Majesties grace and favour in pardoning the Corporation for making of Farthings."—Richard's "History of Lynn," vol. ii., pp. 824-825.

This token has been placed to Masham, in Yorkshire, but as it is similar to the one issued by Havkins, of Aylsham, I have claimed it for the above village, which is near Aylsham. The token issued by Charles Clarke, of Movsham, probably belongs to Moulsham, in Essex, and not to Marsham, as stated in Boyne's former edition.

Mint-mark, a mullet.

113. A variety with a star for a mint-mark.

114. Another variety, struck from different dies.

Atwood resided in St. Michael at Plea from 1659 to 1668, but appears to have subsequently removed into St. George, Tombland: see Blomefield's "History of Norwich," p. 745. He was admitted to the freedom of the city on May 3, 1647, and was a haberdasher by trade. His tokens are the worst executed of the Norwich series, and are rarely found in good condition. A John Atwood was buried at St. Peter Mancroft in 1695.

115. O. IAMES . AVBREE = $\begin{matrix} 1 & * & 6. \\ 6 & * & 7. \end{matrix}$
R. IN . NORWICH = I . M . A.

"Jacobus Arborey Dyer filius Thome Arborey admissus est ciuis 17^o ffeb., 1646," O.S. He afterwards resided in St. Clement's parish. Thomas Turner, an apprentice of "James Arbree," was sworn a freeman in 1662.

116. O. MICHAELL . BAKER = 1667.
R. OF . NORWICH = M . A . B.

"Michaell Baker Taylor filius Joh'nis Baker admissus est Civis 6^o Sept., 1645." He resided in St. Michael-at-Plea, and was overseer there in 1667-68.

117. O. IAMES . BARTON = The Fruiterers' Arms.
R. IN . NORWICH . 1667 = I . E . B.

As the arms of the Fruiterers' Company are the tree of Paradise, environed with the serpent between Adam and Eve, it is possible that the device upon this token was intended to represent the sign of the Adam and Eve, which was to be found in Norwich in the seventeenth century, and not the Fruiterers' arms. James Barton, clockmaker, was admitted a freeman in 1629, and James Barton, fringe-maker, in 1648.

118. O. VIOLET . BENTON = A key.
R. IN . NORWICH . 1664 = V . R .

"Violett Benton Cordyn' Appr'nt Tho. Semer admissus est Ciuis 21^o die

119. O. NICHOLAS . BILHAM = The Grocers' Arms.

R. OF . NORWICH = N . B.

Nicholas Bilham, grocer, was admitted to the freedom of the city in 1660. He resided in St. John's Maddermarket, and was buried there in 1662.

120. O. IOHN . BLAND = A stocking (above it a small R).

R. IN . NORWICH = I . M . B.

121. A variety differing in the obverse die.

The small letter R on the obverse is the initial of Thomas Rawlings, who was chief engraver of the Mint under Charles I. During the Commonwealth he fell into poverty, and took to engraving dies for tokens. "Joh'es Blankes," woollen draper, was admitted a freeman in 1648, and as no John Bland occurs in the "Lib. Introit. Civ." in the middle of the seventeenth century, he was probably the issuer.

122. O. PEETER . BLOFELD = The Grocers' Arms.

R. IN . NORWICH = P . B.

He resided in St. Michael at Plea, and was buried there in 1676. A Peter Blowfield, worsted-weaver, was sworn a freeman in 1631.

123. O. AVGVSTINE . BRIDGS = A cock.

R. IN . NORWICH . GROCER = A . B.

Engraved in "Norfolk Archæology," vol. v., p. 241.

124. A variety differing in both dies.

The family of Briggs had long been settled in Norfolk, and originally resided at Sall, near Reepham. As there were two Augustine Briggs, father and son, living in St. Peter Mancroft, Norwich, at this time, we cannot positively say which was the issuer. The father, who was born in 1617, was a strenuous supporter of King Charles, was Sheriff in 1660, Mayor in 1670, and M.P. in 1677. He died in 1684, and was buried in St. Peter Mancroft Church, where his monument, which has been engraved by Blomefield, remains. He was admitted to the freedom of the city, as a grocer, in 1644. The son, who was sworn a freeman in 1674, was Sheriff in 1685, Mayor in 1695, and was buried at St. Peter's in 1704. He married Elizabeth Cock, which may account for the device upon the token, but the dates would point to the father as the issuer. For a pedigree of, and much information relative to the family, see Blomefield's "History of Norwich," p. 640. Briggs Street probably takes its name from this family.

125. O. IAMES . BROCKDEN = A castle.

R. IN . NORWICH . 1664 = I . R . B.

James Brockden, "Spurryer," was admitted to the freedom of the city in 1636. He resided in Mancroft, and was churchwarden in 1652. We find that several apprentices, as well as sons, of James Brockden, were admitted as mercers; leading one to infer that there were two of that name, the one a spurrier, the other a mercer, but this needs confirmation. He was Sheriff in 1679, and died in 1680. His widow, Rebecca, died in 1686. Both were buried in St. Peter Mancroft. The castle on the token is triple towered, like that in the city arms, to which the device on the token probably alludes, although it may be that Brockden lived at the sign of the Castle, which was common in Norwich in the seventeenth century.

126. O. ROBERT . BROWN = The Merchant-Tailors' Arms.

R. IN . NORWICH = R . A . B.

Engraved in "Norfolk Archæology," vol v., p. 241.

Robert Brown, tailor, apprentice of Robert Brown, was admitted a citizen in 1636; and Robert Browne, hosier, apprentice to Henry Watts, Esq., in 1657. The former was probably the issuer.

127. O. IOHN . BROWNE = A swan.

R. IN . NORWICH . 1657 = I . S . B.

This issuer's name is too common to identify. The Swan, one of the most ancient inns in Norwich, was situate in St. Peter Mancroft, and was only closed a few years since.

128. O. EDWARD . BVXTON = The Grocers' Arms.

R. OF . NORWICH . 1653 = E . A . B.

"Edwardus Bvxton Grocer app'ntic Robto Baret admissus est Civis 25^o Sept. 1648." He resided in St. Andrew's, and was churchwarden in 1659-60. He died in 1665, and was buried in the south aisle of the church of that parish, in which in Blomefield's time there was a stone to the memory of Elizabeth, daughter of Edward and Ann Buxton, Edward their son, and Mr. Edward Buxton.

129. O. EDMVND . CAMOND = The Grocers' Arms.

R. OF . NORWICH . GROCER = E . C.

"Edmondus Camon Grocer app'ntic Margar' Baley admissus est Civis 25^o Sept. 1648." He lived in St. John Maddermarket from 1648 to 1658, and was overseer there in 1651. This name appears several times in the churchwardens' books, but not at all in the registers.

130. O. IAMES . CASTILL = A wool-comb.

R. IN . NORWICH . 1664 = I . I . C.

Engraved in "Norfolk Archæology," vol. v., p. 241.

We do not find James Castill's admission to the freedom of the city. John Castle, a worsted-weaver, was sworn a freeman in 1656. In 1664 Mr. James Castell, and also Mrs. Jane Castell, widow, were rated in St. Saviour's parish.

131. O. IAMES . CASTLE = 1662.

R. IN . NORWICH = I . I . C.

Probably issued by the same person as the preceding, as the wife's initial is the same. James Castle was rated in St. Martin at Oak and St. Augustine in 1659, and in the latter parish in several subsequent years.

132. O. ROBERT . CLAYTON . IN = The Ironmongers' Arms.

R. NORWICH . IRONMONGER = 1663.

Engraved in "Norfolk Archæology," vol. v., p. 241.

"Robert Claiton Iron munger," apprentice to John Salter, Esq., was admitted to the freedom of the city on March 26, 1661. He was rated in no less than six parishes, viz., St. Andrew, St. Paul, St. Michael Coslany, St. Stephen, St. Julian, and St. Peter Mancroft. In 1664 he purchased the house in St. Julian's in which he then resided. It was situate in St. Ann's Lane, on the south side, at the back of the premises called "Middaies," and had orchards and gardens running down to the river. He was Sheriff of the city in 1672, in which year he died, and was buried at St. Peter Mancroft.

133. O. WILLIAM . COOPER . OF = The King's head crowned.

R. IN . NORWICH . 1662 = A full-blown rose.

The King's Head was one of the principal inns in Norwich. It was situate in the Market-place, and was pulled down in 1812, when Davey Place was made. A William Cooper was buried at St. Peter Mancroft in 1666.

134. O. ISAAC . COWPER . BRICK = A trowel.

R. LAYER . IN . NORWICH = I . E . C.

Isaac Cowper, rough mason, apprentice of Stephen Cowper, was admitted to the freedom of the city on September 21, 1656. Richard Rocke, an apprentice of his, was sworn a freeman in 1668. Stephen Cowper was rated in St. Giles.

135. O. PEETER . DEALE = A helmet.

R. IN . NORWICH . 1664 = P . A . D.

Peter Deale was an armourer by trade, and was admitted to the freedom of the city on May 3, 1654. He lived in St. Peter Mancroft, in the books of which parish his name continually occurs from 1650 till 1665, in which latter year he died and was buried on July 14. His wife, Amy, by whom he had several children, survived him, and we find a few years afterwards that Anne Dale, widow, was buried there. Anne was probably a mistake for Amy.

136. O. ABRAHAM . DERRIX = A fleece.

R. IN . NORWICH . 1665 = A . I . D.

137. A variety slightly differing in the reverse die.

The device upon this token has been supposed to be a pineapple, but it is no doubt a fleece. Abraham Derricke, worsted-weaver, son of Abraham Derricke, was sworn a freeman on December 27, 1651. He lived in St. Lawrence's parish. Abraham Derricke, the father, was a hosier, and was admitted to the freedom of the city in 1615.

138. O. JAMES . DOVER = 1667.

R. IN . NORWICH = I . D.

"James Dover of St Michael of Coslany vpon his paym^t of 20^s to y^e Hamper is Dispensed with for beareinge the office of Constable for one yeare next followinge."—Mayoralty Court Book, June 28, 1671.

One Daniel Dover was a hosier in Norwich in 1635, as was Samuel Dover in 1653.

139. O. ROBERT . DVGLAS = Two swords crossed.

R. CVTTLER . OF . NORWICH = R . D . D.

Engraved in "Norfolk Archaeology," vol. v., p. 241.

"Rob^tus Duglas Cvltler appⁿtic' Joh^{'s} Browne admissus est Ciuis 7^o Sept. 1642." In 1646 he resided in St. John Maddermarket, in which year his son Robert was baptized there. He appears to have removed to Mancroft about 1650, and was one of the overseers of that parish in 1656; he continued to live in that parish till his death, in 1664. His wife, Dorothy, survived him, and was buried there in 1688. Christopher Harsant, haberdasher of small wares, and an apprentice of Douglas, was admitted a freeman in 1662.

140. O. FRANCIS . ELMER = Three foxes.

R. IN . NORWICH . 1667 = F . G . E.

Francis Elmer, worsted-weaver, was admitted a citizen March 22, 1643; and Francis Ailmer, wool-comber, on April 28, 1663. Either may have been the issuer, as the two ways of spelling the surname are used indiscriminately. One of them resided in St. Gregory, and was churchwarden there in 1663; the other lived in St. George's Tombland, filled the same office there in 1664, and was buried in the south aisle of the parish church in 1686. He bore arms: argent on a cross en-grailed sab. between four Cornish choughs proper, five bezants, impaling Fretté.

141. O. ROBERT . EMPEROR = A sword erect.

R. OF . NORWICH = R . E . E.

He was rated in St. Michael at Coslany and St. Saviour, and was overseer of the former parish in 1664, and of the latter in 1665. A Robert Emperor, hosier, son of Francis Emperor, was sworn a freeman in 1679. Robert Emperor was one of the Common Council placed in the room of those rejected by James II.

142. O. THOMAS . FERRIER = A heart on the shank of an anchor.
R. IN . NORWICH . 1664 = T . F.

Thomas fferrior, grocer, apprentice to John Osborne, Esq., was admitted a freeman on August 21, 1665. He resided in St. Peter Mancroft. In the churchwardens' book he is mentioned as "Mr. fferreyheare."

143. O. THOMAS . FLATMAN = 1664.
R. OF . NORWICH = T . F.

Thomas Flatman, tallow-chandler, was sworn a freeman on February 25, 1666, and was rated in St. Martin at Oak and St. Augustine. He had several apprentices, all of whom were admitted as grocers. He was a Dissenter, and his name occurs in the books of St. Mary's Baptist Chapel.

144. O. RICHARD . FREEMAN = A dove with an olive branch.
R. OF . NORWICH . 1657 = R . F.

Richard Freeman, vintner, son of Mr. John Freeman, Sheriff in 1636, was sworn a freeman on April 7, 1660. He resided at the sign of the Dove, in St. John Maddermarket, of which parish he was overseer in 1656, and churchwarden in 1662. He was buried there in 1693. The Dove was pulled down about forty-five years ago, on an extension of Messrs. Chamberlin's premises.

145. O. IN . NORWICH . CONFECTIONER = L . GOODWY.
R. AT . THE . GOLDEN . CAMELL . 1660 = A camel.

Engraved in "Norfolk Archæology," vol. v., p. 241.

Lawrence Goodwyn was an apprentice of Mr. John Lawrence, and was admitted to the freedom of the city in 1661. It will be observed that his name occurs, with that of Mr. Lawrence, upon another Norwich token. Goodwyn was Sheriff in 1682, and Mayor in 1697. In 1687 he was one of the Aldermen of this city, and was ejected by James II. He died in 1725, at the age of ninety-two, and was buried in the nave of St. Andrew's Church, to which parish he gave a large offering-dish, and also two flagons, the inscriptions upon which are given in Blomefield, in his account of St. Andrew's parish.

146. O. THOMAS . GREENE . IN = The Grocers' Arms.
R. NORWICH . 1658 = T . S . G.

Thomas Greene, grocer, apprentice to Benjamin Baker, was admitted to the freedom of the city August 13, 1652. He resided in St. Peter Mancroft, of which parish he was churchwarden in 1665. He died, and was buried there, in 1683. His son, Thomas, was Bishop of Norwich in 1721-23. We find the following entry in the Mayoralty Court Book, under date November 14, 1674:

"Tho. Greene of Corp^s Xth Coll. in Cambridge vpon the Petition of Mr. Tho. Greene Grocer his father, hath a pension of 40^s [℥] ann^y granted him as is mentioned and for such time as is directed in y^e donation of Math. Parker late Archb^p of Canterbury."

Another Thomas Greene, who died of the plague, was buried at Mancroft in 1666.

147. O. BENIAMEN . GREENWOOD = The Grocers' Arms.
R. IN . NORWICH . 1667 = B . E . G.

Benjamin, the son of Miles Greenwood, was sworn a freeman March 14, 1662. He resided in St. Mary Coslany.

148. O. ELIZ . HALFKNIGHT = The Dyers' Arms.
R. IN . NORWICH . 1667 = E . H conjoined.

The "Wid. Halfeknights" was rated in St. Peter Hungate and St. Edmund.

149. O. GEORGE . HALL (in two lines across the field).

R. IN . NORWICH . 1664 = The Grocers' Arms.

The following entry occurs in the Mayoralty Court Book :

"I George Hall of y^e City of Norwich Grocer doe p'mise to take the oath of a freeman of y^e said City the next Assembly. wittness my hand this 18th day of July, 1668. Geo. Hall."

150. O. THOMAS . HANSE . OF = An anchor.

R. NORWICH . 1664 = T . E . H.

We do not find the name of Hanse in any of the corporate records. The following entry, dated May 26, 1677, occurs in the Mayoralty Court Book :

"The officers of Taylors humblie prayed the leave of M^r Maior & y^s Court that they may agree with Tho. Harwes for his offences ag^t a by law of thier Booke in settinge journeyman on worke without leave which is asented to so as they doe pay w^t is due by y^e by lawes to whome it is due."

Roger Harwes was Mayor in 1668.

151. O. EDWARD . HARDING = The Grocers' Arms.

R. IN . NORWICH . GROCER = E . A . H:

He lived in All Saints' parish from 1659 to 1662, in which year his name disappears from the rate-books. Edward Harding, tailor, was sworn a freeman in 1624.

152. O. BLYTH . HATTON = A full-blown rose.

R. IN . NORWICH = B . H.

Blyth Hatton, widow, was rated in St. Peter Mancroft and in St. Peter per Mountergate. She was buried in the former parish in 1670.

153. O. HENRY . HOLBEY . NEAR = A hand holding a sword.

R. REDWELL . IN . NORWICH = H . G . H.

Holbey was a "Habbidasher of smales wares," having previously been an apprentice of Robert Douglas. In 1657 he was admitted to the freedom of the city, and resided in St. Andrew's till 1665, about which year he appears to have removed to St. Peter Mancroft, where he was overseer in 1669. He was buried there in 1670. The red well was in the centre of Gurney's Bank Plain, and was filled up in the early part of the present century.

154. O. NATHANAELL . HOWLET = The arms of Norwich city.

R. WOS^D . WEAVER . IN . NORWICH = $\frac{4}{N}$

This token may be considered one of the most interesting of the Norwich series. It is the only trader's token that has the city arms upon it, and is one of three that have merchants' marks. Nathaniel Howlet, apprentice to Samuel Tabor, was sworn a freeman in 1660, and was a worsted-weaver by trade. He was rated in the parishes of St. George Colegate and St. Michael Coslany.

155. O. IOHN . HVTTON = The three legs of the Isle of Man.

R. IN . NORWICH . 1657 = I . E . H.

156. A variety differing slightly in the reverse, the mint-mark being immediately above the letter H in the field, whereas in the former it is slightly to the left of it.

A John Hutton, worsted-weaver, was admitted a freeman in 1618, but this date is probably too early for the admission of the issuer. Giles Hutton, haberdasher, and Nicholas Bickerdike, haberdasher of small wares, and apprentices of John Hutton, were respectively admitted in 1638 and 1662. The "wid. Heaster Hutton" was rated in St. Andrew's from 1659 to 1664, and Giles Hutton, who was the son of the issuer, for many years afterwards.

157. O. EDWARD . HYRNE = The Grocers' Arms.

R. OF . NORWICH . GROCER = E . M . H.

Edward Hyrne, grocer, son of John Hyrne, was admitted a freeman on August 25, 1655. He was buried in the south aisle of St. Andrew's Church in 1658.

158. O. AT . Y^E . POST . OFFICE = 1661.

R. IN . NORWICH = A leg, A . L.

No person whose initials were A . L, except Ann Leverington, widow, was rated in Norwich between 1659 and 1667. It has been supposed by some that the leg upon the reverse was a punning device upon the issuer's name; but there was no family of the name of Legge in Norwich at this period. Under date of November 25, 1668, the following entry is to be found in the Mayoralty Court Book:

"Mr. Robert Lullman did acquaint the Court that he did intend to keepe the poast office at Mr. Dicelyes at the Kings armes for y^e future."

Lulman is elsewhere called Captain Lulman. In 1786 the Post-office was in the Jack of Newbury Yard, now called Old Post-office Yard, in Pottergate Street.

159. O. IN . S . ANDREWES . PARRICH = T . D . L. Mint-mark, a lozenge.

R. IN . NORWICH . 1653 = T . D . L.

160. A variety has mint-mark, a star on both sides.

161. A variety differing in the obverse die, the letters being larger.

Thomas Linstead and Thomas Leasingham, either of whom may have been the issuer of these two last-mentioned tokens, were rated in St. Andrew's for many successive years at this period. In 1672 Leasingham was discharged from bearing all offices in the city on payment of £60.

162. O. THOMAS . LACEY = Cross keys.

R. IN . NORWICH . 1667 = T . S . L.

Lacey was rated in the parish of St. George Tombland, and was overseer in 1665-66. We, however, find the Cross Keys in Ber Street in 1656, and an inn, which has the appearance of being an old one, still bears that sign in Magdalen Street.

163. O. WILLIAM . LAMBERT = The Grocers' Arms.

R. GROCER . IN . NORWICH = W . A . L, three cloves.

William Lambert, grocer, was admitted to the freedom of the city on December 3, 1659, in which year he was rated in St. Peter Mancroft. A William Lambert, merchant, was sworn a freeman in 1667.

164. O. IOHN . LAWRENCE . 1658 = Seven stars.

R. L . GOODWIN . IN . NORWICH = $\frac{I . L.}{L . G.}$

This is the only Norwich token upon which two issuers' names occur. Goodwin issued another token. John Lawrence, grocer, apprentice of Thomas Wilson, was admitted a citizen August 17, 1632, and was for many years rated in St. Peter Mancroft. He was Sheriff in 1659, and Mayor in 1669. In the Mayoralty Court Book we find this entry:

"4 January, 1672, Mr. Robt. Thurrold's bond of 60^{li} due to y^e city y^e first of y^s month was taken out of y^e Treasury by the clauors, and deliuered to Jo. Laurence Esq^r to receive y^e monie due therupon in full of the salt provisions provided by him and Mr. Laurence Goodwyn vpon thier Ma^{ty}s treatie here."

165. O. IOHN . LEVERINGTON = I . V . L.

R. IN . NORWICH = I . V . L.

John Leverington, the issuer, resided in SS. Simon and Jude from 1659 to 1662, when he removed to St. Peter Mancroft. Urith, his wife, the daughter of Thomas Reeve, D.D., was buried in the church of the former parish in 1660. See Blomefield, vol. ii., p. 740. The name of Leverington was common in Norwich about this time. John Leverington, worsted-weaver, was sworn a freeman in 1646; another of that name, an ironmonger, in 1657; and John Leverington, goldsmith, was elected Sheriff August 27, 1672. John Leverington was one of the Aldermen placed in the room of those rejected by James II.

166. O. THOMAS . LINSTEAD . AT = The Grocers' Arms.

R. NORWICH . GROSER = TL conjoined. 1659.

He was apprentice to Adrian Parmenter, and was admitted to the freedom of the city on June 18, 1649. He resided in St. Andrew's parish, and was buried in the north aisle of the church there in 1676. He bore arms, sab. a saltire between four arrows arg. Crest, two single bows in saltire sab.

167. O. THOMAS . LONG = The Grocers' Arms.

R. OF . NORWICH . 1657 = T . A . L.

"Thomas Longe grocer sonne of Rich Longe was sworne a freeman the 3th of May 1651." The name being very common, we cannot identify the issuer.

168. O. IOHN . MAYES = A man making candles.

R. IN . NORWICH . 1667 = I . E . M.

He resided in St. Michael at Plea, and was overseer there in 1663-64. The name of Mayes frequently occurs in the registers of that parish in the latter half of the seventeenth century. John Mayes was searcher for the Grocers' Company in 1671.

169. O. ANTHO . MINGAY (in two lines across the field).

R. IN . NORWICH = A man leading a camel.

The Mingay family was of considerable respectability, and had long been settled at Arminghall, having a city house, now the Mitre Tavern, in St. Stephen's. Anthony was the son of Roger Mingay, who was Sheriff in 1653, and Mayor in 1658. He was a grocer by trade, was admitted to the freedom of the city in 1661, and resided in St. Peter Mancroft from 1659 to 1667, but subsequently lived in St. Stephen's, in the church of which parish there are several monuments and brasses in memory of various members of the Mingay family.

170. O. WILL . MONY . LION . LAN^E = A lion rampant.

R. IN . NORWICH = W . E . M.

Engraved in "Norfolk Archæology," vol. v., p. 241.

Mony appears to have resided in St. Peter Mancroft, which parish he left in 1659, having been overseer in 1656. "William Money from St. Gregories" was buried there in March, 1665.

171. A slight variety of die.

172. O. RICHARD . MORANT = A neck whisk and two piccadillies (?).

R. IN . NORWICH = R . M.

The above description of the device upon this token has been hitherto adopted, and we cannot suggest a better, but the two so-called piccadillies are clearly shuttles. This is confirmed by the fact that Richard Morant was a worsted-weaver.

He was admitted a freeman in 1653, and resided in St. Peter Mancroft. He, his wife, and four other members of his family, died of the plague in one week in July, 1666, and were buried in the above parish.

173. O. FRANCIS . MORLEY = The Grocers' Arms.

R. OF . NORWICH = F . M.

Francis, son of Matthew Morley, was admitted a freeman January 7, 1628, and was buried at St. Peter Mancroft in September, 1658. Thomas Warren and William Witherley, who issued tokens, were both apprenticed to him. Henry Morley, his son, was a grocer in Norwich in 1671. Another Francis Morley was rated in SS. Simon and Jude in 1667.

174. O. ANN . MVNFORD = The Grocers' Arms.

R. IN . NORWICH = A . M.

Elias, the son of Elias Norgate and Ellin his wife, was also buried there in 1670. An Elias Norgate, milliner, was admitted to the freedom of the city in 1670. Elias Norgate was one of the Common Councilmen ejected by the mandate of James II.

178. O. IOHN . OSBORN . OF = The Grocers' Arms.

R. NORWICH . GROCER = Φ.

John, the son of Robert Osborne, grocer, was sworn a freeman December 5, 1627, and was subsequently rated in the parishes of St. Peter Mancroft and All Saints'. He was Sheriff in 1640, and Mayor in 1661. He died in or about 1665, as after that date "Mrs. Thomazine Osborne widd" is several times mentioned in the Mancroft books.

179. O. IOHN . PARKER = A sheep.

R. OF . NORWICH . 1665 = I . E . P.

"Mr. Parker by y^e Lambe" is mentioned in the churchwardens' account-book of St. Peter Mancroft in 1665. A John Parker resided in, and was overseer of, St. John Timberhill in 1659; and one John Parker, mercer, son of John Parker, was sworn a freeman on April 8, 1665.

Isaac, the son of Richard Persivall, was sworn a freeman July 11, 1660. He was a worsted-weaver by trade, and resided in St. Martin at Oak, which probably accounts for an oak being the device on the obverse of his token.

182. O. WILL . PLAYFORD = W . A . P.

R. OF . NORWICH = W . A . P.

"Will'us Playford Drap' filius Rob'ti Playford admissus est civis 10 Dec. 1645." He lived in Pockthorpe, and was overseer there in 1667-68. In the Mayoralty Court Book the following entry occurs, dated July 7, 1665:

We do not find in the books of the Bakers' Company of Norwich the name of any token-issuer, excepting that of Randoll. He was admitted a member of the company June 10, 1663, and resided in St. Gregory's parish. Thomas Randoll, the younger, was admitted to the Company of Bakers in 1678.

This is the only seventeenth-century token upon which the name of the city is wrongly spelt. Robinson lived in St. Andrew's, and was overseer in 1661. William Robinson, linen-draper, was sworn a freeman in 1667.

195. O. IOHN , SHEPPARD = I , S in monogram.

His will, dated 1677, was proved by his son Henry in 1678. In it he mentions his wife "Jean," and directs that his body should be buried at Brunstead, in Norfolk. In the Mayoralty Court Book, June 3, 1668, is the following entry :

On the south side of the font there is a stone, now nearly illegible, to the memory of Bridget his wife, who had by him twenty-two children. She died in 1670, aged forty-two. The quaint verses given by Blomefield, p. 541, cannot now be read. We find the following entry in the Mayoralty Court Book :

"Daniell Tofte Grocer filius Thome Tofte Ciuis and Ald'ri admissus est Ciuis 22^o Nov. 1645." He resided in St. Clement's parish, was overseer in 1659, and churchwarden in 1660. In the Mayoralty Court Book, under date of June 6, 1660, we find the following :

"This day Robt Burton of Clay gent Stephen Adcocke of Norw^{ch} Tailor Robert Cooke worsted weu' Briant Lewis worsted weu' Edward Ward of Bixly in y^e County of Norff. Esq^r Sr Richard Barney of Parke Hall in Reedham in y^e County of Norff Baronet Thomas Morse of the Citty of Norw^{ch} gent Daniell Toft of Norwich Grocer John Potter of Hempnall in y^e County of Norff. Clerke did opinly in the Court eu'y of them seu'ally declare by writing under their hands and seales seu'ally that they doe thankfully lay hold vpon his mat's grace & favour holden forth in his declarac'on given at his Court at Breda in Holland & that they & eu'y of them will allwaies readely & heartily yeild to his ma'tie all loyalty & obedience."

Daniel Toft died in 1660, aged forty-seven, and was buried in St. Clement's Church. There is a small stone to his memory on the south wall. He bore arg. a chevron between three text ŧ sab.—Blomefield, vol. ii., p. 818.

211. O. ROBERT . TOMPSON = A portcullis.

R. IN . NORWICH . 1652 = R . T.

None of the Norwich tokens known to exist have an earlier date than this one, which is very scarce. "Robtus Tompson grocer apprentic' m'ri Adriani Parmenter Aldermani admissus est Ciuis vltimo die Aprilis 1638." He was buried at St. Peter Mancroft on January 20, 1653.

212. O. IERIMY . VYN . OF = The Grocers' Arms.

R. NORWICH . ANNO . 1657 = I . VYN.

213. A variety differing in obverse die.

214. O. JERIMY . IVYN OF = The Grocers' Arms.

R. NORWICH . ANNO . 1657 = IVYN.

The last-described token is without doubt an error on the part of the die-sinker. Jeremy Vynn, apprentice to Thomas Garret, was sworn a freeman September 22, 1656. He resided in St. Peter Mancroft, and was overseer there in 1665. He was Sheriff in 1677, Mayor in 1690, and died on December 1, 1705, aged 73. He is buried in a vault at the entrance to St. Luke's Chapel in the cathedral. He appears to have had three wives, Priscilla, Elizabeth, and Susan; the two former were buried at St. Peter Mancroft, and the latter, who survived him, was buried with him in St. Luke's Chapel.

215. O. JOHN . WARD . IN = A woolpack.

R. NORWICH . 1667 = I . E . W.

There were two of this name, father and son, in Norwich at this period, and both were wool-combers. The father was admitted to the freedom of the city on June 1, 1638, and the son on April 6, 1661. One of them resided in St. Andrew's, and was churchwarden in 1667; the other lived in St. Michael Coslany. In the latter parish "Mrs Ellin Ward wid" was at one time rated. John Ward was Sheriff in 1687, and Mayor in 1694.

216. O. THOMAS . WARNE = 1662.

R. IN . NORWICH = T . I . W.

The reverse of this token, and that of Thomas Wormall, were probably struck from the same die; there is also a great similarity in the obverses. Thomas Warnes, "worsted sherman," not apprenticed, was sworn a freeman on May 3, 1636. From 1659 to 1662 he was rated in St. Martin at Palace.

217. O. THOMAS . WARREN = The Grocers' Arms.

R. OF . NORWICH = $\begin{matrix} T. \\ W. \end{matrix}$

He was an apprentice of Francis Morley (vide No. 173), and was admitted to the freedom of the city on September 21, 1649. Thomas Warren was rated at various dates between 1659 and 1669 in the parishes of St. Lawrence, St. Michael at Coslany, and St. Stephen.

218. O. THO . WELD . HATTER = T . C . W.

R. OF . NORWICH = 1657.

Thomas Weld resided in St. Peter Mancroft from 1659 to 1666. We subsequently find the name in St. Augustine's. In 1685 a Thomas Weld was buried at St. Michael at Plea. A grocer of the name was admitted to the freedom of the city in 1640, and a worsted-weaver in 1656. A Thomas Weld was one of the members for the county of Norfolk in the Long Parliament.

219. O. WILLIAM . WITHERLEY = The Grocers' Arms.

R. OF . NORWICH = W . W.

He was an apprentice of Francis Morley (vide No. 173), was sworn a freeman June 20, 1659, and was rated in that and subsequent years in St. Peter Mancroft. In 1660 and 1661 he was also rated in St. George Tombland. He was overseer of the former parish in 1660. In 1676 George Wilcox, apprentice to William Witherley, was sworn a freeman.

220. O. NICHOLAS . WITHERS = N . F . W.

R. OF . NORWICH . 1650 = N . F . W.

221. A variety differing in the obverse die, having a mullet on each side of the letter w in the field, the former having a \diamond .

From 1659 to 1663 Nicholas Withers was rated in St. Andrew's, and was overseer in the former year. In 1667 he resided in SS. Simon and Jude's. In the August of that year Nicholas Withers, wool-comber, was bound over to appear at the next sessions of the peace for abusing his office as an overseer of SS. Simon and Jude, John Spendlove and others being bound over to give evidence. The proceedings were subsequently removed by certiorari, at the instance of Withers, into the Court of King's Bench. He appears to have afterwards removed into St. Clement's, for in 1672 a license was granted to Martin Finch to be a Congregational teacher in the house of Nicholas Withers in St. Clement's parish in Norwich. Withers's house was also licensed at the same time.

222. O. EDWARD . WOODYARD . OF = A sugar-loaf and two cloves.

R. NORWICH . GROC . 1656 = E . M . W.

Engraved in "Norfolk Archæology," vol. v., p. 241.

"Ed'r'us Woodyard Grocer appn'tic' Mathei Lynsey admissus est Ciuis 30^o die Augusti 1630." He lived in St. Peter Mancroft, and was buried in the north aisle of the church there on August 3, 1677. His wife, Margaret, and several of their children, were also buried there. In the Norfolk and Norwich Museum is a jug of Lambeth ware, upon which is the date 1649 and the Grocers' arms between the initials E . W . M. This jug in all probability belonged to the family.

The large wine-jar of which a representation is here given was evidently made for Edward and Margaret Woodyard. Two specimens are in existence, both exhumed at Norwich; one is in the museum there, and the other in the possession of Mr. J. E. Hodgkin, F.S.A. The smaller jars of the same shape, made like those at Lambeth, and marked Claret, Sack, and Whit (WHIT), are well known and highly valued. It is very seldom that they bear initials, but most of them are dated, the dates ranging between 1643 and 1669.

223. O. THOMAS . WORMALL = 1662.

R. IN . NORWICH = T . I . W.

Thomas Warmell, grocer, apprentice to Robert Tharrold (vide No. 206), was admitted to the freedom of the city on January 7, 1661. The reverse of this token is similar to that of Thomas Warne.

224. O. WILL . YOUNGEST = A wool-comb.

R. IN . NORWICH = W . Y.

The name of "Youngs," or "Youniges," was very common in Norwich at the period of the issue of the seventeenth-century tokens, but we have not met with the name "Youngest."

The above are all the Norwich traders' tokens now known to exist. There is an entry in the Mayoralty Court Books under date of November, 1668, which shows that Thomas Allen, a worsted-weaver, was bound over to appear at the next sessions "for putting out halfe pennyes of brasse wth y^e Cityes Armes on them," but no specimen of Allen's tokens has come to our hands.

There is also another token which may belong to Norwich, but which has been placed to Derbyshire. It was issued by John Lowe, butcher, Hiegham, in 1669, and is heart-shaped. A Thomas Lowe was a butcher in Hiegham-next-Norwich from 1654 to 1667; and a John Lowe was rated in St. Benedict's, the adjoining parish, in Norwich. The token, however, being heart-shaped, of which shape there are no Norfolk tokens, and later in date than any Norwich token, I have not thought the evidence sufficiently strong to place it in the Norwich list.

The earliest reference to the tokens in the Corporation records is as follows:

"21th day of July 1666.

"It is ordered the Belman doe forthwith proclayme in y^e Markett and all publiq^r places through this City that noe tradesman or shopkeep^r do refuse to take any farthings that are of their owne stampe vpon the penalty to be proceeded ag^t according to Law."—Mayoralty Court Book.

225. O. A . NORWICH . FARTHING . 1667 (in four lines).

R. The arms of the city of Norwich: gules, a castle triple-towered argent, in base a lion of England.

Engraved in "Norfolk Archæology," vol. v., p. 241.

226. Similar to the last, dated 1668.

227. A variety of No. 226, the letter A on the obverse being exactly above the letter w in the word Norwich, where, as in the preceding token, the A is partly over the R and partly over the w, thus:

A	A
NORWICH	NORWICH
FARTHING	FARTHING
1668.	1668.

228. Similar, dated 1670.

229. Another token which may belong to Norwich reads:

O. S . AVGVSTINES = S . A.

R. PARISH . 1654 = 1654.

No tradesmen's tokens were issued, so far as is known, except that of Allen's, above alluded to, after the first of these city tokens made its appearance in 1667. The first entry in the books of the Corporation of Norwich, relative to the issue of the above-mentioned civic tokens, is dated September 28, 1667. We learn from it that Christopher Jay, Esq., M.P., was desired when next in London to advise about coining farthings with the city arms on one side and Civitas Norwici on the other. It may here be observed that no specimen reading Civitas Norwici is now known; all the civic tokens which have been handed down to us, and they are excessively numerous, reading "A Norwich Farthing." The Corporation appear to have soon made up their minds as to the desirability of issuing farthings, for on November 14 following, only six weeks after the date of the above-mentioned order, Mr. Jay is requested to send for two hundredweight of farthings more, and also to "take care y^t y^e stamp of y^e said farthings be sent down; and S^r Joseph Paine have promised to give order to his man M^r Tho. freeman at M^r Adkins an Apothecary nere Quene's head Taverne in Bishupgate street to pay 54^{li} 10^s to him for y^e same." They appear to have arrived by November 29, for on that date we find the following entry:

"It is ordered that M^r. Thomas Cock, Chamberlin, shall forthwith distribute the city ffarthings to such p[']sons as shall come to him for them for the value in silver. And it is resolved that noe publication thereof be made by y^e bellman."

On December 4 following the bellman was ordered to give notice that, in the event of the farthings being called in "by y^e publique authority of this nation, that the Chamberlin of this City shall take them to the extent of £100 at the same rate they are now put out, the loss to be borne by y^e city."

In 1668 we find the following entries, which, for the most part, explain themselves:

"Eighth day of Aprill 1668.

"Upon a motion made that there is a want of ffarthings and that ther be more sent for It is agreed that a wrighting be drawne to take y^e subscriptions of all such p[']sons as are willing to have any and what quantity they will have & take againe whensoever they shalbe put downe by the authority of the nation after the City have first taken in one hundred pounds according to their ingagement."

"20th daie of June 1668.

"That M^r Towneclerke doe write to M^r Jay about Tobblings lease and 400 wayte of Farthings."

"29^o Junij 1668.

"It is ordered that Edwin Bensly the vnder chamberlyn doe dispose the 200 waite of Farthings y^t came last Satterday from M^r Jay at London and pay the monie to M^r Ald. Manser."

"8th daie of Julie 1668.

"It is ordered that M^r Townclerk doe wright to M^r Ald. Jay at London to send downe 400 weight of Farthings hither by the first opportunity."

"23rd day of September 1668.

"This day Edwyn Benslyn Vnderchamberlyn of y^s city brought in 5^{li} 6^s beinge y^e remayne of the last 50^{li} in farthings which was put into y^e Hamp."

"30th day of Sept^r 1668.

"This day M^r Maior paid 5^{li} 3^s 4^d to M^r Ald. Jay for the charge of all Farthings sent from London which monie was pd out of the 5^{li} 6^s pd by Edwyn Bensly into y^e Hamp. y^e 23th of this Instant September."

"The third day of October 1668.

"That Edwin Bensly have twenty shillings for his paines in telling & paying away the ffarthings."

"21th day of November 1668.

"That M^r Dearing be sent to to get 100^{li} of farthings new stamped and that he goe to M^r Jay for y^e Stamp."

"23th day of 10^{br} 1668.

"That M^r Townclarke doe write to M^r Deeringe y^s Post to send downe the quantity of Farthings formerly wrot for of p[']fect copper and noe difference or distinction w[']soever only wheras in y^e former ther y^e yeare of our L^d is 1667 in these is to be 1668 and to be sent downe p[']sently."

We find no further entries till September, 1670. Norwich, like many other places, appears to have fallen into considerable disgrace for having encroached upon the royal prerogative in coining money; but, unlike some other cities, escaped without a fine. The following entries show the manner in which the royal favour was obtained:

"The third day of September 1670.

"This day was read a l're from M^r Dereinge solicitor to y^e city direct to M^r Maior concerninge the order in Council about Farthings & M^r Townclarke is desired to answer the s^d l're by y^e next post."

"Ye 10th daie of September 1670.

"That M^r Townclarke doe draw a l're to be sent to y^e Right Ho^{ble} y^e L^d Townshend about y^e order in Council concerninge Farthings."

"The 14th day of September 1670.

"This day was read y^e answer of y^e Right Ho^{ble} the Lord Lieut of Norff. to y^e letter y^t was sent to his Lo^p y^e 12th Instant about y^e order of his Ma^{tye} in Council concerninge farthings and M^r Townclerke is ordered to write to his Lo^p by this post, to pray his Lo^p further assistance."

"Ye 24th day of Sept. 1670.

"This day was read a l're from y^e Right Ho^{ble} y^e Lord Lieut of Norff. direct to M^r Maior to be comunicated to his Bretheren wherein his Lo^p signified his Ma^{ty} was graciously pleased to pardon this city for causeing Farthings to be made and vended. And M^r Townclarke is ordered to drawe a l're to be subscribed by M^r Maior and his Bretheren direct to his Lo^p acknowledginge his Lo^{ps} great Fauror to y^e City in presenting thier Petition to his Ma^{ty}."

The next entry, dated the same day, requests the Town Clerk to write to Sir Robert Southwell, one of the Clerks of the Council, and return him the thanks of the city for his great civilities and kindness concerning the pardon.

"The first day of October 1670.

"That M^r Townclerke doe write to M^r Dereinge to give all possible dispatch to y^e Pardon about farthings and to give him the thanks of y^e Court for his care and diligence herein."

"Ye 12th day of October 1670.

"It is ordered that M^r Town clerk doe draw a letter to the L^d L^t of Norff. to pray his Lo^{ps} advice concerninge the calleinge in of Farthings."

The following entry shows how necessary these tokens were :

"The 26th day of Oct. 1670.

"It is ordered that M^r Towne clarke wright to M^r Dearing to weight upon S^r Robt Southwell to drawe a petition to be deliue'd to the King in Councell setting forth the absolute necessity of the continuuing of the ffarthings put forth by y^e Citie till his Ma^{tie} p'vide some publique remedy. And that when y^e petition be drawne M^r Dearing weight vpon my Lord Townshend to desire him to p'sent the same and that M^r Townclerke wright to y^e Lord Townshend about y^e same."

"Ye 3^d day of 10^{br} 1670.

"That M^r Townclerke doe write to M^r Deringe by the next post y^t care will be taken suddainely to supply him with monie."

On the 9th of December we find the following entries in the "Assembly Books," the last relative to the issue of tokens ; those which follow only showing the manner in which the bulk was disposed of :

"M^r Maior also delivered to the Clavors M^r Thomas Safre his bond for 80^{li} to be discharged of all offices."

"And the said 80^{li} is ordered to be paid to the Chamberlin and M^r Deerings 65^{li} 7^s 6^d for the charge of passing his Ma^{ties} pardon to this City vnder the Great Seale of England for vending & exchangeing of farthings is to be paid out of that mony & the residue thereof as the Court of Aldermen shall with the Assent of this house order and appoint."

"That this Assembly doth not countenance the passing of Norwich farthings for the future."

The Pardon itself is dated at Westminster the 8th November, 22nd Charles II. (1670), and recites that amongst other marks of majesty and the dignities and prerogatives of empire, the right of striking and coining money was not of the least importance, and that any exercising such right without grant or license should be speedily punished ; further recites that the Mayors, Sheriffs, Aldermen, and commonalty of the city of Norwich, not long since struck, or caused to be struck and fabricated, certain "Obulos (Anglicè halfe penney)," and also certain "Quadrantes (Anglicè farthings)," made of brass or copper, and ordered the same to be put forth in divers payments by the subjects dwelling within the aforesaid city, whereby the said city might not only have incurred the forfeiture of its charters, liberties, and franchises, but also many and great penalties, and that the Mayors, Sheriffs, Aldermen, and commonalty of the said city were penitent, and had caused all halfpennies and farthings to be called in. The operative portion of the pardon then follows.

The following entries are the latest we have been able to find amongst the municipal records relative to these farthings :

From the "Assembly Book."

"21 Sept^r 1672.

"It is agreed That whereas vpon the publishing of a comon farthing by his Maties Proclamac'on the farthings called Norwich farthings are no longer current. This Assembly takinge into consideration the honor of this City doe assent that Proclamac'on be made in the open Market vpon Satterday the 28th of this instant September about 12 at noon that such persons as shall bring in to the Assembly Chamber in the Guildhall of this City any of the said farthings called Norwich farthings & pay the same to M^r Thomas Cock Chamberlyn of this City or to Edwyn Benslyn Vnder Chamberlyn and have a receipt under their or any of their hands for what sume they shall so pay every p^{son} haveing such receipt shall receive silver for them as soon as possible the Common Council shall raise mony to that purpose and the tyme lymited for the bringing in such farthings is from Monday the last of this instant September by 8 in the morning to Satterday after being the 5th October next till 5 afternoone. From the "Mayoralty Court Book."

"Ye 25th day of September 1672.

"The 28th day of 7^{br} 1672.

From the "Assembly Book."

"11th Oct., 1672.

"The making the best advantage of the Copper of the Norwich farthings is referred to the dispose of the Court of Maioralty."

From the "Mayoralty Court Book."

"28^o 9^{br} 72.

"M^r Jo Melchior promised to give 11^d a pound for such Norwich Farthings as are wholly copper & 10^d a pound for such as are mixt mettall & ye chamberlyn & Edwyn Benslyn are to see them wayed vp and deliured to him to-morrow and to give an account thereof ye next court day. And he is trusted to give an acc^t what quantity are whole copper & w^t not."

"Ye 4th day of 10^{br} 1672.

The late Mr. Wodderspoon, to whose paper on the Norwich Traders' and City Tokens issued in the Seventeenth Century we are much indebted, was in error when he stated that Melchior was "a Jew dealer in metals." On the contrary, the Melchior family were Christian, and appear to have been of considerable respectability. They resided in St. John Maddermarket and St. Stephen, in the churches of which parishes will be found inscriptions to various members of the family. In the former parish, if not in the latter, they appear to have taken an interest in parish matters, having filled on more than one occasion the office of churchwarden.

230. O. A . NORWICH . FARTHING = 1667 (as No. 225).

R. CAROLUS . A . CAROLO = Bust of Charles II.

$\frac{1}{4}$

This piece, of which only one specimen is known, is in pewter, and has been considered by several eminent numismatists to be one of the numerous patterns struck before the issue of the royal farthings in 1672. The late Mr. Burn, the author of the catalogue of the Beaufoy Collection, in the possession of the Corporation of London, considered it to be that of Elias Palmer, who submitted his pattern shortly after 1665. The reverse, though similar to the obverse of the regal farthing, is not the same, but somewhat ruder in execution.

In concluding these notes on the Norwich corporate tokens, it may be stated that some years since two leaden pieces were found in the river Thames; both have the Norwich arms on the obverse. One has a portcullis crowned on the reverse, the other has letters, but they are illegible. See "Norfolk Archæology," vol. iii., page 190. Probably they belonged to the earlier leaden series of tradesmen's tokens; if so, they are, we believe, the only specimens of that series which can be positively appropriated to Norfolk.

244. O. THOMAS . CANNON = The arms of the Cannon family ; on a bend cotised a pellet. Crest, a cannon mounted on a carriage.

R. IN . SWAFFHAM . 1658 = T . M . C.

$\frac{1}{4}$

The above arms were granted to the Cannons of Pembrokeshire in 1614.

245. A variety dated 1667.

246. O. EDWARD . CASE = A Virginian smoking, with a roll of tobacco under his arm.

$\frac{1}{4}$

248. O. ROBERT . DENTON . OF = A stick of candles (?).

R. SWAFHAM . 1660 = R . A . D.

$\frac{1}{4}$

It is very doubtful whether the device on the obverse of this token represents a stick of candles ; but being unable to say what it really is intended for, we have given the description hitherto adopted. Above each supposed candle, and on the other side of the stick, there appears to be a ring, and on close inspection the five drops are not the shape of candles.

The names of Case and Dawson are still found in Swaff ham.

249. O. IOHN . HOOKER = I . H.

R. OF . SWAFHAM = I . H.

$\frac{1}{4}$

250. O. IOHN . HOOKER . IN . 1667 = The Grocers' Arms.

SWANTON ABBOT.

251. O. WILLIAM . COOPER . OF = The King's head crowned.
R. SWANTON . ABBOTT = A full-blown rose.

$\frac{1}{4}$

This token strikingly resembles that of William Cooper of Norwich.

There are numerous entries of the Cooper family down to 1760 in the parish registers.

A William Cooper was buried September 30, 1675; Wm., John, Thomas, and Mary, children of Wm. Cooper and Susan his wife, baptized between 1670 and 1680.

Wm. Cooper (who probably issued the token) was buried May 13, 1707, and a Wm. Cooper, probably his son, was buried, aged ninety-six, on January 11, 1760.

SWANTON NOVERS.

252. O. IAMES . NAILER = HIS HALFE PENY.

R. OF . SWANTON . 1667 = I . A . N.

$\frac{1}{2}$

253. O. IAMES . NAYLOR . OF = HIS HALF PENY.

R. SWANTON . NOVERS . 1671 = I . A . N.

$\frac{1}{2}$

No later date than this occurs on a Norfolk token; it is only to be found on one other, that of Marshall of East Dereham (No. 37).

THETFORD.

254. O. WILLIAM . FLANNER = 1669.

R. OF . THETFORD = W . M . F.

He was Mayor in 1657.

255. O. WORMLY . HETHERSET = The Grocers' Arms.

R. OF . THETFORD . NORFV = W . H.

$\frac{1}{4}$

Wormly Hetherset was Mayor of Thetford in 1671 and 1675, and again in 1693 and 1698.

256. O. FRANCIS . HOWLETT = A woolpack.

R. OF . THETFORD = 1668.

$\frac{1}{4}$

Francis Howlett the elder, of Thetford, wool-comber, by his will dated 1670, devised his messuage in Thetford to his wife Frances for life, and after her decease to his son Thomas, to whom he also gave £100. He gave to his sons John and Francis 10s. each, to his son Henry £20, and to each of his daughters, Anne and Elizabeth, £100. He gave the residue of his property to his wife Frances, whom he appointed his executrix.

257. O. EDWARD . MOORE . IN = The Mercers' Arms.

R. THETFORD . 1668 = E . F . M.

$\frac{1}{4}$

He was Mayor in 1679.

258. O. IOHN . WAYMOND . OF = The Grocers' Arms.

R. THETFORD . 1659 = I . W.

$\frac{1}{4}$

The above Thetford tokens, except Hetherset's, are engraved in Martin's "History of Thetford."

 —“Norfolk Archæology,” iii. 403.

In the Norwich Mayoralty Court Book, under date July 15, 1674, is the following :

“Mr. Chr. Hey & severall others of the Inhabitants of Watton came to y^s Court and gave their humble & hearty thanks to y^s Court for promotinge the charitable benevolence of y^e Inhabitants of y^s City towards the releife of the poore of that towne who suffered by a great fyre lately there.”

WILTON.

Mr. Boyne in his first book placed these tokens to Wiltshire, but the extracts from registers of Wilton in Norfolk show they should be placed to the latter county.

278. O. THOMAS . CLARK = The Weavers' Arms.
R. OF . WILTON . 1664 = T . C.

 $\frac{1}{4}$

Thomas Clarke and Ann Beast were married November y^e 3rd 1664.

Thos. Clarke signs the register as churchwarden at the end of the years 1685-1686.

Clark, Elizabeth, wife of Thos. Bur. Aug. 18, 1698.

Clark, Thomas, bur. September 5, 1706.

The register of Hockwold (-cum-Wilton) has the following : “Clarke, Ann ye wife of Thomas, buri. 21 December 1676.” From which it appears Thomas was twice married, but as no entry of his second marriage appears on either of the above registers, he probably went further away for his wife.

Edward Owner was born in 1576, and was member for Yarmouth in 1620, 1625, 1639, and 1640, and he was returned with Miles Corbet, the regicide, during the Long Parliament. He was Bailiff in 1625 and 1634. In Parliament he warmly opposed the "ship money," and was one of those who voted it illegal. On the breaking out of the Civil War, he actively exerted himself to place the town in a state of defence, towards which he contributed in plate and money. He laboured for the social good of the town, and it was mainly through his exertions that the Children's Hospital School was established, himself endowing it with £1,500. He died in 1650, and was buried in the north aisle of St. Nicholas' Church. In 1823 his grave was opened, and his bones scattered for the interment of another. The issuer was probably a son of the above.

NUMBER OF TOKENS ISSUED	179
NUMBER OF PLACES ISSUING TOKENS	44
TOWN PIECES ISSUED AT KING'S CLIFFE, NORTHAMPTON, OUNDLE, AND PETERBOROUGH.

Sub-Editor and Collaborateur :

C. DACK, ESQ.,

Nene View,

Peterborough.

Northamptonshire.

To the places named by Boyne as issuing tokens the following two additional places have been added, i.e., Bowden and Whittlebury; while the token attributed to Deene has been removed.

Of varieties and new tokens, thirty-nine have been added, bringing up the number from 138 to 179.

The token of Welford is heart-shaped, and also the one of Thingden; while the two town-pieces of Peterborough and Herron's token of Towcester are octagonal. The remainder are of the usual round shape. All are halfpence or farthings; there are no pennies.

The tokens issued by the "chamberlaine" in Northampton are of peculiar interest, and in Peterborough a town-piece was issued by the overseers, and changed by the town bailiff according to the inscription.

It has been interesting to find in the records of Peterborough the original entry relating to the issue of these very overseers' tokens.

Nothing can be more absurd than the varieties of spelling adopted by the Peterborough tokeners, and particular notice in this respect is directed to No. 137. The use of the word "Ob.," or "Obolus," which appears as the slang term on No. 146, is of very rare occurrence.

Nos. 166 and 167 were evidently the work of the same engraver, the style and character of the two tokens being exactly similar.

The notes connect very many of the issuers with the local history, and are of particular value to the local historian and topographer.

R. OF . ASHLEY . 1668 = HIS HALFE PENNY.

$\frac{1}{2}$

AYNHOE.

2. O. THOMAS . NORRIS . IN = HIS HALF PENY.

R. ANYNHO . VPON . THE . HILL = A lion rampant.

$\frac{1}{2}$

Thomas Norrey was buried February 20, 1687.

The lion is probably allusive to the arms of a former lord of the manor, Shakerly Marmion, Esq., who sold the manor, in 1615, to Richard Cartwright, Esq., whose descendant is the present proprietor.

3. O. PETER . PRUCE . AT . THE . BEL = A bell, and P . M . P.
R. AT . AYNO . ON . THE . HILL = HIS HALF PENY. 1668. $\frac{1}{2}$

There is no Bell Inn, nor are the names of Norris and Pruce now to be found in the parish.

There is an affidavit in existence made of Peter Pruce's burial by Margaret Butler before Thomas Harris, Vicar of Newbottle, November 9, 1682.—Per Rev. M. Hutton, Vicar.

BRACKLEY.

7. O. BARTHOLOMEW . ATTON = A bell.
R. IN . BRACKLEY . DRAPER = B . A. $\frac{1}{4}$

This borough returned two members to Parliament, until disfranchised by the Reform Bill. It was incorporated by Henry III. Its dignities, at the period of the issue of these tokens, were sustained in a very undignified manner, as thus described in Barnaby's "Itinerary":

"From thence to Brackley, as did besee me one,
 The May'r I saw, a wond'rous mean one,
 Sitting, thatching and bestowing
 On a wind-blown house a strowing,
 On me, called he, and did charme mee,
 Drink less, eat more, I doe warne thee."

The issuer of this token was born at Buckingham, which is only seven miles distant from Brackley, and was a member of the local guild of mercers in that town in 1675. He was a celebrated bell founder.

Vide Buckingham (Bucks), No. 31, and appendix to that county for other information, kindly supplied by Mr. A. Heneage Cocks.

R. HIS . HALFE . PENY = BRACKLEY. 1670. $\frac{1}{2}$

The name of Williams is still to be found at Brackley, but all the others have disappeared. There are two inns, called the White and Red Lions, also the King's Head, which may be inferred by the head of Charles II.

"Corby, in Northamptonshire, is now the largest parish of that name. It was and is the Hundred Town of a large and important district of that county; there is still preserved there a charter granted in the time of Edward I. for destroying wolves. A curious custom is still practised once in twenty years, of stopping all persons passing through the parish, and demanding a toll, which, if not complied with, subjected them to the unpleasant necessity of being placed in the stocks, and carried on a pole round the parish. On this celebrated day the boundaries of the village are also beateh. The name of Collingwood is not found in the parish at the present day, but is in the adjoining parish of Cottingham."—Rev. John H. Hill, Rector of Cranse, parish of Cottingham.

R. CHAMBERLAINE . 1660 = Two lions passant gardant.

He was committed to the custody of the Sergeant-at-arms, and detained several days, which cost him £2 per day, for making a false return of members to serve in Parliament. For his private business he issued the following token :

85. O. IOHN . TWIGDEN . IN = A glove.

 $\frac{1}{2}$

A unique specimen in silver of this token is in the Northampton Museum. It was possibly a pattern.

The cobbler must have exercised great ingenuity in devising a new mode of writing Peterborough ; it is an excellent specimen of the gross blunders which are so frequently found on the tokens of this period ; the most illiterate persons must have executed them. In this list Peterborough is spelled thirteen different ways ; the issuer's name was, doubtless, Taylor.

The comic rhymes in Barnabee's Journal will ever render this place famous :

“ On a haycock sleeping soundly,
Th' river rose and tooke me roundly
Down the current ; people cryed,
Sleeping, down the stream I hyed ;
Where away, quoth they, from Greenland ?
No ; from Wansforth brigs in England.”

This tale is still preserved at Wansford, where there was an inn called the Haycock, and a painting of Barnaby floating on a haycock, for a sign.

The sign of the Haycock was taken down at Wansford in 1889, and the inn being the property of the Duke of Bedford, the sign was removed to Woburn Abbey.

The horrors of the plague in 1643 at this place, only twenty years before the issue of this token, are thus given :

“ Seeing there, as did become me,
Written, LORD HAVE MERCY ON ME,
On the portels, I departed,
Lest I should have sorer smarted ;
Though from death none may be spared
I to dye was scarce prepared.”

Northumberland.

THERE are only ten farthing tokens of this county, all of them circulated at Newcastle. Northumberland, with its northern neighbours, Cumberland and Westmoreland, issued very few tokens; the neighbourhood of Scotland seems not to have been propitious to them, though they must have been as much needed there as in the south.

NEWCASTLE.

1. O. CHARLES . BARKER = The Mercers' Arms.

R. GABRIEL . FVLTHORP = IN NEWCASTELL.

$\frac{1}{4}$

Charles Barker, son of Francis Barker, of Topcliff Manor, co. York, and Gabriel Fullthorp, were apprenticed to Alderman Mark Milbank; they were both made free of the Newcastle Mercers' Company in 1660.

2. O. WILLIAM . BLACKETT = Arms of the Blackett family; on a chevron between three mullets pierced, as many escallops.

R. MARCHANT . IN . NEWCASTLE = The Merchant-Adventurers' Arms.

$\frac{1}{4}$

William Blackett was of a good Northumberland family, which he further advanced by the great wealth he gained by judgment and industry in trade, and the produce of his mines of lead and coal. In 1660 he was appointed Sheriff, and afterwards Alderman of Newcastle, of which he was Mayor in 1666. He was elected Member for Newcastle in 1673, and the same year advanced to the dignity of baronet. He died in 1680, and was buried in St. Nicholas' Church, Newcastle.

Of his three surviving sons, Edward succeeded him in the baronetcy; his second son, Michael, to the business; and his third son, William, also a Newcastle merchant, was chosen Mayor in 1683 and 1698; he represented Newcastle in Parliament from 1685 to his decease in 1705. He was advanced to the dignity of baronet in 1684, and High Sheriff of Northumberland in 1689.

The estimation in which the Blacketts were at this time held, and the success with which their undertakings were crowned, became almost proverbial. The advice that a kind master gave to his favourite apprentice, and the utmost wish that a father could have for his darling son was, that he could be through life a—William Blackett.

3. O. ANTHONY . DOBSON = A . D.

R. OF . NEWCASTLE = A . D.

$\frac{1}{4}$

Anthony Dobson was the son of a substantial feltmaker of Newcastle. He appears to have been an obstinate man, in frequent trouble with the authorities. He espoused the popular side during the Civil Wars.

5. O. WILLIAM . HVTCHINSON = A castle.

W . H and 4. $\frac{1}{4}$

William Hutchinson was of the Merchant-Adventurers' Company. In 1688 he was appointed Alderman of Newcastle, with others, by mandamus of James II., to the exclusion of those elected by the burgesses; October 1 he was chosen Mayor, but on November 5 following he was displaced by Nicholas Ridley, elected under the new charter, by which all the liberties of the town were restored. Hutchinson was a Dissenter.

Vide Preface.

Nottinghamshire.

THE name of the late John Toplis, of Grimsby Villa, Nottingham, will be specially remembered in connection with the following pages.

To him especially was due the interest which has been excited in that county for the collection of its traders' tokens.

He devoted very much time and great attention to the study, and the compilation of the ensuing list was almost entirely his work. He was eager to supplement the descriptions by notes as to the issuers, and had commenced a careful search of parochial and town records for the purpose, when his career—so useful to his native town and so valuable to his large family—was untimely cut short. As a tribute of respect to the memory of a dear and valued friend the list is presented as he left it, no further efforts being made to obtain notes where his memory lingers over all the work. For much kindly aid and sympathy, and for very thoughtful help, the Editor is greatly indebted to him, and in making this inadequate reference to one whose removal has been so painful a loss, the Editor is impelled to express his thankfulness for having known for so many years a man so well worth knowing, and whom to know was to respect.

May he rest in peace!

These tokens are principally halfpennies. Some of them are of inferior workmanship, and of a size between halfpennies and farthings; the following are examples: Henry Carier, of Blyth and Nottingham; tokens of Berridge, Burrowes, Cockinge, Dodsley, Farwoorth, Hodges, and Smith. The only town piece is that of Nottingham.—JOHN TOPLIS.

NUMBER OF TOKENS ISSUED 254

NUMBER OF PLACES ISSUING TOKENS 31

TOWN PIECES ISSUED AT BURFORD, HENLEY-ON-THAMES, AND OXFORD.

Oxfordshire.

THE Editor has in this county also to bewail the loss of assistance which he had hoped to have received. A correspondent who had commenced to collate the tokens of the county, and had done good work at the Bodleian, was suddenly called to Africa, and in the hurry of departure the manuscript, with the collation and notes, disappeared.

The entire work has occupied so many years in compilation, that the Editor cannot venture to keep his subscribers waiting longer, and is therefore, with much regret, obliged to leave noting this county as a heritage for future collectors. He has found very few collectors much interested in Oxfordshire coinage, and repeated letters in the various county journals have elicited no response. The collation will, he trusts, be found accurate; and he believes the list newly made includes all the known tokens of the county.

The special feature of the series is the presence of unusual merchant-marks upon several of the tokens. The two Witney issuers were probably concerned in the staple trade of the place, that of wool and blankets, and the woolpack, associated with special trade-marks for denoting their own goods, appears on the tokens. Trade-marks also appear on tokens of Oxford, Henley, and Burford. A token of Thomas Appleby, of Oxford, affords us a mystery, the strange words "Mallia Cadreene" are a crux to all token-collectors, and the mystery still awaits solution at the hand of some local investigator. The issuer was evidently a man of some note, who bears proudly on his tokens his family achievement.

There are town-pieces struck at Burford, Henley-on-Thames, and Oxford, and those of the two former places are decidedly marks of some merit above the average character. North Leigh gives us a token issued jointly by William and Ann Mason, probably partners as well in trade as in home life.

Two tokens of Bicester, clearly designed by the same artist, are heart-shaped, and a token of Chipping Norton, and the one of Barford, are of the same unusual and interesting shape.

In Oxford itself we have tokens issued at the Pestle and Mortar, the Cock, the Gilt Looking-Glass, the Bush, the Sugar-loaf, the Racket and Ball, the Three Kings, the Three Salmons, the Fox and Goose, the Mermaid, the Three Blackbirds, the Golden Key, the Crown, the Salmon, the Angel, the Bird and Hand, and the Spectacles, all these signs, which form a goodly list, being specifically named; while many others are implied by device. There is a peculiarity of the Oxford tokens which gives them a family relationship in design, and may betray the hand of a common designer, and that is the presence on so many of the name of the issuer's trade.

We find tokens issued by the following trades : Chandler, watch-maker, cutler, milliner, vintner, mercer, brewer, baker, glover, rug-maker, clockmaker, hosier, fishmonger, apothecary, goldsmith, skinner, ironmonger, draper and clothier, hatter, and silk-weaver—milliners especially occurring frequently. It is decidedly uncommon to have the trades so emphatically mentioned as they are on these of Oxford, and the fact is an important feature of the series. We find reference made on the tokens to the North Gate and the Turle Gate, and to the East Gate. One issuer gives the Tennis Court as his place of residence ; but the only mention of the colleges is on No. 167, where Lawrence Short tells us he lived "neare New Colledg."

Four of the issuers in Oxford were women, Ann Turton, Ann Pierson, Alice Lant, Olive Hind issuing tokens.

The two tokens of Dunstew are very interesting, as their issuer was a carrier, a trade very rarely mentioned on tokens. This man, Thomas Barrett, issued his two tokens—halfpenny and farthing—and delineates his basket-pannier on the tokens. There are many guild arms represented in this county, those of the apothecaries, fruiterers, mercers, pewterers, grocers, drapers, weavers, bakers, barbers, surgeons, leathersellers, vintners, goldsmiths, tallowchandlers, upholsterers, cordwainers, turners, ironmongers, brewers, and clothworkers, the pewterers and turners being of rare occurrence.

A token of Chipping Norton, and another of Henley-on-Thames, bear the arms of the City of Oxford, but whether out of compliment to Oxford, or as denoting any affiliation of corporate existence, is not very clear. The circumstance itself merits recognition.

Punning devices occur on the tokens of Fawler in Chipping Norton, as he bears a falcon volant ; also of Groves, with the device of a wild man in a grove.

The places issuing tokens have been increased in this county by four not named by Boyne, i.e., Dorchester, Ewelme, Stokenchurch, and Shipton-under-Witchwood ; while forty new tokens or varieties have been added.

The City of Oxford boasts of an unusually large number of tokens for one place, its record being 188.

The series, as a whole, awaits more adequate treatment at the hands of some county collector.

The gold token of Thame occupies an unique position in the whole series of tokens of the seventeenth century. It is the only instance of an issuer going to the expense of striking a proof of his token in gold. It is mentioned in the "History of the Church of St. Mary, Thame," by the Rev. F. G. Lee, of All Saints', Lambeth (1883), and had been seen by Mr. Lee when in Mr. Lupton's possession. It is not known where it is at present.

Rutland.

THE seventeen tokens of this county are but proportionate to the diminutive size of the county, and not more than would be expected from so quiet a county, possessing so few towns of even medium size. The series present no special feature. One token of Uppingham, No. 10, is heart-shaped and of considerable rarity. It would almost be imagined from the series that the men of greatest prosperity in the county were the tallowchandlers, as no less than five out of seventeen bear the device of a chandler or the arms of the company. Potterill of Oakham and Butler of Uppingham bear their family arms on their tokens, and were evidently members of good families engaged in trade. Three tokens are those of halfpence, the remainder being farthings.

The notes will be found to be of unusual interest and importance.

The Goodman family had long before the issue of the token been settled in North Luffenham. A Robert Goodman, yeoman, was here 13 Henry VIII.

The parish register, commencing 1565, supplies the following :

Baptisms. 1633. Thomas fill Herauld Goodman, 12 May.

„ 1636. Mary, dau. of Harrauld Goodman & Ioane, July 3; bur. July 21, 1638.

In a subsidy 13 and 39 Elizabeth (Queen's Exch. Remembrancer, R.O.), Symon Goodman's land in this place was assessed at 20s. annual value.

The Goodman family is found both in the municipal and parochial records of Stamford.

Richard Goodman was bound apprentice to John Atton, mercer, June 17, 1616; took up his freedom Apl. 5, 1 Car. I.; was one of the constables 2 and 3 Car. I.; Overseer of Highways for the parish of St. Michael, 1633, 1655, and 1658; Collector of the Poor, 1635; Searcher of the Markets, 1636-37; and elected a capital burgess in the room of John Royce, dec., Aug. 28, 1645; and bur. as Mr. Richard Goodman at St. Michael's, Sept. 11, 1661.

In the accounts of the churchwarden (Fras. Dalby) for this parish are the two following entries:

"Received of Rich. Goodman for the closes wthout Paules' gates, the first of May, 1649, 02^{li} 10^s 00^d."

"Received of Rich. Goodman for halfe a yeare's rent, Octobr 3rd, 1649, 01^{li} 10^s 00^d."

Leonard Goodman, "tallowe chandler," took up his freedom 7 Apl., 1628; also Henry Goodman, shoemaker, 16 Aug., 8 Car. I.; and a Richard Goodman, gent., elected a capital burgess July 20, 1674; dec. in 1679, as on Aug. 27 in that year John Palmer, jun., was elected in his room.

Mr. John Goodman paid £5 July 16, 1696, and took up his freedom.

The village of North Luffenham was for a long period the residence of the Digby family, whose arms are azure, a fleur-de-lys argent; probably the issuer of this token was mine host of the Fluor-de-lys public-house, or had the device by way of compliment.

In the parochial registers of this parish are found the following entries relative to the name:

On the fly-page of the oldest register-book is this entry :

“The registers of this parish were copied by Johann Hunt in 1599 from an older book during the time the Rectory was held by Archdeacon Johnson. The entries were made before Mr. flarington's time.”

The entries as copied certainly do Johann Hunt credit, being well written.

In the registers of South Luffenham, a village about a mile to the south of North Luffenham, I found the following entries :

1710. John Hunt, bur. May y^e 10.

1717. Isaac Hunt, bur. July y^e 16.

The Samuel Hunt, whose burial is recorded with others of the family at North Luffenham, made his will Feb. 4, 1709-10, proved by sole executor Jan. 29, 1717-18, in P.C.C. (Reg. Tenison 11), by which he settled and assured all such parts of the messuages, cottages, and lands as were not before assured by deed dated Jan. 5, 29 Car. II., that is to say, “all that messuage or tenement with the appurtenances lying and being in North Luffenham, wherein I now dwell, and one William Stanger, and those several closes of land or pasture, called Huimans closes and Bracken-back closes and the Ash close, containing by estimation 26 acres ; also other pieces or closes in North and South Luffenham, containing by estimation 150 acres, known as Crip farm, now or late in the tenure of William Stanger ; cottage in North Luffenham, in the tenure of Richard Fowler ; and all other lands and tenements in North and South Luffenham, left power to Samuel Hunt the elder, his heirs and assigns, to revoke and alter the said recited deeds, or his heirs by Susana, his late wife, deceased, and expresses his dissatisfaction with the same. He acknowledges receiving of his son-in-law, Charles Ray, of Stamford, apothecary, £350, which is applied for the use and benefit of his other children and grandchildren, revokes the deeds, and leaves all that he can in law or equity to his daughter, Susannah Ray, her heirs and assigns, she paying thereout to my granddaughter, Susanah Hunt, £100 if she lives to attain the age of twenty-one years ; and in case of her death to revert to daughter, Susanah Ray. To my grandson, Gilbert Hunt, of Ridlington, gent., £20 per annum ; residue of personal estate to my son-in-law, Charles Ray, who is appointed sole executor. Witnesses, John Fleming, and John and Matthew Stanger.”

Charles Ray, in an assessment made April 22, 1690, for the relief of the poor of the parish of St. Michael, Stamford, had to pay 6s. In 1693 he was overseer of the poor ; and in August, 1721, he lived at Stamford, as I have seen a bill of his dated August 5. He was buried at North Luffenham September 18, 1741 ; as was also his widow, May 12, 1742.

The Hunt family is also found both in the municipal and parochial records.

William Hunt, carpenter, paid £1 6s. 8d. and took up his freedom October 5, 19 Car. I.

William Hunt, probably his son, was elected a capital burgess July 20, 1674 ; chamberlain, 1679-80 ; and deceased in 1681, as on May 12 in that year one Richard Buck was elected to fill the vacant seat. William, in 1658 and 1661, served the office of overseer of the highways ; overseer of the poor, 1654 ; and churchwarden for the parish of St. Michael 1665 ; and a John Hunt was also churchwarden 1690, and overseer of highways for the same parish in 1691.

Eusebius Hunt, mercer, paid £10 to John Wright, chamberlain, and admitted to freedom May 12, 1698.

Thomas Hunt took up his freedom March 10, 1694-95 ; constable for the parish of St. John's 1696-97 ; elected a capital burgess in the room of John Griffin, deceased, October 20, 1711 ; deceased in 1746, as on August 28 in that year John Chamberlain, mercer, was elected to fill the vacant seat.

Thomas Hunt, jun., as freeborn, was freely admitted to his freedom April 8, 1704.

Most probably the Stamford and Rutland families were of kin, as the two Luffenhams are five miles only from Stamford.

The will of John Potterill, apothecary, dated March 1, 1652, and admitted to probate November 2, 1652, contains a schedule of certain property given to his daughter Mabel, amongst which are the following pieces of plate, viz.: The long bowl, maudling cup, seven silver spoons, of which three are commonly used in the house (or "worn," says testator), three others plain, and one with a knob not gilt; two silver salts; also pewter dishes, etc., linen, household furniture, etc., etc. It also bequeaths: To my sons, Edward and William, each £10. The former he remits the £5 borrowed money. Whereas my son Humphrey is bound apprentice unto me for seven years, and hath served two years and more, and after my decease my son John shall take him for the term unexpired, and when he is out to have £60. Whereas John St. John, Esq., owes me £250 upon bond, and above £80 on the forbearance, I will that within twenty-one days after my executor receives the same, he shall pay my daughter £80 more, and my two sons each £40 more. To my sister, Frances Potterell, 20s. All my lands, etc., to my son John, and sole executor. To my good friend, Eliz. Presgrave, a double ducket of gold. To my brother Potterell and his wife a piece of gold each.

The books of the hall of Stamford inform us that Humphrey Potterell, apothecary, was, at a common hall, August 27, 1657, abated "fforty shillings of his ffyne w^{ch} was imposed on him for his freedome" (the regulation fine at this period was £20). In 1659-60 he was one of the capital constables for the parish of St. Michael, overseer of the poor 1659-60, churchwarden 1669-70, pursuant to royal commission, August 29, 1662, elected a capital burgess, or a common councilman, and served the office of chamberlain 1681-72.

Thomas Potterill, his son, also an "apothecarye, paid six pounds thirteen shillings and ffour pence," June 11, 1685, and took up his freedom. We find his name in the list of capital burgesses in October, 1687, but not in that of October, 1688. Mr. Thomas Potterill resided in the parish of St. John's, was overseer of the poor 1686-87, sidesman 1690-91, and churchwarden 1692-93.

The will of Thomas's father, dated August 24, 27th Car. II., in which he designates himself as Humfrey Potterell, of Stamford, in the county of Lincoln, apothecary: To son Thomas Potterell, £50 to be paid within six months after his apprenticeship has expired. To my daughters, Abigail and Mary, £60 each on attaining the age of twenty-one, or day of marriage, which shall first happen, and during minority my executrix to educate them; and in case of either of them dying under age, her portion, so dying, to be divided amongst the survivor. And touching that part of the money owing by Mr. St. John, and bequeathed unto me by the will of my father, I do will the same, and desire my loving brother, Mr. Thomas Potterell, this executor, after the recovery thereof, to pay the same equally to my children, be supervisor of this my will, and assist my executrix in the management of her affairs. The residue of my estate to my wife Elizabeth, and appoints her sole executrix. Witnesses to his signature, etc., George Hill and William Lord.

13. O. EDMOND . FARBECKE = A roll of tobacco.

R. OF . VPPINGHAM = E . F.

This issuer was probably a son of Thos. Farbec, Vicar of Ketton, in this county, who May 6, 1614, married (at Hambleton) Mary Wright, May 24, 1619. In December, 1648, he was under the ban of sequestration. In the State Papers, Dom. Ser. of Charles I. (R.O.) is a petition from Thos. Farbeck, Clerk, Vicar of Ketton, Rutland, to Archbishop Laud, dated May 29, 1638. It sets forth that the church of Tixover, two miles distant, is united to his vicarage, and by an ancient composition the vicar is to find a curate resident to officiate at Tixover. Richard Bullingham is farmer for three lives at a small rent of the rectory of Ketton, being the corps of a prebend in the cathedral church of Lincoln, and receives out of the rectory £300 clear, per annum, while the vicarage is not worth above £26 per annum, and one moiety of that is allowed to the curate of Tixover. There is reserved to the diocesan full power to augment the stipend as by an ancient composition in the church of Lincoln, hereunto annexed. Prays that the Archbishop would command that some order may be taken for the augmentation of petitioner's poor living. Underwritten, I desire Sir Jno. Lamb to consider of this petition, and if there be any way left for the churches' just relief I shall be very willing to give my best assistance.—W. Cant., May 29, 1638.

With this petition is an extract in Latin from the roll of the time of Oliver Sutton, Bishop of Lincoln (1280-99), in which are set forth the profits at that time of the vicarage of Ketton with the chapel of Tixover, to which is added a statement of the various sums received by the petitioner since his coming to the vicarage in 1614, which to say the least was bare enough to serve a cure. Petitioner, designating himself as Thos. F., Vicar of Ketton, co. Rutland, in the jurisdiction of the Dean and Chapter of Lincoln, again in 1640 petitions the primate. He says your Grace's Vicar-General, in the first metropolitical visitation, did, under the seal of the court, enjoin all the inhabitants of the parish of Ketton to come up to the chancels of the Lord's table to receive the Sacrament, and in the visitation of the Dean and Chapter of Lincoln the churchwardens were commanded to present all such as refused so to draw near as being delinquents against the orders of Holy Church. All the inhabitants of the parish, according to their duty, obey these injunctions of their ordinary, except Mr. Armin, J.P., and Cicely, his wife, who have for these four years refused to communicate in their parish church, because petitioner would not against his conscience and oath of canonical obedience recede from the injunction of his superior and come forth of the chancel, to the great scandal of all his other parishioners and the abetting of them in their refractory dispositions. For this cause a bill of indictment was preferred by a late servant of Mr. A. against petitioner and returned, bella vera, by the grand jury, so that petitioner, not being able by reason of his extreme poverty to traverse it, must be forced to submit as a delinquent to the laws of the kingdom, unless by your gracious favour he be vindicated from the potency of his adversaries. Prays your grace to take his cause into your consideration, and to relieve him in such manner as shall seem best to your wisdom. Underneath is written: Referred to Sir John Lambe and Dr. Duck to consider of this petition, and at their next leisure to give me an account of their suggestions.—W. Cant, May 9, 1640.

The will of the issuer of this token, dated November 14, 1691, proved February 12, 1691-9, by executor, is in the P.C.C. register (Fane 29). Testator designates himself as John Hull, of Uppinham, co. Rutland, grocer. Bequeaths to son Richard and daughter Frances Hull all my copyhold lands and tenements which I hold of the lord of the manor of the rectory of Uppingham, so that the same may be sold and the proceeds equally divided. To my daughter Frances for life a freehold tenement and shop thereunto adjoining, late in the tenure of Henry Frisby. Should son Richard die without issue it was to revert to my daughter Frances. To the three children of my daughter, Eliz. Freeman, viz., Mary, Thomas, and John, each 6s. 8d. Item to my son Richard, two coats, one waistcoat, silver tobacco-box, and all my wearing shifts. To my daughter Frances one silver cup and two silver spoons. The residue of my estate, etc., to my wife Anne, whom I constitute sole executrix.

The parish registers of St. Michael's, Stamford, records the burial on February 9, 1675-6, of a Mr. Robt. Hull, woollen draper.

The corporate and parochial books supply the following particulars, which evidently show that he was not a "native":

At a common hall, April 5, 1658, Robt. Hull, woollen draper, was admitted to freedom, whereupon "he payes down to Humph. Reynolds, Chamberlain, tenne poundes for his freedome; and his landlord Willm. Larrett and Robert Blackbourne, mercer, are to be bound in ffourty pounds to secure the towne from his charges."

At a former meeting of the hall, March 26, 1657, he was directed to pay £10 before taking up his freedome, for which Mr. Robt. Cammock hath promised to pay before night. In 1659-60 he was one of the overseers of the poor, and churchwarden in 1666-69; and in the accounts of the churchwardens of this parish for Easter (John Vokes and Thos. Porter), presented to the parishioners "in vestry assembled," April 21, 1663, credit is given for 3s. 4d. for the burial of Mr. Hull's child in the church.

"1668. Aug. 6. At this Hall, Robert Hull one of ye capitall burgesses of this corporacon before he would obey ye constituson of a hall heretofore made did freely resigne his place as a capitall burgesse and desyred to be dismissed from ye same wh^{ch} is ordered accordingly."

At a common hall, February 21, 1668-9, Robert Hull was elected "agayne into his place as one of ye capitall burgesses of this borough and sworne."

He served the office of chamberlain for the year 1669-70, promoted to the rank of an alderman in 1674, when he refused to take the customary oath. The minute-book of the hall thus records the fact:

"1674. July 20. Thos. Pilkington, Gent., Mayor. At this hall, Mr. Hull, lately elected Alderman in the place of Mr. Daniel Thorogood (bur. at St. Michael's, 10 March, 1673-4), dec., was sent for by ye Mayor and Aldermen to take his oath, but he refused the same though tendered to him. He was therefore dismissed from the Council Chamber."

I have no direct evidence to connect him with the Uppingham token-issuer, but the fact of that town being about twelve miles Stamford, which was at this period and some time previously the capital of South Lincolnshire, affords strong presumptive reasons that they were of kin, perhaps brothers.

When Harrod wrote "The Antiquities and Present State of Stamford and St. Martin's, 1785," the following inscription was on a brass plate on the floor in the middle aisle of old St. Michael's Church. It disappeared when the present one was rebuilt in its place in 1837, as it is not now to be seen :

"Heere lyeth byried the body of Robert Hvll Woolin Draper, who departed this life Febrvary the 8, 1675, Ætatis suæ 42."

The registers of this parish supply the following entries :

1642. Robert Trig and Anna Hull, mar. June 19.

1646. Thomas Hull, bur. August 28.

1662. Widow Hull, bur. December 31.—Easton parish register.

Scotland.

OF this kingdom there is but the one token described ; and this is very surprising, as the large cities of Edinburgh, Glasgow, Perth, Aberdeen, etc., must have needed small change, and there seems to have been no special law in Scotland against their issue, any more than in England and Ireland. The Black Money of the Scottish Kings, and the patent farthings of James I. and Charles I., seem, however, to have met the requirements of the trade of that period.

THE bulk of the tokens of this county are halfpennies and farthings, but there are as many as thirteen pennies, an unusual proportion, surpassed, however, by the adjoining border county of Chester, which boasts of twenty-four or more.

Bridgenorth was the only town in the county that issued tokens in a corporate capacity.

In the former edition eighty tokens were described—of these four have been withdrawn, as they belong to other counties, and the present list enumerates a total of ninety-nine.

John Mellington, sen., baker, for encroaching by erecting a bulke to his Shop in Shopp-lace (now called "Shop-latch") on the towne's ground £0 02 06

John Millington, if not a Quaker himself, was friendly to the cause of this persecuted sect. Richard Davis, the Welshpool Quaker (see Wales), says in his autobiography :

"A little after this I came to hear that some of the people that were called Quakers were at Shrewsbury, in the county of Salop, being distant from the place of my abode about eighteen miles. When the time called Christmas came, my master's work being somewhat over for a while, I got leave to go so far. I went first to the house of John Millington, where many friends resorted."

In 1661 Davies was taken prisoner at Wem, with about twenty-five more, and committed to Shrewsbury Gaol, where they suffered much hardship ; but after some days John Millington interceded with the gaoler, who was prevailed upon to let them all go, taking their word for their appearance at the next Assizes.

Somerset.

IN the Somerset series of tokens we find that the devices are not only numerous, but very varied in character, and may be classed under the following divisions :

I. Town Pieces and Arms of Private Families.—Farthings were issued by the local authorities of the following towns: Bath, Bridgwater, Bruton, Chard, Frome, Ilchester, Ilminster, Langport, Minehead, Taunton, Wellington, Wells, and Yeovil—a very large number, compared with other counties. The family coats are: Fisher, of Bath; Rogers, of Bridgwater; Able, of Chard; Grenway, of Crewkerne; Curle, of Freshford; Webb, of Ilminster; Foster, of Kilmersdon; and Wintar, of South Petherton.

II. Arms of the Trade Corporations of the City of London.—These arms were used by persons of the same trade throughout the country, and in Somerset we find the following: *Clothworkers*¹—Bath, Spaxton,* Taunton. *Cordwainers*²—Bath. *Drapers*³—Bath, Bridgwater. *Goldsmiths*⁴—Bath. *Grocers*⁵—Bruton, Frome, Henstridge, Taunton, Wellington; three cloves only are sometimes used—Chard, Crewkerne, Ilchester, Yeovil; and also three sugar-loaves—South Petherton. *Haberdashers*⁶—Beckington, Crewkerne, Frome, Langport. *Mercers*⁷—Bath, Batheaston, Chard, Frome, Glastonbury, Ilchester, Lydeard St. Lawrence, Minehead, Nunney, Taunton, Wells. *Salters*⁸—Bridgwater, Mells. *Tallowchandlers*⁹—Bath, North Petherton; one dove only—West Pennard, Yeovil. *Weavers*¹⁰—Bath, Croscombe, Taunton.

III. Merchants' Marks.—Walters, of Bath; Giles, of Beckington; Haviland, of Bridgwater; Turner, of Frome; Bradford, of Lullington; Brown and Byrtt, of Shepton Mallet.

² A chevron between three goats' heads, erased.

³ Three triple crowns resting on clouds, radiated in base.

⁴ Quarterly, first and fourth a leopard's face, second and third a covered cup, in chief three buckles.

⁵ A chevron between nine cloves—three, three, and three.

⁶ Barry nebulée, on a bend a lion passant guardant.

⁸ Per chevron three covered cups sprinkling salt.

⁹ Per fesse and per pale, three doves, each holding an olive branch.

¹⁰ On a chevron between three leopards' faces, as many roses.

* On one of the bench ends in the church at Spaxton is carved a representation of a man at work on a piece of cloth—the Fullers' Panel. See "Proceedings," Somerset Archæological Society, vol. vii.

IV. Tavern and Shop Signs.—Angel, Three Swans, White Hart, Mermaid, Rose and Crown, Bell, Crown, Harp, Nag's Head, Seven Stars, Globe, Catherine Wheel, Lamb and Flag, Checkers, Half Moon, Fountain, Ship, St. George and Dragon, Castle, Fleur-de-Lys, Eagle, White Ball, Three Widows, Lion, Half Moon, Unicorn, Soldier.

V. Implements, Articles of Trade, Domestic Use, and Dress.—Many of the following were probably shop signs : Croppers' shears, scythe, woolcomb, scissors, curry comb, spade, mortar and pestle, hammer and pincers, scales, teasle brush, cord, axe, shuttle, cloth brush, cauldron, tailors' pressing-iron, woolpack, madder bag, hand holding a pen, stick of candles, pipes and roll of tobacco, barrel, roll of bread, stocking, hat and feather, book.

VI. Animals and Plants.—Pegasus, birds, talbot with chain, dog and hare, stag, unicorn, cock, greyhound, squirrel, rose, Glastonbury thorn, bunch of grapes.

VII. Loyal Mottoes and Emblems.—Beckington ("Glory be unto the King"); Chard ("Receive the Crown in every Town"); Glastonbury (royal arms), South Cadbury (King's head), Weston (Prince's feathers). The Crown, and Rose and Crown, frequently occur.

VIII. Punning.—Swallow, Bath; Bishop, Glastonbury (bust of a Bishop, mitred); Churchey Somerton (a church); Hancock, Weston (a hand and a cock).

The earliest date on a Somerset token is 1651, and the latest, 1671.

The frequent occurrence of the woolcomb, croppers' shears, woolpack, and other implements connected with the woollen manufacture, would tend to prove that cloth making was a flourishing industry in Somerset at that period. It still lingers at two or three places in the eastern part of the county, whilst serges and other woollen goods are made extensively at the present time at Wellington.

CAREY LAND.

R. IN . CAREY . LAND . 1660 = W . K . I. $\frac{1}{4}$

This token has been assigned by numismatists to Somerset, on account of the similarity of the name to Castle Cary. The name "Carey Land," however, seems to be unknown at the present time in the neighbourhood of that town. As many tokens show some whim or fancy of the issuer, may we venture to surmise that the issuer of the above token, aiming at a wider field than either Castle Cary or Babcary, included the country adjoining, watered by the small river which rises at Castle Cary, and which, in the first ten or twelve miles of its course, gives the name of "Cary" to many places on its banks? "Cary Land" would, therefore, be a very natural designation for such a district. We have numerous instances of the affix "land" applied to farms, districts, and even countries; while "Taunton Deane" furnishes us with two tokens referring to the district around, and not to the town itself. In a "Roll of the Tenth and Fifteenth of all the Hundreds in the County of Somerset," probably of the time of Henry VIII., appears the word "Castelcarilond, ix^{li}."

The device on this token is no doubt intended for the "Glastonbury Thorn." The traditional story, that St. Joseph of Arimathea stuck his walking-staff into the ground on Wearyall Hill, that it took root, and ever after budded and bloomed on Christmas Day, is still cherished in the neighbourhood. A local ballad says :

"The staff het budded and het grew,
 And at Christmas bloom'd the whole da droo ;
 And still het blooms at Christmas bright,
 But best tha say at dork midnight."

The original Glastonbury Thorn had two trunks, one of which was cut down in the time of Elizabeth by a Puritan, and the other remained till the Civil War, when some fanatic destroyed it.

In Dugdale's "Monasticon" is a view of Glastonbury, taken from Compton Hill, about three miles to the south, showing a tree growing on Wearyall Hill, marked as "Sacra spina." An offshoot grew in the grounds of the Abbey, and the Thorn has of late years been pretty freely propagated in the neighbourhood. A stone let into the ground on Wearyall Hill marks the spot where the original tree grew.

In all probability Henry Gutch witnessed the destruction of the Sacred Thorn, as it appears to have been cut down not many years before the date on his token; and he very naturally adopted it as his sign. The Blossoms was a favourite sign for inns; referring, it appears, to the blossoms of the Holy Thorn of Glastonbury.

See a paper on "The Holy Thorn of Glastonbury," by Mr. E. Chisholm-Batten, in vol. xxvi., p. 117, of the Proceedings of the Somerset Archæological Society.

R. SOVTH . PETHARTON = W . E . W.

The above is very similar to a device sometimes used by brush-makers. The curved implement, something like a flattened horse-shoe, is probably intended for the "bit-stock" used for boring holes in wood ; while the pigs and three pellets or bundles have reference to the bristles used for brushes. These arms are still borne by an Essex family, but they now read : quarterly—1, the Ulster hand ; 2, two Lions passant ; 3, a crescent moon ; 4, three bezants—and form quite an aristocratic coat, of which we see the origin above !

The implement here represented is no doubt the "card," formerly used for bringing wool into a condition fit for the spinner, called "carding." It has long been superseded by machinery. The word is in all probability derived from "carduus," a thistle or teazle, which was probably the first natural implement used for the above purpose; the teazle is still used in the finishing process of cloth making.

The name of John Meredith occurs as one of the two Aldermen in the Corporation of 1677.

A tablet in the Church of St. Mary Magdalene, Taunton, after recording the burials of several daughters "of John Meredith, Taunton, mercer," states:

"Also the above-said JOHN MEREDITH, who departed 11th October, in the year of our Lord God, 1667. Also AGNES, widow of the above John Meredith, who departed this life Dec. 3rd, 1701, aged 79 years."

It will be observed that the initials on the token correspond with the names of the above John and Agnes Meredith.

John Meredith, by his will dated in September, 1677, gave to the poor of the parish of Taunton St. Mary Magdalene the sum of £400 to be laid out in the purchase of some lands of that value, the yearly produce of which should be taken by the Constables of the borough, for the time being, and by them, between Michaelmas and St. Thomas's Day, yearly, laid out in cloth and making garments for the poor.

In the parish register of Taunton St. James the following entry appears under marriages in the year 1649 :

It will be seen by referring to the same register that marriages in this parish during the Commonwealth usually took place in the presence of either Mathew Munday or William Bidgood, two of the Aldermen of the borough of Taunton.†

A Mathew Monday was one of the inferior burgesses in the Corporation of 1677. It will be seen that the initials on the token correspond with the names of the parties married on August 12, 1649, as given above.

The name of Stephen Tymewell occurs as one of the capital burgesses in the Corporation of 1677. He appears to have been Mayor of Taunton in 1683, for he thus describes having sacked the great meeting-house called Poole, and the Baptist one, on the same day: "We burnt ten cart-loads of pulpit, doors, gates, and seats, upon the Market-place. We staid till three in the morning, before all were burnt. We were very merry. The bells rung all night. The Church is now full; thank God for it. The fanaticks dare not open their mouths." On January 21, 1684, he reported that, since demolishing the public meeting-house, he had taken nine private conventicles, and made records thereof, and intended to do the like to the rest as soon as he could; so that he did not hear of any conventicles in that place. —State Paper Office, Sir L. By George Newton, M^r of Arts, and Minister of the Gospell in that place. London: printed by M. Wilson for Francis Eglesfield, at the Marigold in Paul's-churchyard, and are to be sold by George Treagle in Taunton. 1646." May 11 was for many years observed as a day of rejoicing at Taunton, and a sermon was preached "upon the day set apart for the Annuall Commemoration." Several of these are extant, bearing the name of George Treagle as the seller; also a sermon preached at Wiveliscombe. "London: printed by A.M. for George Treagle at Taunton." 1652.

The above George Treagle is the earliest known record of a bookseller carrying on business in Taunton.

Southwark.

THE ancient borough of Southwark, although it does not possess the distinction of the name of a county, deserves in our opinion the honour of a separate division of this work.

In area it is nearly equal to the City of London, containing as it does 590 acres, while but 600 acres is the extent of the City.

In political life it has had its own separate continuous existence, and its government has been separate and distinct from that of the City, although attached to it.

Southwark forms by itself the great ward of Bridge Without, and has its own High Bailiff, Courts and Hall. Forming also part of Surrey, it can be considered to have less to do with Surrey even than with London, and its position demands for it the separate and special consideration its interesting history deserves. We have not, therefore, attached the pages containing its tokens to those of Surrey, preferring to give them separate consideration.

Very many of the Southwark tokens bear the name SOUTHWARK alone upon them, and it is not easy to identify the majority of these with the streets or houses of their issue. With regard to our notes, our thanks are very particularly due to the especial courtesy of the authors of two important works on Southwark. The first, Dr. Rendle's work on "Old Southwark and its People," has been constantly referred to by us, and a second work by the same author, in conjunction with Mr. Philip Norman, has been laid under still heavier contribution. Without the latter work ("The Inns of Old Southwark, and their Associations"*), our task would have been laborious and difficult. From the book Mr. Norman most generously permitted us constantly to quote, and by him were we permitted to obtain electros of the woodcuts used to illustrate the tokens struck at the inns mentioned by him. These woodcuts of tokens now appear to brighten our pages, and our thanks are most heartily rendered to Mr. Norman for their use and for his constant and patient assistance of our work.

The great feature of the Southwark tokens is the number that were issued from inns, and the inns of Southwark were the most interesting erections in the Borough. "Southwark was," as Dr. Rendle states, "the chief thoroughfare to and from London for the southern counties and by the coast for the busiest part of the continent—a place for 'birds of passage,' 'for great receipt of people and trade from divers shires of the realm,' and so necessarily occupied by inns in number out of all proportion to ordinary shops and dwellings."

* Longmans, 1888.

In treating of the tokens, we are enabled to give many notes respecting these old inns, which we gather from Messrs. Rendle and Norman's works already referred to. Stow, Evelyn, and Pepys have been also laid under contribution, while Wilson's "Antiquities of Dissenting Chapels," Larwood's "History of Signs," Besse's "Sufferings of the Quakers," and very many other Nonconformist works, have each yielded their quota of interesting information.

We believe these notes will be found to well repay perusal, and to contain many a scrap of history both fresh and novel to the ordinary student.

We must not omit to mention that Mr. Norman has very kindly read the proofs of this portion of the book, and has corrected many of the entries by the light of later investigation, adding also some additional items of interest, for which we would tender him our very sincere thanks; and we are sure that our readers will derive much benefit from his generous aid.

This house is mentioned in 1622, when Edward Hewlett, by deed, conferred a rent-charge of £20 upon it and another adjoining thereto, to the poor in general. And in the same year by a second deed he gave to the poor of Cures College the remainder of the Swan with Two Necks and Dagger tenements. In 1719 the two tenements are made into one, being described as the "house over against the Bull Head which was formerly known as the Swan with Two Necks and Dagger."—[R. and N., 302.]

Axe Yard was in High Street, Southwark.

Mrs. Newcomen, a Puritanical believer, who resided there, left by will in 1674 some small property for charity and for the education of the poor, then perhaps a hundred pounds value, now, so wisely was it administered, some £2,000 or more by the year. Among her bequests is her messuage in Axe Yard, called the Bottle, in which, perhaps, we see the origin of the name Axe and Bottle Yard.

In 1760 the south gate of London Bridge was taken down and the materials sold by auction. At the sale the fine old sculpture of the King's Arms was bought by Mr. Williams, a stonemason of Tooley Street, who, being soon after employed to take down the gateway of Axe and Bottle Yard and so form King Street, introduced the arms on the right-hand side of the western end of the street. The street is now called Newcomen Street, in memory of the good woman above referred to.—[R. and N., 227-228.]

The George is one of the "fair inns" noted by Stow in 1598. The owner in 1558 was Humfrey Colet or Collet, M.P. for Southwark 1553. In his will he states that he wishes to be buried in the new churchyard (St. Saviour's) by his uncle, Thomas Bullay, and that he owns the George now in the tenure of Nicholas Martin, hosteler. In 1634 a return was made by the wardens to the Earl of Arundel that the George Inn or tenements within it was built of brick and timber in 1622. The landlord was presented in 1634 because he allowed drinking during divine service.

The 3 CVPS on No. 33 was a variation of the name of the building between the George and the White Hart, which was also called Three Crane Court, Three Crane Yard, and Crown Court. The inn was partly burnt down in 1670, and in connection with the rebuilding the rent was reduced from £150 to £80 and a sugar-loaf, which was again reduced to £50 six years after, when in the great fire of 1676 the whole inn was destroyed and rebuilt by the tenant.

In July, 1889, the north and east galleries of this interesting old inn disappeared, and we fear that the remainder of the building will not long survive.

"ADVERTISEMENT.—That Nicolas Brook, living at the sign of Frying-Pan, in St. Tulie's Street, against the church, is the only known man for making of mills for grinding coffee to powder, which mills are sold by him from 40 to 45 shillings the mill."

The Spur Inn is mentioned as early as 1542. A fire occurred at Southwark in 1667, which commenced on these premises, and burnt some of the out-buildings. It is probably alluded to by Pepys under date April 29, 1667, where he says: "A great fire at Southwarke. I up to the leads and saw it. We at that distance saw an engine play and the water go out of it, being moonlight."

In 1720 the inn is described as "pretty well resorted unto by waggons," and a few country carriers even now call there, who yet, in 1886, seem to cling to this, one of the last of their ancient places of call in the Borough.—[R. and N., 221.]

In 1542 the Nag's Head is termed the Horse Hede. In 1634 it had its court of small tenements. In 1720 we are told that the buildings are old and sorry. Andrew Ducrow, the great equestrian performer, is said to have been born at the Nag's Head on May 12, 1796. His parents had put up there, having arrived from Germany on the same day. George Colman, the younger, in his "Poor Gentleman," a comedy produced at Covent Garden, 1801, makes the farmer say:

"I be come from Lunnon, you see; I warrant I smell of smoke like the Nag's Head chimney in the Borough. Freshest news? Why, hops have a heavy sale; wheat and malting samples command a brisk market ; new tick beanes am risen two shillings per quarter, and white and grey peas keep up their prices.”—[R. and N., 222-223.]

In the High Street in 1723 was the Beacon, a public-house so called. Its exact position is shown by its removal for the construction of a better gateway to the hospital. Thomas Guy and another generous governor were just now spending much money in improvements and new wards there. The sign may have had reference to the well-known telegraph tower close at hand or to a fire-beacon. I would remark, too, that a considerable part of Tooley Street by the church was probably so far back as the fifteenth century known as the Bergheny, apparently from its name derived from Burgh kenning, meaning a watch-tower, which might reasonably be held to imply a beacon.—[R. and N., 118.]

The King's Head was one of the important inns of Southwark. Its sign was originally the Pope's Head, but at the time of Papal repression it changed its name. In 1534 the Abbot of Waverley writes that he will be at "the Pope's Head in Southwark." Eight years afterwards the inn was marked in the Record Office Map as the "Kynges Hed." The property was in the possession of the family of Mr. J. Eliot Hodgkin, F.S.A., for some generations, and from a deed of 1559, which Mr. Hodgkin possesses, the following statement has been gleaned:

In 1559 the deed is drawn between John Gresham and John White bargaining for a certain sum of money with Thomas Cure for the inn "formerly known as the Pope's Hed now as the Kynges Hed, abutting on the highway called Longe Southwarke."

After this it is found that in 1588 the property passes to the Humbles, and in 1647 to Humble Lord Ward. The inn was burnt down in 1676, and after the fire the tenant, Mary Duffield, appealed to the Court of Judicature against the harsh treatment of her superior landlord. The decision, which is contained in the Fire Decrees of 1677 in the Guildhall, settled that the tenant should build a good substantial inn and buildings, and that her rent be reduced from £66 to £38, and her tenure extended to forty-eight years.

In 1720 the inn was "well built, handsome, and enjoying a good trade, and had picturesque wooden galleries on both sides of the yard, but in 1885 the last remaining portion of the east side was pulled down."—[R. and N., 122-127.]

In the map of 1542 a few significant sketchy lines by way of a drawing tell us of the Bolles Hede at the south-east corner of the precincts of the late priory of St. Mary Overy, and by the chaingate which protects the entry to the churchyard from the High Street. The Bull's Head is so notable that by-and-by, when the churchyard requires enlarging, the ground between the church and the inn is named the Bull Head Churchyard. This Bull Head Inn was one of the resorts of Edward Alleyn. In 1620 he dines with Bromfield and Tichborne at the Bull Head, at what is probably an election dinner. In the fire of 1676 the inn was burnt, but rebuilt, and in 1756 it is referred to in the following advertisement: "To be lett, being lately repaired, in the Boro' of Southwark near the hospital, a large house late the Bull Head tavern, either as a tavern or otherwise, having large vaults and a great deal of warehouse room."

The house disappeared when the new bridge was built in 1830.—[R. and N., 298.]]

The Cock and Hoop, to which this token evidently refers, was a tenement known in 1638 as the Cock and Hart.

It was settled by William Whithouse, of St. Mary Cray, Kent, in that year, upon his wife, together with an inn called the Black Bull hard by. The Black Bull was later on known as the Three Tuns, and stood between the important Queen's Head and the site of the Christopher. In 1701 the Black Bull was sold by Sir Francis Whithouse, Kt., late a Justice of the King's Bench. In 1720 Cock and Hoop Alley is mentioned as possessing but one house, being a passage to the garden grounds, and the issuer of the token may have resided in that house.—[R. and N., 213.]

In 1783 the premises are described as heretofore called or known by the name or sign of the Holy-Water Sprinklers or the Three Brushes. Burn says the Three Brushes was a tavern of some notoriety in one of the many disgraceful prosecutions under the papistical Act of King James II. Bellamy, mine host of the Three Brushes, figured most contemptibly as a witness for the Crown in the trial at Westminster Hall on Monday, June 21, 1686.—[R. and N., 104.]

ANGEL ALLEY AND STREET.

Angel Street possibly derived its name from the Aungell beerhouse, "which, in 1585, belonged to Sir Robert Copley, and was let to Henry Leake, brewer, chief founder of the St. Olave's Grammar School, and one of the refugees from Flanders before the persecution under Alva."—[R. and N., 41.]

It is difficult to identify the following tokens to the exact place of their issue. There was an Angel Street between the Old Barge House and St. George's Fields; also Angel Court or Yard on the north side of Foul Lane; another Angel Court or Alley was in Montague Close, about where the Bridge House Hotel or London and Westminster Bank now is; and a fourth near the King's Bench Prison, still represented by a dingy little passage, called Angel Place, referred to by Dickens in his preface to "Little Dorrit."—[N.]

The unicorn was included in one Henry Polstead's lands, which he purchased by exchange of Henry VIII., and came, no doubt, out of the forfeitures of the monks of Bermondsey, the Templars, and Knights of St. John to him. In process of time the property came to Henslowe (of the Rose playhouse) and to Alleyn (of the Globe playhouse). In Alleyn's will the unicorn is among the property left to his wife, Constance. The unicorn is granted by King Charles in 1635 to Sydenham and others, who afterwards dispose of it. At a later period it was the Skin Market.—R. and N., 343.]

BATTLE BRIDGE.

Battle Bridge derives its name from the town mansion or inn of the Abbot of Battle. In 1568 Battell House is represented as in length eighty feet ; in breadth, forty-four feet. The Abbot's Close had been before the Dissolution one open place of about an acre in extent, and had been freely used for purposes of recreation.—[R. and N., 39.] The site is now covered by Hays Wharf and Dock.

These two tokens were evidently issued by persons dwelling near to the celebrated Bear Inn alluded to under Nos. 288 and 289. The celebrity of the peal at St. Saviour, says Dr. Rendle, may have made the sign of the Bell popular. About the church itself, Smith, in his Book for a Rainy Day, tells us how he meets the eccentric waterman, George Heath, who says, "I was a famous ringer in my youth at St. Mary Overies. They are beautiful bells." This was the man whom Charles Matthews the elder introduced into his entertainment under the pseudonym of Joe Hatch. Bear Alley is marked on a Record Office map of about 1542.

Chaucer, wishing to make known to us the gathering place of his pilgrims to Canterbury, tells us it was "in Southwerk at this gentil hostelrie that highte the Tabard faste by the Bell," the Bell being apparently at that time a better known inn. In 1577 mention is made of the inn in the depositions of a man who brings an action for the loss of a money-bag, and states "that he was in the house of one John Woodward, called the signe of the Bell, and did inne there." The Bell figures as an important landmark "from the Bell towards Waverley House," which had been the town-house of the Abbot of Waverley, near Farnham. Bell Yard in 1637 was a place of dwelling for poor people and had twenty tenements. The token is the only pictorial record we have of the inn that was mentioned by Chaucer. The fox on it is apparently a rebus, Renols quasi Reynard.—[R. and N., 293.] The Bell has long since disappeared. Both Tabard and Bell are marked on Rocque's map of 1746.

In 1534 the Catherine Wheel was part of the property left by one John Scraggs. The rent of the "Katernyn Whelle" was £3. It formed part of the Scraggs charity left by will. In 1564 the inn was in possession of St. Thomas's Hospital, and was let for six years at four marks a year. 1568. The Court granted a lease on a premium of £16 6s. 8d. for twenty-one years at a rent of £8. In 1595 the tenant sought to rebuild. In 1840 the rent was noted by the Charity Commissioners at £240.

It has now risen to £550! It ceased to be an inn after 1869, the old structure was pulled down, and the site is now a receiving place for the Midland Railway Company.—[R. and N., 281-2.]

At the Horse Shoe Inn it is believed Sacheverell, the notorious divine, used to meet with other members of the High Church party to discuss matters connected with their opinions.

Sacheverell was in 1705 appointed preacher at St. Saviour's.

In the Wilkes Liberty Riots of 1768 one William Allen, son of Allen, landlord of the Horse Shoe, was shot by a soldier who pursued him into the cow-house of the inn. He was buried in Newington Churchyard, and a somewhat sumptuous monument erected by his parents to his memory. The murder was the subject of an indignant sermon by the Rector of Newington, was illustrated in a print of the period, and was referred to by petition in the House of Commons.—[R. and N., 348.]

This Unicorn Inn was on the east side of Blackman Street, nearly opposite Dirty Lane, now more elegantly Suffolk Street. An elaborate ground-plan of this inn, with elevations, dated 1627, is in the library of the Society of Antiquaries, presented to the society by the late Mr. Halliwell Phillipps. The premises were very extensive, comprising several warehouses, stabling for fifty horses, and many tenements sublet to wheelers, cowkeepers, and perhaps weavers. Some picturesque wood and plaster houses still standing, one of which is a tavern with the sign of the King's Arms, probably formed part of the old Unicorn. The gables resemble those shown in the old ground-plan.—[R. and N., 347.]

It was in Unicorn Yard that a meeting-house for Baptists was erected by the congregation once meeting in Goat Yard. When the lease of their old building ran out they erected the new one in the yard at the back of the Unicorn Inn, and there worshipped until the lease of this expired and they had to migrate to Carter Lane (q. v.). The issuer, John Prince, is said to have largely assisted them with funds to build this meeting-house at the back of his inn.

BRIDGE FOOT AND BRIDGE HOUSE.

The Bridge House, which stood east of Bridge Foot, was a store place for materials belonging to the city, especially for those used in the repair of London Bridge. It came to be occupied as a granary and as a bakehouse with large and many ovens. Cotton's warehouses are now on the site.—[R. and N., 49.]

The issuer is mentioned in the St. Olave's parish accounts as overseer of the land side as early as 1630. He was afterwards a soldier and captain of train bands; rose to be colonel in Cromwell's army, and was one of the commissioners for the sale of king's lands. After the Restoration he seems to have been settled down as landlord of the Bear.

In 1641 he was a churchwarden of St. Olave's, and was concerned with others in pulling down the altar rails, for which they were ordered to the pillory and heavily fined. The curate said they insisted on his giving the Sacrament to them sitting after about 500 had it kneeling, and told him if he did not they would drag him about the church by the ears. These very cool churchwardens give this as their version: "Many hundreds of the parishioners refused to come to Sacrament on account of the rails, and they having asked in vain of Dr. Turner to remove them quickly, removed them themselves and sold them for the benefit of the parish."

The Bear Inn is mentioned as early as 1319 (twelfth Edward II.), when it belonged to Thomas Drynkewatre, taverner of London. In 1429 it is termed a "brewhouse with a tavern thereto, belonging in the parishes of St. Mary Maudleyn and Seynt Oulpete." It was pulled down on the widening of the Bridge in 1761.

In 1513-14 there is a rent paid for it to the prior of St. Mary Overy. For many centuries it was a most famous inn and visited by most people of note, and is alluded to by Pepys upon several occasions, and also mentioned by Wycherley and Shirley in "The Lady of Pleasure," 1637. It probably gave its name to Castle Street and Guildford Street.—[R. and N., 63.]

Carter Lane, or Kater Lane, as it was called in 1531, is in 1629 described as Walnut-tree Lane, otherwise Carter Lane, and in 1746, in Rocque's map, as Walnut-tree Alley, and at the end of the last century as Carter Lane.

The site was at one time occupied by the inn of the Priors of Lewes, but previous to that time had been the Manor House of the De Warrennes, Earls of Surrey, the lords of old Southwark, and built, probably, by William, the first Earl, who founded the Priory of Lewes. After the dissolution part of the site was occupied by the St. Olave's Grammar School of Queen Elizabeth, and part became the Walnut-tree Inn.

In 1532 the Earl of Essex held the hostelry from the Crown, but upon his fall it was again divided, and the inn fell into the hands of one Adam Beeston, of St. Olave's, brewer. Cuthbert Beeston, his son, citizen and girdler of London, died seized of the inn, together with its garden and fifteen messuages in the lane, held of the Queen in chief, and worth yearly £5 6s. 8d. This owner, by his will, 1579, left considerable charity to St. Olave's parish.

At a later time the property is mentioned in the Exchequer Depositions, third and fourth James II., in the Record Office, as follows :

"It was purchased by Caleb Lovejoy, who was waggoner to Oliver Cromwell in the time of the rebellion, and he instantly ejected some of the King's tenants."

This owner was a native of Guildford, born in the parish of St. Nicholas, and baptized May 8, 1603. He was educated at the Guildford Grammar School, but before the age of fifteen was removed to London, where he became a successful trader, and free of the Merchant-Tailors' Company. He was buried in his native parish in 1676, and a brass plate as a monument, upon which are inscribed some quaint lines of his own composition, was affixed to the wall of the south aisle of St. Nicholas Church. By his will, dated November 15, 1676, he devised the thirteen messuages and a workshop in Walnut-tree Alley to trustees for the benefit of the poor of his native place under an elaborate series of regulations.

The property was sold under the Act for rebuilding London Bridge, and the proceeds used for the building and sustenance of certain almshouses in Guildford, which bear the name of their founder to this day.

In 1757, upon some of the ground in the alley, was built the Carter Lane Chapel, which was opened on October 9 in that year by Dr. Gill, the pastor, when he preached an eloquent sermon from Exod. xx. 24. After its demolition for the new London Bridge approaches, the congregation met in New Park Street Chapel; after that at the Surrey Gardens; and lastly at the Metropolitan Tabernacle, and in 1854 the Rev. C. H. Spurgeon became pastor. In imagination we may, therefore, picture, as Dr. Rendle says, the Conqueror visiting his step-daughter at the house of her husband, the Earl de Warrenne—the Inn of the Priors of Lewes (the foundation of the Warrennes), the Grammar School of Queen Elizabeth, and the hostelry of the Walnut-tree, the residence of Oliver's waggoner, and the munificent bequest to his native town, and the congregation of Baptists all occupying almost exactly the same spot, of which this token is now the only visible memento.

From Wilton's "Antiquities of Dissenting Chapels" we learn that the pastor of Carter Lane Chapel was a man of vast learning, an eminent Hebraist, and acquainted with the Rabbinical works, and with many Oriental languages. He was a personal friend of the celebrated Toplady. He was minister of the chapel till his death, in 1771.

Dr. Gill's pulpit is preserved and still used by the students at the Pastor's College, established by the Rev. C. H. Spurgeon. Dr. Gill was succeeded by Dr. Rippon, who was pastor from 1773 to 1836, there being but two pastors of this congregation in one hundred and seventeen years. Dr. Rippon was also a man of remarkable power and merit. His congregation was a wealthy and influential one, and the pastor was the founder of what is now the Baptist Home Mission, the editor of the Baptist Register, and the author of many works. Amongst them was one which never reached the press, a history of those who lay buried in Bunhill Fields. He presented and read an address to George III., on his recovery from illness, on behalf of Metropolitan Dissenters, and founded almshouses and schools in connection with his meeting-house. The site of these almshouses was sold in 1867, and new buildings erected near the Elephant and Castle.

Between the great palace of the Bishops of Winchester, where Fox, Gardiner, and Andrews among other great Bishops dwelt, and the Thames, to which the palace fronted, was and is a narrow way, called Clink Street, along which many noble martyrs—men belonging to all forms of the Christian religion—walked to their doom into that most miserable of prisons, the Clink.—[R. and N., 321.]

Stow called the Clink "A Gaole or Prison for the Trespassers in those parts, namely, in old tyme for such as should brabble, fray, or break the peace on the said bank (Bankside) or in the Brothell House (the Stews)."

COUNTER LANE.

So called from the ancient prison called the "Compter," which was situate in Mill Lane, Tooley Street, and was the prison for the City Court of Record, and also used for prisoners committed by the Court of Conscience. It was a most horrible place; no bedding or even straw was allowed; no fire, no medical attendance, and no religious attention.

DEADMAN'S PLACE.

Deadman's Place was in 1621 the site of the old Brownist meeting-house, built by Henry Jacob in 1616, in the register of which is the entry, under 1770, of the burial of Mr. Cruden, the author of the celebrated Concordance. In 1732 in Deadman's Place was an alley, called Globe Alley, leading to the renowned Globe Playhouse. In 1651 partly in Maid Lane, but close upon the site and foundations of this playhouse, the Globe Alley Chapel was built, and was in use well on to the last century. In 1676-77 Richard Baxter, of the "Saints' Rest," occupied the pulpit.

The playhouse was burnt in 1613, but a second erected upon the same site, and that which was pulled down in 1644 will always have a world-wide repute, from its connection with Shakespeare, and the very land is of sacred import to the whole English-speaking world. The Globe Theatre was built in the reign of Queen Elizabeth, and James I. granted a patent to Shakespeare and his associates to play plays "as within theire then usuall house, called the Globe, in the countie of Surrey, as elsewhere." Ben Jonson calls it "the glory of the Bank and the fort of the whole parish."

The land is all included in the great Anchor Brewery of Messrs. Barclay and Perkins. It was this brewery that, upon the death of its owner, Mr. Thrale, was sold by Dr. Johnson and the other three executors for £135,000; and upon this occasion the often-quoted words were used, that "they were not there to sell a parcel of boilers and vats, but the potentiality of growing rich beyond the dreams of avarice," words which the later history of the brewery has proved to be more than mere rodomontade.—[R. and N.]

FARTHING ALLEY.

Farthing Alley and Halfpenny Alley were the two narrow passages leading to Jacob's Island, Dockhead, a spot that, although most horrible in character at the time, will always be remembered as the site of the tragedy in Dickens's most popular work, "Oliver Twist." Dickens's graphic description of the filth and wretchedness of this alley and of Folly Ditch and the Island was not one whit overdrawn; and as late as 1876 a similarly repulsive picture of it was sketched in bold outline by the London City Mission. It was a thriving nursery for immorality, which has now been wholly swept away.

Stow in 1598 mentions an inn, the sign of which is Three Flowers de Luce, a resort for French traders, and refers to "other buildings of small tenements there-upon builded replenished with strangers and others, for the most part poor people."

Taylor, the water-poet, rhymes :

" French flowers doth show there's good French wine to sell,
Which he that tries will find, and like it well."

Dr. Renale states that in 1565 one Humphrey Roydon did his baking business within the Fleur-de-Lis, etc. In 1634-35 the tenant of the Flower de Luce is to supply diet and provision for the Dean of Canterbury on his coming to London for audit and other business.

In the reign of William III. a meeting-house was erected in the court for a society of Particular Baptists, and a Mr. Samuel Ince was the pastor. In the time of his successor, Mr. Edward Wallin, a new meeting-house was erected at the Maze Pond, where the church still assembled in 1814.

In 1656, in a terrier of the property and rentals of the St. Olave's Grammar School there is this entry :

" One called the Flower de Luce, then the Jack-wheel, near Toolyes Watergate, £6 per annum."

FOUL LANE.

In Foul Lane stood the Green Dragon, in 1309 the residence of the Cobhams, and referred to in 1369 in the will of Joan Lady Cobham as her hostel, and still known in 1652 as Cobham Inn. In 1700 it was the centre of the penny post in Southwark. It was one of the six Metropolitan offices. "One penny is to be paid at the receiving-houses, and the messenger may take for his own pains and care one penny for each letter for delivery, but no more."—[R. and N., 297.]

The lane derived its name in all probability from Bartholomew Fowle, who was Prior of the house of Canons of St. Augustine at St. Mary Overie at the time of the dissolution.

GOAT YARD.

The Goat Inn, which gave its name to this yard, is mentioned in 1557 in the will of Robert Gaynesbrowe, who lived at the signe of the Goate.

In Goat Yard was a wooden building erected in 1672 for the Particular Baptist congregation, under the pastoral care of the famous Benjamin Keach.

This was the first church among the Baptists who practised singing in public worship. Mr. Keach met with great opposition at its introduction, and a division in his church was the consequence. The chapel was erected immediately upon the issue of King Charles II.'s Indulgence for Protestant Dissenters.

The chapel was closed in 1757. The pastor, Keach, was a man of very determined Anabaptist views. As the author of a work entitled the "Child's Instructor," he was summoned before the assizes at Aylesbury, October 8, 1664, and committed to the pillory both at that town and at Winslow, the scene of his labours at that time. The meeting-house built in this small alley was erected for him after the congregation had left the house in Jacob's Street, where they first worshipped. The building stood in a court, says Pike in his "Nonconformity in Southwark," and had a pretty avenue of limes leading up to the door, and it was the first meeting-house possessed for divine worship by the Baptists at Southwark, whose lineal descendants are the congregation now worshipping at the Metropolitan Tabernacle.

The Isle of Dogs is in the County of Middlesex, but as the token gives it to Southwark it is so placed.

It is possible, however, that the token refers to the Isle of Ducks, which was a spot on the south side of Tooley Street, near the middle of the street, and which is referred to in a work published in the time of Queen Anne called "The New View of London" (1708).

The estate is now the property of Magdalen College, Oxford.

JACOB STREET.

Possibly so called from Richard Jacob, vintner, who left to the prisoners in each of the three Southwark prisons, i.e., White Lion, King's Bench, and Marshalsea, £40 per annum, according to Stow.

In a private house in Jacob Street first met the Anabaptist congregation under the pastorate of Benjamin Keach, who afterwards moved to Goat Yard. While so meeting the congregation was interrupted by the churchwardens and constables, and carried off before the quarter sessions for unlawful worship.

KINGS BENCH.

The King's Bench was on the east side of the Borough High Street, south of the Marshalsea. In the latter half of last century it was removed to the corner of Blackman Street and Borough Road. It eventually became the Queen's Bench, was abolished as a prison for debtors in 1860, and has since been destroyed.

A large business was done at the gaol tap of the King's Bench Prison, from which possibly Nos. 280, 282 were issued.

Five hundred butts of ale were drawn in one year at the common side. In an outbreak (1771) the prisoners, suspecting that the strong beer was unduly weakened, some fifty butts belonging to the tap were destroyed, i.e., by way of impressing the fact upon the authorities. The gaols were at that time, in deed and in name, hells.—[R. and N., 54.]

In 1381 Stow tells us that the rebels under Wat Tyler “brake down the houses of the Marshalsea and King's Bench and tooke from thence the prisoners.”

Henry, Prince of Wales, afterwards Henry V., was committed on the memorable occasion by Sir William Gascoigne to this prison. Baxter was confined there for eighteen months for his notes on the New Testament, and Rushworth died there in 1690. It was set on fire in 1780 by the rioters under Lord George Gordon and the prisoners liberated.

KENT STREET.

Kent Street has been the scene of splendid cavalcades and processions. Chaucer's pilgrims rode along it. The Black Prince and Jack Cade both travelled along that street; and in 1597 the Emperor Charles V., with great state, accompanied our Henry VIII. into London, acting their diplomatic play as it were before the eyes of the people. About a mile from St. George's Bar, at the end of Kent Street (now Great Dover Street), was a tent of cloth of gold put up, in which the royal folk reposed while the heralds marshalled the procession.—[R. and N., 384.]

In Kent Street in 1778 was born Joseph Lancaster, the educationist.

In the Southwark signs we have the bear, the bear and ragged staff, the bear's claw, all colours and variations of bears. They tell of very important conditions in the old history of the Bankside Bear Garden, par excellence the place of rough entertainment. Some of the signs were cognisance of old families, "My father's badge, old Nevil's crest, the rampant bear chained to the ragged staff." ("Henry VI., Part II.," Act 5.) Some recall the sports which in those coarser times were the recognised enjoyment of high and low.—[R. and N., 333.]

The baiting of bears was the favourite diversion as early as the time of Henry II. Stow, writing in 1598, speaks of the two bear gardens "on the Banke of the Thames, wherein are kept beares to be bayted, as also mastives." Richard III. appointed a royal bear-ward, named John Browne, "Master Guider and Ruler of all the Beares and Asses belonging to the Crowne," and the office existed until 1639. Edward Alleyn, the founder of Dulwich College, kept the Bear Garden on the Bankside during the times of Queen Elizabeth and Jas. I. The garden was closed in 1642 and the ground sold, and in 1686 his Majesty's Bear Garden was removed to Clerkenwell.

One of the Bear Gardens mentioned by Stow (see under Bridge Foot) was afterwards converted into the Hope Playhouse, in which, in 1614, Ben Jonson's "Bartholomew Fair" was first acted.

In Maid Lane and Globe Alley, a passage leading therefrom, originally stood the Globe Playhouse, immortalized by having been the place where (it is stated by Nicholas Rowe, writing in 1709) Shakespeare first trod the stage, although in no higher character than the Ghost in his own play of "Hamlet." Hard by was erected in 1672 a Presbyterian meeting-house, a good capacious wooden building, with three large galleries. Its first minister was Mr. Thomas Wadsworth, the ejected Rector of St. Lawrence Pountney, London. The congregation met in this building till 1752. Richard Baxter was minister here in 1676.

The house was then kept by one Owen, and the minister to the congregation was the celebrated Mr. Caryl, at one time Rector of St. Magnus. Caryl was ejected on Black Bartholomew's Day, August 24, 1662, and was invited by his Separatist congregation to be their pastor. He was the author of an enormous work, entitled "The Exposition on the Book of Job," an exhaustive and most valuable treatise on that portion of Holy Scripture.

THE MARSHALSEA.

The Marshalsea, Stow tells us, was "so called as pertaining to the Marshalles of England." It was broken open by Wat Tyler in 1381, and Sir John Imworth, Marshal and Governor of the prison, beheaded. The building was demolished in 1842.

The jurisdiction of the Marshalsea was of the highest antiquity, and in rank and dignity had none to surpass it. It was coeval with common law, and until 1332 there was no appeal from it. The cruelty pursued by this potent Court in their most horrible prison was most dreadful, and such enormous oppressions were revealed in 1729, by a committee of inspection, that the indignation of the House knew no bounds. The chairman of the committee was General Oglethorpe, of Westbrook, Godalming, and the Deputy-Warden Acton was prosecuted for no less than five murders in the prison.

Thomson, in his "Seasons," under Winter, has some very energetic and noble lines with reference to this inquiry.

Bonner, quondam Bishop of London, was imprisoned for ten years in the Marshalsea for refusal to take the oath of allegiance to Elizabeth, and died there September 5, 1569.

This was probably issued at the gaol-tap of the Marshalsea. Very much ale was consumed at these gaol-taps, the miserable people confined in the prisons trying to drown sorrow or "kill time" by drinking. Six hundred pots of beer were supplied at the Marshalsea on a Sunday afternoon for the purpose, so Howard says in his book on prisons. So horrible had the gaols become in 1718 that in that year a descriptive pamphlet was published, entitled "The Marshalsea; or, Hell in Epitome."—[R. and N., 54.]

Mr. Norman informs us that the later Marshalsea, built in 1811, was not on the site of the old building, but considerably further south. Some trace of it still remains. The entrance of the older prison was between Mermaid Court or Alley, and Axe and Bottle Yard, now Newcomen Street.

THE MAZE AND MAZE POND.

The Maze formed part of the garden of the Abbots of Battle, and was attached to "Battell House," their town residence.

The Pond was a pool in the same garden for "fancy fysshe."

There was a Particular Baptist meeting-house in Maze Pond originated by those who separated from Benjamin Keach's church in Goat Yard (q. v.), occasioned by a difference of opinion upon the subject of singing in public worship. Mr. Samuel Mee was first pastor in 1691, and the church existed till at least 1814.

MERMAID COURT.

Strype relates of Mermaid Court in 1720 that it is "an open court indifferently well built and inhabited, having a long passage down steps to a bowling-green by a ditch." The Mermaid Inn stood in the thick of the Southwark Fair, and is referred to in a grant of 1551. Taylor, the water-poet, speaking of it, says:

"This Mayd is strange (in shape) to Man appearing,
Shee's neither Fish nor Flesh nor good Red Hearing.
What is Shee then ? a Signe to represent Fish, Flesh, good wine, with Welcome and Content."

THE MINT.

The Mint was opposite St. George's Church, and was in the seventeenth century an Alsatia or refuge for the worst and lowest people.

Henry VIII. established a mint there for coinage. The Mint was first carried on in Suffolk House, the residence of the King's brother-in-law, Charles Brandon, Duke of Suffolk, and when the King took over his house as a mint he gave the Duke in exchange the house of the Bishop of Norwich, in St. Martin's in-the-Fields.

In the Mint in 1832 the first case of Asiatic cholera appeared in the Metropolis. The Harrow and Three Bells were the two chief inns in the Mint.

MONTAGUE CLOSE.

Montague Close, the space of ground between the church of St. Mary Overy and the river, was for hundreds of years the priory cloister, the quiet home of Augustinian canons. After the dissolution, Sir Anthony Browne, Viscount Montague, acquired the property and built here a town mansion. The Montagues were a stanch Catholic family, and under their favour the Close became a refuge to which persons hunted on account of their religion fled. Later it came into the hands of the Marshalls, Overman, and other rich people who had advanced money to the Montague family. About 1830 part of the Close was taken down to make room for approaches to New London Bridge. It now still exists by name, the site chiefly occupied by wharves.—[R. and N., 317-19.]

Overman was a rich soap-boiler and local magnate, and a charitable lady of the family built in 1770-71 some one-storied picturesque almshouses at the corner of the Close, that were but lately removed.

One of the issuers, No. 322, bears the well-known name, and was probably a member of the same family.

The Park referred to in this name was that attached to Winchester House, the inn or town palace of the Bishop of the See, and which land was sold on September 26, 1649, by the Crown, under whom it had been held in service of five knight-fees of the value of £1 11s. 3d.

ST. GEORGE'S FIELDS.

These Fields, once the resort of the fashionable world to drink the waters at the Dog and Duck and Restoration, are now the site of Bethlem Hospital, the School for Indigent Blind, Orphan Asylum, Freemason's Charity and Magdalen.

It is possible that No. 224 may refer to the more notorious Dog and Duck in St. George's Fields, which in the last century was a fashionable resort, and later a haunt of dissipation. Let into the wall of the garden at Bethlehem is a sign of the Dog and Duck sculptured in stone similar to that on the token.

The pentagram is regarded by the superstitious as a charm against witchcraft. During the Middle Ages it was much used, and it sometimes occurs as a merchant's mark ; it is also found on an uncial coin of Rome. In Germany it is called "Drudenfuss," or wizard's-foot ; readers of "Faust" will remember the scene in which Goethe represents Mephistopheles as unable to escape from Faust's study because of the wizard's-foot on the threshold.

A similar device, composed of two triangles, one inverted on the other, called Solomon's Seal, is now used in the East to avert the influence of the evil-eye ; it is always found suspended from new buildings, and is formed of six pieces of wood. The modern cast copper money of Morocco has this device filling the whole field, and on the reverse the date. It occurs as a merchant's mark on the token of James Elliot, of Bideford, and is frequently found in the stained glass of old churches.

Both the above devices are in use in Freemasonry.

The White Hart Inn, which is possibly also alluded to in No. 389, was one of the most important of old Southwark inns.

As Dr. Rendle tells us it is embalmed in English history and in the pages of Shakespeare. It was Jack Cade's headquarters when he dominated London in 1450, and is the subject of constant reference in the "Paston Letters." It was a few steps from the White Hart, we learn, that the celebrated conference took place between Waynflete, Bishop of Winchester, and Cade, which ended in the dispersal of the riot.

The inn is mentioned in 1529 as the place of meeting between Thomas Cromwell, and an anonymous person, "one R.," who desired to see him.

In 1637 it comes into prominent notice in connection with the Southwark riots and rising against Laud.

In 1676 it was burnt down, but speedily rebuilt.

Charles Dickens has immortalized it in "Pickwick," and Mr. Waller refers to it in the "Gentleman's Magazine" of April, 1855.

In July, 1889, the last remains of this historical old inn were levelled to the ground.

SNOW'S FIELDS.

In Snow's Fields stood a small Welsh Dissenting chapel, which was John Wesley's place of worship, built by himself, when he first preached the Gospel in Southwark. In it he first preached August 18, 1764.

In 1816 the old chapel had become on the week-days a "court of requests" for the recovery of small debts, and on Sundays a Methodist Sunday-school.

There was another chapel in Snow's Fields, built by a Mrs. Ginn in 1736, and to which Wesley, in his diary, under date August 6, 1743, refers: "A convenient chapel was offered me in Snow's Fields, the other side the water. It was built on purpose, it seems, by a poor Arian misbeliever, for the defence and propagation of her bad faith. But the wisdom of God brought that device to nought, and ordered by His over-ruling providence that it should be employed, not for crucifying the Son of God afresh, but for calling all to believe on His name." John Wesley only used this chapel for a short time, and then built the other.

Sir John Fastolfe had his great house in Stoney Lane, which was of such pretensions as to be called a palace, and here the mother of the Duke of York, afterwards Edward IV., was lodged once upon occasion. The house is spoken of at the time as "fostal."—[R. and N., 32.]

THREE CRANE YARD.

There was a Three Crane Yard between the George and the White Hart, Southwark ; and another inn of the same name on the Bankside is referred to by the old gossip Pepys. Under date 1666 he states : " When we could endure no more upon the water, we went to a little alehouse on the Bankside over against the Three Cranes, and there staid till it was dark almost, and saw the fire grow, and, as it grew darker, appeared more and more, and in corners, and upon steeples and between churches and houses, as far as we could see up the hill of the City, in a most horrid, malicious bloody flame, not like the fair flame of an ordinary fire."

In Three Crane Alley (mentioned as near to Tooley Street) was also situated a small wooden meeting-house occupied by a society of Particular Baptists. The pastor was one Thomas Wilcox, born 1622, who escaped from the Plague of London over into Southwark, and was minister of this congregation until his death, in 1687. The maps of Rocque and Horwood do not mention any house called the Three Cranes in Tooley Street, and it is very doubtful where to place this token. It may have been by an error of the die-sinker that it was referred to St. Olives or Tooley Street.

"At Ram or Ram's Head be it known to all

WINCHESTER YARD AND STREET.

Winchester House, the town mansion of the Bishops of Winchester, gave the name to these localities. The house was built by Bishop William Gifford, 1107. During the time of the Commonwealth it was used as a prison for the confinement of Loyalists, and after Charles I.'s death was sold, September 26, 1649, to Thomas Walker, of Camberwell, for £4,380 8s. 3d. At the Restoration it reverted to the See of Winchester, but having become dilapidated, an Act passed 1663 empowered Bishop George Morley to lease it out.

The old palace gradually became ruinous, but considerable remains were exposed to light in 1814, when a great fire destroyed some modern warehouses surrounding it. There is a unique drawing of it in the Guildhall Library.—[R. and N., 46.]

In 1692 a portion of the house was formed into a place of worship for the use of a society of Particular Baptists, many of whom were Fifth Monarchy men and Sabellians. The congregation was severely censured on March 25, 1705, by the Association of Baptists on account of disorderly habits and strange opinions, and was cut off from membership with the association. It continued, however, to meet till 1738.

Some of the land, at one time the park to Winchester House, is still the property of the See, and is held on lease from the See by Messrs. Pott, the vinegar brewers, as the site of their manufactory.

ZOAR STREET.

502. O. THE . SWAN . INN . AT = A swan.

R. SOR . STREETE . SOVTHWARKE = HIS HALF PENY. I . N . H. $\frac{1}{2}$

We imagine that this token must refer to Zoar Street, although we do not find any reference to a Swan Inn in that street. Zoar Street will always be remembered in history from the fact of the meeting-house that stood there being the scene of the preaching of the celebrated John Bunyan. The meeting-house, we learn from Manning and Bray, belonged to Dr. Thomas Barlow, Bishop of Lincoln, who permitted Bunyan, as the friend of his old pupil, Dr. John Owen, to deliver his discourses there. Barlow was a bishop, who, by virtue of being a willow and not an oak, succeeded in retaining his position during the troublous times in which he lived. He was Bishop of Lincoln in 1675, and died in 1691.

Bunyan was committed on three occasions to prison for presuming to preach, and was confined altogether for a period of twelve years and a half, but was at length discharged by the interposition of Dr. Barlow in 1676. While in prison the third time in Bedford Bridge Gaol he wrote his immortal work, "The Pilgrim's Progress."

A Presbyterian meeting-house was built in Zoar Street in 1687 at a cost of £360, and was a good building, with three galleries. The first minister was an ejected divine, one Mr. John Chester.

In connection with this chapel there was a school afterwards termed the Gravel Lane Charity School, which Mr. Waller Wilson's book, already referred to, states was one of the first charity schools in which Protestant Dissenters were especially concerned. Bunyan possibly preached in the meeting-house before the erection of the later building in 1687, but it is equally probable that by permission of the Presbyterians he occupied the pulpit of their meeting on the occasion of his last visit to London in 1688, immediately preceding his decease.

NOTE.

Tokens issued from taverns where lodges of Freemasons were held in the reign of Queen Anne.

On reference to the extremely rare plate of French origin, referred to in Vol. I., page 803, in which the signs of the headquarters of all the English lodges, 129 in number, are engraved, we find that three lodges met in Southwark. One was at the Bull, or Black Bull (vide No. 80); another at the King's Arms, St. Margaret's Hill, and at a tavern at St. Saviour's Dock, the sign of which it is not easy to identify. It has the appearance of being the Mercers' Arms.

TOWN PIECE ISSUED AT LICHFIELD.

Staffordshire.

To a late valued and highly-esteemed friend, Llewellyn Jewitt, F.S.A., of Derby, the Editor is indebted for much kindly aid in arranging the tokens of this county.

Mr. Jewitt promised to take entirely in hand the arrangement of this county, and to supply notes as to the issuers, but his untimely decease prevented this kindly work being carried out.

There is no very special interest attaching to the tokens of this county. They are few in number, and generally of ordinary type. The token of Gnoshall is an exception to this rule, and displays some character in its inscription on the obverse, and prayer for peace, specially appropriate in those troublous times, on the reverse. It is the only octagonal token of the series, with the exception of the one issued at Yoxall by Zechariah Lightwood.

The only corporation piece in the county is that issued by the city of Lichfield.

A partnership token is issued of Thomas and Joseph Smiths, at Sedgely.

Several tokens attributed to Smethwick by Boyne have been removed to Cornwall, as they were issued at Falmouth, and bear the ancient name of that town, Smithwick. Three of the tokens of Stafford bear the well-known device of the Stafford Knot, and one issuer, Davenport by name, was entitled to call himself armiger, and uses his family coat on his token. One token of Walsall is struck in lead.

One trader, Thomas Richardson, had evidently business in two villages, and puts the names of Bettley and Batterley both upon his token. The arms of trading companies represented are those of Mercers, Grocers, Ironmongers, Stationers, Apothecaries, Tallow-chandlers, and Merchant Tailors.

The king's head and the royal arms also appear on the token.

The blocks are from drawings specially made by the late Llewellyn Jewitt, and are most kindly lent by Messrs. Swan Sonnenschein and Co., of Paternoster Square, London, from their work entitled "English Coins and Tokens."

Suffolk.

THE tokens of Suffolk have already been so exhaustively described by Mr. Charles Golding in his privately printed work, "The Coinage of Suffolk," 1868, that but little remained for the Editor to do as to this county. Mr. Golding very generously placed the whole of his information at the disposal of the Editor for this work, and the interesting notes which had been carefully gathered by him as to the tokeners of the county, are transferred to this work in ipsissima verba. Mr. Golding has also most kindly lent his original woodcuts, which were prepared for the work already referred to, and the loan of which for this book is most gratefully acknowledged. Mr. Edward Skinner, of Norwich, the sub-editor for Norfolk, devoted much time and attention also to the county of Suffolk, and many of the corrections and additions that have been made since the issue of Mr. Golding's book are due to the thoughtfulness of that gentleman. His aid also is very warmly acknowledged.

From "The Coinage of Suffolk" is extracted the information contained in the following preface to the series, and we cannot too fully express our indebtedness to so valued a sub-editor as Mr. Golding has in effect been for this county. With reference to the interesting devices which form a feature of Suffolk tokens, we notice that the principal edifices in the towns were frequently adopted as a device by the issuers, and in this county we notice the castles of Bungay and Framlingham, the market-cross at St. Edmund's Bury, and the sheep-pen at Beccles.

The armorial bearings of various families, with or without their crests, are also chosen as devices. In the following list are those of Crane, of Beccles ; Baythorne, of Bury ; Elliston, of Clare ; Ray, of Laxfield ; Skinner, of Sudbury ; Knights, of Saxmundham ; and others.

Merchants' marks, curious trade devices, and other designs are also met with, as examples of which see Richard Prime, of Bury ; Stephen Green, of Ipswich ; Samuel Fitch, of Rickingham.

Inns and taverns were well represented by their various signs. In the following list are to be found those of the Ship, Lion, Sun, Angel, Rose, Crown, Waggon, Hare, Griffin, Pickerel, Woolpack, Star, Half-moon, Eagle, Falcon, King's Head, Greyhound, Royal Oak, Seven Stars, Hart, Cock, Anchor, Three Tuns, Swan, St. George and the Dragon, and others, many of which are still the principal places of resort at the present day, and many have remained nearly unaltered in the towns for a period of more than two centuries.

The trades of Suffolk, consisting then of weaving and the manufacture of woollen cloth (introduced by the Flemings, who settled in this county in large numbers), serge, hempen cloth, and baize, gave employment to many of the population. These trades are shown by the tokens, as, in addition to a roll of cloth, a shuttle, and a bale of wool, we have the Arms of the Clothworkers, the Drapers, the Haberdashers, and the Merchant Tailors' Companies. Others in trade give examples of their chief implements or occupation ; thus, on a butcher's token, there is an axe ; on a tallow-chandler's, a man dipping candles ; on a gardener's, a bunch of grapes ; on a cordwainer's, a shoe ; on a vintner's, a barrel, on which is seated a boy ; on a baker's, his peel ; on a bootmaker's, a leg with high boots ; on a maltster's, a bushel measure ; on another baker's, three rolls of bread ; and so on. The armorial insignia of the various Companies of the Brewers, Bricklayers, Fishmongers, Bakers, Apothecaries, Skinners, Chandlers, Mercers, Ironmongers, Grocers, and others, also frequently appear. On a few there are punning devices on the issuers' names ; as Crosse, of Clare, gives a cross patée ; Shipp, of Needham, a ship ; Rozer, of the same place, a rose ; whilst some show the justice of their dealings by a pair of scales equally balanced ; and one issuer, to impress the fact more fully, declares himself to be "honest" George Turner. One piece bears the singular inscription, "WE 3 SISTERS."

The most numerous are the farthing and halfpenny tokens ; the pennies are few, only three being at present known. The tokens of Saxmundham, Walpole, Woodbridge and Yoxford appear to be double farthing tokens, and as such are unusual forms of the halfpenny token. The tokens of Suffolk are generally round ; but there are also square, heart-shaped, and octagonal ones among them.

The number of tokens issued by the traders and corporations of the county of Suffolk here described are three hundred and seventy-five in number, which were issued in about seventy different towns and villages. The earliest date in the series is 1648, and the latest 1671. The series as a whole is a very large and important one, and possesses very many points of special interest.

Many of the notes will be found to be of unusual importance.

THE EDITOR.

ACTON.

An engraving of a token of JAMES WILSON IN ACTON is given in the "Anastatic Prints of Suffolk Tokens," by the late Mr. Fitch, of Ipswich; but tokens of Acton are numerous, and the name of Acton is likewise found in several other counties. Wilson's token cannot, therefore, be positively assigned to Acton, in Suffolk.

ALDBOROUGH.

1. O. IOHN . BRIGGS . OF . 1671 = A ship. $\frac{1}{2}$
R. ALBOROVGH . HIS . HALPENY = I . B.
 2. O. IOHN . MVRDOCKE = Three doves; the Chandlers' Arms. $\frac{1}{4}$
R. IN . ALDEBVRGH = I . A . M.
- The obverse of this token is the same as on one issued at Ipswich by Murdocke.
3. O. IOHN . YATES . OF . ALBROVGH = Arms of the Yates family :
a chevron between three gates. $\frac{1}{2}$
R. HIS . HALFE . PENNY . 1669 = A globe.

There is a town named Aldborough in Yorkshire; yet, the towns both in Suffolk and Yorkshire being of nearly equal size and population at this period, Suffolk has as much claim to these tokens as Yorkshire. Though the name of the town is found written in many different ways, that of "Aldeburgh," on No. 2, being peculiar to Suffolk, leaves little doubt that it is correctly placed here.

BARNINGHAM.

4. O. IOHN . HOWARD = A deer trippant.
R. IN . BARNINGHAM = I . A . H.

BECCLES.

5. O. A . BECCLES . FARTHING . 1670 . B (in four lines).
R. (No legend.) A house and sheep-pen; the Arms of Beccles. $\frac{1}{4}$

At a meeting of the Corporation of Beccles, held March 8, 1670, "for ye p'curing of farthings for ye comon utility of ye poore," ten pounds were granted. The dies are still preserved in the Corporation chest. The same view of a house and sheep-pen is on the seal of the Corporation, which is dated 1584.

6. O. WILL . CRANE . OF . BECK = The Arms of the Crane family ; on a bend three crosses crosslet. $\frac{1}{4}$
R. ELLS . IN . SVFFOLKE = The Drapers' Arms.

A hospital for lepers, called the Hospital of St. Mary Magdalene, in Beccles, and the lands belonging thereto, were granted to the Corporation for the use of the poor, and the said lands were, by the Corporation in 1675, leased to a Mr. Crane. The Crane family were long resident at Chilton. Sir John Crane, knight, was made baronet in 1627, and Sir Robert Crane was High Sheriff of the county of Suffolk in 1632. Their arms, argent, a fess sable, between three cross crosslets, bottonée fitchée, gules, are still to be seen in the churches of Preston, Waldingfield Parva, Long Melford, and Chilton.

7. O. WILLIAM . CVTLOVE . IN = The Fishmongers' Arms.

R. BECKLES . IN . SVFF . 1664 = W . M . C.

$\frac{1}{4}$

8. O. WILLIAM . CVTLOVE = The Fishmongers' Arms.

R. IN . BECCLES . 1667 = W . M . C.

$\frac{1}{4}$

After the deprivation of William Fleming, Rector of Beccles in 1584, by Archbishop Whitgift, an independent society was established to free itself from the doctrines of Popery or the observances of James I. It gradually increased. In July, 1652, it appears that, with others, "William Cutlove joyned in covenant under y^e visible Regiment of Christ," and commenced the foundation of a separate congregation. In December, 1656, William Cutlove was chosen a deacon of it, and in June, 1657, one of eight "to speake unto the questions which shall be hereafter p'pounded," but which questions, or the manner they were treated of, has not been preserved. One Joseph Cutlove was Port Reeve here in 1652.

9. O. HENREY . FARRER = A lion rampant.

R. IN . BECCLES = H . F . H.

$\frac{1}{4}$

The "Farrar" family existed here in 1855. The Red Lion Inn is still in Blyburghgate Street, and the White Lion Inn in Smallgate Street. In this instance the initials are somewhat differently placed; the usual plan being that the initial letter of the surname is placed above those of the Christian names, but here they are placed thus, ^H
H . F .

10. O. DAVID . GRICE . OF = Three boars' heads.

R. BECCLES . IN . SVFOLKE = D . E . G.

$\frac{1}{4}$

The family of Grice or Le Gry, of Langley and Brockdish, in Norfolk, were long connected with the borough of Great Yarmouth. William Grice was M.P. for that borough in 1570 to 1585. Gilbert Grice was Bailiff in 1542 and 1551; having made a reasonable excuse for not wearing his "gown of skarlett furred with foyner typpett, and dublett of velvet, after the aunycient honorable custome of the towne aforesaid, on Sundays and holydays, and at assemblys," he was pardoned on condition that he procured a new one before the following Michaelmas. The arms of Le Gry were quarterly azure and gules on a bend argent, three boars passant sable.

A brass memorial in Wiston Church, in Suffolk, to the minister, John le Gris, who died in 1630, bears arms, quarterly on a bend, three boars passant, a mullet for difference.

11. O. IOHN . KING . OF = The Grocers' Arms.

R. BECCLES . 1657 = I . M . K.

$\frac{1}{4}$

The name of King is still found among the residents in Beccles.

12. O. TOBIAS . MVRDOCK . IN = A man making candles.

R. BECKLES . IN . SVFFOLK = T . M . M.

$\frac{1}{4}$

The tokens of the Murdockes appear three times in these lists, once each at Aldborough, Beccles, and Ipswich, and, singularly, they each bear on them proof that the owners carried on the then important trade of chandlers.

13. O. IOHN . NICHOLLS = A roll of tobacco.

R. OF . BECCLES = I . R . N.

$\frac{1}{4}$

14. O. IOHN . WARDE . 1659 = The Haberdashers' Arms.

R. OF . BECKLES . IN . SVFOLK = I . E . W.

$\frac{1}{4}$

Mr. John Ward was one of the constables of Beccles in the years 1643 and 1644. He left by will a yearly rent-charge of £2 12s., to be distributed in bread, viz., one shilling's worth every week.

BERGHOLT (see EAST BERGHOLT).

BILDESTONE.

15. O. ABRAHAM . ALSTONE = A heart.

R. IN . BILDERSTONE = A . A.

 $\frac{1}{4}$

The "Alstons," formerly of Newton, afterwards resided in Marlsford. One Samuel Alston was engaged in the militia in 1667 with the Dutch at Felixstowe. Thomas Alston, in 1690, devised to poor people of Assington, twenty-six shillings a year, to be distributed in sixpenny loaves of meslin. William Alston, Esq., had also a seat in Bildeston in 1734. The Alstons of Bildeston bore for arms a chevron between three goats' heads.

The Warwells were Royalists, and the device on the token was probably intended to make known their adherence to that party.

A scarce Suffolk volume, printed in 1660, entitled "Votiva Tabula; or, Two Sermons preached at Boxford on the Two Days of Public Thanksgiving appointed for the Happy Restoration of King Charles II., on May 24 and June 28, 1660," is by James Warwell, Rector of Boxford, in Suffolk, in the preface to which he states "his heart hath never in the worst times declined from his loyalty, and alwaies prayed for your Majesties happy restauration in secret." It is in small quarto, and of eighty-eight pages.

See also under Groton, an adjoining parish to Boxford, for another token of James Warwell, who was a draper at both places, and probably a son of the Royalist minister.

$\frac{1}{2}$

These two tokens are engraved in Llewellynn Jewitt's List of Derbyshire Tokens (Reliquary, vol. iv., p. 103), and by him assigned to Brampton, near Chesterfield; but as a Thomas Smith, of Brampton, was married to Margaret, daughter of John Leman, of Brampton, Suffolk (who died and was buried there in 1670), the second token must be considered as one of the Suffolk series.

BRANDON.

29. O. WILL . BREWSTER = W . P . B.
R. OF . BRANDON = W . P . B.

$\frac{1}{4}$

An early family of the Brewsters resided here. In 1535 we find that "Thomas Bruster at Brandon, hym and his ij men" had, "for working of ij doores of free-stone, xlvij^s jd."

Some of the Brewster family long resided at the Hall, at Wrentham. Robert Brewster was a warm advocate of Oliver Cromwell; he sat in the Long Parliament for the borough of Dunwich, and voted for conferring the title of King upon the Protector. Francis Brewster also represented the county in 1653, and the family resided at this seat until 1797. The Brewsters still hold estates here.

31. O. FOR . CHANGE . NOT . FRAVDE = T . T . 1664, in a shield.
R. IN . BONGAY . BIGGOTTS = Arms; a castle.

$\frac{1}{4}$

The initials T . T are most likely intended for "Town Token," or may, as suggested in the Gentleman's Magazine for May, 1810, stand for "Town Trust."

This token was doubtless issued by authority of the feoffees and Town Reeve for circulation. It has always been so received and acknowledged for the last two hundred years. The town books, however, which would probably have given some account of its issue, are lost; they were most likely destroyed in the great fire of 1688, which consumed the principal part of the town.

The castle and fortress, built and held by successive members of the Bigods, gave rise to the bold defiance given by Hugh Bigod in Stephen's reign:

"Were I in my castle at Bongay,
Upon the river Waveney,
I would ne care for the King of Cockney."

32. O. HENRY . BLOMFIELD = The Grocers' Arms.

R. OF . BVNGAY . 1670 = H . I . B.

$\frac{1}{4}$

Accounts of the family of Henry Blomfield exist in the parish books; the birth of a daughter in 1658, and of a son in 1663, are noted, and a death is thus recorded, "Henry Blomfield was buried 7ber y^e 24th, 1703."

33. O. THOMAS . NOWELL = The Brewers' Arms.

R. IN . BVNGAY . 1660 = T . N.

$\frac{1}{4}$

The name "Thomas Nowell" occurs on several deeds of this period, but the family and name have been extinct for at least a century in this town.

34. O. THOMAS . WALCOTT = T . W. and two small fleurs-de-lys.

R. OF . BVNGEY . 1660 = T . W. and two small fleurs-de-lys.

$\frac{1}{4}$

This name is frequently mentioned in the Church records about this period; he was a man of repute, and lived in one of the best houses of the town.

35. O. HENRY . WEBSTER . IN = The Drapers' Arms.

R. BVNGAY . DRAPER . 67 = H . I . W.

$\frac{1}{4}$

Henry Webster, the issuer of this token, was a silk-mercator and draper; and in the Church of St. Mary, in Bungay, is an altar-tomb to his memory, stating he died in 1715, at the good old age of eighty-three, and that "he was much lamented by the poor." By his will, dated 1712, he gave an acre of land in Parnow Meadow, in Ditchingham, on the Norfolk side of the river, and twenty pounds, for teaching the poor children of Bungay to read and write.

The families of Webster appear to have resided here and in the immediate neighbourhood since 1631, down to 1830, and are described in the registers as "gentlemen." Various monuments to their memory still exist in Bungay Church.

The tokens of Bungay, Nos. 31, 33, 34, and 35, are engraved in the Gentleman's Magazine, May, 1810, p. 425.

Mary, daughter of Ambrose Bryden, of Bury St. Edmund's, was wife of Sir James Ware, Auditor-General of Ireland in 1630. The Godfreys were a family of some note in Bury. Richard Godfrey was a common burgess in 1630, and Thomas Godfrey also, in the same year. Francis Godfrey appears as a witness to a will in 1648.

The last survivors of this name lived in a fine old house at a corner of Crown Street, which in the year 1539 was the residence of John Reeve, last Abbot of St. Edmund's Bury. The house was taken down in 1856.

70. O. THO . PRETYMAN . SENIOR = A lion rampant.R. IN . ST . EDMONDS . BVRY . 1667 = HIS HALF PENY. $\frac{1}{2}$

The Pretymans had an estate called Brames Hall, in Wetheringsett, and Hasly Hall, in Thorndon. They sold these estates and afterwards removed to St. Edmund's Bury in 1655. Another branch of the family was settled at Bacton as early as the reign of Elizabeth, and were lords of the manors of Bacton and Thorndon.

George Pretyman, father of the Lord Bishop of Lincoln, was a haberdasher in Cooke Row. He was an Alderman in 1773-4 and 1787-8. Residing in Bury seventy years, he died December, 1810, in his eighty-ninth year, and was buried in the vault of his ancestors at Bacton, Suffolk.

The arms of Pretyman are, gules, a lion rampant, between three mullets, or. These arms also are to be seen in Brampton Church, Suffolk, a member of the family having intermarried with the Leman family of that place.

There was a Golden Lion Inn on the Market Hill, which was taken for a work-house in 1734 from the Earl of Strafford, on lease, for twenty-one years.

71. O. RICHARD . PRIME = The Grocers' Arms.R. AT . BERRY . 1660 = R . M . P and an uncertain device. $\frac{1}{4}$

Richard Prime was one of the burgesses of the Common Council, and one of those named in the east ward in 1663 "to be very vigilant in seeing that no forriners likely to be chargeable settle in the town." He was a justice for the borough, and as such attested deeds during the years 1699 to 1707.

Memorials of the family remain in the church of Great Saxham, near Bury St. Edmunds. On a gravestone it is stated: "Here lyeth y^e body of Rich^d Prime, gent., of Bury St Edm., having been thrice chief magistrate of y^t borough, who departed this life y^e 11th day of December, 1711, aged about 88 years." And "Margaret his wife, who died 9th of May, 1691, aged 60." No doubt the initial M. on the token is for Margaret. The arms of Prime are, or, a man's leg erased at the thigh, sable.

John Purcas, senior, was a grocer; his will is dated May 25, and was proved September 30, in the year 1698. It mentions his son John, a grocer, as living in the north-east corner of Churchgate and Whiting Streets in Bury. He was overseer of the poor of St. Mary's parish in 1719; his wife Elizabeth died April 21, 1731, aged eighty-two.

Boots and spurs were so commonly worn both by pedestrians and horsemen, that in the last Parliament of Elizabeth the Speaker of the House of Commons directed the members to come to the House without spurs, as they had become such a nuisance.

75. O. IOHN . SHARPE = A woolpack.R. IN . BVREY . 1666 = I . S. $\frac{1}{4}$

The Sharpe family were residents in Bury for many years. John Sharpe, in 1632, willed charities to be distributed yearly at Hallowmas, Candlemas, and Christmas.

John Sharpe was a burgess, and afterwards a chief burgess of the Town Council. His burial is entered in St. Mary's register, July 7, 1686, in which he is described as a clothier.

Some of the Sharpes of Bury were also chandlers. Robert Sharpe, chandler, in Bury, 1537, bought of his father, Richard Sharpe, of Hegsett (now Hessel), three closes of land in Hegsett, next the land of the Abbot and Convent of Bury, before the dissolution of that monastery in 1539.

Robert Sharp, of the same family, was Alderman 1676-7, and was buried in St. James's Church. His tomb bears the following inscription:

The coffee-house was situate in the Hatters' Street in 1730.

Coffee, introduced about 1648, is thus described by a writer in 1659: "This coffe-drink hath caused a great sobriety amongst all nations; apprentices and clerks used to take their morning-draughts in ale, beer, or wine, that often made them unfit for business, now they play the good fellows in this wakefull and civil drink." Coffee-houses in 1663 had to be licensed at the sessions; in 1675, by proclamation, they were closed as seminaries of sedition, but, by another royal proclamation issued a few days after, this order was annulled.

At an accustomed hour, everyone laid his book aside, lit his pipe, and the master smoked with them, and taught them how to hold their pipes."

R. OF . CLARE . 1655 = W . C.

$\frac{1}{4}$

William Cadge was a great benefactor to the town. In his will, dated January, 1668, he described himself as occupying the Half-Moon Inn, the chief inn in the town. He bequeathed an annual payment of £25 from a farm called Bockards, in the parish of Barnardiston (otherwise Banson), in Suffolk, to the Vicar, churchwardens, and chief inhabitants of Clare, for the following uses: £10 per annum to a schoolmaster for teaching ten poor boys of Clare; £15 per annum for the clothing of eight poor widows with a blue gown, two shifts, and one pair of shoes each, every year, and to receive a twopenny loaf of bread every Sunday in the year. This annuity in a few years was much in arrear, in consequence of which the churchwardens, about the year 1736, seized the lands as security until the arrears were paid; this was never done, and the parish has now full possession of the estate. The income arising from these lands having increased to about £84 a year, a new scheme for its administration was obtained from the Court of Chancery in 1856, and the trustees now expend the same on the Town School and Widows' Charity.

William Cadge died in April, 1668, aged sixty-three. His inn, the Half-Moon, yet remains in the High Street.

He also issued a variety of his token from a different die, but of the same date.

96. O. WILLIAM . COLTE = A colt galloping.

R. IN . CLARE . 1664 = W . R . C.

The Colts, who originally came from Carlisle, resided at Grey's Hall, in Cavendish, adjoining Clare. Thomas Colt was Chancellor of the Exchequer in the reign of Edward IV. He died about 1473, and was buried in the parish church of Cavendish. Sir George Colt married into the family of the Poleys, of Boxstead, and their heir, Sir Henry, died in the second year of Charles I. His son, George Colt, sold his property in Cavendish and elsewhere, which he spent in the service of Charles I. and II.

Arms: Argent, a fess between three colts in full speed, sable.

Colt's Hall, now a large farmhouse, still stands in the adjoining parish of Cavendish.

97. O. GEORGE . CRISP = An anchor. G . C.

R. IN . CLARE . 1656 = WEBSTER.

 $\frac{1}{4}$

The woollen manufacture was carried on to a considerable extent in Clare during the seventeenth century. George and Richard Crisp were the principal traders of their day. In 1714 Mr. Poulter, an eminent attorney of that town, took every possible method to eradicate the manufacture, which he at last effected, and drove it to Cavendish and Glemsford, where it flourishes to the present day.

98. O. RICHARD . CRISP = WEBSTER.

R. IN . CLARE . 1656 = R . C.

99. Another similar, dated 1664.

 $\frac{1}{4}$

In the Court Leet Books, amongst the verdicts of the head-boroughs of Clare, under the year 1651, it is stated that, "Upon the complainte of John Pettet, wee present Richard Crispe, for a fence of his lying open, to the greate annoyance of the saide John Pettet, and wee doe amerse the same Richard Crispe thurte shillings if he amend not the same fence in a fortnightes time after this Court siting."

R. IN . CLARE = A fleur-de-lys.

 $\frac{1}{4}$

The figures 64 in one of the angles of the cross stand for 1664, a common mode of shortening the date at this period.

The tokens of Cadge, Crisp, and Cross are engraved in the Gentleman's Magazine, February, 1790, pl. 2, p. 118.

101. O. WILLIAM . CROSSE = A woolpack.

R. IN . CLARE . 1668 = W . S . C.

Robert Draper, of Debenham, was one of the twelve trustees for this town named in the Ordinance of Cromwell of 1653, for the distribution of the rents of lands left by Sir Robert Hitcham, knight, in 1636, amounting then to about £105 yearly, "for setting the poor to work, to relieve the needy and impotent inhabitants, towards providing a workhouse, and for educating twelve or twenty poor children of Debenham, in a school-house, in reading, writing, accompts, or grammar learning."

The births of seven children at various dates between 1672 and 1689 are also recorded. Edward Stubbs was buried March 1, 1715, and his widow Susanna, July 20, 1732, aged ninety-two.

DUNWICH.

117. O. IOHN . WHITTMAN = I . F . W.
 R. OF . DVNWICH = I . F . W. $\frac{1}{4}$

The custom of marrying in the time of the Commonwealth was, first to publish the banns in the market-place, then to solemnize the marriage before the Mayor or bailiffs of corporations or justices of the peace. During this period Whiteman appears to have been a registrar of marriages, for in the register of Framlingham we find that "Alin Davison," one of the "bailies of Dunwich" and "witnes John Whiteman, regester there," performed the office upon an inhabitant of Framlingham and one of Farnham, who were married at Dunwich in 1656.

124. O. NICHOLAS . BROWNE . OF = N . B.

R. FRAMLINGHAM . AT . Y^E = A castle.

$\frac{1}{4}$

Nicholas Browne was one of the churchwardens in 1661; his initials, N. B., occur on the board on which the King's (Charles II.) arms are painted, and set up in the church at the cost of £10 3s. 9d.

William Browne, one of the descendants of the Brownes of Framlingham, removed to Yarmouth, became a wealthy merchant and brewer, and was Mayor there in 1744 and in 1748. At a general election for members of Parliament in 1754 he was an unsuccessful candidate (he polled, however, 342 votes), and afterwards, by changing his politics, he received from Government the lucrative appointment of Receiver-General of the county of Norfolk. He died in 1769, aged eighty-one.

126. O. IOHN . CAPON . GROSER = A castle.

R. OF . FRAMLINGHAM . 1656 = I . C.

$\frac{1}{4}$

The Capons were for a long time inhabitants of Framlingham. In 1537 John Capon was holder of "the Guild of the Blessed Mary;" in 1629 "Johes Capon" occurs in a list of jurors at a Court Baron; and in an ordinance of Cromwell for distribution of charitable bequests, John Capon and Thomas Capon were appointed, March 20, 1653, with others, trustees. The family continued there, as appears by monuments, till 1814, or subsequently.

127. O. IOHN . DAWSON = The Apothecaries' Arms.

R. IN . FRAMLINGHAM = I . D.

$\frac{1}{4}$

The Dawsons appear to have been of some note in the town. John Dawson was an apothecary, as is shown by his tombstone in the chancel of Framlingham Church.

128. O. FRANCIS . IRELAND = A castle.

R. IN . FRAMLINGHAM = F . I.

$\frac{1}{4}$

The Ireland family also resided here for a long period. In the churchwardens' accounts of 1557, "John Irelande" is mentioned as one of the churchwardens selling the plate for repairs of the church. Francis Ireland was one of the jurors in the Court Baron, 1629, and was also, by an ordinance of Lord Protector Cromwell and his council, dated March 20, 1653, "for settling the estates left by Sir Robert Hitcham, knight, of Framlingham and Saxted, to charitable uses, in 1636," appointed to be one of the principal trustees.

The device of a castle, which appears on so many of the Framlingham tokens, refers to the stronghold of the Bigods, Earls of Norfolk, the ruins of which form an important object of beauty in the scenery and also in the history of the town.

The Market Cross on the Cornhill, originally the gift of Edmund Daundy in 1510, was rebuilt in 1628; and Thomas Allen, in 1628-9, received various sums of money for the framing of the said cross, the timber for which was taken from Ulverstone.

parish church of St. Lawrence. The property of this charity has now increased so much in value that 300 persons annually receive 3s. 6d. each from it. His son, John Burrough was one of the twenty-four Chief Constables named by the charter of Charles II. in 1665. He was Portman in 1676 and 1690, and in the latter year he presented various books to the public library. In the charter of Charles II. of July, 1685, he is called gentleman, and appointed Bailiff, and to which office he was again chosen in 1688. The inscription on his gravestone in St. Lawrence's Church states that he died July 26, 1695, aged sixty-eight.

John Burrough, of St. Stephen's parish, also gave £100 to be laid out in an estate, but the parish neglected to claim it within the time appointed (one year after his death), and it was lost.

In the charter of Charles II. in 1665 he is described as Portman and gentleman.

The following note appears in the town books :

The ancestors of the Greens of Ipswich resided for a long period at Wilby, and some of the family were distinguished for their literary acquirements in later years.

The greyhound, derived from the house of Beaufort, was the sinister supporter of the arms of King Henry VII.

R. DRAPER . IN . IPSWICH = I . S. 1/4

The Sparrows were a family of some consideration ; they served various offices in the town : John Sparrow was Member of Parliament in 1541 ; John Sparrow, probably the token-issuer, is described as a gentleman, in 1665, and John Sparrow was Bailiff in 1722. Many monuments to various members of the family still exist in the Church of St. Lawrence, in which parish they resided. One of the family built a great house in Thurlston, called the Sparrow's Nest, where the name is still to be found.

192. O. ROBERT . SPARROW = Three birds.

R. IN . IPSWICH . 1654 = R . S. 1/4

Robert Sparrowe was of the same family as the last mentioned. Robert Sparrowe, Portman, who died in 1594, has a memorial in the church of St. Mary Tower. Robert Sparrow, "a man of great note," who lived in Ipswich in the time of Charles II., lent, in conjunction with his son-in-law, Robert Clarke, to the Corporation, whose finances were then very low, the sum of £300. Robert Sparrow was Bailiff in 1659, 1666, and 1671, and is described as gentleman and Bailiff in the charter of Charles II., 1665 ; he gave £5 to the public library in Ipswich in 1640. Robert Sparrow held an estate in Offton in the time of Charles II., and some of the family are still there.

In the town books we read :

"April 28, 1653. At this Court M^r. Rob^t. Sparrowe who was fformerlie chosen into the office of one of the Comon Councell of this Towne by Mr. Henry Whitinge made request to be discharged of the s^d Office for A fyne ; and the same being moved to the Court, it was ordered that he should not be admitted to a fyne."

The birds on the token are probably intended for sparrows, being a play on the name. The arms of the Sparrows of Ipswich are : Argent, three roses purple, seeded or, barbed vert ; a chief of the second.

LANDGUARD FORT.

Landguard Fort is in the parish of Walton, from which it is distant about three miles. The fort was existing at the end of James I.'s reign, although no date can be assigned positively to the erection of it. The Dutch, in 1667, landed 3,000 men at Felixstowe Cliff, from whence they marched 2,000 men unsuccessfully against the fort. Another fort was built here in 1718, after an Act of Parliament had ordered the destruction of the previous ruinous one. A MS. of garrison orders and parole words in use at the fort, together with the state of the garrison and fort, daily, from 1761 to 1766, is in existence.

The fish houses occupied by Mr. Joseph Smithson were entirely consumed by a fire in November, 1717.

Joseph Smithson subscribed, in 1698, to the rebuilding of Lowestoft Chapel, which was a place for worship, much nearer the town than the parish church, and had been previously used before the Reformation, and licensed for church service by the Bishop of Norwich, in 1570.

Sir Edward Barker, of Lowestoft, with others, in 1643, were taken prisoners by Cromwell, and carried to Somerleyton.

The Barker family arms were barry of ten, or and sable, over all a bend, gules.

In 1670 Robert Barker was owner of boats employed in the herring fishery at Lowestoft, and the family of Barker continued so for many years after.

Francis Bugg was born at Mildenhall, of reputable parents, in 1640. In his book, "The Pilgrim's Progress from Quakerism to Christianity," he states that he was brought up in the profession of the Church of England, and that at the age of about seventeen, being then living at Lakenheath, an adjoining village, and having "itching ears" to hear the Quakers who came there from Norwich, Thetford, and other places, in a few years he "became a very zealous member," and "to silent meetings went." After living in their society many years and becoming dissatisfied with their false doctrines and writings, he wrote many letters, remonstrances, and works, in orders to expose their views. At a general Quakers' meeting, held at Haddenham, in 1682, he was adjudged "to have greatly abused and misrepresented faithful ministers of the Gospel and antient Friends," and thereupon was expelled. The Bishop of Norwich, in 1697, gave a certificate that "thro' the hardness of the times, several losses, and the publishing of useful books to convert the Quakers, he was reduced to great difficulties, and deserved the bounty of well-disposed persons as a sober, honest and industrious man;" this gained him many friends at the colleges of Cambridge and elsewhere. In 1700 the second edition of the "Progress" was published, to which his portrait, engraved by Van Hove, æt. 60, is prefixed, a previous one appearing in the quarto edition of 1698. In his work, "Quakers Set in their True Light," quarto, 1698 (pp. 48), is a list of sixteen works written by him to confirm his views. Afterwards eight or more others appeared; but his last, entitled "Finishing Stroke; or, Gleanings from Quakers' Books," was published in 1712. His family continued Quakers, and his son, Francis Bugg, junior, was a member of their meetings at Mildenhall in 1687.

R. IN . RICKINGHALL = S . F. $\frac{1}{4}$

From an early work, entitled "Theater of Honour and Knight-hood," folio, 1623, we learn that "merchants were not permitted to have shields, but might beare the first letters of their names and surnames enterlaced with a crosse; to have notes or markes of the profession or trades which they used, as—a shearmen, his cloth sheares; a tailor, his sheares; a mason, his compass, or square, or his trowell; a cutler, a knife, and so on."

These merchants' marks often consist of a cross with a down stroke to form a smaller cross of the limb on the dexter side, and another line from the top to the limb on the sinister side, which gives the appearance of the Arabic numeral four turned backwards; they generally have below this the Christian and surname in monogram, interlaced by some geometrical figure.

In 1651 he collected for the lecture, voluntarily, in the adjacent villages, 15s. 10d. In 1652 and 1653, I. Barrel paid up the balance of arrears due thereon. Surrey.

IN Surrey tokens were issued at fifty-five different places, and it is interesting to note the peculiarities in the method of describing and spelling the name of the place of issue.

Abinger, for instance, on its solitary token, appears in the older name of Abenworth.

Battersea is spelt Battersey.

Bletchingley appears as Bleachingley and Bleachingly.

Dorking as Darking, Darkin, and Dorkinge.

Egham as Eadgham, Egam, Eggam, Edgham, and Eggham, five methods of spelling.

Epsom reads Ebisham and Apsum.

Ewell is spelt Yewell and Yewill.

Farnham, phonetically as Fanum and Farnum.

Godalming as Godlyman, Godalman, Godalmin, Godallmig, Godallminge, Godalminge, and Godallmin, seven methods of spelling.

Guildford varies between six ways, reading Gillford, Gilford, Guilforde, Gildford, Gildford, and Guilford.

Haslemere reads Hasselmore and Haselmore.

Mortlake as Mortlacke and Moreclack.

Rotherhithe as Rotherhith, Redcriff, Redriff, and Rotherhith—these spellings being in all cases extra to the few instances in which the name of the place is put in the modern style.

A few of the issuers of the tokens were women, probably single women.

Florance Webb issued the Abinger token.

Elizabeth Bothel issued a token at Dorking.

Eleanor Right at Egham and Elizabeth Amus at Epsom, Mary Osburne at Godstone, Elizabeth Smith at Putney, Margaret Catt at Reigate; and at Rotherhithe, Mary Berry, Sussannah Dannill, Sara Heywood, Rebekah Smallman, Elizabeth Swan, and Mary Warren; and at Wandsworth a token was issued by Elizabeth Crow.

The information as to the trades carried on by the issuers is very varied, and in many cases we have no more to guide us than the trade signs on the tokens. These must not be taken to invariably mean inn-holdings, although, of course, many of them do refer to such a trade, but the majority of important trades at that time traded under a sign, and in many instances the sign was formed from the arms of the trading Guild.

There is hardly a trading Guild bearing arms that is not represented on tokens, although naturally some occur very much more frequently than others.

It is evident that use of these coats-of-arms as signs of trade was very frequent ; in many towns every token bears the arms of some trade, and probably used the coat armour as its sign. In some towns, research in Corporation and Guild records has revealed the fact of a close relationship, alliance, and, to some extent, obedience, existing between those of a trade in a town forming that Guild, and what was evidently looked upon, to some extent, as headquarters in London. It is impossible to say to what extent this intimate connection existed ; it is referred to but seldom in Guild records, and then only briefly, as though well known ; but it is clear that the trades largely and extensively used the armorial bearings of the company, formed themselves into local Guilds for the management and restriction of their own trade, and to a certain extent owned and recognised a sort of allegiance due to the London company. The very word Guildford is derived from the presence of a trading Guild in the town, and for generations the governing body of the town was known as Gilda Mercatoria.

In Barnes we have the sign of the Horse, and we find from an Exchequer bill that the issuer, Timothy Harley, was a brewer. Another issuer, Goodwin, describes himself as a vintner, and traded at the sign of the Bear.

Thomas Embery bore the Blacksmiths' Arms, and these were also borne by an issuer in Farnham.

The Cordwainers' Arms appear in Battersea and Farnham.

The Grocers' at Chertsey, Lingfield, Rotherhithe, Sutton and Walton.

The Mercers', at Cranleigh.

The Fishmongers', at Farnham.

The Butchers', at Kingston and Walton.

The Barber-Surgeons', at Kingston.

The Tallowchandlers', at Kingstone, Reigate.

The Bakers', at Lambeth, Rotherhithe, Walton, and Wandsworth.

The Merchant-Tailors', at Mortlake.

The Salters', at Putney.

The Haberdashers' and Merchant-Adventurers', at Ripley.

The Drapers', at Rotherhithe.

At Rotherhithe we are not surprised to find the arms of the Shipwrights and Watermen, nor is it strange to find the Watermen's Arms also at Putney, Richmond, and Lambeth ; but it is curious that the solitary Clapham token should bear this achievement also.

A man making candles, or a stick of candles, are favourite devices in Surrey, and are found on tokens of Croydon, Dorking, Farnham, Godalming, Kingston, and Wandsworth.

Sugar-loaves, which probably refer to a grocery trade, appear at Farnham, Reigate, and Rotherhithe ; while the staple industry of Guildford is clearly denoted by the fact that of 28 tokens 22 bear the woolsack.

A malt-shovel is a favourite device on Godalming tokens ; a fleur-de-lys on Farnham ones.

A simple sort of punning appears in the presence of a church on the Chertsey town token, and the same humour is noticeable upon other of the Surrey tokens. Thus, for instance, a thorn bush, or Glastonbury Holy Thorn, appears on the token of Edward Bush, of Croydon.

A King's head is borne by Robert King, of Richmond, etc.; a swan, by Elizabeth Swan, of Rotherhithe.

In most cases the sign of the shop or business appears on the tokens, so that the token is what is termed a speaking type. Robert Lloyd, of Croydon, at the Greyhound, bears a greyhound; and two Lambeth issuers bear the Wild Boar and the Bear and Ragged Staff, and describe themselves as of the Blue Boar, and of the Bare and Raged Staffe.

Another trades at Yo Punchinelly, and bears Punch in a chair, and a Putney issuer is at the Red Lion, and puts a lion passant gardant on his token of unusual and peculiar character. There are a few special tokens among the Surrey series. John Sole, of Battersea, bears a bird with a garter, and an Earl's coronet above it, as though he claimed connection with a noble family. Thomas Lusher, of Chiddingfold, has the curious device of "two pipes and a roll of tobacco;" and John Luffrum, of Egham, has a coach and pair of horses. Several Farnham issuers have a castle, as referring to Farnham Castle, upon their tokens, and most of the Guildford tokeners have a castle upon their tokens also, as a reference both to the old keep and the town arms.

The Kingston issuers, in many cases, also bear portions of the Kingston arms upon their tokens, "The Three Salmons hauriant."

Other curious devices are the one on the tokens of Edmonds, of Lambeth, which represents two porters holding a kind of handbarrow, and a third loading it with a sack; and the one of Joseph Hall, of Newington, who states that he is "AT OLD SMUGGS," at Newington Butts, and gives a smith working at an anvil on his token.

What is known as the Guildford Postman's tokens has a postman upon it with a very long staff, and two varieties of the token differ in the head-gear worn by the postman; one has a quaint, high hat, and the other a very low hat and a wig, and the issuer is supposed to have lived at Compton, as his initials are found cut into Compton Church in a similar fashion to the engraving on the token. Peter White, of Mortlake, was evidently in doubt as to how to fill up the space on his token, and so put the royal motto, "Honi soit qui mal y pense," and curiously accompanied it with the arms of the City of London!

It has been interesting to find out odd bits of information respecting the issuers of several of these quaint little pieces, and although the information obtained is often of a disjointed character, it throws light upon the possessions and position of the traders. The Hearth-tax Rolls often mention the assessment of the issuers. Some were assessed at four, others at eight hearths; some are declared as free for various reasons, either for poverty or by widowhood.

Richard Greene, of Battersea, was a Constable of the parish. Steven Theckstone, of the same place, is specially dubbed "Mr.," and is assessed at no less than nineteen hearths.

Then, again, the Subsidy Rolls often mention their names, and the Exchequer Bills and other records. An issuer at Bramley was a Popish recusant, and her estate at Southwark declared forfeited to the Crown. An issuer at Chertsey, William Burnett, was an Anabaptist teacher, and received in 1672 a special license to teach in the house of William Longhurst, in Chertsey. Thomas Lusher, of Chiddingfold, was churchwarden, overseer, and surveyor for the poor in his native parish, and evidently a man of importance in the place; his family were old residents in the neighbourhood.

The rolls of the Feet of Fines again often tell us little bits of information on these seventeenth-century traders, and we learn of their landed property and of its transfer by purchase or deed.

These *fin*es were practically deeds transferring land, not payments, as we now understand the word. They were nominally the "finis" or end of a fictitious suit. Fines which did not relate exclusively to real property operated nominally as an amicable arrangement putting an end (finis) to a hostile suit in the King's Court, and early became a popular method of conveyance, not only from their efficacy, but from the safety insured to a purchaser by the fact of a duplicate of the foot of the fine being preserved as a record in the custody of the Court. They had somewhat the effect also of a registration of title.

One man at Cranleigh is declared as living in the street and without home, while the other issuer in this little village was a man of large means, and by his will bequeaths considerable estate in land. Several wills of issuers have been discovered in the Probate Court, and their mention of land under curious local names, often still well known, makes them of especial interest; while the persistence of local names, as Didlesfold, Mower, Strudwick, Enticknap, and Gaston, all from the villages of Cranleigh or Bramley, is one of the more striking features of our Surrey village life. Sometimes the information is gathered from other sources, as, for instance, the gallery of Croydon Church records the name of the man who issued the only heart-shaped Surrey token, and who was churchwarden when the gallery was erected.

At Ewell a token is issued by Samuel Hawkins, and on searching the parish registers for this small hamlet, the name of Hawkins seems to fill up the greater portion of the entries. From 1600 to 1776, the registers are full of entries of births, deaths, and baptisms of member of this family, who seem to have been a very large family, and evidently formed the leading residents of the place. The other Ewell token is hardly decipherable, but bears a most unusual name, Ferdinando Dow, and conjecture is busy to determine whether this issuer was of Spanish or of Dutch extraction.

Many a quaint entry in the churchwardens' books at Farnham, and many a tombstone at Guildford, have been laid under contribution to furnish information.

In one case we read of a woman issuer standing and doing public penance in Farnham Church for offence, and of a Guildford issuer, one John Martin, we learn quite a little history. Apprenticed by the overseers as a town poor boy, serving his master faithfully and well, rising to be Mayor of his native town, and being elected several times, subscribing largely to a fund for welcoming Charles II. on his visit to the town in 1663, becoming churchwarden, Bailiff, overseer for his parish, and living to the age of 75, and then being buried with great honour, form a series of interesting links of information in the life of a successful hardworking Surrey trader of the seventeenth century. Then the religious scruples of some of these sturdy men must not be overlooked, and Besse's "Sufferings of the Quakers" tells us that many of them belonged to that most persecuted sect, and suffered hard things for conscience' sake. A Kingston issuer, Fielder, signed the celebrated Quakers' petition in 1659, and had a distress, amounting to £23, served upon him for attending meeting, and later on was committed to prison for refusing to take an oath.

Another Kingston issuer, Hubbard, was cruelly beaten, "to keep him," as the record curiously adds, "out of his meeting-house," and fined £20 per month for absence from national worship.

John Hollis, of Kingston, was imprisoned in the Marshalsea for non-payment of tithes, and fined for attendance at meeting, and in Guildford several issuers were fined for refusing to take an oath of office as Bailiff, and removed from their position. Some of these issuers expressly declared their children as "Borne" in the column of the church register apportioned to baptisms, and in this way also declared their religious scruples.

Our forefathers in the Government of the day had strange and harsh methods of obtaining what they were pleased to term unity and uniformity; and these sufferings for conscience' sake, so little ago as 1670, are remnants of a bygone practice that we are thankful to feel will never be renewed. Of a far more pleasant character is the epitaph on the tomb of Charles Salter, of Kingston, another tokeneer, which records the decease of himself at the age of 83, and his wife at that of 77, within twenty days of each other, and which continues its narrative in these words:

" And God took them. They lived a pattern
Of conjugal affection, and when one was gone
This world was no longer pleasing to the other."

Many inns named on tokens, and which were at the time good and well-known posting-houses, still remain; and the Swan, Haslemere; Red Lion, Richmond; Noah's Ark, Lambeth; Catherine Wheel, Egham; Hart, Chobham, are examples of many cases in which the present day and the old token tell the same tale, although it is to be feared that the measure of business done by many of these houses is very different now to what it was.

Robert King, of the King's Head, issued a token at Richmond, and this family kept that inn at the ferry for generations—the Protector's commission renewing the privilege at a rental of one mark per annum being still in existence.

It is of interest to note that Surrey tokens have been found in almost every county in the kingdom, a proof of the commercial importance of the county in those days.

He was buried November 29, 1658.

102. O. CHARLES . HANBY = A woolsack.

R. IN . GILFORD . 1662 = A castle. (Plate, No. 3.) 1/4

The parish book states that Charles Handby was—"Elected Constable for St. Mary's, Dec. 31, 1670."

Also:

"Charles Hanbey was discharged from being Tythingman, John Burt being appointed in his room, Sept. 1, 1662 (14 Car. II.)."

John King was a freeman of Guildford, having taken up his freedom from his father (also a freeman) as eldest son.

He was appointed collector for the poor of St. Mary's, April 25, 1671.

105. A variety is dated 1658.

106. O. EDWARD . LEE = A castle.

R. GILLDFORD . 1658 = A woolpack. (Plate, No. 6.)

107. O. EDWARD . LEE = A woolpack.

R. GVILDFORD . 1664 = A castle.

Nothing whatever is known respecting this issuer. He is presumed to have been a relative of Henry Lee.

108. O. HENRY . LEE = A woolsack.

R. GVILDFORD . 1658 = A small castle. (Plate, No. 5.)

Henry Lee was one of the town poor apprentices, having been apprenticed by the overseers to "John Childs and another, and faithfully served them seven full years," taking up the freedom of the town.

He evidently attained to a good position in the town afterwards, from the fact of his issuing his own trade token. He was elected overseer for the parish of St. Mary, April 4, 1680, and December 26, 1682, and churchwarden, April 13, 1691.

The modern spelling of the name of the town appears on this token for the first time.

109. A variety is dated 1653.

110. O. NICHOLAS . LINTOTT = A castle.

R. OF . GILFORD . 1656 = A woolsack. (Plate, No. 7.)

A town apprentice, having been bound to Thomas Newman, and served him "seven full years."

He was made "Bayliffe" in 1659, and elected one of the "approved men," or Town Councillor, in 1660, and also in 1661.

In 1662, however, the following record appears in the town books :

"Nicholas Lintott was discharged from being called by the name of Bayliffe in 1662, for refusing to take the oath and make subscription."

This probably refers to the Corporation Act* (17 Car. II., cap. 2), and to the Oath of Non-resistance and abjuring the Covenant (15 Car. II., cap. 5); and the fact of Lintott refusing to take it would imply that he was a Dissenter, probably a Quaker, very possibly one of those who, with other Guildford men, supported Cromwell.

A remarkable proof of this man's strong Puritan opinions appears in Holy Trinity register, in which his family are conspicuously entered as "Borne," in the "Baptized" column, and never as "Baptized."

* The objectionable words in this Act were the following : "I, A. B., do swear that it is not lawful upon any pretence whatever to take up arms against the King, and that I do abhor that traitorous position of taking up arms against His Person, or against those that are commissioned by him. And that I will not at any time endeavour any alteration of Government either in Church or State."

111. A variety is dated 1666.

112. Another variety also dated 1658.

113. O. IOHN . MAY . SHOOMAKER = A shoe or last.

HIS

R. IN . GILFORD . 1668 = HALFE

PENNY

M

1 . . S. (Plate, No. 9.)

With one exception, this is the rarest of all the Guildford series, and one of the scarcest of the tokens of the county.

Nothing is at present known about the issuer of this token, the only halfpenny of the series, and an exception to the general rule as regards the spelling of the word PENNY.

114. O. ABDIAH . MARTIN . 1664 = A woosack.

R. IN . GILFORD . 1664 = A castle.

A freeman of Guildford, having served his father in apprenticeship seven years.

He was proprietor of a piece of ground next the Tun Inn, in Tunsgate, upon which an annual charge to the Grammar School existed, as in the rent roll of the Free Grammar School, December 15, 1671, we read :

"Abdiah Martin is charged for his garden and where the mercate house is built, xxd."

A piece of this ground was afterwards purchased by the Corporation, and the wheat market-house above referred to built upon it.

This market-house was, however, let on a lease of 1,000 years to a Mr. Steere on June 13, 1737.

115. A singular variety of this token bears on the obverse, in addition to the legend, the date 1664, and on the reverse 1652. (Plate, No. 8.)

It is clear, on examination, that the obverse is the usual one, as described above ; but the reverse exactly resembles that of the following token of John Martin, and it is supposed that the same coiner struck each of these tokens, but that, in error, he used an old reverse die of John Martin in striking a second issue for Abdiah, instead of the correct die.

116. Another most curious variety reads ABDIAH . MARTIN . MARTIN on the obverse, and is clearly one struck from an incorrect die, probably only a proof.

117. A third variety is struck upon pure copper, not brass as usual, and is nearly one-eighth of an inch thick.

118. O. IOHN . MARTIN = A woosack.

R. IN . GILFORD . 1652 = A castle.

This John Martin is another instance of a poor lad rising to considerable position and affluence in his native town.

The old parish register informs us that he was apprenticed by the overseers to Mr. Cobbett, and served his master "faithfully and well for nine years." Something like an apprenticeship !

In 1640 he had become a man of property, and the Roll of the Subsidy, previously quoted as granted by Parliament to Charles I., has his name thus :

"Iohn Martyn in goodes iij℥ paying vs. iijd. in every pound."

In 1643, the town records note that John Martyn was one of the wardens of the Rye Market-house.

The Rye Market-house stood in High Street, and occupied a site in the northeast corner of Holy Trinity Church. It was pulled down on January 6, 1758, and its value (£200) invested in bank stock.

In 1647 John Martyn was elected as Mayor, but, singular to state, does not appear as an "approved man," or Councillor, until 1651, and would therefore appear to have been selected from the town without first passing through the Council.

He was elected an "approved man" six times, i.e. in 1651, 1652, 1653, 1656, 1657 and 1658, and was again Mayor in 1654 and 1655.

In 1663 the town incurred an expense of one hundred and fifty-five pounds (£155—in those days an enormous sum), which was all spent in welcoming his Majesty Charles II., in his visit to Guildford soon after his restoration.

Like a brave old Royalist, as he most certainly must have been, John Martyn—or Martin, as the name then appears—gave a subscription of five pounds (£5) towards this expense; and, with the exception of John Smallpeece and Joseph Nettles, who gave an equal amount, we do not find that any Guildfordian gave so large a gift. He evidently lived in the parish of St. Mary, as the churchwardens' book proves, his signatures being head of the list for several years in the signatures of those who attended the vestry meetings. The fact that it is first written whenever he attended shows he was considered a man of great importance in the parish. He is buried near the north door of St. Mary's Church, having died at the age of seventy-five.

119. A variety is dated 1657.

120. O. IOSEPH . NETLES . OF = N.
I . E.

R. GVILDFORD . IN . SVRRY = A thistle or a wheatsheaf.

Vide "Surrey" plate, No. 6.

Joseph Nettles was an "approved man" of Guildford five times, viz., in 1657, 1658, 1659, 1660, and 1661.

He is described in Russell's "History" as being of St. Mary's parish; and he founded an exhibition to the University of Oxford or Cambridge, for the son of a freeman taught in the Grammar School, by leaving to the said school certain lands in Stoke on trust.

This man shared the same fate as Nicholas Lintott, previously referred to, being discharged from being called by the name of Bayliffe for refusing to take the oath in 1662.

He was a publican, and tenant of the Grammar School for the Tun Inn. See the Rent Roll of December 15, 1671, in which his rent is mentioned at "xxxs. for the halfe yeare."

He also rented of the same charity "a corne chamber over the wheat mercate house and a shed thereto belonging for xxvjs. for the halfe yeare."

As mentioned before, he was one of the three men who subscribed £5 each towards the expense of £155 incurred in welcoming Charles II. to Guildford in 1663.

121. O. IOHN . REMNANT = A castle.

R. OF . GILLFORD . 1667 = A woolsack. (Plate, No. 10.)

John Remnant was a resident in St. Mary's parish, and was appointed collector for the poor for that parish in 1669.

He was also appointed surveyor of highways for the same parish on December 29, 1671, and overseer of highways for the same, December 29, 1674.

Boyne gives the spelling of Gillford incorrectly as Gilford.

The issuer, with two others, had a distress served upon him in 1670, in which goods value £17 16s. were taken from the three of them for an attendance at a meeting held in the street, when kept out of their meeting-house at Guildford.—"Sufferings of the Quakers," vol. i., p. 699.

In 1670 we read the following quaint and interesting entry of him: "Jane Remnant, of Guildford, had taken from her soe much cheese as was worth aboute fower pounds for three pounds imposed on her son John for being at a silent meeting amongst Friends, where shee was not nor did usually frequent. The wch cheese was kept by ye magistrates whilst it was spoyled, for none would buy it, but it was cast forth and buried."

122. O. DANIELL . SARLLE = A castle (no inner circle).

R. IN . GILFORD . 1667 = A woosack with inner circle.
(Plate, No. 11.)

One of the specimens in the Editor's possession was found between some boards in the Town Hall by Apark, the beadle, in 1847, and is the only token we ever heard of being found in the hall.

The issuer is supposed to have been a lawyer ; his signature appears on receipts in the receipt-book of Nettles' Charity, and also as a ratepayer of the parish of Holy Trinity, in the churchwardens' book at the Easter vestries of 1697, 1699, 1702 and 1713. In the roll of voluntary contributors toward the alteration of the gallery in the church, in 1699, his name appears, with that of John Smallpeece, as a donor of 2s. 6d.

He took up his freedom of the town, as eldest son, from his father ; and he was appointed Tythingman in 1658, and overseer of the poor for the parish of St. Mary, 1676.

123. O. IOHN . SMALLPEECE = A castle with a woosack before it.

R. IN . GVILFORD = A barge with four men rowing. (Plate,
No. 12.)

The representative of one of the very oldest Guildford families, resident in the town now for over 400 years.

This John Smallpeece was a grocer, and his father was also of that trade ; and in the constitution-book of the town, amongst the apprenticeships registered, is this name :

“Apprenticed to his Father and Mother, Grocers.”

An unusual entry, and one which would appear to prove that the mother was an active and working partner in the business, so much so as to be mentioned in the indenture of apprenticeship.

On Tuesday, August 26, 1662 (14 Car. II.), twelve royal commissioners, amongst whom was Sir Richard Onslow, held sittings at Guildford, to inquire into the proceedings of the Mayor and certain magistrates of the town, who had refused to take the oath of supremacy and non-resistance upon the restoration of Charles II. ;

“and Henry Parson, Maior ; R. Budd, sen., John How, John Alderton, W^m. Hill, T. Smith, T. Horsnaile, magistrates, were discharged and acquitted from the office of maioralty and magistracy of the said towne for refusing to take the Oathes and make subscription as by the said act of parliament is enjoyned. And for the future they be not called or beare the name of magistrates and approved men of the towne aforesaid ; and John Smalepeice, grocer, was chosen Maior in his stead.”

He was, from this extract, evidently a man of some note in the town for loyalty to Church and King, or he would not have been specially selected for this honour by the royal commissioners.

He lived to the age of seventy-nine, and died July 29, 1701, and is buried in the centre aisle of Holy Trinity Church.

He was elected constable, a kind of special overseer, for his native parish of St. Mary on December 24, 1668, and in the churchwardens' book for St. Mary's occurs the following entry :

“Sept. ye 1, 1672.

“Collected for John Smallpeece of Guildford for losses by Fire xxiijs. viij*d*.”

* It would appear from this entry that he was a person of so much consequence in the parish, that a special offertory was made at the parish church to assist him in meeting some heavy loss incurred by fire.

In 1695 he was churchwarden of the parish of Holy Trinity, and his signature as a ratepayer occurs in the churchwardens'-book of that parish at the Easter vestries of 1697, 1699 and 1701. Among the list of voluntary contributions towards the altering of the gallery of Holy Trinity Church, 1699, his name appears as a donor of 2s. 6d. In this roll the total amount collected was only £7 14s., and only five donations were of 10s., most of the amounts being 2s. 6d. and 1s. There is an oft-recurring item in the churchwardens' account, reading, "For breaking the ground in the Church, paid Iohn Smallpeece 6s. 8d."

An ancestor of this issuer was Mayor of the town in 1502, and the name appears on the Mayor's Roll in 1552, 1560, 1568, 1574, 1582, 1591, 1596, 1602, 1662 (as above), 1707, 1714, 1831, and 1836; but, although members of the family have been on the Council since, they have not provided another Mayor of the borough.

A descendant of the issuer is at present Town Clerk of Guildford; and the character borne by old John Smallpeece in 1662 may be said with much certainty to belong still to the honoured descendants of the same family.

124. O. JAMES . SNELLING = A woolsack.

R. IN . GVILFORDE = A castle. (Plate, No. 13.)

As far as can be ascertained, the specimen of this token in the cabinet of the Editor of this work is unique. It was presented to the late John Nealds, Esq., a well-known Guildford antiquary, by the Rev. Charles Kerry, M.A., when curate of Puttenham, who is a most zealous and painstaking antiquary himself, and who found it near Guildford when searching for some flint implements on March 4, 1873.

There is no specimen of it in the British Museum, nor in any public or private collection within the personal knowledge of the author, and it is very singular that one only of this issue should be known as surviving from those originally struck.

The issuer was a freeman of the town, taking up his freedom from his father as eldest son. He was evidently a well-known and respected man, as he served his town as "an approved man" no less than ten times, i.e., in 1665, 1666, 1667, 1668, 1669, 1670, 1671, 1672, 1673, 1674, and was elected Serjeant-at-mace September 1, 1662, in room of William Tisberry, discharged for refusing to take the oath.

In January, 1660, James Snelling, Quaker, was taken from his house at Guildford, and committed to the White Lion Prison, Southwark, and there placed among the felons, with seventy other Quakers from different parts of Surrey, thirty-two of whom were tried on October 30, 1662, for obstinate refusal to repair unto a church or chapel, and being present at an unlawful assembly or conventicle, and were sentenced to be imprisoned for three months, and after that time to abjure the realm or be proceeded against as felons.—"Sufferings of the Quakers," vol. i., p. 690.

125. O. THOMAS . TOMPSON = A castle.

R. OF . GILFORD . 1657 = A woolsack.

Thomas Tompson was apprenticed to Mathew Birchell, and served him seven full years, taking up his freedom therefrom.

He was elected "approved man" three times, viz., 1665, 1666, 1667, and Bailiff of the town, 1664.

In 1608 (6 Jac. I.) the entry occurs in the Guildford constitution-book relative to this issuer, probably of his father:

"Thomas Tompson, the elder one, of the Corporation of Guildford, disfranchised, and dismissed from the fellowship of the Mayor and approved men during such tyme as he shall keep a comon alehouse or tiplingehouse."

126. O. THOMAS . TOMPSON = A castle.

R. OF . GILLFORD . 1657 = A woolsack.

The only difference between this issue and the last occurs in the spelling of the word "Gilford" or "Gillford," one being with only one "L," the other having two.

In January, 1660, Thomas Thompson, Quaker, was taken from his bed at Guildford and committed to the White Lion Prison, Southwark, and there placed among the felons, with seventy other Quakers from different parts of Surrey, thirty-two of whom were tried on October 30, 1662, for obstinate refusal to repair unto a church or chapel, and being present at an unlawful assembly or conventicle, and were sentenced to be imprisoned for three months, and after that time to abjure the realm or be proceeded against as felons.—"Sufferings of the Quakers," vol. i., p. 690.

R. NEERE . GVILDFORD = A postman with a staff and bag, and wearing a high-crowned hat, and the w on obverse having the centre strokes overlapping each other at their junctions, thus, \overline{W} . (Plate, No. 14.)

The mark \overline{W} is deeply cut in the stonework of Compton Church in several places. Might not this refer to this issuer, as he is expressly mentioned as residing "neere" Guildford?

129. O. THOMAS . WILMOT = $\begin{smallmatrix} W. \\ T . A. \end{smallmatrix}$

R. NEERE . GVILDFORD = A postman with a staff and bag, wearing a low-crowned hat and bag-wig. (Plate, No. 15.)

This man appears to have been a tenant of the testator, and residing in a tenement adjoining the inn known by the sign of the Crane in 1672. It is, therefore, possible that the bird on the field of the obverse is intended to represent a crane rather than an ostrich, as stated by Boyne.

The following entries occur in Kingston parish register :

1664. July 11, Joseph Briant and Frances Sherbon married.

1671. May 22, Frances Briant, dau. of Joseph Bryan, buried.

1674. September 14, Joseph Bryan, a chandler, buried.

$\frac{1}{4}$

For the will of Stephen Feilder, see No. 143.

This issuer appears to have been either a son or a brother of the testator. It is impossible to determine which, as his token does not bear any date.

In the Feet of Fines, Hilary, 20th and 21st Charles II., 1667-68, we read :

"John Feilder, plaintiff, and Rich. Bennett and Maria, his wife defendants, of four acres of land and six acres of pasture, with appurtenances, in Kingston-on-Thames, the said Rich. and Maria granting the same to the said John, who pays £60."

And again, Michaelmas, 14th Charles II., 1662 :

"John Feilder, plaintiff, and Sackford Gonson, Esq., defendant, of one messuage, one garden, and one orchard, and purtenances, in Kingston-on-Thames, granted to the said John, who pays £60 sterling."

In the Hearth-tax of 15th Charles II., 188-481, there is an entry of John Feilder, of Kingston, for four hearths.

In the Feet of Fines, Surrey, Michaelmas, 26th Charles II., 1674, is the record of :

"John Feilder, plaintiff, and Sackford Gonson and Hesta his wife, defendants, of seven acres of ground and four acres of pasture, with appurtenances, in the parish of Kingston-on-Thames, the same being granted to John Feilder, who pays £60 sterling."

And again, Michaelmas, 27th Charles II., 1675 :

"John Delamain and Maria his wife, plaintiffs, and John Feilder and Anna his wife, defendants, of one messuage, two barns, one garden, and one orchard, with appurtenances, in Kingston-on-Thames, the same being granted to said John and Maria, who pay £60 sterling."

This man appears to have been a Quaker, as a distress was levied upon him and three others for an attendance at a meeting at Kingston on May 12, 1670, amounting to £23 1s. 10d. In 1667 the same person was committed to prison for refusing to answer upon oath.—"Sufferings of the Quakers," vol. i., pp. 694, 698.

Mention is made in the records of the Corporation of the City of London in January, 1649, of a John Fielder as printer to the Parliament of England, and a Quaker.

In 1659 a petition, very largely signed, was presented to Parliament by Quakers, praying for redress for the 140 of their brethren then in prison, and for the 1,900 who were at that time under persecution for conscience' sake. To this petition the name of John Fielder was appended.

At the Will Office (book Pye, folio 6) is the will of Stephen Feilder, of Kingston-on-Thames, mercer :

"He bequeaths to Sarah, his wife, in recompense of her faithful love and careful industry, all his messuages, houses, and lands, with their appurtenances, in Kingston ; his messuage, tenement, or inn, called or knowne by the name or signe of the Crane, and its appurtenances, and four tenements thereunto adjoining (now in the several tenures of Robert Ballard, Samuel Hobbes, George Walter, James Gould, and William Carpenter), to Stephen, his eldest son, and his heirs for ever, on condition that he pays to Thomas and Samuel Fielder (his sons) and Sarah (his daughter) £10 each yearly for the term of their natural lives. Other messuages in Kingston he leaves to John Feilder, fourth son, and to James Feilder, second son ; all his personal estate to Sarah, his wife, whom he appoints sole executrix. Trustees, his brother, John Feilder, brother-in-law, James Knowles, and faithful friends, James Hargrave, gent., and Francis Holden. Dated Dec., 1672. Proved Jan. 28, 1673."

In the Feet of Fines, Easter, Surrey, 16th Charles II., 1664, is the entry :

"Stephen Feilder, plaintiff, and Edward Blackfan, defendant, of one messuage, one yard, one garden, with appurtenances, in Kingston-on-Thames, granted to the said Stephen, who pays £60 sterling."

In the Hearth-tax, 15th Charles II., 188-481, is the entry :

"Stephen Felder, of Kingston, for three hearths."

In the Feet of Fines, Surrey, Michaelmas, 23rd Charles II. (1671), we read :

"Jeremiah Hollis and Anna his wife, plaintiffs, and John Hollis, sen., and Margaret his wife, defendants, of one messuage, three cottages, three barns, and three gardens, with appurtenances, in Kingston-on-Thames, the same being granted to the said Jeremiah and Anne, who pay £60 sterling."

And again, Michaelmas, 28th Charles II. (1676) :

"James Smallpeice, sen., plaintiff, and John Hollis and Elizabeth his wife, defendants, of one barn and three gardens, with appurtenances in Kingston, the same John and Elizabeth granting the same to the said James, who pays £40 sterling."

In the Hearth-tax of 15th Charles II., 188-481, is the entry of Mr. John Hollis, eight hearths. The prefix "Mr." shows the issuer to be a man of importance.

In the Feet of Fines, Easter, 1st William and Mary, is the entry :

"Robert Bandford, plaintiff, and John Hollis and Elizabeth his wife, defendants, of one messuage, one cottage, one barn, one stable, and one garden in Kingston, for which the said Robert paid £60 sterling."

There is also note of a suit between John Hollis and William Elsey, gent., concerning certain tithes in Kingston, entered in the Exchequer decrees, 20th of Charles II.

The issuer appears to have been a Quaker, as in a distress issued at Kingston in 1670 he, with three others, appears as attending meeting, and goods were taken from the four of them amounting to £17. He was also imprisoned in 1681 in the Marshalsea for non-payment of tithes.

The following entries also relate to him, Feet of Fines, Surrey, Michaelmas, 14th Charles II., 1662 :

"Tobias Yates, plaintiff, and John Hollis and Margaret his wife, defendants, of one messuage, one yard, with appurtenance, in Kingston-on-Thames, the said John and Margaret granting the same to the said Tobias for 50 years, who pays £60 sterling."

Exchequer Bills, Surrey, Charles II., No. 324 :

"Giles Bevell, Gent., versus John Williams, John Hollis, and others, concerning the tithes within the vicarage of Kingston-on-Thames."

Is assessed at 4 hearths in Charles II.'s time.

R. IN . KINGSTON . ON . THAMES = The Cordwainers' Arms.

In the Feet of Fines, Surrey, Michaelmas, 16th Charles II. (1664), is the entry :

"Stephen Hubard and Elizabeth his wife, plaintiffs, and Thomas Hayward, Gent., and Barbara his wife, defendants, of one messuage, one stable, one garden, with appurtenances, in Kingston, the said Thomas and Barbara granting the same to the said Stephen and Elizabeth, who pay £60 sterling."

And again, Easter, 22nd Charles II. (1670):

"Stephen Hubbard, plaintiff, John Kidd and Frances his wife, defendants, of one messuage, one barn, one stable, one garden, one orchard, and 20 acres of land, with appurtenances in Hooke in the parish of the Kingston-on-Thames, John and Frances granting the same to the said Stephen and Elizabeth, who pay £60 sterling."

Also, Easter, 18th Charles II. (1666):

"Richard Hammond, plaintiff, and Stephen Hubbard and Elizabeth his wife, defendants, of one messuage, one garden, with appurtenances, in Kingston-on-Thames, the said Stephen and Elizabeth granting the same to Richard, who pays £60 sterling."

In the Hearth-tax, Surrey, 15th Charles II., 188-481, are these entries:

"Stephen Hubburt, of Kingston, 5 hearths." Later on he is assessed at 10 hearths.

1653. Feby. 18, John, son of Stephen Hubbard, christened.

1655. April 15, Stephen Hubbard buried.

On May 12, 1670, this person was cruelly beaten, with others, by soldiers, to keep them out of their meeting-house, and a distress was levied upon him, with John Fielder and two others, for attendance at meeting, goods worth £23 1s. 10d. being taken from the four of them.—"Sufferings of the Quakers," vol. i., p. 698.

In 1685 he was fined £20 per month for absence from the national worship.—Ut supra, p. 706.

187-479, 14th Charles II., in the schedule of persons exempted from payment of hearth-tax, Charles Salter the sum of £2 4s., for the half-year ending Michaelmas, 1662, for five hearths and stoves, is declared.

Mem.—The word “stoves” is of unusual occurrence in this schedule, and this man is termed one of the “head burroughs of Kingston, and a constable that has made default in bringinge their moneys.” The tax, therefore, did not probably refer to his own property, but to that for which he was a collector.

He was assessed at six hearths, Hearth-tax, Charles II.

In 1686 Charles Salter was an Alderman of the borough under the new charter of James II., dated August 28, 1685.

In Kingston parish church, Manning and Bray record the following inscription : “In expectation of a joyful and glorious resurrection, here lye interred the bodies of Charles Salter, Gent., and Martha his wife. He had issue by her 19 children, and was seven times Bailiff of this Town. He died the 12th of March, A.D. 1710, in the 83rd year of his age. And God took her the 9th of February preceding, aged 77 years. They lived a pattern of conjugal affection, and when one was gone, this world was no longer pleasing to the other.”—Manning’s “Hist.,” vol. iii., p. 377.

This was evidently the tomb of the issuer of the token.

The Buck's Head Inn, which is situated at Upper Mitcham, and on the east side of the highroad to London, was formerly an old-fashioned house ; but it was enlarged, much modernized, and altered to its present condition about forty years ago. In the seventeenth century it was part of the estate of the visitation family of Smythe, of Mitcham, for it appears from an inquisition held at Southwark, co. Surrey, May 8, 15 Car. I., 1639, after the death of George Smythe, of Mitcham, Esq., who was buried at Mitcham, October 12, 1638, that he died seized, amongst other property, of a message in Mitcham called by the sign and known by the name of "the Bucke's Head, now or late in the tenure of George Fisher." George Fisher and Joane Hethersall were married at Mitcham, October 14, 1616. It should be noted that the crest of the Smythe family of Mitcham is, a buck's head gules, attired argent. It would seem that David Morgan occupied the Buck's Head on February 23, 1672-3, the annexed entry occurring under that date amongst the baptisms in the parish register :

"Rebekah, the daughter of one Thomas Blisset, whose wife being in a journey was deliue'd at the Buck's Head."

There is little doubt that the following item from the overseers' accounts for the year 1673 refers to the above :

"Pd Morgan for keeping a woman brought to bed in his house, 01 05 00."

The seven entries given below are all of the name of Morgan that occur in the parish register during the seventeenth century. The issuer of the token is probably the David Morgan buried on March 11, 1695-6, but there does not appear to be any will or administration for him in the P.C.C. or the Surrey courts.

Extracts from Mitcham parish register :

Baptism. 1671. November 14, Margaret, the daughter of David Morgan.

 The issuer is assessed at two hearths, 17th Charles II.

Hearth-tax, 25th and 26th Charles II., No. 188-496 :

And again, in the Feet of Fines, Surrey, Michaelmas, 21st Charles II. :

No. 187-479, 14th Charles II., in the schedule of persons exempted from payment of hearth-tax :

R. OF . RIGATE = M . C.

 $\frac{1}{4}$

No. 187-479, 14th Charles II., in the schedule of persons exempted from payment of hearth-tax is the name of :

"Margaret Catt, four hearths (not able to pay)."

221. O. THOMAS . HEATHFEILD = A sugar-loaf.
R. OF . REYGATE . IN . SVRY = T . H.

 $\frac{1}{4}$

In the Feet of Fines, Surrey, Michaelmas, 21st Charles II., is the record of :

"John Barnard, plaintiff, and John Cuddington and Elizabeth his wife, and Thos. Heathfield and Alice his wife, defendants, concerning one messuage, one barn, one garden, one orchard, with appurtenances in Reigate, granted to John Barnard, who pays £100 sterling."

The issuer is named in the Hearth-tax Rolls, 15th Charles II., No. 188-481, but the entry is almost illegible. And also those in 25th, 26th Charles II., for five hearths.

No. 187-479, 14th Charles II., in the schedule of persons exempted from payment of hearth-tax, Thomas Heathfield is exempted for four hearths.

RICHMOND.

222. O. RICHARD . CAMPION . 1668 = The Tallowchandlers' Arms.
R. OF . RICHMOND . TALOW . CHANLR = HIS HALF PENY.

This was discovered during the excavation in Duke Street, Richmond, Surrey, and is in the possession of Mr. Cockburn.

223. O. LVKE . CHYNNALL = A windmill.

R. IN . RICHMOND . 1657 = L . E . C.

$\frac{1}{4}$

This was discovered during the recent excavations in Duke Street, Richmond, Surrey, at a depth of eight feet, together with some pottery, and is in the possession of Mr. Cockburn.

"One Luke Shynnel occupied a seat in the church in 1650," according to "Richmond Notes," March, 1865.

The following entry appears in the parish registers of Isleworth :

"Buried at Isleworth, Dec. 27, 1642, Katherine, wife of Luke Chinar."

"Married at same, Feb. 6, 1644-5, Luke Chinar and Rose —."

224. A variety is dated 1667.

$\frac{1}{4}$

225. O. MICHAEL . CLAYLE . OF = A Catherine wheel.

R. RICHMOND . TVRNER . 1669 = HIS HALF PENY.

$\frac{1}{2}$

It is suspected that Clayle is a misprint for Flayle. Michael Flayle was a somewhat important man in Richmond, Surrey. The name appears in the Hearth-tax Rolls (circa 1670), and in the Surrey Poll Book for 1705.

226. O. WILL . FARLEY . AT . Y^E . READ . LION = A lion rampant.

R. IN . RICHMOND . IN . SVRREY = W . M . F.

$\frac{1}{2}$

One Edward Farley, of Richmond, died 1660, leaving a son, William, whose wife was Mary, and who died December 13, 1671.

Mary, the daughter, was baptized in Richmond Church October 2, 1665.

The Will Office contains the administration, February 7, 1673-4, of :

"William Farley, of the King's Commissary Court of Surrey, to John Antill, husband of Edih, sister of the deceased."

William Farley appears to have witnessed the will of Robert King, of Richmond, dated September 5, 1668. See No. 229.

In the Hearth-tax, 15th Charles II., 188-481, is the charge for :

"Will Farley, of Richmond, twelve hearths."

The position of R . E . K is contrary to the usual rule, R . K.

228. A variety is dated 1667.

$\frac{1}{2}$

229. O. ROBERT . KING . AT . THE = Bust of Charles II.

R. GOD . SAVE . THE . KING = R . M . K.

$\frac{1}{4}$

Obviously Robert King kept the King's Head Inn at the Ferry, perhaps on the site of the present inn of the same sign. About twenty years previously one William Kinge occupied the Richmond Ferry under the Protector's commissioners, at an annual rent of one mark.

He died October 19, 1688.

In the Will Office is the will of Robert King, dated September 5, 1668, of Richmond, victualler :

"He bequeaths to his wife, Mary, all that messuage now in the occupation of Thos. Barnes, commonly called by the name or sign of the Waterman Arms. To his brother John's four children, John, Mary, Elizabeth, and William, £5 each. To his sister, Margaret Silver, £10. To his cousin, Elizabeth Coydell, £5. To his cousin, Anne Buckwell, £5, all the premises in Richmond to Mary his wife, for her life, and at her death to his brother, John King, and Elizabeth his wife. Executrix, Mary, his wife. Witnesses, Thos. Hallowell, William Farley, and Walter Smith."

In the Hearth-tax of 15th Charles II., No. 188-481, is the charge of :

"Robert Kirg, of Richmond, eight hearths."

230. O. IAMES . KNOWLES = The Drapers' Arms.

231. O. IAMES . KNOWLES = The Drapers' Arms.

The name appears in the Hearth-tax Rolls as of Richmond, Surrey.

232. O. WILLIAM . MARSHAM = The Bakers' Arms.
R. IN . RICHMOND . 1663 = W . S . M. $\frac{1}{4}$

The name appears in the Hearth-tax Rolls as an inhabitant of Richmond, Surrey.

233. O. IOHN . RANDELL . 1668 = The Watermen's Arms.

The name occurs in the Hearth-tax Rolls as an inhabitant of Richmond, Surrey, 25th and 26th Charles II., No. 188-496, for six hearths.

The death is recorded of "John Randall, Watterman," March 12, 1705-6.
 1662. October 9, married at Richmond, John Randell and Sarah Batman.

234. O. IOHN . SKINNER . 1658 = A man making candles.

237. O. THOMAS . GARFORITH = The Turners' Arms.
R. RIPLEY . SVRRY = T . A . G. $\frac{1}{4}$

238. O. THOMAS . GARFORTH = The Arms of Christ's Hospital, London.
R. RIPLEY . SVRRY = T . E . G. $\frac{1}{4}$

The three tokens of Garforth are very extraordinary. We cannot understand why a man in so small a village as Ripley should have issued three tokens, each bearing different coats of arms. We presume when he issued No. 236 he was a bachelor, but Nos. 237, 238 point to two marriages, one with a wife whose initial is A, and the other whose initial is E. Neither of the three tokens is dated, and No. 238 stands in an absolutely unique position in bearing the coat armour of Christ's Hospital, leading us to surmise that the issuer was educated at that magnificent foundation, and gratefully adopted on his token its armorial bearings.

"Margaret, daughter of William Hawkins, buried 21 March, 1657-8."

Sussex.

THE Sussex tokens are a series which possess considerable interest and importance. In appearance they present no very special feature ; most are of the ordinary shape, two only being heart-shaped and one octagonal. In devices but few present arms or crests of private individuals, and very many the ordinary trade arms and signs. Speaking types occur in tokens of Horsham, Uckfield and Chichester, in which a heart, a swan, and a hart are the punning devices.

In some instances the spelling of the place-name is in a local phonetic form, as at Arundell, and by this we are enabled to verify change in village pronunciation. Many of the tokens were issued from places which are now small and insignificant villages ; but in one noticeable instance, that of Brighton, the relative importance of the village in 1668, to the magnificent watering-place of 1890, affords remarkable evidence of the rapid growth and increasing importance of a town which, but a short while since, was a mere fishing village.

Eastbourne is another similar instance, analogous, perhaps, to the growth of Clapham in Surrey. These places in the seventeenth century issued their one or two tokens only, but have grown to gigantic proportions, whilst places which issued many tokens in the early days have from various reasons dwindled down to mere villages. The thirty-three tokens of Chichester, eleven of Midhurst, and ten of Petworth, may be referred to as illustrative of these remarks. The persistence of local names is, however, one of the main features of this series ; and, from the valuable notes appended to the tokens, much important information on Sussex families and village life will be obtained. Nearly fifty tokeners announce the fact of their residence in the county upon their tokens. This is the largest proportion in any county of the United Kingdom of tokens bearing the county name, and it reveals that love of their home that still distinguishes Sussex men. The attribution of two of the Eastbourne tokens is somewhat doubtful, but the fact of their having been found in the near neighbourhood is somewhat strong evidence for their removal from Lincolnshire and attribution to Sussex. The token of Peeter Sqvier, of Steining, No. 164, would suggest the question of hereditary chemical knowledge in that family. The coincidence of both name and trade is very remarkable.

The leading authority on Sussex archæology, Mr. Frederick Sawyer, F.S.A., has, with very great kindness, provided the notes to this series. No person is more qualified than Mr. Sawyer to speak with authority on the antiquities of Sussex, and very much time has been devoted by him to searching out information respecting the issuers of the tokens. Reference has also been made to a privately printed pamphlet on Sussex tokens by Mr. James Lowe-Warren (1888), and to the collections of the Sussex Archæological Society. Notes to which the word "Warren" or the letters S.A.C. are attached are taken from these latter sources. The Editor tenders his warmest thanks to Mr. Sawyer for his most able and valuable assistance, and also expresses his indebtedness to the other sources to which he has alluded.

The Rector (Rev. J. Bowden) kindly sends extracts from parish registers :

1681. William Bingham was buried Oct. 27.

1695. Henry Husband (sic) of Elizabeth Bingham was Buryed Sept. 8.

He adds : A farm in this parish, now in the possession of Lord Arthur Hill, of Wakehurst Place, and rented by Mr. Bannister, of Hayward's Heath, bearing the name of Upper Lodge Farm in the Ordnance Map, is also called Bingham's Green Farm, and was, no doubt, therefore the old residence of the Bingham family.

James Morris was Mayor in 1642, during the siege (Dallaway and Cartwright, "History of Rape of Arundel," Part I, Vol. II., p. 207). He had £536 compensation for sufferings under Royalist expulsion (see token No. 6).—Tierney, "History of Arundel," p. 715.

The dialectal form of the place-name "Arndell" on this token is worthy of special notice, being a dissyllable and not a trisyllable, as one would suppose. This has come down from the time of the Domesday Survey, where it appears as "Harrundel," but now become "Harndell" or "Arndell."

N.B.—The late Vicar (Rev. A. S. Thompson, B.D.) states that the names of Carter, Charman, Drewett, Morris, and Penfold are still common in the town (vide Nos. 5, 6, 8, 10, and 14).

 T . M . M. 2
R. BATTELL . APOTHECARYE = HIS HALF PENY. 2

This curious name is no doubt derived from the Hundred of Manhood, in West Sussex (formerly Manwoode, or Meonude), which was probably part of the Jutish settlement in East Hants, known as the province of the Meanwara, and given by King Wulfhere to Æthelwalch (King of Sussex) on his conversion.—Bede, "Ecclesiastical History," Book IV., c. xiii.

23. O. GILLES . WATTS . OF = The Mercers' Arms. 1
R. BATELL . IN . SVSSEX = G . W. 4

In 1689 Giles Watts, of Battle, left by will £50 for charitable purposes. He was an ancestor of James and William Watts, Esqs., of Battle.

Hollington (Sussex) parish register records:

"Dec. 5, 1636. Married Gyles Watts, of the parish of Battle, and Dorothy Yelding, of Hollington."—Cit. S. A. C. xxi. 139.

Lower ("Sussex Worthies," p. 232) gives a biographical notice of a descendant, Dr. Giles Watts, baptized at Battle in 1725, and died there in 1792. His father, Giles Watts (perhaps a son of the issuer) in 1722 married Jane Relf, of a gentle family, at Ashburnham.

R. BEXLE . IN . SVSSEX . 65 = S . I. 4

The Vicar (Rev. C. L. S. Clarke, B.C.L.) kindly sends the following notes from the parish registers:

1670. John, son of Samuel and Mildred Jury, bapt. 30 June.
 1670. John, son of Samuel and Mildred Jury, buried 15 Nov.
 1671. Hannah, daughter of Samuel and Mildred Jury, bapt. 17 Sept.
 1674. Samuel, son of Samuel and Mildred Jury, bapt. 25 Jan.
 1692. Samuel Jury buried March 7th. Affidavit brought the 10th. (This was no doubt the issuer.)

The spelling on this token curiously preserves the old pronunciation and spelling, which in the Domesday Survey is Bexlel.

BRIGHTHELMSTONE (now BRIGHTON).

29. O. IOHN . BROOKER . OF = I . A . B.

R. BRIGHTHELMSTON = 1660.

John Brooker is described in the Court Rolls in 1692 as "piscator," and was the fourth out of five generations bearing the same Christian name and surname. He was baptized at Brighton in 1617, and buried there in 1698. At the same place in 1656 he married Margaret Wood, but she had died prior to 1692, in which year he surrenders his copyhold property to the use of himself for life; next to his wife Mary for life; then to James Brooker, of Brighthelmstone, cooper, for life; and afterwards to James Brooker, aged nine, son of before-mentioned James Brooker. His will, dated 1688, was proved at Lewes in 1698.

30. O. HENRY . FORSTER . IN = A still.

R. BRIGHTHELMSTON = H . E . F.

$\frac{1}{4}$

Henry Forster is no doubt to be identified with the person of this name who in 1674 was one of the witnesses to the will of Captain Nicholas Tetttersell, in whose vessel Charles II. escaped to the Continent in 1651. (See S. A. C. xxxii. 100.) If this conjecture be correct, the token throws an interesting light on the history of the Old Ship Hotel (the oldest inn in Brighton), and shows that Tetttersell not only owned the "Old Ship," but kept it also, sending for Forster, his distiller, to witness his will. At a Court Baron held for Brighthelmstone Manor on October 22, 1708, the death of Mary, wife of Henry Forster, and daughter of Peter Marden, is presented, and Samuel Forster, her youngest son, admitted tenant according to the custom of the manor.

31. O. JOHN . GUNTOR . OF = Arms of Gunter of Racton : three sinister gantlets.

R. BRIGHTHELMSTONE = I . G .

The name of a John Gunter appears in the Subsidy Roll of 1621 as of this place. He was probably father to the issuer.

A branch of the Gunter family of Racton had been settled at Brighton from the early part of the seventeenth century, if not earlier. John Gunter occurs in the Subsidy 1621 (S. A. C. ix. 78), and was admitted to a cottage in North Street, Brighton, in 1624. At a court held for the manor April 1, 1667, his death (in 1666) was presented, and his youngest son, Edmund, admitted as customary heir. The issuer was no doubt an elder son, John Gunter, who died about 1669, leaving a widow, Elizabeth, a son John, and two daughters, Susanna Burton, wife of James Burton, and Mary Freeland. The widow at some date between 1670 and 1674 married Captain Nicholas Tetttersell. (See S. A. C. xxxii. 100 and 101.) It is perhaps more than a mere coincidence that Colonel Gunter, of Racton, arranged with Tetttersell for the escape of Charles II. (ib. 83.)

32. O. JOHN . PEERSY . OF = A ship.

R. BRIGHTHELMSTONE = I . G . P.

$\frac{1}{4}$

Amongst the signatures to a petition of the "Fishermen Inhabitantes of the distressed Towne of Brighthelmstone" to Parliament, dated March 4, 1609, occurs "John Pearsey" (Harl. MS., No. 6,838, p. 216). At the Halimote Court for Brighthelmstone Manor on August 20, 1659, we find "John Pearsey the elder" amongst the homage, but on August 26, 1668, at another court, the death of John Peirse is presented, and Gabriel his youngest son admitted. John Peersy (the issuer) was probably the elder son of the before-named, and in conjunction with his wife Elizabeth, at a court held for the manor on August 21, 1671, surrendered his "shop and land under the Cliffe near the Eastgate to the use of Henry Peirse, third son of the said John and Elizabeth." The "MS. Records of the Society of Friends (volume 'Friends' Sufferings') for the S.E. District" contain the following interesting note relating to him :

"1659.—In this yeare also Nicholas Beard for speakeing to a Priest after he had done his Sermon was haled out of the Steeplehouse of Brighthelmston by John Persy, Robert Baker and others of the Towne by the hair of the head and Evilly entreated amongst them, for bareing Witness against their Worship being mixed with men's Traditions, and Not according to the Scriptures of Truth or Commands of Christ.

"It is observable allso Notwithstanding the Rage and fury of the Inhabitants of that Towne, against all friends to Truth, yet the Truth was Stronger and could not be hindred from Takeing Root in the hearts of some of them, and Particularly John Persy Who was a Principall Actor in what is before Related, who came in Some time after to be Convinced and Dyed in the yeare 1679 and was Buryed among friends in their Burying ground at Rottingdean" (pp. 30 and 31).

BROADWATER.

33. O. WILLIAM . ROBISON = A hand holding a pair of shears.

R. OF . BROADWATER = W . M . R.

$\frac{1}{4}$

Mr. A. J. Fenton, late of Worthing, but now of Staines, has kindly searched the parish registers by permission of the vicar, and says the name occurs from 1559 to 1678 as Robinson, Robynson, Robertson, Robison and Robisonn. On March 8, 1678, is the burial of "Willm Robisonn," probably the issuer.

34. O. ROBERT . TVRNAGAIN . IN = HIS HALF PENY.

R. BROADWATER IN . SVSSEX = R . S . T. 1669.

$\frac{1}{2}$

Mr. A. J. Fenton has also kindly searched the parish register, Court Rolls, and Subsidy Lists, as to the Turnagaine family, which was very numerous from 1559 onwards. The parish register records the baptism on Sept. 3, 1626, of Robert, son of William Turnagain, the elder, and no doubt the issuer. He was buried on May 21, 1679. His wife's name was Susan, and the parish register records the baptism of three children of Robert and Susan, viz. : 1669, Dec. 29, Mary ; 1673, April 28, Elizabeth ; and 1675, Dec. 16, Thomas, the latter, however, being buried on Sept. 3, 1676. The letters " R. S. T. " thus stand for " Robert and Susan Turnagain." Robert Turnagain appears amongst the homage at a Court Baron for Broadwater Manor on Oct. 22, 1678, and at a Court Leet for the Tithings of Broadwater, Worthing and Durrington, on Oct. 2, 1671, he appears as a juror, being described as having been headborough or tithing-man (decimarius) for the past year. At a Court Baron on Oct. 2, 1676, is a presentment of a surrender of a cottage, next the churchyard at Broadwater, to the use of Mary, daughter of Robert Turnagain and Susan his wife, and the heirs of her body, with remainder to Elizabeth Turnagain, another daughter of Robert and Susan, and the heirs of her body. Mary Turnagain, aged eight, was admitted, and Robert her father appointed her guardian. There is a gap in the Court Rolls, but it seems that Mary died without heirs, and that Elizabeth married one Ambrose Martin, as we find from the proceedings at a Court Baron on Oct. 16, 1725, an admission of Thomas Moor, of East Grinstead, to the property, on surrender of Ambrose Martin and Elizabeth his wife.

$\frac{1}{4}$

36. O. EDWARD . AVSTEN = A tallowchandler. E . C . A.

R. OF . BVRWASH . 1669 = HIS HALF PENY.

$\frac{1}{2}$

The late Rev. J. Coker Egerton, M.A., Rector, kindly searched the parish registers and account books. In the baptisms of 1635 is "Edward Austen, the son of Edward Austen and Anne his wife, was baptized October 13." It is uncertain, therefore, whether these tokens were issued by father or son, or one by each of them. The oldest existing parochial account-book begins in 1673, in which year Edward Austen is assessed to the ability-tax "for the house of Correction, Goale and mamed soldiers and other charitable uses," at 6d., the highest assessment being that of Edward Polhill, Esq., at 6s.

The signature, Edward Austen, appears among those of the auditors of the parochial accounts till 1686, when it ceases, its place being supplied by that of Thomas Austen, who on Oct. 3, 1687, married Francisca More, and was for many years churchwarden of the parish. The burial of "Edward Austen, senr." is registered on Feb. 8, 1722, but an "Edwardus Austen filius Edwardi" had been baptized on July 21, 1661; the former was therefore probably the second Edward Austen, born 1635. Edward Austen married Sarah Nepeker (both of Burwash parish), on April 25, 1723, by license.

R. IN . CHAYLEY . IN . SVSEX = I . R . C.

The Rev. F. R. Hepburn, M.A., Rector, has kindly searched the parish registers, and sends the following extracts :

- Baptism. 1662. Thomas, y^e sonne of John Cumbridge and Rose his wife,
 Nov. 20.
 Baptism. 1678. John, the soun of John Combridge, August 27 day.

 Baptism. 1695. Robert, son of John Combridge and Elizabeth his wife, May 30,
 „ 1697. Christopher, son of John Combridge, deceased, and Elizabeth

 Burial. 1662. Thomas, y^e sonne of John Cumbridge.
 „ 1669. Rose, y^e wife of John Cumbridge, May y^e 10th.
 „ 1670. Elizabeth, y^e wife of John Combridge, Sept^r 6.
 „ 1687. Anne, a young child of John Combridge, Dec^r 1.
 „ 1696. John Combridge, March 16.
 „ 1697. John Combridge, Shopkeeper, June 18.

The initials “I. R. C.” clearly stand for “John and Rose Combridge.” If it was his wife Elizabeth who died in 1670, then he must have married a third time, and we may probably identify the John Combridge baptized in 1678 as his son, and the issuer as buried in 1697, especially as he is designated “Shopkeeper.”

The parish registers of St. Peter-the-Great (Subdeanery), Chichester, record the baptism of “Jone, daughter of Mr. Richard Ayling, on Sept. 11th, 1664.”—Burrell MS., 5,698 Addl., p. 395.

$\frac{1}{4}$

We find in “A Catalogue of Tavernes in tenne Shires about London,” by John Taylor, London, 1636:

“Chichester hath these Tavernes. . . . Thomas Ball, Matthew Ball.”

These two may have been in partnership.

Thomas Ball was Mayor of Chichester in 1643.—Dallaway, “History of Chichester,” p. 166.

In the Subsidy Return for Chichester in 1621, under “The Pallant,” occurs:

“Mrs. — Ball, widdow, in goods £4, assessed at 4s.”—S. A. C. xxiv. 77.

Amongst the “Sessors” for the subsidy in 1621 we find “Thomas ffarington in goods £10,” assessed at 10s.—S. A. C. xxiv. 76.

In the Assessment for Hearth-money in 1670 we find under West Streete, Chichester, "Richard Godleman, for two hearths"; and under South Streete, "Thomas Godman, for three hearths."

The tree may be intended for an olive-tree, the issuer intending a Scriptural punning allusion to his own name.—Cf. Psalm lii. 9.

49. O. IOHN . HATCH . OF = A man making candles.

R. CHICHESTER . 1665 = I . H. 1

Augustine Hitchcocke was one of the Commissioners in the Subsidy of 1621, and was assessed on £4 in goods to pay 4s.—S. A. C. xxiv. 76.

In the Hearth-tax Returns for 1670 occurs :

"Anno Dom., 1664. James, the sonn of Robert Hitchcock and Joan his wife, was born the 14 of May in the year above written."

"Joseph, sonn of Robert Hitchcock, etc., 1667."

Chichester was formerly celebrated for its needles, but by 1725 the number of needle-makers was reduced to one.—Spershott's "Memoirs of Chichester in the Eighteenth Century."—S. A. C. xxx. 149, 150.

Robert Hetchcocke occurs in the Hearth-tax Return for 1670 under St. Pancras parish without the Eastgate.—S. A. C. xxiv. 82.

62. O. THOMAS . SPATEHVRS = HIS HALF PENY.

R. IN . CHICHESTER . 1667 = A stocking.

$\frac{1}{2}$

He lived in North Street.

Thomas Spatehurst probably died before 1670, as we find in Hearth-tax Return, 1670, under North Streete, "Widdow Spatehurst assessed for three hearths."—S. A. C. xxiv. 84.

63. O. WILLIAM . SWAN = A swan.

R. OF . CHICHESTER . 1668 = HIS HALF PENY. W. M . S.

67. Another, with the name of the town IN CHIRHESTER.

$\frac{1}{4}$

68. Another reads IN CHESTER.

All these are evidently from the same die altered; what blunderers the die-sinkers were! No such name as Valer is to be found at Chester.

The issuer was Mayor of Chichester in 1666 and 1676.

The parish registers of St. Peter-the-Great (Subdeanery) Chichester, record the burial, on March 24, 1688, of Mrs. Elizabeth Vallor.—Burrell MS., 5,698 Addl., p. 392.

In the Hearth-tax Return, 1670, we find, under North Streete, Alderman (Thomas) Vallor with seven hearths.—S. A. C. xxiv. 83.

He was Mayor in 1667.

In Hearth-tax Return, 1670, we find, under North Streete, Mr. Richard Younge having eleven hearths.—S. A. C. xxiv. 83.

CLIFF.

- 73.
- O.*
- MARY . AKEHVRST . IN . THE = HER HALF PENY.

R. CLEFT . NEARE . LVEIST = M . A . 1667. $\frac{1}{2}$

The issuer was probably a widow when she issued her token. She was a member of the then new sect called Quakers, to the great displeasure of her husband, who treated her very brutally for her heresy. For an account of her sufferings for conscience' sake see S. A. C. xvi.

- 74.
- O.*
- RICH . WHITE . IN . THE = A hammer.

R. CLIFT . NERE . LEWIS = R . S . W. $\frac{1}{4}$

- 75.
- O.*
- RICHARD . WHITE . BRAZIER . IN = A hammer. R . W.

R. Y^E . CLIFE . NEARE . LEWES . 1668 = HIS HALFE PENY. $\frac{1}{2}$

A curious pamphlet (published in 1670) on the persecutions of the Nonconformists, reprinted in Horsfield's "History and Antiquities of Lewes," Vol. I., app. p. xxv. mentions "Richard White, brasier . . . of the Cliffe near Lewes," fined 50s. for attending a religious service.

CRAWLEY.

- 76.
- O.*
- RALPH . PATTRICKE = A harp.

R. OF . CRWLY . IN . SVSSEX = R . A . P. $\frac{1}{4}$

The Rector (the Rev. J. B. Lennard, M.A.) has kindly searched the parish registers, and states that on September 18, 1693, is recorded the burial of Ralph Patrick, senior (doubtless the issuer).

The following seven baptisms of children of Ralph Patrick occur :

1659. Judith, Dec. 21

1666. Ralph, May 17.

1667. Henry, Jan. 28.

1669. Amy, Jan. 29.

1690. Hen., Dec. 13.

1691. Eliza, Jan. 3.

1693. Ralph, Sept. 17.

If, as seems probable, the first four were the children of the issuer, then the last three may be children of his son Ralph, baptized in 1666.

CUCKFIELD.

- 77.
- O.*
- EDWARD . BRINCKHVRST = A lion rampant.

R. IN . COVCK . FEILD = E . A . B. $\frac{1}{4}$

Parish registers were kindly searched by Percy Boord, Esq., by kind permission of the Ven. Archdeacon Mount, M.A. (then Vicar) respecting Edward Brinckhurst, but no entries were found of the name.

- 78.
- O.*
- THOMAS . HVRST . OF . CVCKFEILD = The Mercers' Arms.

R. IN . SVSSEX . HIS . HALF . PENY = T . H. $\frac{1}{2}$

The name of Thomas Hurst appears on the Subsidy Roll of 1621 as of this place. He was probably father of the issuer.

No baptism or burial of any Thomas Hurst recorded, but amongst baptisms, 1616, Sept. 29, Roger, son of Thomas and Anne Hurst, and 1618, June 7, John, son of Thomas and Anne Hurst. Mr. Boord supposes these two to be brothers of the issuer, which agrees with Messrs. Smallfield and Ellman's view, that the Thomas Hurst on the Subsidy Roll of 1621 was the father of the issuer. The parish register, however, gives the following curious entry :

"1655, May 29th, Thomas Hurst and Elizabeth Taylor married at Mayfield."

Now the letters "T. A. H." would stand for Thomas and Anne Hurst, so that this would prove the first-mentioned Thomas Hurst to have been the issuer. The baptisms of two children of Thomas and Elizabeth Hurst are recorded, viz.: Elizabeth, born Feb. 28, 1657 (buried Jan. 17, 1659), and John, born July 3, 1659 (buried May 16, 1726). Further burials: 1660, Aug. 4, Elizabeth, wife of Thomas Hurst, and 1677, Nov. 22, Anne Hurst, widow.

79. O. IOHN . STONE 1666 = A griffin segreant.

R. CVCKFFILD . IN . SVSSEX = I . M . S.

$\frac{1}{4}$

The following entries occur in the parish register:

1618. Feb. 4, Elizabeth, daughter of John Stone, shoemaker, baptized.

1628. Dec. 30, Infant son of John Stone buried.

1658. May 28, Elizabeth, wife of John Stone the elder, buried.

" May 21, William Stone buried.

" May 25, Mary, wife of Will. Stone.

[This must be from plague or some most infectious disease.—F. E. S.]

1659. Jan. 14, John, son of Henry and Sarah Stone, baptized.

1673. July 30, Isaak and Jacob, twinne sons of John and Mary Stone, baptized.

1675. July 9, Mary, daughter of John and Mary Stone, baptized.

1677. Aug. 14, Jonathan, son of John and Mary Stone, baptized.

1684. Nov. 21, John Stone buried.

1726. Apr. 23, John Stone—old man—buried.

The initials "I. M. S." (John and Mary Stone) clearly show the issuer to be the second John Stone mentioned in the seventh, eighth and ninth entries, and the first of the name was no doubt his father.

EASTBOURNE.

80. O. WILLIAM . ELIZAB . DONN = A glove.

R. IN . EAST . BOREN . IN . SVSX = HIS HALF PENY.

$\frac{1}{2}$

81. O. IOHN . ELLPHICKE = A sugar-loaf.

R. OF . BORNE . IN . SVSSEX = I . E . E.

$\frac{1}{4}$

The surname Elphick still occurs in Sussex. It is found in the Domesday Survey (under Sussex), as Ælfec, being the Saxon Alphege, or Æelfheah.

82. O. WILLIAM . HALE = 1667.

R. OF . BOYRNE . 1667 = W . A . H.

$\frac{1}{4}$

83. O. CHARLES . LEEDS . OF = The Grocers' Arms.

R. BORNE . MERCER = C . K . L.

It is a matter of conjecture at present whether these two tokens are correctly attributed to Bourne (Lincoln) or to Eastbourne, but we think the weight of argument is in favour of the latter attribution.

EAST GRINSTEAD.

84. O. THOMAS . BODLE . IN = The Mercers' Arms.

R. EAST . GRIMSTED . SVSEX = T . E . B.

$\frac{1}{4}$

There is a hamlet in Hurstmonceux parish known as Bodle Street. In the Parliamentary Survey of Pevensey Manor in 1650, under "Portreeve service rents in Helsham [Hailsham]," occurs "Thomas Bodle of Helsham" (S. A. C. xxiv. 263). The name Bodle was, Mr. Lower suggests, corrupted from Bothel, one of whom in 1397 was witness to an Arlington deed (S. A. C. xxii. 117, 118). Le Bothel is mentioned in the Nonarum Return of 1341 as a parishioner of Hurstmonceux. Thos. Marchant, of Hurstpierpoint, in his Diary, 1715, January 26, refers to "my cousin Bodle of Hailsham" (S. A. C. xxv. 171).

85. O. WILL . CLIFTON . SVSEX = A sugar loaf.
R. IN . EAST . GRIMSTED = W . S . C.

86. O. AT . THE . CATT . IN . EAST = A cat.
R. GREENSTED . 1650 = T . E . P. 1/4

The "Catt" was probably the local term for the Dorset Arms, a not uncommon sign in the neighbourhood, where that noble family had formerly large landed estates. The supporters of the Dorset Arms are two leopards, popularly styled cats, and the inn called the Dorset Arms at Lewes was in 1670 commonly known in the town as "The Cats."

In John Taylor's "Catalogue of Tavernes in tenne Shires about London" (1636), the following note is given under Sussex:

"At East-Greensted Iohn Langridge and Henry Baldwin; the signes at East Greensted are the Crown and the Cat."

Both surnames occur in the Subsidies of 1620 and 1628. John Langridge was assessor in the latter (S. A. C. xx. 171). Presumably Langridge kept the Crown and Baldwin the Cat.

87. O. RICH . PAGE . AND . HEN . SEASTID = A crown.
R. EAST . GRINSTED . IN . SVSSEX = THEIR HALF PENY. 1/2

This issuer may have been the same person who issued the token at Hellingly, and afterwards entered into partnership.

The Crown Inn still exists.

FALMER.

88. O. RICHARD . ALDERTON = A goose flapping its wings.
R. OF . FALLMER . 67 = R . E . A. 1/4

FRAMFIELD.

89. O. THOMAS . PECKHAM . AT = The Grocers' Arms.
R. FRANFIELD . IN . SVSSEX = HIS HALF PENY. 1669. 1/2

It is not improbable that he was a connection of the Rev. John Peckham, Royalist Rector of the neighbouring parish of Horsted Parva, whose living was sequestered by the House of Commons in 1643, and who subsequently practised physic and farmed lands there (S. A. C. xxx. 120, 121).

The name is met with in Framfield at a very early date.—See S. A. C. iv. 299.

FRANT.

90. O. NICOLES . HOSMARE = The Mercers' Arms.
R. OF . FRANT . IN . SVSEX = N . I . H. 1/4

Amongst ten persons burnt at Lewes for heresy on June 22, 1557, we find W. Mainard and Alexander Hosman, his servant (Foxe's "Book of Martyrs."—Cit. S. A. C. xvii. 165).

The parish register, kindly searched by the clerk, Mr. Isaac Wade, records amongst the marriages, "1672, May 30, John E. Hosmar to Sarah Wood, both of this parish," and baptisms: "1676, May 28, John, y^e son of John Hosmar," and "1677, Jany. 14, Thomas, y^e son of John Hosmar."

HAILSHAM.

91. O. SAMVELL . GILLES = S . E . G.
R. OF . HELSHAM . MERCER = 1657. 1/4

The Rev. F. C. Harvey, M.A. (the Vicar), has kindly searched the parish registers and finds recorded:

"A consent of marriage between Samuel Gilles of this parish, mercer, and Elizabeth Winter of Hastings, spinster, was the first time published March 29, 1657; second, April 5, 1657; third, April 12, 1657."

As there is no entry of actual marriage, it probably took place at Hastings; but the baptisms and burials of many of their children are recorded at Hailsham.

The initials of S. E. G. are thus verified as Samuel and Elizabeth Gilles.

92. O. WILLIAM . HARTNVP . OF = The Grocers' Arms.

R. HAILSHAM . IN . SVSSEX = W . E . H.

$\frac{1}{4}$

The parish registers, kindly searched by the Vicar, have amongst the burials:
"Buried William Hartnup the 17th day of September, 1675."

HARTING.

93. O. THO . VALLOR . MERCER = A fox.

R. HARTING . IN . SVSSEX = T . E . V.

$\frac{1}{4}$

HASTINGS.

94. O. AT . THE . MAYDEN . HEAD = A Queen's head.

R. IN . HASTING . 1651 = I . K . F.

HELLINGLY.

95. O. RICHARD . PAGE . 1669 = The King's head crowned.

R. AT . HELLINGLY . IN . SVSSEX = HIS HALFE PENNY.

$\frac{1}{2}$

The Vicar (the Rev. James Farrar, M.A.) has kindly searched the parish books, and finds mention of Richard Page, at Dicker, churchwarden, 1644; Richard Page, jun., 1664, surveyor; three Richard Pages signed as present in 1665, and one of the name in 1666, 1667, 1669, 1670. Then Richard Page signs as surveyor of highways in 1673 and 1675; and again Richard Page is present in 1680 and 1681.

There is still (1888) an inn known as the King's Head.

HENFIELD.

96. O. THOMAS . PILFOLD . AT . 68 = The Mercers' Arms. T . E . P.

R. HENFEILD . IN . SVSSEX = HIS HALF PENY.

$\frac{1}{2}$

The Rev. Divie Robertson, M.A. (late Vicar), kindly searched the parish registers, but could only find the following entries:

"1668. Jane, daughter of Thomas Pilfold and Elizabeth his wife, baptized August the third."

"1672. Ann, daughter of Thomas Pilfold and of Mary his wife, baptized."

There is no record of the death of his wife Elizabeth, or of his second marriage. The initials T. E. P. on the token thus evidently stand for Thomas and Elizabeth Pilfold.

There is a farm named Pilfold Farm at Horsham, from which the family derived their surname. One branch of the family resided in the neighbouring parish of Warnham, the parish register of which gives many particulars. (See S. A. C. xxxiii. 148 and 185.)

Elizabeth Pilfold, of a West Sussex family, married Sir Timothy Shelley, and so became mother of Percy Bysshe Shelley, the poet.

97. O. ELIZABETH . TRVNNELL = 1657.

R. OF . HENEFEILD = I . E . T.

$\frac{1}{4}$

The present Vicar (the Rev. C. S. Dunlop, B.A.) has kindly searched the parish registers, and finds the following entry:

"1627. Elizabeth, daughter of John Trunnell, was baptized August 26."

HORSHAM.

98. O. RICHARD BARNARD = A stick of candles.

R. OF . HORSHAM . 1669 = R . S . B.

$\frac{1}{4}$

In Hearth-tax Return, 1670, occurs, under East Streete, for four hearths.—
Lay Subsidies, Sussex, 191-414, Public Record Office.

No doubt a relative of John Barnard, of Petworth. (See token No. 138.)

99. O. WILLIAM . HAMPER = A man making candles.

R. IN . HORSOM . 1653 = W . S . H.

$\frac{1}{4}$

The Rev. C. J. Robinson, M.A. (Vicar), kindly sends the following extracts from Horsham parish register :

"Baptism. 1661. June 21, Elizabeth, daughter of Wm. Hamper by Sarah."

"Burial. 1702. Sep. 5, William Hamper, householder."

The parish register of West Tarring, Sussex, records the marriage of William Hamper to Susanna Carter on April 16, 1682.—Burrell MS., 5,698 Addl., p. 515.

The initials w. s. h. (William and Sarah Hamper) clearly show the first-named to have been the issuer.

100. O. IOHN . HART . OF = A hart lying under a tree.

R. HORSHAM . SVSSEX . 1666 = I . H.

$\frac{1}{4}$

101. O. IOHN . HIGINGBOTTOM = The Mercers' Arms.

R. IN . HORSOM = I . H.

$\frac{1}{4}$

In Hearth-tax Return, 1670, "Mr. John Higgenbottom, nine hearths."

A Mr. Higanbotham was parson of Plumpton, Sussex, in 1612. (See "Roll of Armour and Furniture of the Clergy," S. A. C. xi. 225.)

Amongst the burials recorded in the parish registers (kindly searched by the Rev. C. J. Robinson, M.A., Vicar) is :

"1679. Feb. 1, John, son of John Higenbottom, gent., a child."

He died in 1685, and bequeathed his shop in East Street, Horsham, "unto Mary, my loving wife."—S. A. C. xxiv. 140.

102. O. IOHN . HINDLY = A hind couchant.

R. IN . HORSHAM . 1666 = I . H.

$\frac{1}{4}$

The parish register records the following baptisms :

1642. John, son of John Hindley, Gent. (by Mary), Jan. 29.

1668. George, son of John Hindley, Gent., Aug. 14.

1678. John, son of John Hindley, Gent., Apl. 15.

—Burrell MS., 5,698 Addl., p. 426.

It is not clear whether the issuer was the one baptized in 1642 ; but this seems not improbable, and if so, he was, doubtless, the father of the second and third above named.

The Rev. C. J. Robinson, M.A. (Vicar), kindly adds two further notes from the parish registers :

"Married. 1666, Oct. 23, John Hindley and Elizabeth Gratwicke, both of this."

"Burial. 1685, Sept. 8th, Elizabeth, wife of John Hindley, gent."

103. O. ROBERT . HVRST = A string of candles.

R. IN . HORSHAM . 1664 = R . M . H.

$\frac{1}{4}$

A Robert Hurst was a freeholder of Horsham in 1734.

A later person of this name was a tailor, as we find from the "Marchant Diary" (S. A. C. xxv. 186) :

"1719. Dec. 12th, Robert Hurst, of Horsham, brought my father a great-coat. He and my father supt and spent the evening here."

"1721. Nov. 15th, paid R. Hurst for making me a camblet coat."—Ib. 190.

The Rev. C. J. Robinson, M.A. (Vicar), kindly sends the following extracts from the parish registers:

"Married. 1638, Oct. 2, Robert Hurst and Elizabeth Clowser."

"Baptism. 1662, June 17, John, son of Robert Hurst by Mary."

As the initials R. M. H. (Robert and Mary Hurst) connect the latter entry with the issuer, it is probable the first-named was his father.

The member for the borough from July, 1865, to February, 1874, and from December, 1875, to February, 1876, was the late Robert H. Hurst, Esq.

104. O. THOMAS . LVCAS = A fleur-de-lys.

R. IN . HORSAM . 1667 = HIS HALF PENY.

$\frac{1}{2}$

The parish registers of the adjoining parish of Warnham have many entries of this name. Amongst burials:

1612. Nov. 26, Thomas Lucas, gent.

„ Dec. 5, Margaret Lucas, Widowe of Tho. Lucas.

163 $\frac{3}{4}$. March 20, James Lucas.

Administration of the goods of the last-named was, on April 2, 1633, granted by the Prerogative Court of Canterbury to his father, Thomas Lucas (perhaps the issuer, during the minority of deceased's son, James Lucas.—S. A. C. xxxiii. 202, and note 212.

Mr. J. L. Warren, of Worthing College, Sussex, writing in Sussex Notes and Queries (xxvi. 9), says:

"In restoring a house [in Horsham] in 1826 a vast number of these tokens were discovered."

105. O. EDWARD . PARKHVRST = E . E . P.

R. IN . HORSHAM = 1657.

$\frac{1}{4}$

Some churchwardens' accounts about the date of the token mention Edward Parkhurst, who was apparently churchwarden.—Horsfield, "History of Sussex," ii. 266.

The Hearth-tax Return of 1670 gives, under North Streete, "Thomas Parkhurst, three hearths and a forge."

The name is still found at Horsham.

106. O. ARTHUR . ROWLAND . 1669 = A crowned head.

R. IN . HORSOM . IN . SVSSEX = HIS HALFE PENNY.

$\frac{1}{2}$

In Hearth-tax Return, 1670, this name occurs under North Streete as having ten hearths. No doubt, from the number indicated, he was an innkeeper.

There is a King's Head Hotel existing (1888). The name is still found in the parish.

The Vicar (the Rev. C. J. Robinson, M.A.) kindly sends the following notes from the parish registers:

"Baptism. 1660, Feb. 7th, Mary, daughter of Arthur Rowland by Mary."

"Burial. 1687, May 23, Mary, wife of Arthur Rowland."

107. O. WILLIAM . SHORTT = The King's Arms.

R. IN . HORSHAM . 1667 = A horse. W . F . S.

$\frac{1}{4}$

Two baptisms are recorded in the parish registers, viz.:

1660. Dec. 27, Samuell, son of Will. Short by Elizabeth.

1663. May 8, Francis, dr. of Wm. Short by Eliz.

HORSTED KEYNES.

108. O. EDWARD . WATERS = A pair of scissors.

R. IN . HOSTED . CAN . HIS . HALFE . PENNY . 1668 (in five lines filling the field). (Heart-shape).

$\frac{1}{2}$

The Rector (the Rev. C. B. Rodwell, M.A.) kindly sends the following extract from the parish registers:

"Edward, the sonne of Edward Watters, was Baptized the 13th July, 1662."

The issuer was a tailor.—S. A. C. i. 111, 112.

HURSTPIERPOINT.

109. O. THOMAS . DONSTALL = A wool-comb.R. OF . HVRST . MERSE = T . D. $\frac{1}{4}$

The Rector (the Rev. Prebendary C. H. Borrer, M.A.) kindly sends the following notes :

His wife's name was Elizabeth. They had two daughters named Elizabeth, one born in 1659 ; the other in 1664. The former was buried in 1659 ; and the latter in 1691. They had a son John, born in 1661, of whom we have no further notice. "Mr." Thomas and Elizabeth his wife both died in 1711. Our Thomas Dunstall may be the son of the Thomas of Shermanbury, or possibly the same man. In the Royalist Compositions occurs Thomas Donstall, of Shermanbury, £100. (S. A. C. xix. 94.) There is an old house, called "Dunstalls," of no great size or character, below the church ; and there are some fields by Friar's Oak, called Dunstalls, which my father inherited from my grandfather.

110. O. IAMES . MATHEW = A lion rampant.R. IN . HVRST . 1667 = I . M . M. $\frac{1}{4}$

The Rev. C. H. Borrer, Rector, sends the following extract from the parish registers :

"1662, Buried Mary, wife of James Mathew of Randidles, March 18."

Randidles is an old house of flint and brick still standing.

The lion rampant is the arms of Pier Point.

The issuer was no doubt an early Quaker, for we find by the MS. "Book of Sufferings, Records Society of Friends, S.E. District" (p. 48) : "A meeting was held on March 28, 1662, at Hurstprpoint, at which Ambrose Rigge, Nicholas Beard, Henry Scrase, Richard Scrase, Richard Webb, James Mathew, Ambrose Galloway and William Holbeam were present." They were arrested and taken before Walter Burrell and other magistrates, "at the instigation of Leonard Letchford, the hiring priest of Hurstprpoint, who stirred up the said Rulers to persecute the Innocent," being committed to Horsham Gaol. Letchford gave evidence against them, and all were convicted except Rigge. Elwes and Robinson, "Castles, Mansions and Manors of Western Sussex," p. 226, give a pedigree of Matthew of Stansted, with which the issuer might have been connected.

LEWES.

111. O. IOHN . DRAPER . IN . LEWES = A lion rampant.R. BY . THE . MARKET . PLACE = I . F . D. $\frac{1}{4}$

The lion rampant was no doubt borrowed from the borough arms, those of the Earls de Warenne, the former Lords of Lewes.

112. O. AMBROSE . GALLOWAY = 1667.R. IN . LEWIS . IN . SVSEX = A . E . G. $\frac{1}{4}$

The issuer was a tailor, and lived in All Saints' parish. He was a Quaker, and is named in the note under Mathew's token of Hurst.

The name, now spelt "Galway," is still found in Lewes.

113. O. IOHN . HENTY . OF = I . H.R. LEWES . PEWTERER = A fleur-de-lys. $\frac{1}{4}$

The name appears on the Subsidy Roll of 1621, and is still to be found in Lewes.

114. O. EDMVND . MIDDLETON . OF = The Haberdashers' Arms.R. LEWIS . IN . SVSSEX . 1666 = E . E . M. $\frac{1}{4}$

115. A variety reads EDWARD MIDDLETON.

Edmund Middleton was constable in 1666, and subsequently.

Edward Middleton was churchwarden of St. John's in 1635, and was probably father to the two issuers.

Parish register, St. Michael-in-the-Market, Lewes, records the burial of Mrs. Ann Middleton on October 2, 1695, and the parish register of All Saints', Lewes, that of Mr. Thomas Middleton on April 6, 1666.—Burrell MS., 5,698 Addl., pp. 171 and 183.

Edmund Middleton was constable in 1666, 1673 and 1679.

116. O. IOHN . PEMELL . IN = Arms ; three fishes in pale.

R. LEWIS . DRAPER . 57 = I . A . P.

$\frac{1}{4}$

The issuer was constable in 1618.

Robert Pemel was author of a work entitled "Help for the Poor" (London : 8vo., 1650).—See S. A. C. xii. 219.

Peter Pemel was constable of Lewes in 1635 and 1647.

In Col. John White's "First Centurie of Scandalous and Lewd Ministers" (printed by order of the House of Commons in 1643), we find, No. 67 :

"The Benefice of Anthony Hugget, Parson of the Parish Church of the Cliffe [now part of the Borough of Lewes], in the county of Sussex, is sequestred, for that he . . . put one Peter Pennell, whom he had 7 years before admitted to the communion, from the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper, because he would not come among the Boyes to be catechized ; and likewise refused to deliver the Sacrament to William Pennell, because he was lame and could not kneel to receive it."

117. O. WILLIAM . READ . AT . Y^E = HIS HALFE PENY. 1669.

R. KINGS . HEAD . IN . LEWES = Bust of the King crowned, holding a sceptre.

$\frac{1}{2}$

William Read, constable in 1680 and 1690, is mentioned as encouraging the rabble (S. A. C. xvi. 123).

LINDFIELD.

118. O. SAMVEL . BLVNT . OF = The Grocers' Arms.

R. LINFEILD . IN . SVSSEX = S . G . B.

$\frac{1}{4}$

The late Vicar, the Rev. T. H. Edwards, kindly searched the parish register, which is very illegible, and found the following baptisms recorded :

"1650. July 18, John Blunt, Sonne of John Blunt."

"1651. Sara, daughter of Samuell and Clara (?) Blunt, was baptized Aug. 3."

119. O. GEORGE . FLETCHER = 1669.

R. IN . LINDFEILD = G . F.

$\frac{1}{4}$

120. O. FRANCIS . WEST . IN = The Grocers' Arms.

R. LINDFEILD . 1659 = F . F . W.

$\frac{1}{4}$

Francis West, jun., is mentioned in a parochial document of 1636.

LITLINGTON.

121. O. IOHN . PEARCE . OF = An article of dress.

R. LITLINGTON . 1668 = HIS HALF PENY.

$\frac{1}{2}$

The name appears in early parochial documents, but the parish register only commences in 1698.

LOXWOOD (PARISH OF WISBOROUGH GREEN).

122. O. GEORGE . BILLINGHVRST = A blazing star.
R. OF . LOXWOOD = G . B. $\frac{1}{4}$
123. O. HENERIE . IERLAND = The Grocers' Arms.

The name is still found in West Sussex.

Some notes on the family are given in S. A. C. xxx. 237.

124. O. CLEMENT . READE . HIS . HALFE . PENY . 1668 (in four lines).
R. IN . MAYFEILD = C . V . R. $\frac{1}{2}$

126. O. WILLIAM . WESTON = The Grocers' Arms.
R. IN . MAYFEILD . 1677 = W . W. $\frac{1}{4}$

The name of William Weston appears in a parochial document dated 1626, and the name is still extant in the district.

129. O. THOMAS . AYLWIN . IN = T . R . A.
R. MIDHVRST . IN . SVSSEX = 1657. $\frac{1}{4}$

The issuer was a resident in 1655, and his descendants still reside in the neighbourhood.

130. O. HENERY . CORTNEY . IN = A double-headed eagle displayed.
R. MIDHORST . IN . SOSEX = H . K . C. $\frac{1}{4}$
131. O. HENERY . CORTNEY . IN = HIS HALF PENY.
R. MIDHORST . IN . SOSEX = A double-headed eagle displayed. $\frac{1}{2}$

The Spread Eagle is the arms of the noble family of Montague, whose magnificent seat of Cowdray was close to the town. An hotel with his sign still exists in South Street, and the family of Courtney are still in the parish.—Warren.

132. O. GEORGE . CHANDLER . IN = A hart couchant.
R. MIDHVRST . T . . . O = HIS HALF PENY. $\frac{1}{2}$

133. O. GEORGE . CHANDLER = A blazing star.

136. O. IOHN . STENT = A castle.
R. IN . MEDHVRST = I . M . S. $\frac{1}{4}$

A George Stent was a freeholder of Midhurst in 1734, but the name appears on parochial documents as early as 1621.

137. O. IOHN . SHOTTER = The Grocers' Arms.
R. IN . MEDHVRST = I . S. $\frac{1}{4}$

The will of Robert Shotyer of Linchmere (a neighbouring parish), in 1544, directed his burial in the churchyard of that parish, and a family of Shotters is said to be still in this part.—S. A. C. xii. 82.

PETWORTH.

138. O. IOHN . BARNARD . IN = A stick of five candles.
R. PETVVORTH . IN . SVSEX = I . I . B. $\frac{1}{4}$
139. O. IOHN . EEDE . SVSSEX = HIS HALFE PENY.
R. PETWORTH . 1670 = An ape smoking. $\frac{1}{2}$
- The name is still in the parish.
140. O. WILLIAM . HVRST = W . H.

141. O. IOHN . IOHNSON = I . I.
R. IN . PETWORTH = 1656. $\frac{1}{4}$
142. O. IOHN . LAVNDER = 1663.
R. OF . PETTWORTH = I . L. $\frac{1}{4}$

Amongst those to be touched for King's evil, we find in Petworth parish register note of "Certificat given for Frances, dawghter of John Lander, March the 29th, 1686."—S. A. C. xxv. 209.

The family of Launder were for some time connected with the parish of Lurgashall, N.W. Sussex, in the sixteenth century ("Castles, Mansions and Manors of Western Sussex," p. 143), and John Launder, husbandman, of Godstone, Surrey, was one of those arrested in 1554 at Derick Carver's house, in Brighton, for heresy, and condemned to be burnt.—Lower, "Sussex Worthies," p. 201.

143. O. RICHARD . LEGATT = Two swords in saltire.
R. IN . PETWORTH 1656 = R . M . L. $\frac{1}{4}$
144. O. WILLIAM . MANSER . AT = A stick of candles.
R. PETWORTH . IN . SVSSEX = W . A . M. $\frac{1}{4}$

He was a tallow-chandler, and his name occurs in the parish register.

145. O. IOHN . PEACHEY = I . P.

R. IN . PETWORTH . 1656 = 1656.

$\frac{1}{4}$

A marble monument on the east side-wall of Petworth Church has this inscription :

"Here lieth the body of John Peachy, Esq., who departed this life the 25th of May, 1693, and the body of Elizabeth his wife, daughter of Robert Palmer, Esq., who died the 24th of July, 1683."—Burrell MS., 5,699 Addl., p. 188.

Berry, "Sussex Pedigrees," p. 106, makes Edward Peachey marry Elizabeth Palmer, and gives quite different dates.

146. O. IOHN . SCVT . OF = Three cloves.

R. PETWORTH . IN . SVSSEX = I . S.

The name is still in the neighbourhood.

On March 4, 1634, John Scutt, of Petworth, obtained a license to sell tobacco.—Privy Seals, 9th Charles I., No. 696.

"Certificat given for Sara Scut, April the 9th, 1688," to be touched for king's evil."—Petworth register, cit. S. A. C. xxv. 209.

The surname Scutt has been quite common in West Sussex for more than two hundred years, and in the Index of Wills proved at Chichester we find John Scutt in 1674 (perhaps the issuer), John Scutt of Blackhurst, and another of Warnham, both in 1693, and a fourth John Scutt, of Coldwaltham, in 1725; whilst earlier we have John Scutt of Thacham in 1570, and John Skutt of Egdeane in the same year.

147. O. RICHARD . STRINGER = The Drapers' Arms.

R. OF . PETWORTH . 1652 = R . S.

$\frac{1}{4}$

A Richard Stringer was churchwarden in 1636.—Warren.

PEVENSEY.

148. O. GEORGE . FORD . 1658 = The Grocers' Arms.

R. AT . PEMSIE . GROCER = G . F.

$\frac{1}{4}$

PULBOROUGH.

149. O. John . Allen . 1669 (in three lines). (Script.)

R. In . Pulburrough . his . halfe . penny (Script) (in four lines).

$\frac{1}{2}$

The name is still in the parish.

In the Hearth-tax Return, 1670, the first name under Pulborough Tithing is Mr. John Allen with six hearths.—Lay Subsidies, Sussex, 191-414.

150. O. RICHARD . HAINES = A pelican feeding its young.

R. OF . PVLBORROW . 67 = R . H.

$\frac{1}{4}$

In the Hearth-tax Return, 1670, occurs Richard Haynes with five hearths, and Henry Haynes with one hearth.

The parish register records the burials of Mr. Richard Haynes on April 5, 1689, and Anne, wife of Mr. Richard Haynes, June 4, 1702.

A curious epitaph at Rudgwick (a neighbouring parish) on Edward Haines, surgeon (died April 30, 1708, at 33), is mentioned in S. A. C. xviii. 101.

ROBERTSBRIDGE.

151. O. ROBERT . GROVE . DRAPER = The ——— Arms. 1
R. OF . ROBERTSBRIDGE . 1667 = HIS HALF PENY. 2

152. O. IOHN . PADIAM . OF = Grocers' Arms. 1
R. ROBERTSBRIDGE . SVSEX = I . E . P. 4

RYE.

153. O. FOR . Y^E . CORPORATION = A ship. 1
R. OF . RYE . 1668 = A church. 4

154. O. THOMAS . BOYCE . OF = The Grocers' Arms. 1
R. RYE . IN . SVSSEX = T . E . B. 4

Thomas Boys was one of the witnesses to the will of Samuel Jeake, the elder, in 1651.

Parish register records, amongst burials, Hesther, wife of Mr. Thos. Boys, on August 21, 1657.—Burrell MS., 5,697 Addl., p. 206.

"Thomas Boys, gent., admitted a freeman by the Mayor and Jurats June 5, 1651."—Holloway, "History of Rye," p. 218.

The surname travelled westward in the eighteenth century, and there is still a small street connecting West Street and Middle Street, Brighton, called Boyce's Street. If the issuer's wife usually spelt her name Esther, without the "H" prefixed, we have an explanation of the initials "T. E. B." in No. 154.

155. O. MICHELL . CADMAN . AT . THE = A mermaid. 1
R. MEAREMADE . IN . RYE = M . A . C. 4

Michael Cadman was landlord of the Queen's Arms in 1672. He was Captain of the Market Ward in 1679, and a Jurat in 1682.

There is now no Mermaid Inn, but it formerly stood on the north side of the present Mermaid Street at Rye, and ceased to be an inn about 1770.

The parish register contains the following entries :

- Baptism. 1680. Mary, daughter of Mr. Michael Cadman, Sep. 14.
 „ 1682. Elizabeth, daughter of Mr. Michael Cadman and Mary, Oct. 24.
 Baptism. 1684. Hannah, daughter of Mr. Michael Cadman, Nov. 30.
 „ 1708. Michael, son of Mr. Michael Cadman and Catherine, Feb. 19.
 Marriage. 1686. Mr. William Parke and Anne Cadman, wid., Feb. 17.
 Burial. 1672. Ann, wife of Mr. Michael Cadman, sen., Apl. 21.
 „ 1714. Mr. Michael Cadman, Sep. 21.
 „ 1714. Kath., wife of Mr. Michael Cadman, Sep. 10.

—Burrell MS., 5,697 Addl., p. 206.

The initials "M. A. C" evidently stand for Michael and Anne Cadman, and it would seem, therefore, that Michael (the issuer) died before February 17, 1686, and that it was his widow, Anne, who married William Parke. The other entries probably relate to a son of the issuer.

There is an excellent description of the old Mermaid Inn in Louis Jennings' "Field Paths and Green Lanes," pp. 10-12.

156. O. WILLIAM . KEYE . AT . THE = A ship.
R. SHEEPE . IN . RYE . 1652 = W . I . K.

There is still an inn on the Strand Rye known as the Ship.

William Key was brother-in-law to Samuel Jeake, named above, having married the latter's sister, Anne. He died in 1666, and she in 1665.—S. A. C. xiii. 78.

157. O. THOMAS . TUTTY . 1668 = Two men carrying a barrel.

R. RYE . IN . SVSSEX = HIS HALF PENEY.

$\frac{1}{2}$

In a letter to Mr. Samuel Jeake in 1669 Tutty is mentioned.

Amongst the inhabitants charged to watch in 1679, we find under "Land Gate Ward" the name of Thomas Tutty.—Holloway, "History of Rye."

The parish register records the following burials :

1661. Elizabeth, wife of Mr. Thos. Tutty, June 23.

1663. John, son of Mr. Thos. Tutty, March 27.

1671. John, son of Mr. Thos. Tutty, Oct. 8.

1671. Ann, daughter of Mr. Thos. Tutty, Oct. 14.

1687. Rebecca, wife of Thomas Tuttie, Gent., Oct. 17.

—Burrell MS., 5,697 Addl., p. 206.

On an election petition in 1690 the right of Thomas Tutty (amongst others) to vote was affirmed by the House of Commons.—Hors. "Hist. Suss.," vol. ii., App., p. 64.

A family of Tutty resided in All Saints' parish, Chichester, the parish register of which from 1677 onwards contains many entries relating to them.

SEAFORD.

158. O. IOHN . HIDE . OF = A wheatsheaf.

R. SEAFORD . 1656 = I . H.

$\frac{1}{4}$

Robert Hide was Vicar of Seaford for sixty-five years, and buried there on August 25, 1638, and had in 1592 been Bailiff.

The parish register contains so many entries of this name, it is difficult to identify the issuer, John Hide; but as we find the Vicar's son, John (baptized 1594), was buried in 1643, and then described as "Sen.," it is probable the issuer was the son of the Vicar's second son, Samuel (baptized October 1, 1580, and buried June 15, 1631), and was baptized on April 9, 1620. His first wife, Margery, was buried on April 12, 1665, another wife, Elizabeth, on March 7, 1675, and as the parish register gives the baptisms of his sons, Samuel on March 3, 1675, and James on June 4, 1676, he evidently married a third wife.—References to parish register from Burrell MS., 5,697 Addl., pp. 590, 591.

SHIPLEY.

159. O. BARNARD . TVLLY . IN = A fleur-de-lys.

R. SHIPLY . IN . SVSSEX = 1668.

$\frac{1}{4}$

SHOREHAM.

160. O. RICHARD . GLYN . IN . NEW = A griffin.

R. SHORAM . IN . SVSSEX = R . A . G.

$\frac{1}{4}$

In the Hearth-tax Return, in 1670, for the adjoining parish of "Southweeke Fishersgate Hundred," we find Mr. Glyde six hearths.—Lay Subsidy, Sussex, 191-414.

161. A variety reads GLYD.

SLAUGHAM.

162. O. IOHN . LISH . AT . THE = Chequers.

R. IN . SLAVGHAM . 1667 = HIS HALFE PENNY.

$\frac{1}{2}$

The Rev. Prebendary J. O. W. Haweis, M.A., late Rector, has kindly searched the parish register, but finds no reference to this issuer or his family. He states there is now no inn named the Chequers, but on an allotment of seats in the church in 1721, one pew was for Phineas Curtis, John Gray, the Park Lodge, the Chequer. The Chequer sign was no doubt derived from the shield of the Earls de Warenne, Norman Lords of the Rape of Lewes (which included Slaugham), which was chequy or and azure.

STEYNING.

163. O. IOHN . GROOMES . IN = A stick of candles.

R. STENING . CHANDLER = I . E . G.

Charles and Thomas Groom were freeholders of Steyning in 1734.—Warren.

164. A variety reads STENNING.

The parish register of Preston (near Brighton) contains amongst the marriages performed by Anthony Shirley, Esq., one of the justices for the county, the following entry :

"1656, June 19, John Groomes, of Steyning, and Elizabeth Whittington, of Beeding, had ye purpose of mariage published 3 several market dayes, viz., ye 21 and 28 of May and ye 4 of June, in ye market of Stenning, and no excepts made ag. it. And they were marred here ye 19th of June, Ano. 1656."—"Churches of Brighton," ii. 308.

The initials I. E. G. are thus verified and shown to be those of John and Elizabeth Groomes.

Mr. J. Penfold (Steyning), writing in Sussex Notes and Queries (xxix. 6) respecting this token, says :

"This family owned a good bit of property at Steyning. They had a candle-factory near the present new White Horse Inn. The Groomeses of Worthing are direct descendants."

165. O. WILLIAM . SMITH . IN = 1667.

R. STEAMING . MERCER = W . I . S.

He lived in Steyning in 1655.—S. A. C. xix. 95.

166. O. WILLIAM . SQVIER = The Apothecaries' Arms.

R. OF . STEINING . 1669 = HIS HALF PENY.

167. O. PEETER . SQVIER = The Apothecaries' Arms.

R. AT . STEINING . SVSSIX . 1670 = A half penny. (Script.)

Could this issuer have been an ancestor of the well-known late Peter Squire, chemist-in-ordinary to the Queen? The coincidence of name and trade is very remarkable.

The parish register of West Tarring (a neighbouring parish) records the baptism, on May 11, 1684, of John, son of John Squire.—Burrell MS., 5,698 Addl., p. 515.

172. A variety is dated 1659.

The parish register records, on March 31, 1657, the baptism of William, son of George Fletcher.—Burrell MS., 5,698 Addl., p. 515.

In John Taylor's "Catalogue of Tavernes in tenne Shires about London," we find at Tarring William Fletcher, doubtless the father of the issuer.

(See Vol. I., p. 368.)

173. O. IOHN . READER . OF = The Grocers' Arms.R. TENTERDEN . IN . SVSSEX = I . R. $\frac{1}{4}$

His grandson took an active part in the early part of the eighteenth century in trying to establish the Young Pretender on the English throne, but failed, and was executed.

The issuer was a grocer, who was parish constable in 1675. He died in 1684.

The parish of Tenterden is really eight miles within the Kentish border.

The late Rev. Arthur Eden, M.A. (Vicar), kindly searched his parish register, and sent the following extract :

"Mary, dr. of Mr. Richard Birchett and Lidia, Bapt. Sep. 19, 1669."

He mentions that few names are dignified with the title "Mr." at that date, and further that a part of the parish is named Birchett's Green.

The initials R. L. B. on the token are thus verified as those of "Richard and Lydia Birchett."

TURNHAM HILL.

I cannot identify this place. There is a Turner's Hill in Worth parish. No. 178 is a vulgar burlesque.

The Rector (the Rev. W. J. Humble-Crofts, M.A.) has kindly searched the parish register, and finds the following entries:

1632, June 3rd, baptized Samuel, sone of Edward Durrant.

1659. Maryed Samuell Durant, of this Parish, and Mary West, of Southover, the 14th of June.

1711. Samuel Durrant, senr., buried Feby.

The letters "S. M. D." are thus explained as "Samuel and Mary Durrant."

The name still remains in the parish.

N.B.—Mr. Luther Clements, of Peckham, has kindly examined the foregoing descriptions, and compared them with the tokens in his excellent collection. The descriptions have therefore had the advantage of his careful collation, and more perfect accuracy, it is hoped, has been thereby obtained.

NUMBER OF TOKENS ISSUED	92
NUMBER OF PLACES ISSUING TOKENS	36
TOWN PIECES ISSUED AT BEAUMARIS AND BRECON.

Sub-Editor and Collaborateur :

JAMES W. LLOYD, ESQ.,
Kington,
Herefordshire.

Wales.

THE tokens of the Principality form a small but interesting series—more than half of those issued in North Wales being pennies, although no larger generally than ordinary halfpenny or farthing tokens; while those of South Wales are all halfpennies and farthings. The large number of penny tokens in North Wales and its border counties of Chester and Salop is remarkable, for among them there are more than in the whole of the other counties.

The earliest date is 1660, and none appear to have been issued after 1670.

The only town pieces were issued at Beaumaris and Brecon.

The former edition described fifty-one tokens, to which the present list adds forty-one: total ninety-two.

The arrangement of the towns in alphabetical order, irrespective of counties, as in first edition, has been followed, as the most convenient for reference.

In former edition of this work Mr. Boyne stated that this was one of the towns in Snelling's list that issued tokens; but as a specimen had not come under his notice, he was unable to describe the token.

The above token is now in the writer's possession, and Mr. Chas. Goulding, its former owner, writes with respect to it, that it is the original token referred to by Snelling.

R. IN . DENBIGH . HIS . PENY = (?) 1
33. O. THOMAS . SHAW . 1666 = A goat.
R. IN . DENBEIGHE . GLOVER = 1^D. 1

The goat or buck on the obverse of this token is a part of the Leathersellers' Arms, viz., three bucks trippant regardant.

The Shaws were among the most celebrated of the Denbigh glovers of those times.

One of this ancient and respectable family went by the name of "London Shaw," from the fact that in 1665 he set out for the Metropolis as a plague doctor, carrying with him a cartload of wormwood as an antidote for the pestilence, by which he rendered himself the laughing stock of the town ever afterwards.

His skinnery occupied the site of the present residence of Dr. Lloyd Williams.

He seems to have been of a rather covetous disposition, from the following record of the Council in 1671: "That Thos. Shaw, the elder, glover, be sum'oned to appre here next meeting day, etc., to shew cause why he erected a new building over agt his house in Henllan-street, to ye annoyance of ye publick. And to appear also to produce such writings as he pretends to have for the erecting of his new house upon the com'ons." However, we find him expiating for such encroachments upon public rights by bequeathing at his death a meadow called Lavaria, in the outskirts of the town, to the poor of Denbigh for ever.—Williams's "Ancient and Modern Denbigh."

In the "Records of Denbigh and its Lordship" it is stated that at the election of Aldermen, 1651, January 9, Thomas Shaw, tanner, vice Sir William Myddleton, deceased, was elected. Also in the same, that on a monumental tablet at Whitchurch it is stated that Thomas Shaw, gentleman, who died in 1717, was for many years Recorder of the lordship and town of Denbigh. This was probably a son of Thomas Shaw the tanner and glover.

We are indebted to the late Mr. Edward Rowland, of Bryn Offa, Wrexham, for these interesting extracts.

The Gronnous or Gronous families were numerous here and in the neighbouring town of Kington, where two members of the family issued tokens (see Herefordshire list). The name, although it continued in the above form until the beginning of the present century, seems to have passed into the more euphonious one of Greenhouse.

It would appear the family originally belonged to Radnorshire, some members migrating into the adjoining county of Hereford, this Joseph probably for one, as his name does not occur after 1673 in the Presteign registers, while in the registers of Kington (see under Kington in the Herefordshire list) the name appears first in 1676, and ends with his death 1686.

The following entries are from the Presteign registers :

1646. Mathew, the sonne of Richard Gronouse, gent., by Anne his wife, was baptized the ffirst of January.

1648. James, the sonne of Richard Gronouse, gent., by Anne his wife, was baptized the 19th of Aprill.

1667. Joseph, the sonne of John Gronouse, Chanler, was baptized the seaventh day of July.

1667. Richard Beddoes and Johan Gronouse were married the 8th day of October by Lycence.

1668. Richard Gronouse, of Stapleton, was buried the ffirst day of November, in Templo. (This was probably the father of the issuer of the token, also of the two Kington issuers.)

1669. Katherine, the daughter of John Gronouse, Chanler, was baptized the 16th day of Aprill.

1669. Anne, the daughter of Joseph Gronouse, was baptized the second day of May.

On a table tomb near the south porch of Presteign Church is the following :

 Other portions of the inscription are illegible through peeling of the stone.

In first edition this token was assigned to Porthelly, Cornwall, but the absence of other penny tokens in that county, and their abundance in Wales, together with the name of issuer being a decidedly Welsh one, and the native pronunciation of the place precisely as spelt on the token, the balance of evidence is believed to be in favour of Wales.

73. A variety dated 1668.

John Sayes was Bailiff of Tenby in 1649, and Mayor in 1657.

"Sayse, a surname in Tenby in 1405, signifies the Sassenach, a sobriquet given to many Anglicised Celtic Welsh by their countrymen, and afterwards converted into a surname, which has been modernized into Seix in Ireland, where some of this name were falconers to the Earls of Kildare, and others gentlemen in the household service of the Earls of Ormond. The sex of the mason appears to be the modern type of the short sais, or short sword, whence the Saxons are said to derive their designation."—Ex "Arch. Camb.," New Series, Part XIV.

74. O. RICH . DAVIES . FELTMAKER = A lion rampant.

 $\frac{1}{2}$

The "Montgomeryshire Collections," vol. xiii., for 1880, contain an interesting account of Richard Davies, the probable issuer of this token.

"He was known as 'the Welshpool Quaker,' a man of remarkable simplicity of character, yet of no mean ability." He was born in Welshpool in 1635, and left behind him a remarkable autobiography, entitled "An Account of the Convince-ment, Exercises, Services, and Travels of that Ancient Servant of the Lord, Richard Davies." He commences thus: "I was born in the year 1635 in the town of Welshpool, Montgomeryshire, in North Wales, of honest parents that had a small estate there." He was brought up in the "religion and discipline of the Church of England," but early in his career he followed the Independent people, "especially one Vavasor Powell, who was a very zealous man in his day."

Richard Davies was bound apprentice to Evan Jones, a feltmaker, in the parish of Llanfair. In 1657 he came into contact with Morgan Evan, a Quaker, of South Wales, and the "consideration of his words took fast hold of him," and he became a Quaker, the first in this part of Wales. After settling to his trade as a feltmaker in 1659, he married. In 1660 he was had before the first justices that were made in those parts by the authority of King Charles II., and was interrogated by them and the priest about "his new way and strange religion." He was imprisoned for two weeks, and many of his fellow-prisoners were "convinced" by his ministrations, and afterwards became Quakers.

Many of his followers were imprisoned and suffered great hardships, but Davies himself seems to have escaped further punishment, and eventually, through his influence with Lord Herbert of Cherbury, the severity of their treatment was gradually relaxed.

Richard Davies was buried in the Quakers' Burial Ground, at Cloddiau Cochion, near his former place of abode.

Warwickshire.

By the revision of this county the total number of tokens has been increased from 144 in the original edition of this work to 191. Two tokens are now omitted, viz., that of Nathaniel Sweet, Austrey; and one of Kineton, John Whitroe's, both having been assigned to Devonshire. Three additional places which issued tokens in the seventeenth century have to be added, viz., Griff, Lapworth, and Tysoe. For the interesting notes on the Birmingham families we have been indebted to the very great kindness of Mr. Joseph Hill, of that town. The Vicar of Tamworth (the Rev. W. Macgregor) and the Rector of Rugby (the Rev. J. Murray) also very kindly searched their respective registers, and sent us the results.

R. IN . BIRMINGHAM = HIS HALFE PENNY.

26. A variety dated 1666, and reads HALFE PENY. $\frac{1}{2}$

John Brington, or Brineton, was the son of Guy Brineton, and was born 1619. It is probable that he was identical with John Brewerton, who had a shop in Corn Cheaping.

27. O. WILLIAM . BVRBERRY = HIS HALFE PENY.
R. IN . BRVMINGHAM = A Catherine wheel. $\frac{1}{2}$

This name occurs still in Birmingham as the name of a street in the outskirts.

28. O. WILLIAM . COLMORE = Bust with three-quarter face.
R. IN . BIRMINGHAM = HIS HALF PENY. $\frac{1}{2}$

The family of Colmore is one of the most ancient and honourable in the town. Mr. Hill says of it, "The family for length of connections, acquirement of wealth, and landed property surpasses all others." An isolated mention of the name occurs at Aston in 1337.

In 1469 Richard Colmore, and his wife Joan, and Robert Colmore were members of the Guild of St. Anne of Knoll, but it was not until the end of the fifteenth century that the family settled in Birmingham, and at first farmed the Tenter Fields, and afterwards as mercers in the Bull Ring acquired considerable wealth. The family marriage connections with the Smallbrokes, Harmans (Veseys), Porters, and Willoughbys, and the purchase of lands (when the dissolved religious houses rendered its acquirement on a large scale an easy matter), gave the Colmores a high position in the Midlands.

The issuer of the token was probably William Colmore, a colonel in Cromwell's army (mentioned in Dugdale's "Diary") or his son William, who was a mercer.

An earlier William is recorded as having given £25 in aid of Elizabeth's fund to raise an army and fleet against the invasion of the Spanish Armada.

The name is commemorated in Birmingham by Colmore Row, Great Colmore Street, and Little Colmore Street.

29. O. EDWARD . ENSOR . OF = The Grocers' Arms.
R. BIRMINGHAM . 1652 = A fleur-de-lys. E . E. $\frac{1}{4}$

30. Another similar, dated 1660. $\frac{1}{4}$

Edward Ensor settled in Birmingham about 1614, and had a large family, and it is a common name now in the town. The issuer of the token was a mercer, and lived in Moor Street, near the Roebuck Inn.

31. O. EDWARD . ENSOR . 1660 = The Grocers' Arms.
R. IN . BIRMINGHAM .  = HIS HALF PENY. $\frac{1}{2}$

32. O. GEORGE . FENTHAM = The Haberdashers' Arms.
R. IN . BIRMINGHAM = HIS HALF PENY. $\frac{1}{2}$

This name does not occur earlier than 1630, and George, the son of Christopher Fentham, who issued the token, was a mercer in one of the ancient houses in a short alley off the Bull Ring, his back yard abutting into the parish church.

George Fentham is worthy of special mention for his benefactions to Hampton in Arden, and Birmingham. In 1690 he liberally endowed charities to benefit the poor of those places with land at Birchfield and Erdington.

33. O. EDWARD . FREEMAN = HIS HALF PENY.
R. IN . BIRMINGHAM = The Grocers' Arms. $\frac{1}{2}$

A family of this name existed in the town for a century before the probable issue of the token by Edward Freeman, who was born about 1610; he held from 1640 until the time of his death, about 1670, several important posts. There is a Freeman Street in Birmingham.

- 34.

- EDWARD . HENSON . 1666 = The Grocers' Arms.

This family cannot be traced ; it is probably a misspelling of Edward Ensor's surname.

- 36.
- O.*
- IOSEPH . HOPKINS = The Ironmongers' Arms.

R. IN . BIRMINGHAM . 1666 = HIS HALF PENY. $\frac{1}{2}$

This is probably the same person as Joseph Hopkins, who founded a charity here in 1681 with land situated at Sutton Coldfield.

- 37.
- O.*
- IOHN . IESSON . MERCER = HALF PENY.

R. IN . BIRMINGHAM . 1670 = The Mercers' Arms. $\frac{1}{2}$

There were several Jessons in Birmingham in Queen Mary's time ; probably the issuer of the token was a descendant of them.

R. HIS . HALF . PENY . BRVMINGHAM = W . A . K. 1668. $\frac{1}{2}$

J. S. S. quotes, reverse, BRUMINGHAM before HIS HALF PENY.

William King's grandfather, William, was a prosperous tradesman in Diggbathe (Digbeth) or Well Street in 1525, and his father, John, in 1540 ; the latter, a fuller, had three sons—William, an ironmonger ; Roger, a fuller ; and John.

This family contributed £25 to aid Queen Elizabeth against the Spanish invasion.

Rather a numerous family, dating from Queen's Elizabeth's time. Richard Leather, born 1612, was the probable issuer of the token. In 1691 his son, probably, was constable of Birmingham.

In 1663 a Thomas Leather was assessed for four hearths, his house being in the beast market, now High Street.

- O.*

Mr. Hill cannot trace this name at all.

- 42.
- O.*
- THOMAS . PEMBERTON = The Ironmongers' Arms.

R. OF . BVRMINGHAM = HIS HALFE PENNY. $\frac{1}{2}$

This is a well-known old Birmingham family, and dates from Queen Mary's reign.

In 1613 Roger Pemberton was a prosperous man ; his son, Thomas, born 1589, was in 1628 a goldsmith. They were Quakers, and held a leading position in the town.

The issuer of the token was an ironmonger ; his shop was in Rother, or Beast Market, now High Street, and afterwards taken down to make way for the present Union Street. The Pembertons became considerable landowners and wealthy ; they carried on a money-changing and lending business in the last century, and were really the precursors of the well-known Lloyds, the bankers.

John Pemberton erected a mansion in New Hall Lane, Colmore Row, and married Elizabeth, the daughter of Charles Lloyd, of Dolobran, which brought the Lloyd family to Birmingham.

43. O. THOMAS . PEWTRILL . AND = IN . BIRM . ING . HAM (in four lines).

R. IOHN . POTTERILL . 1666 = THEIR HALF PENY (in three lines).

These names should be respectively Fewtrill and Cotterill, not as on token.

Thomas Fewtrill was a respectable saddler, who lived in High Street, near the Bull Ring; he held positions of trust in the town.

John Cotterill was a cutler, and was constable of Birmingham in 1680; he lived probably in Dale End.

44. O. THOMAS . RVSSSELL = The Ironmongers' Arms.

R. IN . BIRMINGHAM . 1667 = HIS HALF PENY. 1

This is a very old Birmingham family. In 1327 John Russell was assessed in Birmingham for the subsidy on the invasion of the Scots.

William Russell was Master of the Birmingham Guild in 1517, and his son, Henry, about 1540, lived in Dale End.

Thomas, the issuer of the token, was the son of Richard Russell; he was an ironmaster, or merchant, in Rother Market, a man of great public employment until the close of his century.

The family have always been distinguished for their public spirit, energy and private integrity and worth. They were sufferers in the Priestley riots of 1791. The name is commemorated in Russell Street, Great Russell Street, etc.

45. O. NICHOLAS . SANFORD = The Ironmongers' Arms.

He carried on business in the Rother Market about 1660. As he was assessed for five hearths, he must have been a substantial man.

46. O. ROBERT . SMALBROOKE = HIS HALF PENY.

R. IN . BIRMINGHAM = The Mercers' Arms. 1

His place of business was in the Bull Ring, or Corn Cheaping, and he was a mercer. The family was an important one, and related to Richard Smalbroke, Bishop of Lichfield about this time.

There is a Smallbrook Street in Birmingham, named after this family no doubt, as it is a very old thoroughfare.

47. O. IOHN . TAYLOVR . OF = A lion's head.

This is another old Birmingham family. John Taylor, son of Zachary, was born 1616; their house, in Bull Street, was burnt down by Prince Rupert in the civil war.

This family was probably the progenitors of Taylors, the bankers, who were connected with the Lloyds.

Westmorland.

THE number of tokens pertaining to this county is very small, and they consist of halfpennies and farthings, and range from 1656 (No. 12) to 1669 (Nos. 3, 4 and 16). The literature touching upon them is somewhat large, when we compare the very limited issue of pieces. The principal are :

"The Tradesmen's Tokens (of the seventeenth century) of Cumberland and Westmorland," by William Henry Brockett, Gateshead-upon-Tyne, 1853. Reprinted from an article in the Gateshead Observer of March 5, 1853.

"The Ancient Commerce of Westmerland." Reprinted from the Gentleman's Magazine for May, 1853.

"The Tradesmen's Tokens issued during the Seventeenth Century in Appleby, in the County of Westmorland," by T. Fisher, Kendal, 1855.

"The Tradesmen's Tokens issued during the Seventeenth Century in Kirkby Stephen, in the County of Westmorland," by T. Fisher, Kendal, 1855.

There are also articles in the Gentleman's Magazine for March, 1792, in Nicholson's "Annals of Kendal," and in the Kendal Mercury for December 14, 1861, and March 28, 1863.

E. FOSTER BELL.

The loan of the woodcuts was most kindly promised by the late Mr. Cornelius Nicholson, F.S.A., at the time that this work was commenced, and we are now indebted to Miss Cornelia Nicholson, the daughter of the deceased antiquary and author, for the fulfilment of the promise. We are very grateful to Miss Nicholson for kindly assistance, so valuable, and to Mr. Bell for his interesting and important notes.

THE EDITOR.

APPLEBY.

1. O. CHRISTOPHER . BIRKBECKE = The King's head crowned to left.

R. IN . APPLEBY . 1666 = HIS HALF PENY. $\frac{1}{2}$

2. O. EDWARD . GUY . 1666 : = . IN . APPLEBYE.

R. I . SERVE . FOR . CHANGE = E . M . G. $\frac{1}{4}$

Edward Guy lived in Brig Street, Appleby, and held two burgages there. He was a supporter of Richard Tufton in the Parliamentary election of February, 1678-9.—Machell MSS., i., p. 223.

The name of the Rev. Edward Guy (instituted Vicar of St. Lawrence's, Appleby, 1636) appears in the list of Mayors of the borough for the years 1627, 1631, 1634, 1635 and 1650.—Sayer's "History of Westmorland," ii., appendix, p. lviii. He was probably the father of the issuer.

3. O. WILLIAM . SMITH = A pigeon pecking.

R. IN . APPLEBYE . 1669 = W . S.

$\frac{1}{4}$

This token has hitherto been attributed to Appleby, a village in Leicestershire, but there is little doubt that it belongs to the county town of Westmorland. A specimen struck in brass was found in 1863, on taking down some old buildings on the south side of Allhallows' Lane, Kendal.—See Kendal Mercury, March 28, 1863.

The issuer was a mercer and held property in the Borough Gate (Machell MSS., i., p. 213), where he probably had his residence. He, like Guy, was a supporter of Richard Tufton (ut supra, p. 223), and his name appears in the list of Mayors of the borough in the years 1667 and 1673.—Sayer's "History of Westmorland," vol. ii., appendix, p. lix.

There is an engraving of this token in the Gentleman's Magazine for March, 1792 (p. 209).

GRAYRIGG.

4. O. RIC : ROWLANDSON . OF . GRAYRIG = A pair of scales and a spade.

R. IN . KENDALL . PARISH . 1669 = HIS HALF PENY.

$\frac{1}{2}$

Richard Rowlandson was a fellmonger and woolstapler; he lived on his own estate at Lambert Ash, Grayrigg, where he carried on his business, as well as at Kendal, Kirkby-Stephen, and Kirkby-Lonsdale.

To the above he seems to have combined that of stationer, as appears from the following entry in the accounts of the churchwardens of Kendal:

"1665. Paid Mr. Richard Rowlandson for a booke of Homilies 00 06 00."—Transactions of Cumberland and Westmorland Antiquarian Society, ix., p. 270.

It is stated that he walked to London and back, on business, three times, and that he was there in the time of the Great Plague in 1665.

There is an entry in the parish register of burials, July 18, 1735, of Richard Rowlandson, at Grayrigg, supposed to have been the issuer of this token: if so, he lived to a great age, which he is said to have done.

One Richard Rowlandson was Town Clerk of Kendal in 1683.—Nicolson and Burn's "History of Cumberland and Westmorland," i., p. 71.

KENDAL.

5. O. MERCERS . COMPANY . IN . KENDAL = The Mercers' Arms.
 R. K . K . 1657 = Arms of the Corporation of Kendal.

 $\frac{1}{4}$

The arms are those adopted by the Corporation of Kendal when the charter of Charles I. was obtained, as they are not registered; they are quarterly, first and fourth, three spindles, second and third, three woolhooks—the bearings being indicative of the staple trade of the town. The same arms are engraved on a silver tankard and a sword, belonging to the Corporation, with the motto “Pannus mihi panis” (Cloth is my bread).

The letters K. K. probably stand for the initials of Kirkby-Kendal, and are engraved on the silver seal which has been in use in the Corporation since the first charter of Elizabeth in 1576, the date of which it bears. In Snelling it is engraved without the K. K. above the shield—probably a variety.

The original dies, much worn, were found in 1803 among the ruins of the New Biggin, where the Cordwainers had their hall, and are now preserved in the museum at Kendal.—Gateshead Observer, March 5, 1853.

6. O. COMPANY . OF . SHEARMEN = A pair of cropper's shears.
 R. IN . KENDALL . 1666 = A teasel-brush.

 $\frac{1}{4}$

7. A variety struck in lead, having a star of five points on the reverse on either side of the teasel-brush.

These implements of the cloth manufacture are now almost entirely disused, the great improvement in machinery, which does the work better and cheaper, having superseded them. The large shears were used by the croppers to cut all the long hairs off the cloth; and unless great care and precision were used, there was danger of cutting the cloth, so that none but experienced workmen were employed, and they earned great wages. During the Luddite riots, in the West Riding of Yorkshire, in 1812, many of these artisans were implicated, some of them having been thrown out of employment by the improvements in manufacture, and many by their intemperate habits. The long hairs are now removed by a spiral steel blade fixed on a revolving cylinder, which gives a fine, even nap to the cloth. The hand teasel-brush was used for brushing the cloth, one being held in each hand; this is now done by machinery, the teasels being placed in a long, narrow iron frame, worked by steam power.

There were formerly twelve free companies in Kendal, which gradually became extinct, the last of them, the Cordwainers, being broken up in 1800, in consequence of Robert Moser, one of the craft, refusing to recognise any legal power in the company to impose a fine upon persons, not being freemen, commencing business within the borough. Monopoly was obliged to succumb to Moser, and the charter was declared to be powerless.

8. O. EDMOND . ADLINGTON = The Dyers' Arms.

R. IN . KENDAL . 1659 = E . I . A.

$\frac{1}{4}$

One Edward Adlington was sworn a shearman-dyer in 1649 (Kendal "Boke of Recorde"). The family came originally from Yealand, in Lancashire, and carried on business there and at Kendal. They were Quakers, and tradition says that Edmund was a man of immense bulk, weighing upwards of twenty-four stone, and that his wife was of little inferior weight, being upwards of twenty-two stone. He retired from business, and died at a great age.

Nicolson and Burn's "History of Westmorland," i., p. 536, on the authority of Francis Higginson, Vicar of Kirkby-Stephen in the time of Cromwell, states:

"Some of the Quakers stood naked on the market cross on market days, preaching to the people, particularly the wife of one Edmond Adlington, who went naked through the streets there."

This is corroborated by Mrs. Greer, who, in "The Society of Friends," vol. ii., p. 189, says,

"The wife of Edmund Adlington, of Kendal, went through the streets naked on the 21st of November, 1653; and Mary Collinson, another Quaker lady in the same town, rebuked those who covered her, by telling them they had hindered the work of the Lord."

The Dyers seem to have been associated corporately in Kendal with the Shearmen, the full title of the ancient Free Company being that of "Shearmen-Dyers, Fullers and Websters." The Shearman-dyers are mentioned in a poetical account of a guild procession in Kendal in 1759, the last that took place.

The compliment paid to the Kendal industry is as follows:

"The English Wool by Shearmen-dyers wrought Equals the finest silk from India brought."

9. O. JAMES . COCKE . IVNIOR = A cock to left.

R. OF . KENDALL . 1667 = HIS HALFE PENNY.

$\frac{1}{2}$

James Cocke was sworn a member of the Mercers' Company in 1655 (Kendal "Boke of Recorde"), and a burgess in 1659. He was Mayor of Kendal in 1681-2, and died in 1694.

His residence was in The Park, and his family owned property in the Butchers' Row.

The British Museum possesses a specimen restruck upon a Yorkshire token of Bradford (No. 37, q.v.).

"Will Bancks, of Bradford, Carrier for Kendal."—"Numismatic Chronicle," 3rd series, vol. iv., p. 334.

10. O. IOHN . HADWEN = A sugar-loaf.

R. IN . KENDALL = I . E . H.

$\frac{1}{4}$

The names of John Hadwen and John Hadwen jun. (doubtless father and son) appear in the list of Mayors of Kendal no less than six times, from the year 1704 to 1770.

The issuer was sworn a member of the Mercers' Company in 1656 (Kendal "Boke of Recorde"), and had his residence in Finkle Street, Kendal, as appears from the following entry in the accounts of the churchwardens, 1658 :

"Rec. for y^e cloth & bur in y^e Lady quier of finkel Streett M^rcer . . . x^s iiij^d."—"Transactions of Cumberland and Westmorland Antiquarian Society," ix., p. 270.

11. O. OLIVER . PLAT . OF = Three Maltese crosses.

R. KIRKBY . KENDALL = 1659 between six stars.

$\frac{1}{4}$

Oliver Plat was a gentleman of considerable property in Kendal, and lived on his own estate at Summer How in Skelsmergh. He owned the property in Kendal known as the Rainbow Inn. He was a Roman Catholic. The parish register records his burial, March 18, 1686, in the ninety-sixth year of his age.

One Oliver Plat, probably son of the above, appears in Cousin's "List of Recusants."

12. O. THOM . SANDES . OF = A teasel and wool-hook.

R. KENDAL . 1656 = A woolcomb.

He was Mayor of Kendal in 1647-8. He made a fortune as a dealer in Kendal cottons, which, being dyed green, obtained for the cloth the famous names of Kendal Green and Kendalls (7 Jas. I., c. xvi.).

The following entries in the churchwardens' accounts show the estimation in which the colour of the staple commodity was held by the townsfolk :

"1676. The Communion table was covered with green and a hanging at the back also was green."

"1676. Paid to Mr. James Simpson (by order of the Vicar and Churchwardens) for 15 yards & a quarter of fine-green-cloth, eleaven yeards of ffine-Hollan and silk-fringe for the green-table cloth, etc., 12 11 06."

"Paid to Will^m Webster (by consent of Churchwardens) for coullering of y^e Rayles within the chancell, the frame of the Comunion-table, the frame also wherein the green-cloth doth hing, wth some pannells belonging the Pulpitt where was needful, vizt all greene, the sum of 02 00 00."—"Transactions of Cumberland and Westmorland Antiquarian Society," vol. ix., p. 276.

Of Kendal, Drunken Barnaby sings :

"Veni Kendall, ubi status
Præstans, prudens Magistratus,
Publicis festis purpuratus,
Ab Elizabetha datus;
Hic me juvat habitare,
Propinare et amare."

"Thence to Kendall, pure her state is,
Prudent too her Magistrate is,
In whose charter to them granted
Nothing but a Mayor wanted;
Here it likes me to bee dwelling,
Bousing, loving, stories telling."

Also :

"Nunc ad Kendall, propter Pannum,
Coetum, situm, Aldermannum,
Virgines pulchras, pias matres,
Et viginti quatuor fratres,
Verè clarum et beatum,
Mihi nactum, notum, natum."

"Now to Kendall, for cloth-making,
Sight, site, Alderman awaking,
Beauteous damsels, modest mothers,
And her foure-and-twenty brothers,
Ever in her honour spreading,
Where I had my native breeding."

The fame of Kendal manufactures is immortalized by other and more important writers. Thus Drayton :

"Where Kendal town doth stand
For making of our cloth scarce matched in all the land."

Shakspeare refers to "Three mis-begotten knaves in Kendal Green" ("1 Henry IV.," ii., 4); and Camden, in his "Britannia," eulogizes the quality of cloth manufactured in the town.

The issuer resided in the front house of the Elephant Yard (now the Elephant Inn), and his two coining presses and other instruments were found in making alterations in the premises. By deed dated September 6, 1670, he founded Sandes' Hospital, in Kendal, endowing it with considerable property for the maintenance of eight poor widows, three to be chosen out of Strickland Gate, three out of Stramongate and Highgate, one out of Strickland Roger and one out of Skelsmergh and Paton ("Machell MSS.," ii., p. 471), and for the support of a school for poor children, until they should be fitted for the free school or elsewhere. He bequeathed to the hospital a collection of books, chiefly of the early Fathers of the Church; these he so highly prized that he ordered that they should be kept in the "great room," and that a certain quantity of fuel should be regularly brought from the property he bequeathed to the hospital, and that the schoolmaster should, in addition, expend "at last twelve-pence in peats every quarter of a year," for the better keeping and preservation of the books. And he further ordered that men of quality and learning should have free access to them. The books originally, and for a long time afterwards, were fastened to the shelves by chains just long enough to allow the reader to reach them down to the table. He died August 22, 1681, aged seventy-five.

A handsome marble monument was erected to his memory in Kendal Church, and bears the following eulogistic inscription :

Heus Peripatetice !
Siste, disce, et (si pcessis) imitare.
En pulchrum tibi virtutis, specimen

It was originally placed against a pillar at the west end of the aldermen's pew, but was moved in 1852 to a more appropriate site at the west end of the south aisle.

One Thomas Sands, probably the issuer, was sworn a member of the Armourers' Company in 1641 (Kendal "Boke of Recorde").

Kirkland adjoins the town of Kendal, and now forms part of both the Parliamentary and municipal borough, and being without the jurisdiction of the Mayor, was formerly much resorted to by tradesmen not free of the Corporation.

Only one specimen is at present known of this token, which is in the Bodleian Library, Oxford, and bequeathed to it by Brown Willis, the antiquary, in 1760.—Nicolson and Burn's "History of Cumberland and Westmorland," i., p. 73.

A variety with the arms of Kendal, as shown on that of the Mercers' piece, was found in Kendal in 1844.—Gateshead Observer, March 5, 1853.

Drunken Barnaby, whose lines on Kendal we quote above, sings of Kirkland :

"Nunc ad Kirkland, et de eo,
'Prope Templo procul Deo'
Dici potest, spectant Templum,
Sacerdotis et exemplum,
Audient tamen citius sonum
Tibiæ quàm concionem."

"Now to Kirkland, truly by it
May that say be verified,
'Far from God but neare the Temple ;'
Though their pastor give exemple,
They are such a kind of vermin,
Pipe they'd rather heare than sermon."

NUMBER OF TOKENS ISSUED. 279

NUMBER OF PLACES ISSUING TOKENS 50

TOWN PIECES ISSUED AT MARLBOROUGH AND SALISBURY.

Sub-Editor and Collaborateur :

W. CUNNINGTON, ESQ., F.G.S.,

58, Acre Lane, S.W.

Wiltshire.

THE tokens of this county are mainly of ordinary character. They are all halfpence and farthings, there being no pennies amongst the series. They commence early, one of them, issued by John Gage, of Bradford, bearing the date 1649; and they continue to 1671, almost the last year in which such tokens were permitted to circulate.

To the places of issue named in the first edition we are enabled to add the names of Barford, Bratton, Hilmarton, Heytesbury, Marshfield, Rôad, and Shurston-Magna.

Several tokens attributed by Boyne to Wilton have been transferred to Wilton in Norfolk, the parish registers of that place having proved that the former attribution was incorrect.

The number of tokens issued at Salisbury is unusually large for one place, and gives information as to the commercial importance of the city in the seventeenth century.

Much assistance in the compilation of notes has been rendered by an examination of the large collection of tokens in the Devizes Museum, the property of the Wiltshire Archæological Society. This examination was kindly undertaken by F. M. Willis, Esq., of Steeple Ashton, Wilts, and for his correction from the specimens the Editor is very grateful. Mr. F. Goldney, of Chippenham, and Mr. H. S. Gill, have rendered much assistance also, but to Mr. W. Cunningham, F.G.S., the Editor is mainly indebted, and to his energetic and patient investigation the main value of this list of Wiltshire tokens is obtained. Much of Mr. Cunningham's labour of love has been pursued while his health has been far from good, and even while suffering from a painful inflammation in his eyes, and a very full expression of gratitude is accorded to him for courtesy and consideration of a rare order and generous type.

BRADFORD-ON-AVON.

Several towns in England having the same name, it is difficult to apportion the tokens bearing that name. Under the name of Bradford there are tokens in Yorkshire, Wilts, and Somerset. By searching parish registers, and by other kinds of inquiry, Mr. Boyne had done his best to distinguish them. To Bradford in Yorkshire he assigns the following: Wm. Bancks; John Cooke, 1666; John Cook and Josiah Farrand; John Durham, 1667; Wm. Hopkinson; Thos. Ibbotson; John Preston, 1666; Jacob Selbee, 1665. To Bradford (near Taunton), co. Somerset, Will. Serle, 1659. Those in the text to Bradford, Wilts, now called Bradford-on-Avon.

It will be seen by reference to Wilts Archaeological Magazine, vol. v., p. 50, that some of the tokens there considered to belong to Bradford in Wilts are among those assigned by Mr. Boyne to Bradford in Yorkshire.

The pipes on this and other tokens are of the kind called by the vulgar "fairy pipes," which were made at the commencement of the seventeenth century. They are frequently found in ploughed fields, whither they have been carried in manure. They are generally without stems, but when perfect are about eight inches long, thicker in the stem than modern pipes, with small heads almost egg-shaped. In some districts they are found with the maker's initials at the bottom of the head. By some they are believed to have been made long prior to the reign of Elizabeth, during whose reign tobacco was first introduced; there are certainly reasons for supposing that the custom of smoking is more ancient than the introduction of tobacco. When half of the great tower of Kirkstall Abbey, co. York, fell down in 1779, a number of these "fairy pipes" were found imbedded in the mortar, and it is known that the most modern part of the tower was built in the reign of Henry VII.; and after the abbey was dismantled at the Reformation, there was no access to the upper part of the tower. Several were lately found at Newcastle in the castle midden on removing the houses built on that ancient accumulation. These pipes are called in Ireland "Danes' pipes." One was found in a Danish cairn in 1855. (See Ulster Journal of Archaeology, iii., p. 320.)

CHIPPENHAM.

We learn from the "Records of Chippenham," by Fred. Hastings Goldney, Esq., Mayor of the borough 1889, that the names of the issuers of all the following tokens still exist in Chippenham, save that of Gage, which has died out. Hearman has become Hereman.

The following notes as to some of the issuers are extracted from the same work :
 "1654. John Steevens is paid £1 5s. for six sugar-loaves weighing 18 $\frac{3}{4}$ lb. at 1s. 4d. per lb., presented by the town to Coll. Popham."

"John Steevens, John Webb, and others are paid £4 15s. 5d. for Gunpowder spent on the day of the coronacon of the King's Ma^{tie}, Ap. 25, 1661."

"Nov. 10, 1676. John Shorte, being convicted before the Bayliffe for approbious words spoken against John Stevens, one of the burgesses, and others of the fraternity, by calling them knaves and other scurilous language, it is agreed by the Bayliffe and the court that the said John Shorte shall be debarred," etc.

Further on he is spoken of as a Dissenter, and "fitt to be a Deputy-Lieutenant and Justice of The Peace;" and again, in the King's Agents' report to his Majesty, it is said that "Sir John Eyles (also a Dissenter), and Edw^d Hope are both right (i.e., in favour of the repeal of the Test and Penal Statutes), and that they would undoubtedly be chosen as members of Parliament."—Vide "Rawlinson MSS." in the Bodleian Library.

This man was a bookseller, and suffered very heavy losses in the Great Fire of 1653. He says: "I have but little left saved, not above £8 worth of all my goods and books. The children are crying to go home, and I tell them we have none to go to. What shall I do?"

In 1642 the Royalists took Marlborough, and fed a fire for three hours with Hammond's stock-in-trade.—Vide "Waylen's History."

The following issuers, marked "N.B.," also lost heavily in the fire:

John Bayly, grocer, heavily; Thomas Keene, £270; William Pureur, £230; Richard Shipre, £560; Oliver Shropshire, innkeeper, £204—all evidently men of substance.—Vide "Waylen's History."

SALISBURY.

Hatcher, in his "History of New Sarum," quotes the following interesting note from the city records:

"Octr. 30th, 1658. Mr. Stone and Mr. Hely, then in London, requested to take course for stamping 5 pounds worth of farthings with the city arms and such inscription as they may think fit."

The die-sinkers were probably confined to London and a few of the large towns, and hence, perhaps, the frequent errors and variations in the spelling of local names, mistakes which would not have been made by persons familiar with the people and places, as, for instance, John Cragge, grocer in Sarum—John Grace, grocer in Sarum.

Amongst the list of the eighty-six burgesses who voted in 1656 for the return of two members of Parliament are found the names of the following issuers: Thomas Cutler, jun. (171), George Godfrey (184), Henry Gilbert, William Gapen, Edward Faulconer (176), Nicholas Haskoll (195), William Joyce (199), Christopher Legg (200), Edward Mason (206), Simon Rolfe (222).

Hatcher also mentions, in reference to the rising of Royalists in the West of England in 1654, that Edmund Mack (203) was an apothecary in Salisbury, one of the seven who pleaded guilty of raising war against the Government, and was probably pardoned.

Sub-Editor and Collaborateur :

Vide Preface.

Worcestershire.

It is with infinite regret that the Editor has to record the death of one of the most energetic helpers and generous of men whom it has ever been his good fortune to know.

Mr. W. A. Cotton, of Bromsgrove, to whom the Editor is indebted for almost all of the notes and the preface to the tokens of Worcestershire, died in June, 1889, at the very early age of 37, before he was able to rejoice in the completion of his labours. Few men have been of greater service to their native town than Mr. Cotton, and almost every public work owed much to his self-sacrificing energy. As the historian of the locality, and as the author of the important work on the "Coins, Tokens, and Medals of Worcestershire," his aid in the compilation of the following pages was of the highest importance, and his stores of knowledge were always most generously placed at the disposal of the Editor whenever required.

Mr. Cotton's abilities as a token and coin collector were of a marked order. He was scrupulously exact in details, and punctilious in descriptions, and he possessed a merit that immediately commended him to the Editor, in that he always answered letters.

The blocks that illustrate the county, and the very fine folding-plate of coins and tokens, were lent by him to the Editor, and all he knew and all he possessed was, in his own warm-hearted way, placed at the service of the book. No tribute can be paid to his memory that is too warm, and with deep regret the Editor deplores the loss of a dear and valued correspondent, helper, and friend.

The four plates of the tokens that follow this part are very kindly presented by Mr. John Cotton, architect, of Birmingham, "in memoriam" of his brother.

The workmanship of the Worcestershire tokens is, as stated by Mr. W. A. Cotton in the book above referred to, creditable, generally, to the period, and will compare favourably with some of the productions of later date. They afford much curious information, especially as to trades carried on in the various towns, and the unsettled state of English orthography, as instanced by the variety of ways in which the same word is spelt. Many of them are ingenious in their style, some being of brass with a plug of copper in the centre, others square, octagonal, and heart-shaped; but by far the larger number are round. Those issued in the county now under notice furnish one or more of all these varieties. They are all half-pennies and farthings—no pennies being issued, and about two-thirds of the entire number are farthings. They frequently bear heraldic devices on the obverse side, usually indicating the trade or business in which the issuer was engaged, or else the arms of the town where he lived. A few of the issuers bore arms, which appear on their tokens. In the case of the "town-pieces" issued by "The Wardens of Bewdley," THE BURROW OF EVESHAM, and the City of Worcester, the arms of the respective places appear. Stourbridge also issued an interesting "town piece," bearing the Ironworkers' Arms on the obverse, and the Clothworkers' Arms on the reverse, thus showing the principal trades carried on in the town at that time. In the centre part of the reverse of the tokens the trader's initials with that of his wife very frequently occur, as in the case of Walter Palmer, of Bewdley, ^P_{WA}, who married Anne Clare, the initial of the surname being uppermost. Only one trader—William Chetle, of Worcester—issued a token bearing a merchant's-mark.

"Every community, tradesman, or tradeswoman, that issu'd this useful kind of specie, was obliged to take it again when it was brought to them, and therefore in cities and larger towns, where many sorts of them were current, a tradesman kept a sorting box, into the partitions of which (which we may suppose were nearly as many as there were people there that coin'd) he put the money of the respective coiners, and at proper times, when he had a competent quantity of any one person's money, he sent it to him and got it changed into silver. One of these sorting-boxes I once saw in the city of Rochester, in Kent, with ten or a dozen partitions in it."*

The writer has one of these boxes, with twelve compartments, believed to have been used for this purpose by Henry Jefferys, a grocer in Bromsgrove at that period. In London the changing of these tokens became a business, and there are examples of tokens issued by those who styled themselves "farthing changers."

Some of the tokens bear a remarkable resemblance to each other, leading to the belief that many of the dies were engraved by the same person. An illustration of this is found in the ornamentation partaking of the same character—a device something like the Wake and Ormond knot, from the ends of which flowers appear—to be found on the tokens of Porter, Rogers, and Timothy Jefferys, all of Bromsgrove; and on those of Fransham, of Evesham, and William Finch, of Worcester.

These tokens "originated with a public necessity, but in the end became a nuisance." They partook largely of the nature of trade advertisements, and, as they were payable only at the shop at which they were issued, they were inconvenient.

With reference to the "clipt" money, various sums were collected throughout the county, and in the accounts of the parish of Bromsgrove we find that on "April 5th, 1700, Granted on Houses to make good the Clip'd Money, £47 8s." A like entry, on May 2, 1702, informs us that the sum raised for this purpose amounted to £73 16s.

* S. P., in Gentleman's Magazine, 1757, vol. xxvii. An illustration is given of the token and the dies.

Boyne (first edition) describes 112 varieties of tokens issued in Worcestershire in the seventeenth century, which are included in the present list, additions being marked. Green gives engravings of thirty-six tokens issued in Worcester, and Nash of thirty-six issued in the city and county. The collection in the possession of the Corporation of Worcester has been examined, and private friends and collectors have afforded much valuable information.

In Green's "Worcester,"* allusion is made to a coin of lead "now in the library at Oxford; it appears by the inscription to have been designed for a halfpenny: from its rarity there is great reason to believe very few were struck; the industrious Mr. Snelling having taken no notice thereof." Dr. Nash and Green each give an engraving of this token, but as both these—especially that of Green—are incorrect, I have pleasure in presenting my readers with what I believe to be a facsimile of the original in the Bodleian Library, engraved from a plaster cast obtained through the kindness of F. Madan, Esq., sub-librarian. This token, marked No. 91, under the head of English medals, is in a good state of preservation, and believed to be unique. It came to the library in the Browne-Willis collection, between 1739 and 1760, and was given to that gentleman by Mrs. Bridget Price, of Gloucester. It was probably struck at Worcester.

O. GOD BLE^S: C. R. IN MINDING THE POORE FROM FRAD=WAR BRINGS PECE. A sword and olive-branch crossed. C R.
Ex. WORTH SOE MVCH.

R. GOD. DID PRESARVE C R FROM WOSTER. 1661=An oak-tree bearing three crowns. WORTH A Ex. HAPENY.

The modern reading of this token is:

O. GOD BLESS KING CHARLES IN MINDING THE POOR FROM FRAUD=WAR BRINGS PEACE. Ex. WORTH SO MUCH.

R. GOD DID PRESERVE KING CHARLES FROM WORCESTER. 1661.
Ex. WORTH A HALFPENNY.

* Vol. ii., p. 102.

From the date on the token we gather that it was not struck till the year of the accession of Charles II. to the throne of England. The oak-tree, with the crowns in its branches, has reference to the hiding of this King at Boscobel, after the Battle of Worcester; whilst the phrase, "war brings peace," denotes that the troublous times, in which the city of Worcester played such an important part, had passed, and that the country was then in a state of quietude. Who the issuer of this unique and interesting piece was it is impossible to surmise, but it is clear that he was one of the many loyal subjects who viewed with pleasure and satisfaction the restoration of the King to the throne.

It has occurred to me, however, says Mr. Cotton, that it might possibly have been issued by some of the Carliss or Carless family, of whom the famous and loyal Colonel William Carless was a member. After the Battle of Worcester, the Colonel, with the King and numerous of his followers, passed out of the city, the King making good his escape to Boscobel, where he was subsequently joined by Colonel Carless. In the belief that the rebels would search the premises, the King and the Colonel decided to spend the day in a "thick-leaved" oak-tree which stood at no great distance from the house. Here, securely screened from view, the King, tired and weary, rested his head on the knees of the Colonel, and fell into a deep sleep. From Boscobel Charles made his escape to Moseley, and afterwards to the Continent, where his trusty friend the Colonel subsequently joined him again. It is stated that the name was changed to Carlos at the request of the King, and that on May 21, 1658, the following arms, crest, etc., bearing a striking resemblance to the ornamentation adopted on this token, were granted to him: Or, on a mount in base vert, an oak-tree proper, over all on a fess gules three regal crowns of the field. Crest: A sword argent, hilt and pommel or, and a sceptre of the last in saltire, enfiled with an oaken civic crown vert. Motto: "Subditus fidelis Regis, et salus Regni."

Colonel Carlos was born at Bromhall, in Staffordshire, about two miles from Boscobel, and is said to have been descended from an ancient Shropshire family. He was buried at Brewood, and left nearly the whole of his property to Edward Carlos, then of Worcester, apothecary, and his issue. Grazebrook (p. 102) says, "What relationship, if any, existed between them does not appear, but there was an Anthony Carless who was Warden of the Clothworkers' Company at Worcester, in 1665, who may have been the father of Edward. . . . Walter Carless, of Worcester, but afterwards of Powick, apothecary, evidently one of the family, died in 1843, aged 84, and has a monument at Powick, whereon are represented the Carlos arms."

It is possible that this lead piece was struck as a pattern halfpenny token by one of the members of the Carless or Carlos family, some of whom were trading in Worcester in the seventeenth century at the time when this token was struck (1661), and when tokens were being issued in the city in considerable numbers. Nothing is more natural than that the principal charges contained in the arms and crest so recently, and under such peculiar circumstances, granted to a member of the family, should appear on any token they thought it desirable to issue.

ALVECHURCH.

Only one token is known to have been issued here, and it is the only one in the county struck by a woman. It was described by Boyne, but was evidently a poor specimen. I have never been able to meet with this token, and conclude it is very rare.

2. O. EDWARD . PITWAY . AT . THE = A lion rampant.

R. RED . LYON . IN . BENGWORTE = E . F . P.

$\frac{1}{4}$

Edward Pittway appears to have been one of the leading Quakers of the district, and a man of good position, having been Mayor of Evesham in 1648. When George Fox, in 1655, obtained information that the magistrates of Evesham had put several of his followers in prison, he determined to visit the town, previously sending for Edward Pittway, to ascertain if the information he had received was correct, and to know if it was true, as had been reported, that the magistrates of the town had ordered a pair of high stocks to be erected on the occasion of his proposed visit. Pittway informed him that the rumour was quite correct, and at night both set out for the town, and in the evening there was "a large and precious meeting" of Friends. The followers of Fox had become objects of rancorous persecution by the magistrates of Evesham, and formal representation was made to Cromwell concerning their conduct. Twelve of the persons whose names had been attached to the document were fined in sums varying from £2 to £20, the amount last mentioned being laid on Pittway.

The following entry occurs in one of the books of the Evesham Corporation :

"5th Oct^r, 1655. This day Edward Pitway, the capital burgess, was removed therefrom ; being indicted at the sessions for publishing a scandalous paper against the magistrates ; for abusing Mr. Robert Martin ; for his rude behaviour in court ; and for his evil behaviour towards Mr. Recorder."

A short time after this several of the most prominent Quakers of the district were imprisoned, and others persecuted ; but their numbers rapidly augmented. They met at Pittway's house, afterwards the Red Lion Inn—from which our token was issued—and subsequently the Northwick Arms. By the year 1675 the Quakers had obtained a distinct burial-place at Bengeworth, behind the dwelling-house of Pittway, which, says May, in his "History of Evesham," remains the property of the Society, though at present cultivated as a garden. This piece of land, by feoffment dated July 16, 1675, was, in consideration of £5, conveyed by Edward Pittway, of Bengeworth—and again, by feoffment of March 19, 1678, by Stephen Pittway—unto trustees (being Quakers), their heirs and assigns, "for such purposes only as between the parties and other persons concerned were formerly agreed upon, and no otherwise." The property is described as a small piece of garden ground in Bengeworth, adjoining "the Parsonage Close," and behind the dwelling-house of the said Edward Pittway, with way or passage through the yard gates on the south side of the said dwelling house.

An engraving of this token appears in Tindal's "History and Antiquities of the Abbey and Borough of Evesham" (plate v., p. 142), reading on the

There was probably a considerable number of tokens issued by Pittway, as they are comparatively common ; I have several in my own collection.

BEWDLEY.

The tokens of Bewdley are, perhaps, the most interesting of any town in the county, presenting a variety of shapes unknown in other places, and including town-piece, the above illustration, bearing the arms of the borough, representing the reverse side of the same. Bewdley church is a chapel-of-ease to the mother church of Ribbesford.

4. O. The | Wardens . | Halfe . peny | . of . Bewdley (in four lines). (Script.)

R. 1668 = An anchor between a rose and a sword.

This token is octagonal in shape. Boyne, in the letter-press of his work, gives the inscription on the obverse of the token with a small "h" in the word "halfe," but in his illustration of this town-piece it is correctly represented with a capital "H." An engraving of the token appears in Nash, and in Snelling (plate i., No. 7). The arms of Bewdley, as given in Grazebrook's "Heraldry of Worcestershire" (vol. i., p. 50), are, "Argent, an anchor in pale azure, the ring or, the anchor surmounted with a fetterlock of the second ; within the fetterlock, on the dexter side of the anchor, a sword erect of the last, pommel and hilt or ; on the sinister side of the anchor (also within the fetterlock) a rose gules." (Burke's "Armory," and "Town Seal.") Nash (vol. ii., p. 284), quoting Habingdon, describes the arms as depicted in the church, "Argent, an anchor azure through a tun or, on the dexter point a sword in chief of the second hilted of the third, on the sinister a rose gules with a branch slipped vert." The same coat was found by Symonds, "depicted on the wall" of Bewdley church. (See his Diary, published by the Camden Society.) On the town seal the principal charge is a fetterlock, not a tun ; but in some old examples of the coat the base of the fetterlock is fashioned somewhat like a tun or barrel. In "The Visitation of the County of Worcester," in 1682-83, the arms are given as "an anchor in pale surmounted by a fetterlock, within the fetterlock on the dexter side of the anchor a sword erect ; on the sinister side of the anchor a rose."

(I am indebted to the kindness of the Rev. John R. Burton, Rector of Dowles, for the following extract from the records of the Corporation, as well as for notes on the other tokens issued in Bewdley.)

"1668. Whereas the eight-square [octagonal] peeces of brass stamped on the side with the armes of the said Borough and by an inscription on the other side, entituled the wardens' half peny of Bewdley, upon experience are found convenient for the more ready change of money and usefull in point of trade and commerce, especially to the poorer sort of the same Borough—And whereas the quantity thereof already stamped (admitting them current coine of y^e value of each of them of a silver half peny) amounts to thirtie pounds. Now for the encouragement of such as shall take them, etc., it is ordered that the Bridgewardens of the said Borough shall give in exchange for every foure and twenty of such peeces one shilling in current silver, and so proportionably, and if any losse should occur, the Bridgewarden may reimburse himself out of y^e towne rents."

The letters forming the surname have the appearance of being unduly crowded. On three specimens in my collection the reading is as No. 5, and it is not improbable that the letters ER existed only in the fertile imagination of the engraver.

7. O. THOMAS | DEDICOT | GROCER | HIS . HALF | PENNY (in five lines).

R. IN | BEWDLEY | (three cloves) | SQVARE | DEALING.

This token is the only one in the series square in shape. Engravings of it appear in Nash and Snelling (plate v., No. 24), but without the dot between "HIS" and "HALF" on the obverse.

Thomas Dedicot was bailiff of Bewdley in 1661. In 1667 a William Dedicot succeeded Edward Longmore (who "died in his office"), being again bailiff in 1680. In the Ribbesford registers is an entry of the baptism:

"1594, Oct. 30, Anne, the daughter of Thomas Dedicott, of wrignall."

Dr. Brewer, in his "Dictionary of Phrase and Fable," describes round dealing as "honest straightforward dealing, without branching off into underhand tricks, or deviating from the straight path into the byeways of finesse," an idea here intended to be conveyed by square dealing.

Bewdley was famous for its sailors' caps, which were ordered to be worn by Act of Parliament in the reign of Queen Elizabeth, under a penalty of 3s. 4d. They were worn by all classes, until the present French hat was introduced about 1685. The Act required "that all above the age of six years, except some of a certain state and condition, shall wear upon the Sabbath or holy days, upon their heads, one cap of wool, knit, thicked, and dressed in England, upon forfeiture of 3s. 4d."

One of the most eminent cappers of Bewdley was Walter Palmer, who lived in the High Street, in the house now belonging (1883) to Mr. Marcy. His daughter Sarah was married at Ribbesford, August 23, 1688, to Israel Wilkes, grandfather of the notorious John Wilkes, member for Middlesex, and editor of the North Briton. Another daughter married Dr. James Douglas, Physician to Queen Caroline, and his son George married Anne Johnson in 1687, and was grandfather of Mrs. Skey, wife of Jonathan Skey. Fuller ("Worthies," p. 49) says this occupation ("capper") set no less than fifteen callings to work. Machinery was forbidden, and the trade protected by law. In 22nd Edward IV. a penalty of 40s. was inflicted upon anyone setting up a fulling-mill. A mill would thicken and full more caps in a day than four score men, and it was considered inconvenient to turn so many labouring men to idleness. In the 3rd Henry VIII. it was enacted that no caps or hats ready wrought should be brought from beyond seas. In 13th Elizabeth caps were to be worn by all persons (some of worship and quality excepted) on Sabbath and holy days, under penalty of ten groats. This was repealed in 39th Elizabeth. By an act of the common council of London in 1665 all caps were to be brought to Blackwell Hall, except Monmouth and Bewdley caps. The French Protestant refugees brought into England the use of hats, and the new fashion caused the decline of the Bewdley manufactures. In the time of Charles II., Mr. Tarrington says: "Cap-making in Bewdley is grown so low, that great part of the ancient cap-makers in that town are wholly decayed, and the rest at this present day are in a very low condition."—Burton's "History of Bewdley" (8vo., 1883, pp. 12 and 13). Mr. Burton further says the trade appears to have afterwards revived, and to have lingered on till the beginning of the present century. The "Worcestershire Guide" for 1797 enumerates amongst the callings exercised here, "Dutch and sailors' caps, which are much prized for excellent napping." Capmaking is now a thing of the past.

The connection of John Wilkes, a member of Parliament, and editor of the North Briton newspaper, with this family, will be seen from the pedigree following. He was prosecuted for his independent attack against the abuses of the Government. In 1768 he was returned for Middlesex, but declared by the Commons to be disqualified from taking his seat; though he was four times returned as member for the county, the rival candidate, Colonel Luttrell, with only a fourth of the votes, was declared to be the sitting member, and took his seat in the Commons in his stead. The agitation arising out of these things led to the publication of the splendid letters of "Junius," the author of which has never been discovered; as well as the début of the celebrated Charles James Fox, in defence of the liberties of the people.

It seems probable that the Wilkes family originally came from Bewdley. There are still some people of that name at Button Oak, in Dowles parish. The following extracts from the Ribbesford registers should be of interest :

Baptism. 1593. Oct. 14, Katheren, the daughter of John Wilkes.

Marriage. 1615. Oct. 12, Arthyr Palmer and Elizabeth Shelly at Dowles.

„ 1680. Aug. 26, Walter Palmer and Anne Pooley. Licence.

„ 1688. Aug. 23, Israell Wilks and Sarah Palmer. Licence.

In the Bewdley Chapel and Bridgewardens' Accounts we find entries referring to Mr. John Wilkes, who was chapelwarden in 1643, and a mercer in the town :

1600.—P^d to John Wilkes the 12 of May 1600 by Mr. Cowpur appoyntment for the hier of a horse to Lichfield about the survaur of the schole house.

1630.—Receipts for Seates in the chappell of John Wilkes mercer 00 03 00.

The gateway on the old bridge was pulled down when the bridge was removed. It “was under an arch in a timber-house of two stories which stood on one of the piers of the bridge ; on one side of the house was a dwelling for the gatekeeper, and on the other a prison ! It is said there was an ancient chapel at the foot of the bridge, which was dedicated to St. Ann, and the old inhabitants inform me that the place thereabout was in former years called ‘St. Ann’s Corner.’ The intention in erecting these chapels on or near bridges was that travellers should return thanks in them and pray for safe journeys. The custom is of very high antiquity.”*

Nash gives an engraving of a token reading like the above, and this may have been copied by Boyne ; but on one in my own collection the name is perfectly plain, and reads :

13. O. PETER . WALTER . OF . BEWDLEY = Arms : a fess between three pears.

R. (Same as No. 12.) $\frac{1}{2}$

The name of Peter Walter appears in the list of capital burgesses present at the herald’s visitation of the county on August 21, 1682.

A token issued here is by Boyne included under those of Gloucestershire, $\frac{8}{8}$.

On the token in my collection there is $\frac{1}{2}$ on the reverse, but in Boyne this is omitted, and no mention is made of the value of the token. Whether or not there is another variety in which this does not appear I am unable to say.

16. O. PHILIP . HODGES . IN = A hart lodged.

R. BRODWAY . 1669 = HIS HALF PENY. $\frac{1}{2}$

The Hodges were an ancient and respectable Broadway family ; they bore arms and purchased lands in the parish 20th of Elizabeth. In 1686, a Thomas Hodges

* “The Rambler in Worcestershire,” by John Noake, 1851.

founded and endowed a school in Broadway for educating, clothing, and apprenticing twenty poor boys. The hart forms no part of the arms or crest of the family, although an antelope's head erased or, ducally gorged gules, is the crest of the Hodges of Harvington, Worcestershire, who, like the Hodges of Hampton Lovett and Devonshire, each bear the same arms as the Broadway Hodges, viz., Or, three crescents sable, on a canton of the last a ducal coronet of the first.

BROMSGROVE.

Boyne describes only five tokens as being issued here; I am therefore enabled to add five unpublished varieties of this town, making a total of ten. The name of the town is variously spelt Brovmsgrove, Bromesgrove, and Broomsgrove. It is supposed by many that Bromsgrove was formerly known as Boarsgrove, and Burcot as Boarscot, but there appears to be no evidence in support of the supposition; at all events, the tokens of the seventeenth century do not in any way favour the idea. The device adopted on the seals of the various town authorities is a boar, similar to the above woodcut.

$\frac{1}{2}$

18. O. IOSIAH . DINGLEY = I . D.

R. IN . BROMSGROVE = 1669.

$\frac{1}{4}$

During the restoration of Beoley Church, near Redditch, on taking up the belfry floor, among other coins found was one of Josiah Dingley's tokens.

The Dingleys or Dineleys are an old Worcestershire family, and in reference to the name "Oddingley," a village in Worcestershire, the following ancient couplet relates to a traditional fight between two Saxon giants, Odd and Dingley, as to the name of the place, in which Odd, getting the worst of the encounter, shouted:

"O Dingley! Dingley! spare my breath,
It shall be called Oddingley Heath."

John and Luke, two sons of Josiah Dingley, were buried in 1686, the former on January 6, and the latter on June 11. A Joseph Dingley, probably a brother to Josiah, was living in the town at that time.

19. O. HENRY . IEFFREYS = The Grocers' Arms.

R. IN . BROMSGROVE = H . I.

$\frac{1}{4}$

20. O. HENRY . JEFFREYS . HIS = HALF PENY.

R. IN . BROMSGROVE = The Grocers' Arms.

 $\frac{1}{2}$

This well-struck and interesting token is of brass, with a plug of copper in the centre. The parish registers furnish us with the following information :

1650. January 16, Married Mr. Henry Jefferies and Miss Mary Woodcock.

1652. September 1, Bapt : Elizabeth ^{y^e} daughter of Henry Jeffereys.

1654. April The two and twentieth, born Sara, the daughter of Henry Jefferies, Mercer, and Mary his wife, bapt. 28.

1654. July, Buried The one and twentieth Sara, daughter of Henry and Mary Jeffreyes.

1655. June The twenty-third, born Sara, the daughter of Henry Jefferies.

He probably combined the business of mercer with that of grocer. The daughter, Sara, born on April 21, died exactly three months after, on July 21, and the child next born being a daughter was also christened Sara.

21. O. IOHN | JEFFERYS | IN . BROMS | . GROVE . (in four lines).

R. HIS | HALF . PENY | I . I | 1668 (in four lines).

 $\frac{1}{2}$

This token is engraved in Nash. It does not appear from the token what occupation he followed, but from his will and inventory of his effects he was evidently a mercer, and, judging from the amount of his stock-in-trade and personal estate, we may presume he was in a fair position, which surmise is borne out by the frequency of his signature in the parish books about the year 1684, and by his will, from which we gather that he was owner of the property where he carried on the business, subject to a mortgage. He left two children—both daughters—and all his property passed to his wife, in “good assurance” that she would “educate and breede” the children to the “best of her ability.” His stock-in-trade and debts were valued at £300, “besides a certaine lease of houses” at £250, and an item of £10 for “moneys forgott.”

In the registers the following entries occur referring to this family :

1652. Nov 4 Bapt Rebeccah, daughter of Thomas Porter of y^e town.
 1654. Sep The 24 Samuell son of Mr. Thomas Porter Married.
 1656. Oct 31 Born Priscilla the daughter of Mr. Thomas Porter.
 1702. November 16 Bur. Mary Porter Wid. in linnen.

Joseph, a son of the said Thomas Porter, was buried March 20, 1688. Over he priests' entrance, on the outside wall of the chancel of Bromsgrove church, is a tablet to the memory of this family :

"Under these 3 stones, are interred the Bodies of Thomas Porter, of Bromsgrove, Mercer, who died in the year 1673, being the 73rd year of his age. And of Mary his wife, who died November the 13th 1702, being the 86th year of her age. And of Samuel their Son, who died November 1st, 1703, With several other of their children.

" 'Blessed are the dead which die in the lord.' Revelations 14th V^r 13th."

The date of the death of Thomas Porter is not stated on the tablet, but we find from the registers that he was buried on March 16. Samuel Porter, above referred to, left the rentals of two leasehold estates at Stoke Prior (the rents of which at the time of his death amounted to £56 11s. 2d.), to be "distributed among such poor of the parish as received no pay." The term expired in 1803. It was probably this Samuel Porter who caused the above tablet to be erected.

In 1690, Mary Porter paid poll-tax for herself and five children—six shillings.

In the parish registers we find ;

“1655. January The 29th pub. yrd time in y^e market an intended marriage between William Porter Mercer and Frances Vernon Daughter of M^r Richard Vernon of Doderhill prsh gent. & Married Feb 14 next.”

His wife Frances died November 1, 1685, and a son John in the same year. A Robert Porter was baptized December 27, 1687, and was buried January 10 in the year following.

“William Porter Sen^r & his daughter paid Poll tax in 1690—2 shillings & William Porter Jun^r and his wife —2 shillings”

A William Porter, of Bromsgrove, disclaimed arms at the Visitation of the County in 1682-3.

From the will we gather that the father (the issuer of the token) had disposed of the business to his son William. He had also parted with possession of land and personal effects to a considerable extent in his lifetime, thus accounting for the small sum at which his furniture, etc., was valued at his decease. He leaves William Porter half-a-crown, to buy him a pair of gloves; he gives Joseph Porter and his daughter Frances each “one twenty shilling piece of old broad gold;” the latter was to receive in addition “the lesser of the two bigger brass pots,” as he had given with her to John Johnson “a very competent marriage portion in money and goods proportionable to the estate of the same John Johnson.”

I give below his will, and the interesting inventory of his personal effects. Mention is made of a truckle-bedstead in the chamber over the pantry. This truckle or trundle-bed was a low piece of furniture, which in earlier days was rolled under a higher bedstead, the name being of considerable antiquity. The rollicking host of the Garter, in the Merry Wives of Windsor,* in describing Falstaff's room, says :

“There's his chamber, his house, his castle, his standing-bed, and truckle-bed: 'tis painted about with the story of the prodigal, fresh and new.”

Bishop Hall, in his “Toothless Satires,” makes the trencher chaplain “lie upon the truckle-bed

Whiles his young maister lieth o'er his head.”

* Act IV., Scene V.

Butler, the Worcestershire poet, who died in 1680, thus alludes to the truckle-bedstead :

“ When Hudibras, whom thoughts and aching
 ’Twixt sleeping kept, all night, and waking,
 Began to rub his drowsy eyes,
 And from his couch prepar’d to rise,
 Resolving to dispatch the deed
 He vow’d to do, with trusty speed,
 But first, with knocking loud, and bawling,
 He rous’d the Squire, in truckle lolling.”*

27. O. SAMVELL . ROGERS . 1668 = S . R .

R. IN . BROOMSGROVE = HIS HALFF PENNY.

$\frac{1}{2}$

This Samuel Rogers was a Papist, and in 1690 paid poll-tax for himself two shillings, and for his wife one shilling, all Papists and Quakers being charged double tax. He had a son Joseph, born in May, 1654; and on November 24, 1656, was "born James son of Sam. and Jane Rogers." He left no will, and his wife took out letters of administration to his estate, which was evidently small, his entire personalty being sworn at £33 10s. 2d. He was an apothecary, in addition to which he fulfilled the duties of a barber-surgeon, a "barber's shop cloth" being included in the items valued. Amongst the other matters mentioned in the inventory were :

	£	s.	d.
Item. His wearing apprl and money in his purse ...	2	0	0
Item. In the shopp the counter, one nest of small boxes and sheelves gallipotts w th a . . . some other boxes, drugges, and some other things in the shopp ...	8	0	0
Item. Books	1	0	0

In the hall was "one trunk, one old coffer, one kneading tubb, several boxes and sheelves, two chayers, one Jacke, one fire grate, fire shovell and broach (?), one brass candlestick," etc.

"The Barber-Surgeon was formerly known by his Pole at the door, the reason of which is sought by a querist in the "British Apollo," fol., London, 1708, No. 3 :

" 'I'de know why he that selleth ale
Hangs out a chequer'd part per pale ;
And why a barber at port-hole
Puts forth a party-coloured pole.'

" "Answer.

" "In ancient Rome, when men lov'd fighting,
And wounds and scars took much delight in,
Man-menders then had noble pay,
Which we call surgeons to this day—
'Twas order'd that a long pole,
With basin deck'd, should grace the hole
To guide the wounded, who unlopt
Could walk, on stumps the other hopt.
But when they ended all their wars,
And men grew out of love with scars,
Their trade decaying, to keep swimming,
They join'd their other trade of trimming ;
And to their poles, to publish either,
Thus twisted both their trades together.'

The pole was used by the barber-surgeon for the patient to grasp in blood-letting, a fillet or bandaging being used for tying his arm. When the pole was not in use, the tape was tied to it, and twisted round it ; and thus both were hung up as a sign. At length, instead of hanging out the actual pole used in the operation, a pole was painted with stripes round it, in imitation of the real pole and its bandages ; hence the barber's pole. Lord Thurlow, in his speech for postponing the further reading of the Surgeons' Incorporation Bill, July 17, 1797, stated that, 'by a statute still in force the barbers and surgeons were each to use a pole.'"

DROITWICH.

The tokens of Droitwich each bear the arms of the borough, and it is a matter for surprise that only three are known to have been issued in this ancient town.

R. APOTH . IN . DROYTWICH = Arms of the town of Droitwich:

$\frac{1}{2}$

Grazebrook gives the arms of the town: "Argent, two lions passant in pale surmounting a sword of state in pale point downwards; impaling, quarterly first and fourth, checky argent and sable; second and third, gules, two barrows or. The seal of the Statute Merchant of Droitwich bears checky argent and sable; impaling the two barrows." Barrows were conical baskets, into which the salt was put to let the water drain from it.

There were many families of the name of Allen living in Droitwich in the seventeenth century, and in the registers of St. Andrew's the following entries are to be found relating to this branch:

"Bap: Steephen, the sonne of Roger Allen, was baptized the xxvj day of December, 1639."

"June 23, 1675. Stephen, the sonne of Stephen Allen, was buried."

The issuer of our token was churchwarden in 1661, when "Robert Norbury was minister," and a John Allen carried on business in the town as a mercer at that time.

In the registers of St. Andrew's we find:

"Bur: Thomas, the sonne of Thomas Calcott, was buried the xivth day of April, 1642."

"Bap: Thomas, a second sonne of Thomas Calcott was baptized the xxviij day of Aprill, 1642."

33. O. GEORGE . OLDBACK . AND . WILL . TOMPSON = THEIR HALF PENY.

R. OF . DROITWICH . 1667 = Arms of the town of Droitwich. $\frac{1}{2}$

On a list of Worcestershire tokens published by Boyne in Aris's Birmingham Gazette, prior to the issue of his work, this token is given as:

34. O. GEORGE . OLDBACK . & . . . SON = THEIR HALF PENY.

R. (Same as No. 33.)

$\frac{1}{2}$

(PLATE, No. 6.)

35. O. GEORGE . LENCH . WILL . TOMSON = THEIR HALF PENY.

R. OF . DROITWICH . 1667 = Arms of the town of Droitwich. $\frac{1}{2}$

36. A variety reads on obverse GEORGE . LENCHE . WILL . THOMP- son, and in other respects as No. 35.

As will be seen from the illustration, the specimen in my collection is not a very perfect one, but the variations on it are very plain ; in fact, there is good reason to doubt if ever a token was issued as No. 33. The lettering is very crowded, and the die was probably of an inferior character.

A careful search of the registers of St. Andrew's parish proves that families of Lench and Tomson were resident in Droitwich during the seventeenth century, whilst no mention whatever can be found of the name of Oldback. The Lenchs seem to have held good positions. The issuer of our token was churchwarden in 1684-85-86, and 1695; he was also a "Burgess of the Corporation." In the records of the borough his name, with those of Edward, Thomas, and John Lench, very frequently occurs during the years from 1676 to 1684, and Thomas Lench filled the office of "Bayliffe." In the nave of St. Andrew's Church is a stone to the memory of some members of the family. The registers afford information as under :

"Dec. 9, 1689. George Lench's man was Buryed, viz., Jn^o Sheldon."

"Nov. 30, 1694. Elizabeth, y^e wife of Mr George Lench, was buried."

"1703. George Lench, Burgess of this Corporation, aged 86 (?) years and 11 months, died October y^e 28th, and was buried the 30th day of y^e said month."

He left no will, and letters of administration were granted to his only son, Edward Lench, on November 10 in the same year. He was a "chirurgion," and in the "shopp" was "one table board and six chairs." Amongst other things in the brewhouse was "one cucking pott." He held the lease of two tenements in the borough. A shilling was put down for "trumpery and things forgotten and unappraised," and xxx^s for "two piggs."

William Thomson was one of the churchwardens of St. Andrew's in the years 1665 and 1667.

"Bap : Richard, the sonne of William Tomson, was baptised February the 27, 1659."

"June 3, 1674. William, the sonne of William Thompson, was buried."

"June 30, 1689. Jone Tompson was buried."

"Dec. 10, 1689. William Tompson was buried."

DUDLEY.

Dudley properly belongs to Worcestershire, although surrounded by Staffordshire. The tokens, however, assign it to both counties.

Nash gives an engraving of this token, but Dudley is spelt with a u instead of v, as in the above specimen.

Edward Nightingale made his will January 4, 1705. He left a message, then in two dwellings, to his daughter Elizabeth. To his son Samuel, who owed his father three score pounds on bond, twenty shillings. He left £10, part thereof, to his executrix towards defraying his funeral expenses, and the remainder of the £60 he left to his daughter Elizabeth. To his other daughters, Mary Baber and Annie Dixon, he left twenty shillings apiece, "they having had and received their portions." To his son Joseph one shilling, "he having received his portion." To the son of his son John, deceased, one shilling. To the children of his late son Edward he gave £12 apiece. To his daughter Elizabeth he gives one-half of his household stuffs at her mother's death, the wife taking the remainder absolutely, and being appointed sold executrix. The personal estate was sworn at £93 13s. 2d., Robert Seney and John Bagnall, sen., being the appraisers. In the inventory is an

From a search of the minute-book of the borough, the first entry having reference to these town-pieces occurs during the mayoralty of Richard Goddard, about the year 1666 :

"Item. Pd. to the present Mayor £11 10s. for the advance upon the settinge out of farthings & half pence."

In 1668 we find an

"Item. Then pd. by the late Mayor, cost the present Mayor, the sum of Sixteen pounds being by him advanced in his mayorallty upon the settinge out of farthings & halpence which he accounted as p^t of the aforesaid £75."

This £75 refers to the sum handed over by the late Mayor to his successor, and has no connection with the tokens. A little later we find it ordered :

"That the Present Mayor is to render an accompt for the surplys of the money upon the last settinge forth of halfpence."

No mention of the number or nominal value of the tokens ordered to be issued is to be found, but that the number struck was considerable is evident from the following entry, in December, 1672, after which date no reference is made to these town-pieces :

"Item. The late Mayor payd to W^m Lane the present Mayor the sume of One hundred & fifty pounds in full of a Bond which hee sealed. Butt of this fforty nine pounds was paid in ffarthings and halfpence, which are lodged in the great Chest in the Hall."

46. O. PHILLIPP . BALLORD = HIS HALF PENNY.

R. OF . EVESHAM . 1664 = P . B.

$\frac{1}{2}$

The Ballard family appear to have been of very ancient date in the neighbourhood of Evesham. They bore arms : Sable a griffin segreant ermine beak and fore legs or.

A Phillip Hawford, alias Ballard, a young monk of Evesham, was in 1539 created Abbot of Evesham for the sole purpose of surrendering the abbey, which he did on November 17 of the same year.* For this act of treachery he was rewarded with a pension of £240 per annum, and afterwards with the Deanery of Worcester.

In 1660, "Phillip Ballard, gent., was elected and sworne to be one of the assistants of the said borough." His signature appears in the borough notebook in 1661, and he was elected Mayor in 1664.

A John Ballard was Mayor in 1656, and Martin Ballard in 1676, thus showing that the family was one of position and influence in the seventeenth century, although we find that a John Ballard—with two others—was expelled from the Common Council of the borough for "non-subscription," on July 11, 1662.

Martin Ballard and two other gentes were paid £9 10s. for "going to Windsor, and thence to London, and thence to Windsor, to del^r an address to his Matie."

A Phillip Ballard was buried in All Saints' Church, Evesham, January 17, 1670, aged 38.

In the Universal Magazine for October, 1758, an illustration is given of a token, reading :

47. O. PHILLIP . BALLARD = HIS HALFE PENNY.

"5th of May, 1654. Memorand. the day and year above sayd Richard Goddard with another were 'chosen to the Common Counsell of this Burrough.'"

Bridge Street is the most picturesque and interesting street in the town, and several of the houses bear evidence of considerable antiquity. It doubtless received its name from the bridge over the Avon, to which it leads.

William Rudge was Mayor of Evesham in 1661 and 1675. A John Rudge was Mayor in 1691, and a William Rudge in 1698 and 1712. Several gentlemen of this name have represented the borough in Parliament. At the visitation of the county, in 1682-83, William Rudge, of Evesham, disclaimed all right to bear arms. Nash gives an illustration of this token.

Mr. Woof, in his list of the tokens in the collection of the Corporation of Worcester, mentions a token of ELIZABETH AMVS, of EBISHAM; but this will be found described as belonging to Surrey.

Inhabitants of the name of Robertson are still living in Halesowen. Three escalops sable form part of the arms of Lyttelton, lords of the manor of Halesowen.

KIDDERMINSTER.

Here we have a list of seventeen tokens of this century. The name of the town is spelt in a variety of ways: Kidermvnster, Kitterminster, Kederminster, and Kidermminster. The tokens bear evidence of the staple trade of the place at that time, for we find the Weavers' and Merchant-Tailors' Arms, shears, and a shuttle amongst the devices adopted by the issuers.

65. O. THOMAS . BALAMEY . IN = The Weavers' Arms. T . M . B.
R. KIDDERMINSTER . 1667 = HIS HALF PENY. $\frac{1}{2}$

A Thomas Bellamie, of Kidderminster, disclaimed arms and gentility at the Herald's visitation of the county, 1682-83.

The Weavers' Arms are: On a chevron between three leopards' faces, as many roses. The arms are often represented by three leopards' faces without a shield.

The issuer of this token carried on business as a "cloathier," or, judging from the inventory of his effects, a manufacturer of cloth. By his will, dated November 26, 1691, he left to his sons, Thomas, John, and Joseph, and to his son-in-law, Richard Clarke, "twelve pence apiece." To his daughters, Dorothy Manley, Hannah Read, and Mary Clarke, "twelve pence apiece." To his two daughters, Margaret and Elizabeth, the sum of forty pounds each. The remainder of his estate he left to Margaret, "my nowe deare and loveing wife," whom he appoints sole executrix; his brother-in-law, Thomas Potter, and "my loveing kinsman, Thomas Taylor," being named as overseers. From the inventory of his effects deposited with the will we learn that amongst other things in his parlour, such as "6 Red chayers" and "one Red Couch," were a warming-pan and "one Baken crotch." His books were valued at £1. In the chamber over the parlour was "one Trukell bedsteed." In the top lofts were "one half-headed bedsteed, Two Racks, Two Tubs and one chayer, Corne and Mault, Tubs and Lumber, Three Brasse potts, two brass kettles, Three brass pans and one skelett, one Beame scales and w^{ts} one warping bar and scar, and some leather shreads." Several items in the inventory refer to his "Stock-in-Trade":

	£	s.	d.

A "pigg" was valued at 8s. ; his "wearing apparell and money in the Purse" at £12; "five Barells, shelves, and odd things" at £1; whilst "lumber and things omitted" were estimated to be worth 10s. His book debts amounted to £77, and the total of his personal estate was £206 6s. 9d.

In 1616 a Thomas Pytt is referred to as one of the "Highe Baylifes."

This is one of the very few farthing tokens which have the value expressed on them.

1682. Sep. 4, Bu : Thomas Sadler in woollen.

80. O. WALTER . THATCHER = A shuttle.

R. IN . KIDDERMINSTER = HIS HALF PENY . 1670.

$\frac{1}{2}$

In August, 1885, one of these tokens was found at Arley-Kings Church. Walter Thatcher's signature appears to Kidderminster Bye-laws, April 11, 1655. From the registers we learn :

1672. April 3, Bapt. Sarah, the Daughter of Walter Thatcher & Sarah.

1683. Oct. 23, Bu : Richard, son of Mr. Walter Thatcher, in woollen.

Walter Thatcher carried on business as a "cloathier," and appears to have manufactured cloth for wholesale trade, as well as that required for his retail business. The inventory of his effects, taken shortly after his death, was made and "apprised" by Phillip Doolittle, Mary Doolittle, James Hinkes, and John Browne on September 20, 1687.

The whole was valued at £189 1s. 10d.

The clothing trade was carried on at Kidderminster in the thirteenth century ; and three centuries later, Worcester, Bromsgrove, Droitwich, Evesham, and Kidderminster were the only towns in the county which were allowed to make cloth for sale. Weaving of stuffs and linsey-woolseys for hanging rooms and beds were carried on in Kidderminster in the seventeenth century. It will be seen that several of the tokens bear reference to the weaving and clothing trades, the issuers either adopting the arms of their company, or some implement in use by them, as a pair of shears or a shuttle. Spinning the wool, from the above inventory, would appear to be a separate business. That credit was given is evident from the item of £25, "money oweing for stuffs sent out."

NICHOLAS ADDENBROOKE
THOMAS LYNALL
JOHN READE
WILLIAM SKELDING

On January 10, 1669, William Buffery and Martha his wife leased four plots of land at Dudley to William Lowe, of Dudley, ironmonger, who, in 1675, conveyed the unexpired interest of the lease to Edmund Wells.

Buffery was evidently a man of property and position, and it is not at all unlikely that the "Old Buffery" furnaces were named after him or his family.

Samuel Palmer, who in his will describes himself as "Mercer of St. Andrews being weake in bodie but of good and perfect memory thanks be given to God," leaves his daughters, Elizabeth and Bridget, £150 each, both of which sums were to remain in the hands of his executrix for seven years, without interest or any other consideration. Evidently the daughters were young, as provision was made "in case either died before they were eighteen," the survivor was to receive the whole amount. His wife Hannah was left the remainder of his estate, and sole executrix to his will. The entry of his marriage in the Pershore registers was kindly forwarded to me by Rev. William Walters, M.A.

"Samuel Palmer married Hannah Symonds October, 1664."

Amongst the items enumerated in the inventory and valuation of his effects at his death we find :

SHIPSTON-ON-STOUR.

Three more tokens are here described than are given in Boyne (first edition). The name of the place is frequently spelt Shipson, and six of the eight tokens are halfpennies.

$\frac{1}{4}$

This is probably a farthing, but in the list of Seventeenth Century Tokens in the B. M. not described in Boyne's work ("Numismatic Chronicle" for 1884, p. 337), No. 92 is included as a halfpenny.

The name of Cooper has long been associated with Shipston-on-Stour. In 1753 a William Cooper of that town was fined £5 for taking money of William Taylor, of Armscot, to excuse his serving upon the jury at sessions.†

This token is octagonal in shape, and on a variety, also octagonal, the reading is:

97. O. (Same as 96.)

R. OF . SHIPSON . 1669 = HIS HALF PENY. S . I . S.

$\frac{1}{2}$

STOURBRIDGE.

Thirteen tokens and varieties are given as belonging to this town. They are chiefly halfpennies, and include the town piece, which is a very creditable production. The Ironmongers' Arms is a common device upon the tokens, showing that the iron trade has been connected with the town for a considerable period.

(PLATE, No. 23.)

98. O. A . STOWERBRIDG . HALF . PENY = The Ironmongers' Arms.

R. FOR . NECESSARY . CHAINGE = The Clothworkers' Arms. $\frac{1}{2}$

An engraving is also given in Nash and Snelling (plate iii., 4). Following the description, Boyne has a note: "This town piece shows the principal trades carried on there. Amongst the Worcestershire tokens bequeathed by Dr. Pratteington to the Society of Antiquaries, there is a specimen of this token having the reverse indented, caused by the previously-struck coin not having been removed from the die when the new blank was placed on it. Many examples of this kind are found.

Scott, in his "History of Stourbridge" (p. 65), says: "The woollen manufactory planted within the precincts of this town cannot be traced to its source, but evidence is extant of its existing in 1693, 4th William and Mary;" and on page 62 we read that "in earlier times the banks of the river, with those of its tributary streams, presented a series of works in which the various processes of the iron manufactory were conducted." In another note (p. 381) the same writer states that "a brass Stourbridge halfpenny was dug up in the town, 1830, and presented to the writer by W. Evans, Esq."

107. O. EZEKELL . PARTRIG = HIS HALF PENY.

$\frac{1}{2}$

Scott, in his "History of Stourbridge" (p. 381), refers to "another tradesman's token, in possession of Mr. Green, of Lichfield," having for its inscription—"Ezerell Partrig of Stourbridge." This token is no doubt the same as the one last described, the K in the Christian name having been mistaken for an R.

TENBURY.

Only a few tokens were issued here, but they are of a very interesting character. Boyne gives three varieties, whilst six are here included.

(PLATE, No. 28.)

111. O. IOHN . COVNLEY = The Grocers' Arms.

R. OF . TENBVRY = IC as a monogram.

$\frac{1}{4}$

1666. John, son of Thomas Coundley, baptized October 14.

1682. John, son of Thomas Coundley, buried June 18.

This token was described in the Reliquary for April, 1868, as :

"Worcestershire—Tenbury.

O. IOHN . COVNLEY = The Grocers' Arms.

R. OF . TENBVRY = I.

This token—a farthing (?)—is of very rude workmanship, and is apparently of an earlier date than the usual type of seventeenth century tokens."

The token is in a fair state of preservation, appears to have been coated with white metal, and there is no reason to doubt that it was issued in the seventeenth century.

112. O. EDMOND . LANE = Arms : on a chevron, between three piles or arrow-heads, five helmets. Crest : on a helmet an arm holding a battle-axe.

R. IN . TEMBVRY = HIS HALF PENY.

$\frac{1}{2}$

1662. Edmund, son of Thomas Lane and Alice his wife, baptized December 7.

1667. Edmund, son of Edmund Lane, baptized October 4.

(PLATE No. 27.)

113. O. EDMOND . LANE = Arms as on the last.

R. OF . TENBVRY = E . L.

$\frac{1}{4}$

This description is not quite correct, as there are no helmets on the chevron, probably on account of the size of the token.

114. O. EDMOND . LANE = Arms : a chevron between three arrows.

R. OF . TENBVRY = E . L.

$\frac{1}{4}$

This reverse is from an entirely different die to the last.

Grazebrook gives the arms of Lane, "Sable, a chevron between three arrows," and states that the arms were borne in 1563 (Harl. MSS.) by Nicholas Lane, of Stratford-on-Avon. An Edward (altered afterwards to Edmund) Lane, gent., appears in a list of the landowners of the county, 1703-4. In Tenbury Church (on the north wall) was a monument to "Edmund Lane, with Patience, and three sons and one daughter; he died 9 Jan. 1717, æ. 81."* The names of members of the Lane family occur in several early terriers connected with the church at Tenbury.

115. O. ANTHONY . SEARCH = PLAINE DEALINGE IS BEST.

R. IN . TENBVRY = The Mercers' Arms.

$\frac{1}{2}$

Snelling gives an engraving of a token in Plate V., 23, of his work, reading :

116. O. ANTHONY . SEARCH = Plaine | dealing | is best $\frac{1}{2}$ p.

R. IN . TENBVRY . 1670 = The Mercers' Arms.

$\frac{1}{2}$

A similar one being found in the collection of the Corporation of Worcester. (See note to No. 5.)

At Kington, in Herefordshire, a token was issued reading :

O. ANTHONY . SEARCH = The Grocers' Arms.

R. IN KINGTON MERCER = A . M . S.

$\frac{1}{4}$

In the Roll of the Hearth-tax for 14th Charles II. (1662), a "Margarett Search, widow, hath in her house six fire-hearths;" and again, "Margarett Search, widow, hath in her house flower fire-hearths," showing she occupied two goodly-sized houses. This may have been the mother of the issuer, Anthony.

A careful search in the parish registers of Kington results in the discovery of the following entries only relating to this family, viz. :

1670, October 25—Margarett Search widdow was buried in y^e chauncell.

1676, October 7—Alice Search, a young mayd was buried in y^e church.

Alice was probably the daughter of Anthony.

The Tenbury registers have been searched by the Rev. T. Ayscough Smith, Vicar, but the name of Search is not to be found. Tenbury being on the borders of Herefordshire, and distant about twenty-five miles from Kington, it is probable that Search lived at Kington and carried on a business at both places, thus accounting for the entries in the Kington registers.

UPTON-ON-SEVERN.

Only the first token here alluded to is distinctly assigned to this county, and Boyne says the others he describes (three) may belong elsewhere, as the name of Upton is found in several counties.

Frequent mention of all the names occurs in the registers of the parish of Upton-on-Severn, and there is little doubt that all the tokens included in this list are correctly assigned to Worcestershire. I am indebted to the Rev. R. Lawson, The Vicarage, Upton-on-Severn, for his kindness in forwarding me the extracts from the registers, and other notes.

* Nash and Evans' "History of Tenbury."

117. O. IOHN . BAYLY . OF . VPTON = A man making candles.

R. VPPON . SEAUVERNE = The Arms of Worcester: three pears. $\frac{1}{4}$

The following entries concerning this family occur in the parish registers:

1627, April 16. Buried Anne, wife of Rowland Bayly.

1672. Baptized September 23rd Elizabeth, daughter of John Bayly.

1673. Buried, February 21 Elizabeth, wife of John Bayly.

1681. Buried September 20 John, son of John Bayly.

A John Bayly stood as godfather on February 26, 1671.

The registers of Upton-on-Severn were, as was generally the case, very imperfectly kept during the times of the Civil Wars, and in places the entries are illegible.

(PLATE No. 29.)

118. O. PHILLIP . BOVND = The Grocers' Arms.

R. OF . VPTON . 166 . = P . K . B.

$\frac{1}{4}$

An engraving of this token is given in Nash.

In a very interesting book, "The Records and Traditions of Upton-on-Severn," a chapter is devoted to some account of this family, but as it does not deal specially with the above Phillip Bound, I have thought it advisable to quote only the following:

"During the greater part of the seventeenth century the family of Bound, or Bounde, was one of the most influential in Upton. Its members lived in good-sized houses, held parish offices, and were frequently sponsors to the children of well-to-do parents. Three or four of them were feoffees of Hall's charity, and associated in trust deeds with the Lechmeres and others of the neighbouring gentry. They were people of some fortune and honourable station, and they were held as a family in good repute.

"Yet, for no excellence or virtue, but for the evil fame of one individual of the race, their name is preserved in local tradition. While the old Royalist Rector, and the learned Puritan who displaced him, the good lord of the manor, and the soldiers who fought for the King or Parliament in Upton Churchyard, are alike forgotten, the name of the Bounds is remembered amongst us still, from the detestation which hangs around the memory of Thomas, generally called Captain Bound. There were two families of Bounds, who seem to have settled here towards the end of the sixteenth century. They were probably related to a certain Dr. Philip Bound, who stirred up the whole Sabbatarian controversy by his work, 'On the Sabbath.' He was an ultra-Calvinist, and one of the foremost theologians of that school. Phillip was a favourite name among the family in Upton, and they were on the anti-Royalist and anti-Church of England side in politics. The father of Captain Bound was possessed of several pieces of land near the town. He was churchwarden once or twice, and in demand as a godfather. There is no entry of the baptism of the younger Thomas Bound, but it must have been early in the century, as he was sponsor in 1627. He was yet young when, in 1640, he was a married man. His clear, firm signature is in two or three pages of the register, just below the neat writing of the Rector. He outlived three wives, but did not try matrimony a fourth time. He had many children, and lived the latter part of his life at Southend."

119. O. IOHN . BAYLIS . RICHARD = I . E . B . R . M . H .

R. HVDSON . IN . VPTON = A | HALF | PENE | Y .

$\frac{1}{2}$

From a search of the parish registers we glean that "Jhon Baylyes" stood as godfather to a child in 1637, and "Jhon Baylise" in June of the same year. On November 1, 1664, a John Baylys (?) was buried. Richard Hudson had a daughter baptized on July 28, 1628, and stood as godfather to a child in June, 1639. Another Richard Hudson, "the younger," stood as a godfather in February, 1640, and in December, 1643. His wife's name was Margaret.

Amongst the entries in the parish books we find that a shilling was paid to take "Mordecai Hudson's mother-in-law out of prison." "The Hudsons have been Nonconformists during two hundred years of their abode in Upton, and this individual, whose identity seems to have been merged in that of her son-in-law, may have been imprisoned for attending some illegal place of worship."*

From an old deed we find that "Richard Hudson of Upton upon Seaverne in the County of Worcester Chandler sonne and heire apparent of Richard Hudson late of Upton aforesaid deceased" conveys an acre of land, in conformity with his father's will, the date being June 14, 1666.

120. O. WILLIAM . COWELL = A cheese-knife.

R. OF . VPTON . 1664 = W . E . C.

$\frac{1}{4}$

This name occurs frequently in the Upton-on-Severn registers in the seventeenth century. A William Cowell stood godfather on sundry occasions, and buried two daughters between 1629 and 1641.

(PLATE No. 30.)

121. O. CHRISTOP . WINBERY = The Mercers' Arms.

R. OF . VPTON . MERCER = C . E . W.

$\frac{1}{4}$

The Winberys were a very old family in Upton, and carried on business as mercers for upwards of a century.

Christopher Winbery left 10s. a year, payable out of a piece of land called "Dyers hay," to be laid out in bread, and distributed on January 1 for ever. A Christopher Wynberry was a sponsor between 1631 and 1644, and C. W., "junior," in 1641 and 1642, together with "Methuselah Baylyes," another old Upton name.

WORCESTER.

122. O. A . WORCESTER . FARTHING = A castle, with a falcon above it.

R. FOR . NECESSARIE . CHAING = C . W. [City of Worcester].

1667.

The large number of tokens issued in this city gave the authorities some cause for alarm, for we find that in 1666 the Worcester Chamber ordered "that the Chamberlains demand security of all persons that shall set forth brass farthings or halfpence, for the re-taking of such as shall be brought to them." And in the following year (1667) the Chamber made an order "that the sum of £50 be dispensed, on making farthings, for the necessary exchange, and that the Chamberlain shall from time to time exchange them for silver as often as they shall be thereunto required, and to keep a stock in hand for that purpose, and that all other farthings and halfpence be called in by proclamation."† An order to the same effect was subsequently made, but in stronger terms, occasioned by the excessive number of halfpence put in circulation by divers persons in the city. Two years after (1669) the issue of this farthing a petition was sent to the House of Commons, asking them "to put a stop to y^e further coining of copper money under the comon seale of this city;"* whilst in the following year Worcester, Yarmouth, and other towns had to petition his Majesty for pardon "for putting out farthings in this city," by which they had forfeited their charter of privileges, in having usurped the King's prerogative of coining. In 1671 there was paid "For exchange of the city farthings £41 14s.;"* and an item, "To Mr. Streete's man, for his paines in the business about the farthings and drawing a petition,"* also appears. In 1673 there was paid "To Greg, for carrying the farthings from the hall, 3^d.";* and "To M. J. Higgins, to buy farthings, £20."*

135. O. WILLIAM . CHETLE . 1666 = W . C and merchant's mark as No. 133.

R. (Same as No. 134.)

$\frac{1}{4}$

The engraving in Nash reads "WILL" only on the obverse, and was probably taken from a poor specimen, as a blank is left, and the engraving in Green appears to have been copied from it. I have one in my collection on which the obverse only of the token is struck, the reverse being indented, and corresponding with the obverse.

These are amongst the most interesting tokens issued in this county, being the only ones bearing a merchant's mark. As will be seen from the token, William Chetle was a clothier, several members of the family having been connected with the Fraternity of Clothiers at Worcester. They were incorporated by Queen Elizabeth, in the 32nd year of her reign, by the name of the "Master, Wardens, and Comonality of the Company of Weavers, Walkers, and Clothiers within the City of Worcester," and at the Heralds' Visitation of the county, in 1682, a John Chetle was one of the Wardens of the Weavers and Clothiers. A Francis Chetle was warden in 1695 and 1696, and left by his will, amongst other charities, "a good cloth coat, as well to the company's beadles as to poor and approved objects, at the Michaelmas quarter meeting" of the company. The mark itself is the same on both tokens, whilst on the farthing the initial letter of his wife's name (Sarah) is omitted. The upper portion of the mark is no doubt intended for a Catherine wheel, and is supported by a shaft rising from an interlaced arrangement at the base. Boyne gives engravings of thirty-five "merchants' marks and uncertain devices," found on the tokens he describes, but the one here referred to bears a distinctive character, and is the only one of which the Catherine wheel forms a part. This device alone appears on a token of William Buffrey (No. 53), of the Lye Waste, who was engaged in the linen or cloth trade. The Catherine wheel was a charge on the Turners' Arms, and was the badge of the Order of the Knights of St. Catherine, created 1063, for the protection of pilgrims on their way to and from the Holy Sepulchre. It was also a comparatively common device adopted by innkeepers at one period. An inn in Friar Street, near the Cardinal's Hat, now the Coventry Arms, bore the sign of the Catherine wheel. William Chetle, although a clothier, may have kept the inn bearing this sign. A Thomas Chetle, probably a brother, was host of the Green Dragon, at the corner of Cooken Street and High Street, in 1686.

The following interesting extract, from "Worcester in the Olden Times," may have some bearing on this subject: "The last of the interesting objects belonging to this (the Clothiers') Company is a pall, formerly used at the funeral of deceased members. It is composed of alternate stripes of embroidered velvet and tapestry. The embroidering on the velvet consists of fleurs-de-lis, eagles, double-headed, displayed; pineapples [query, teazles], and angels with expanded wings, standing on wheels [query, St. Catherine]. The tapestry consists of figures of saints and passages from Scripture history; at the sides are four shields of arms or devices, emblematical of the manufacture of cloth. It was suggested by Miss Agnes Strickland, during her recent visit to Worcester, that this pall might be a mortuary cloth used at Prince Arthur's funeral; that the embroidery is Spanish; that the pineapple, or teazle, is a pomegranate; the purple, the imperial colour; and that the wheels are Catherine wheels, introduced into the arms through Prince Arthur's marriage with Catherine of Arragon. Mr. Gutch states that this opinion is strengthened by a MS. of the time in the College of Arms, published in the 'Antiquarian Repertory,' which details the particulars connected with the arrival of Queen Caroline in England, the pageants at her marriage with Prince Arthur, and his decease, six months after, at Ludlow, including the offering of palls of cloth of gold to the corse by the lords mourners."

Mr. Hartshorne, in a paper read before the members of the Archæological Institute at Cambridge, is of opinion that the pall has nothing whatever to do with Prince Arthur, but that it consists of two copes sewed together, and that the angels represented on it refer to the vision of Ezekiel.

Prince Arthur was buried on the south side of the choir in Worcester Cathedral, and a chapel was erected to his memory.

The Catherine wheel may have been suggested to Chetle, who was probably a member of the City Clothiers' Company, as a suitable device for a merchant's mark, by the fact of its appearing on the pall used at the funeral of any deceased member of the company, as well as from the fact that St. Catherine was patroness of spinners and spinsters.

Cussans, in his "Handbook of Heraldry," refers to merchants' marks as "badges of great antiquity," and says, "When the right of bearing arms was restricted exclusively to Nobles, and any infringement of this ordinance was visited by severe punishment and heavy fines, citizens were permitted to adopt certain devices, which were placed upon their merchandise. These were not strictly armorial, but were employed, for the most part, by merchants to whom arms were denied, in much the same manner as trade-marks are at the present day. In one of the Harleian manuscripts, preserved in the British Museum, we read: 'Theys be none armys but a marke as merchaunts use, for every man may take hym a marke, but not armys, without a herawde or purcyvante.' Those by whom such marks were principally adopted were Wool-staplers, or Merchants of the Staple. . . . The devices which they adopted were generally a combination of a cross and their own initials."

By a Statute 39th Elizabeth, justices were to appoint "searchers and sealers of cloth yearly, who shall fix their seals to it." Broadcloth was to contain the quantity mentioned on the seals, or the seller was to forfeit a sixth part. Mill-men who refused to fix seals, and others defacing or counterfeiting, etc., to forfeit £20. Leaden seals, bearing the mark of the merchant, were attached to the cloth, indicating the maker, and assuring the purchaser that the length represented was in the piece sold, as it was impossible to open the roll without breaking the seal or cutting the string by which it was fastened. I have several of these old merchants' lead pieces by me, which bear evident marks of having at some former period been attached to packages by tape or string.

In Henry VIII.'s reign the clothing trade of Worcester was in a most prosperous condition, and Leland thus quaintly alludes to the fact: "The Wealthe of the towne of Worcester standeth most by draperinge, and no towne in England at this present tyme maketh so many cloaths yearly as this towne doth."

The names of Mr. Wm. Chetle, Mrs. Sarah Chetle, and Mrs. Sarah Chetle, daughter to Mr. Wm. Chetle, are amongst those found attached to the original declaration or manifesto of the "Independent" Church at Worcester in 1687. Mrs. Sarah Chetle died in 1701, intestate, her estate being valued at £22 15s. She was probably living with her son Joseph, who administered to her effects, and was indebted to her to the extent of £12. Her wearing apparel and money in purse was valued at £2, and "one trunk and one blankett" at 6s., the remainder being made up of debts.

Thomas Hackett was Mayor of the city in 1664. Owing probably to his advanced age and the death of his wife, he retired from business. In his will, which was made only a few days previous to his death, and when "weake in body but of perfect memory," he is described as of the "City of Worcester, Gent." He possessed considerable property in Worcester, including an "ancient messuage" at the corner of Badam's Lane, divided into three tenements, with other properties adjoining, also houses in the Shambles, New Street, and several "old decayed tenements" in St. Peter's parish, in a "street or lane there, called Frog Lane." He had an interest also in some other property in St. Helen's parish. In his will he takes unusual precautions as to the disposal of his freeholds, and provides for several contingencies. For a "gentleman" his personal effects are of a very limited character, being valued at the moderate sum of £22 10s., as will be seen from the inventory following. He leaves a cousin five shillings and a fur cap, to his cousin's wife and the two gentlemen who valued his personal estate, and were to act as "overseers" of his will, ten shillings each to buy a mourning ring. To Richard Jones he gives a pair of sheets and his old suit of clothes, and the rest of his wearing apparel he bequeaths to his brother.

Badam's Vine was that part of Needler's Street (now called Pump Street) between the Shambles and Friar Street.* Frog Lane leads from Diglis to Edgar Street and Sidbury. His will and the inventory of his effects are here given in full :

The specimen from which Green's engraving was taken was evidently a poor one, as the centre of the reverse bears but small resemblance to a book. There is one in the collection of the Corporation of Worcester which is in a fair state of preservation, and from which I have supplied the information unknown to Boyne.

John Jones was a bookseller in Worcester, and his name appears attached to a pamphlet published in 1684 .

“ ‘ Discourse in the Cathedral Church of Worcester on the Anniversary thereof of His Majesties Restauration,’ by Dr. George Hickes of Worcester. Quarto. Worcester : John Jones, bookseller, 1684.”

This discourse was delivered before the Mayor and Aldermen of Worcester, which city had then a sufficiency of readers to support two booksellers, one Sampson Evans carrying on this business there at this time.

Jones also published "The Carpenter's Rule made Easie for the use of the Carpenters, Masons, etc., of Worcester," by John Darling. 12mo. J. Jones, bookseller, Worcester, 1658.

His will and the inventory and valuation of his personal estate are of sufficient interest to give in full. He appears to have been in only a small way of business, although described as a "feltmaker." His stock of hats in the "forshop," or front shop, six dozen "good and bad," were valued at £5; those in the "work-hous," with the iron pots, planks, and lumber, at £2 3s. 4d.

R. HIS . HALFE . PENNY . 1667 = The Arms of Worcester. $\frac{1}{2}$

The inventory of his effects is given below. His personal estate was considerable, amounting to upwards of £540. He evidently did a large business as a weaver of linen, his good debts being estimated at £328. His wearing apparel and cash (generally included in one sum) were valued at £125. In the chamber over the kitchen he had, amongst other things, flaxen, hurden, and hemp sheets, and a large lot of other linen, probably using the room for stock purposes. In the kitchen we find a number of pewter basins, plates, pots, flacons, can, candlesticks, salts, etc. The entire inventory gives a good idea of the mode of furnishing and utensils in domestic use in the seventeenth century.

The will of Arthur Lloyd, a clothier, of Worcester, is by no means uninteresting. He accumulated considerable wealth, and was building at the time of making his will. We may conclude that at this time the character and habits of his wife were such as not to meet with his approval. His sister was "well-beloved," he had a "loveing" brother-in-law, and a "loveing kinsman," but no such affectionate adjective precedes the mention of his "wife Sarah Lloyd." This is borne out by the fact that the testator's daughter was to pay her mother £15 per annum, if her mother's "carriag prove better than formerly it hath been." It is probable that she was addicted to drunkenness, for Lloyd, in addition to his business of a clothier, was landlord of the Royal Oak, "attached to which were five stables and two gardens," besides several cottages. This property was held on lease from the "Chamber of the said City" of Worcester, and which lease they promised to renew upon very reasonable terms. In his will he expresses a desire that ten years before this lease expired an effort was to be made to renew it, "I being at very great expense and charge upon void and waste ground." He ordered ten shillings to be given away in bread every Christmas Day to the poor of St. Nicholas', and a like sum on the same day to the poor of Cockshead. All the goods and cloth then "ready in the house for sale" were given to his daughter. He expresses a desire to be buried in a "decent and handsome manner," and appoints three overseers to his will, giving each a mourning-ring, scarf, and gloves.

Yorkshire.

THE list of tokens of this county is mainly taken from the Yorkshire division of Boyne's "Tokens issued in the Seventeenth Century in England and Wales" (1858), and also from the same author's smaller work, "The Yorkshire 'Tokens'" (1858), with Addenda (1870). Many tokens have, however, come to light since the publishing of these works, revealing new names of places as well as issuers, and places and names included in Boyne's works have since been transferred to other counties. Dunnington has, for instance, with its two issuers (Nos. 73 and 74, Boyne), been transferred to Lincolnshire, and Wragby (No. 328, Boyne) also to Lincolnshire, and the one issued by Richard Neast, which in Boyne (No. 103) is placed to Haworth, to Highworth, Wiltshire. Mr. Baldwin, of Plumstead, informs us that he met with this token at Southrop, a village some seven or eight miles from Highworth, where it had been found in removing the thatch from an old house, along with several Highworth tokens. Seven tokens are transferred from Richmond, Yorkshire, to Richmond, Surrey, as per reasons stated under the head of Richmond; and Boyne, No. 347 (Thomas Caverley, Bootham), is placed to Rootham, Kent. No. 362, Boyne (John Hytchenson, York), has been found, on a more careful reading, to be the same as No. 363, Boyne, but has been struck on Christopher Morley's token (No. 378, Boyne), and shows part of the older inscription. By taking away Dunnington and Wragby, the number of places of issue is diminished by two, and we have added thirteen, viz.: Almondbury, Anlaby, Cranswick, Great Preston, Goole, Helmsley, Honley and Holmfirth, Horton, Market Weighton, Middleham, Popeley Gate and Woodhouse. The number of tokens added is very small for the size of the county, especially so when taken in comparison with many of the other counties; this may be partly accounted for. Mr. Boyne was a native of Yorkshire, and also a resident at the time of the compilation of his great work, and had opportunities for collecting information respecting this county, which we know, from a communication he has made to us, was his "pet county."

The number in our own cabinet is 378, and in the list which follows all in our possession are marked with an asterisk. B.M. signifies those in the British Museum, and the other possessors' names are given in full.

Yorkshire is the largest in area of the counties of England, and it has the largest series of tokens next to the Metropolitan counties of Kent, Middlesex and Surrey. The earliest date on them is one of Pontefract, 1649, and the latest is 1672, of which latter date there are several. Only one town piece is known, and that is of Bridlington, of which there are two varieties.

It may be interesting to some to learn that among the issuers of these counties many were loyal, as shown by the devices on the tokens (it being borne in mind that it was chiefly during the Commonwealth that the tokens were issued), as the King's Head, the King's Arms, Rose and Crown, George and the Dragon, and other insignia of royalty—especially in the north of Yorkshire. In Richmond, for instance, out of the twelve issuers in that town, eight have the King's Head, one a crown, and one George and the Dragon on them. At Guisborough all the five tokens issued there bear the King's Head, and at Yarm five out of the six issued have the King's Head on them. But where so many emblems of royalty are found, it is strange how seldom the names of James and Charles occur—James only appearing eight times, and Charles only four, in the whole of the 448 known of the county.

Most of the Yorkshire tokens are circular, the only departures being nine heart-shape and four octagonal. They have the Arms of most of the incorporated trade companies of London, which were often used by persons of a similar trade throughout the country. They have also the Arms of the abbeys of Bridlington, Selby and Whitby; of many private families, and the principal devices of the tavern signs, as well of shop signs and articles sold by the issuers. In some cases, as in Nos. 143 and 144, Hull, the issuer, Lyonell Buckle, has placed a buckle on each of his tokens, as a rebus on his name. On No. 293, issued at Robin Hood's Bay, are represented Robin Hood and Little John. A York music-master (No. 447) has an early example of Punchinello, now a wide-world favourite.

We must acknowledge the information derived from an article in the Numismatic Chronicle, New Series, vol. xx., by Mr. H. S. Gill, "On the Unpublished Yorkshire Tokens of the Seventeenth Century," as also much kindness received personally from Mr. Gill, who has always communicated most fully and freely facts concerning tokens he in his extensive knowledge and research has obtained. But we must be permitted to say that the work he quotes from in "The Contemporary Notes on some of the Issuers of Hull and other Towns" is one that we do not admit as authentic, and therefore the matter that Mr. Gill in his article extracts from these notes is not given here.

We also wish to acknowledge with thanks the great kindness that so many of the clergy of different parishes in the county have conferred on us, by examining their parish registers, and for the information they have given.

CHARLES E. FEWSTER.

ALDBOROUGH.

As Boyne says, there is a town of this name in Norfolk, and another in Suffolk, the latter a corporate and Parliamentary borough, until disfranchised by the Reform Act. There is also an Aldborough in the West Riding of Yorkshire (once the Roman capital of Britain, under the name of Isurium), which was made a Parliamentary borough under Philip and Mary, and, like its Suffolk namesake, was disfranchised in 1832. There is yet another Aldborough in the East Riding of Yorkshire, near the sea-coast, and it is to this latter one I am inclined to assign these tokens, chiefly for the following reasons: that a Ship Inn is remembered to have existed there, and that a family bearing the name of Yates still resides there, and has the same family arms as the issuer of this token. Another branch of this Yates family issued a halfpenny token at Bridlington—a town in the same county, about twenty miles distant. In the parish church of this Aldborough is a stone with a Saxon inscription, commemorating its erection.

ALMONDBURY.

3. *O. IOHN . DIXON . IN . ALMONBVRY = A pair of scales. 1/2
R. HIS . HALFE . PENNY . 1667 = I . M . D.

The Rev. Canon Hulbert, Vicar of Almondbury, has kindly searched the parish registers, and supplied the notes of the other two issuers. He can find no mention of Dixon, but says that this is probably owing to omissions that occur in the register about this period. There is a family of Dixon at Farnely Tyas, a village one and a half miles distant from Almondbury parish church, where the inhabitants attended until 1840, when the late Earl of Dartmouth built a church there.

4. O. NICHOLAS . GREAVES . 1668 = (detrited). 1/2

The following occurs in the parish register:

The only entry from the parish register that I have been able to obtain is the following:

The Rector of Bentham (the Rev. Frederick W. Joy, F.S.A.) writes that the registers in that parish are very imperfect previously to 1720, and that the only record he can discover concerning William Overend is the occurrence of his name upon a beautiful chalice, forming part of the Communion-plate. The legend round the rim outside runs thus:

"I. Prockter, W. Armistead, W. Overend, Bentham Parrish, 1681."

The chalice bears the York assay mark (half-rose and half-fleur-de-lys), with W . B. in shell and \boxed{x} .

This is in copper, and was no doubt issued for a farthing, though it is of the same size as the preceding halfpenny, which is in brass.

William Wilberforce, mercer and grocer, was made a Governor of Beverley in 1642; the following year he was chosen Mayor, and was again elected in 1674.

BOROUGHBRIDGE.

36. *O. FRANCIS . CALVERT = 1656. 1
 R. IN . BOROWBRIDGE = F . C. 4

Boroughbridge was formerly a chapelry in the ancient parish of Aldborough, and the Boroughbridge registers, therefore, are modern; but in the Aldborough registers, under burials, occurs:

“Cath., daughter of Mr. Francis Calvert, buried April 8, 1656.”

“Mr.” is unusual at that date, and shows that Francis Calvert was a man of some note. In 1657 and 1658 there are also entries of baptisms of Elizabeth and Frances Calvert, daughters of Mr. F. Calvert. The Rev. R. M. Marriott, M.A., kindly sends this information.

BRADFORD.

There are tokens of Bradford in Wiltshire and Somersetshire. The following extracts from the parish register of Bradford in Yorkshire afford evidence that a portion of these tokens belong to that town :

"William Bailey, of Little Horton, died October 21, 1686."

Little Horton is a hamlet of Bradford, Yorkshire.

"William Bancks, of Bradford, died 9 Sept., 1668."

"John Cooke died 23 Jany., 1704"; another of the same name "9 Jany., 1709."

"John Durham died 14 April, 1695."

"John Preston died 9 September, 1691."

Farrand, Ibbotson, and Selby are still common names in the neighbourhood.

37. *O. WILL . BANCKS . OF . BRADFORD = Arms of Kendall, in Westmoreland

39. O. IOHN . COOKE . AND . IOSVAH . FARRAND = A lion rampant.

R. OF . BRADFORD . THEIR . HALF . PENY = Arms of Bradford : three bugle-horns. $\frac{1}{2}$

The name "Farrand" is in smaller letters by half than the rest of the legend ; it seems as if it were crammed in.

GARGRAVE.

92. There was a token of this town in the Rev. Richard Southgate's sale in 1795.

GILDERSOME.

N. Scatcherd's etymology of Gildersome is interesting: he derives it from Gueldres Zoom, the boundary or district of the Gueldres, many manufacturers from that country having been introduced into Yorkshire by Edward III. for the promotion of the woollen cloth manufacture, where it has flourished ever since.

93. *
- O.*
- IOHN . DICKINSON = Arms: a chevron between three birds.

R. OF . GILDERSOME . 1668 = HIS HALF PENY. $\frac{1}{2}$

The old hall at Gildersome was built by one of the Dickinson family, and has over the door I. H. D., for John and Hannah Dickinson, probably the issuer of this token.

94. *

- HENRY . SCOTT . OF . GILDERSVM . NEER = STRIKE LIGHT WEIGH RIGHT. A pair of scales.

R. LEEDS . I . WILL . EXCHAING . MY . PENY = 1670. A wool-pack.

I

The house of the issuer of this token is still standing, with the inscription "Henry Scott, 1685," over the door. Scott, no doubt, was a woolstapler, the principal trade of the district being the woollen manufacture. The motto, "Strike light, weigh right," is a rhyming version of giving good weight and measure; if used rapidly, there would be less in the measure than if used lightly. "Strike" is also a name for a bushel.

There are three Prestons in that county, viz.: Preston, Preston Capes, and Preston Parva, but no Great Preston. In the West Riding of Yorkshire, however, in the parish of Kippax, Wapentake of Skyrock is a Great Preston.

A description of the reverse of this token first appeared in Morehouse's "History of Kirkburton and of the Graveship of Holme" (4to., 1861). The token had unfortunately been struck on another, which had not been removed from the die, thereby giving an indented impression of the one previously struck. Since 1861 a perfect specimen of the token has been discovered in a collection in Germany, from which the above complete description was communicated to Mr. Boyne by Dr. Freudenthal. This token is now in the British Museum.

R. OF . KINGSTON . VPON . HVLL = HIS HALF PENY.

$\frac{1}{2}$

Walter Brockett was a tanner in Hull. The Brocketts were an ancient Yorkshire family, settled at Steton, in the parish of Bolton Percy. No memorials of the family now remain in the church of that parish; but at the Yorkshire Visitation, in 1584-85, amongst the arms (Harleian MS. 1394) taken out of the church are those of Thomas Brockett, or a cross patonce sable; and mention is made of a tomb inscribed:

“Thomas Broket et Dionisia uxor ejus qui quidem Thomas obiit xiii die Aprilis Anno dni Mccccxxb, predictaq. Dionisia obiit xib Aprilis Anno dni Mccccxxbii.”

The names of De Broc, Brook, Brockhill, and Brockett are variations of the original Brōc (with the vowel long) for brook, and the fancy crests of badgers (brocks) and stags (brocketts) are mere “canting arms.” The Steton estate has long been the property of the Fairfax family.

The elder branch of the Brocketts settled in Hertfordshire in the reign of Edward IV., and several of them were High Sheriffs of that county. The family is extinct, and Brockett Hall and the estates passed by purchase in 1720 to Matthew Lamb, Esq., grandfather of the two Viscounts Melbourne and Lady Palmerston, wife of the Premier, to whom it now belongs.

The Brocketts are but thinly scattered throughout the country, but they are still found not far distant from the “Brockett Halls,” which formerly belonged to the family in both the North and South of England. Lawrence Brockett, a wealthy lawyer of Durham, left a son, Lawrence, who became Regius Professor of Modern History in the University of Cambridge, and died in 1768. Another Durham Brockett (John Trotter), an eminent antiquary, who died in 1842, was author of an excellent “Glossary of North-Country Words” and other works; and to his younger brother, William Henry Brockett, the antiquarian world is also indebted for several interesting tractates, including catalogues of “Tradesmen’s Tokens” of Durham, Northumberland, Westmoreland, Cumberland, etc. This gentleman filled the office of Chief Magistrate of his native town of Gateshead in 1839-40.

LEEDS.

The rising importance of Leeds is shown by the large number of its tokens, second only to those of the city of York. The importance of the woollen business, of which Leeds was the metropolis, conduced to its great prosperity. It suffered severely through the Civil Wars; but still more, in March, 1644-45, from the ravages of the plague, when more than a fifth of the population perished. Report says that grass grew in Cross parish, and that birds dropped down dead as they flew over the town.

The above token was presented to me by H. S. Gill, Esq. I cannot at all positively assert that it belongs to Leeds, but insert it here for want of a more certain locality.

177. *O. AMBROSE AMBLER = A roll of tobacco and two pipes.

R. IN . LEEDS . 1669 = HIS PENNY.

I

The pipes on this and other tokens are of the kind called by the vulgar "fairy pipes," which were made at the commencement of the seventeenth century. They are frequently found in ploughed fields, whither they have been carried in manure. They are generally without stems, but when perfect are about eight inches long, thicker in the stem than modern pipes, with small heads almost egg-shaped; in some districts they are found with the makers' initials at the bottom of the head. By some they are believed to have been made long prior to the reign of Elizabeth, during whose reign tobacco was first introduced; there are certainly reasons for supposing that the custom of smoking is more ancient than the introduction of tobacco. When half of the great tower of Kirkstall Abbey fell down, in 1779, a number of these "fairy pipes" were found embedded in the mortar, and it is known that the most modern part of the tower was built in the reign of Henry VII.; and after the abbey was dismantled at the Reformation, there was no access to the upper part of the tower. A number were also found recently at Newcastle, in the castle midden, on removing the houses built on that ancient accumulation, in order to make the approaches to the High Level Bridge.

Mr. James Carruthers, in an article in the Ulster Journal of Archaeology, vol. iii., p. 320, informs us that these pipes are called in Ireland "Danes' pipes," and that one of them was found with a number of bracteate silver coins in a Danish cairn, on Scraba Hill, near Newtownards, county of Down, in 1855.—W. R. BEWARE . OF . Y^E . BEARE . 1670 = A bear. I

The die of this token was in the Museum of Thoresby, the gift of James Dawson. The token shows that the motto of Baron Bradwardine, in the incomparable novel of "Waverley," is older than the time of Scott. It is also Boniface's double-entendre, as bear and beer are both alike pronounced "beer" at Leeds, and he is warning his customers to beware of the strength of his beer.

185. *O. GEORGE . DIXON . OF . LEEDS = The King's Arms.

R. HIS . HALFE . PENY . 1668 = G . M . D. $\frac{1}{2}$

The name of Greathead is common in Leeds and the neighbourhood. William Greathead was assessed at one hearth for Leeds town in 1663.

The arms here described differ from those given to the Greathead family, which are a saltire between four fleurs-de-lys.

RICHMOND.

The following notes from Clarkson's "History of Richmond in Yorkshire" (4to., 1821) enable us to assign many of the following tokens to that town; others are doubtful as to whether they belong to the Surrey or Yorkshire Richmond. The list is very much curtailed from the one given in Boyne's first edition, as by the researches of Mr. F. Challoner Smith, of the Probate Registry, Somerset House, seven that Mr. Boyne assigned to the Yorkshire Richmond are now with considerable certainty located to the Surrey Richmond, for the following reasons:

Richard Campion, 1668 (Boyne, first edition, p. 515, No. 236).—In the parish register of Richmond, Surrey, is the following entry: "Richard Campion buried Sep. 17, 1679"; and the same name is found in the Hearth-tax Rolls of the same place.

Lyke Chynnal (Boyne, first edition, p. 515, No. 239).—This token was found during some excavations in Duke Street, Richmond, Surrey, and one Luke Shynner (the spelling of names varies at that period) occupied a seat in the church there in 1650.

Michael Clayle (Boyne, first edition, p. 515, No. 240).—Mr. F. Challoner Smith says: "I suspect that Clayle is a misreading for Flayle." Michael Flayle was a somewhat important person in Richmond, Surrey. His name appears in the Hearth-tax Roll (c. 1670), and in the Surrey Poll-book for 1705, and the following entries are in the parish registers: "Michael Flayle was buried April 13, 1709"; and "Mary, wife of Michael Flayle, Turner, Aug. 31, 1704."

James Knowles (Boyne, first edition, p. 515, Nos. 244, 245).—This name is found in the Hearth-tax Rolls as that of an inhabitant of Richmond, Surrey.

William Marsham (Boyne, first edition, p. 516, No. 248).—This name is also found in the Hearth-tax Rolls of Richmond, Surrey, and also in the parish registers of the same place: "Sherletta Marsham buried Sep. 10, 1673"; William Marsham bap. April 26, 1649"; and "Susanna Marsham bap. Sep. 11, 1650." I imagine that these two latter ones were children of the William and Sherletta Marsham, whose initials appear on the token, W. S. M.

John Skinner (Boyne, first edition, p. 516, No. 251).—In the parish register of Richmond, Surrey, is the following entry: "John Skinner buried Oct. 11, 1665."

I may further state that I am informed that none of the above six names appear among those of the residents in Richmond, York., at that period.

271. *O. FRANCIS . ALLEN . IN = RICHMOND.

R. GOD . SAVE . THE . KING = The King's head crowned, full-face. 1/4

Francis Allen was elected into the Company of Mercers, Grocers, etc., in 1651; Warden in 1654; one of the Common Councilmen October 29, 1668; Alderman in 1670; and Mayor in 1679. By his will, dated 1685, he left an annual rent-charge of twenty-four shillings to decayed tradesmen and young men setting up business in the borough of Richmond.

R. AT . RICHMOND . 1667 = A tree. 1/2

Jane Chaytor was admitted free of the Company of Mercers in 1705. The name is common in the district.

274. O. IOHN . CHAYTOR . IN = RICHMOND.

R. GOD . SAVE . THE . KING = The King's head crowned. 1/4

He was free of the Grocers' Company in 1665, and Warden in 1671.

275. *O. RICHARD . DAVSON = IN RICHMOND.

He was a son of Joseph Hoppes, one of the Aldermen in the first charter granted by Charles II. to the borough of Richmond.

277. *O. CHRISTOPHER . KIRTON = HIS HALFE PENY.

Christopher Kirton was free of the Company of Fellmongers, and one of those who drew up for the Protector the statement of the loss the town would suffer if fairs were granted to Middleham. He was son of John Kirton, Rector of Richmond in 1658.

278. O. ROBERT . LOADMAN = A crown.

R. RICHMOND . CARRIER = R . L.

280. *O. THOMAS . MORLOE = The King's head.

R. IN . RICHMOND . 1664 = T . M . M.

$\frac{1}{4}$

281. *O. THOMAS . MORLOE . AT . Y^E = St. George and the Dragon.

R. IN . RICHMOND . 1664 = T . M . M.

$\frac{1}{4}$

Thomas Morley was one of the Bailiffs of the Free School in 1669.

282. *O. THO . SOBER . IN . RICHMOND = T . E . S.

R. GOD . SAVE . THE KING = The King's head.

$\frac{1}{4}$

Thomas Sober kept the King's Arms Inn in 1661; was elected a Common Councilman December 27, 1655; and Alderman December, 1673. He was probably the son of Henry Sober, named as one of the Aldermen in the charter of Charles II. The name is a singular one for a publican.

The people of Richmond and other towns in the northern parts of Yorkshire appear to have been zealously loyal after the Restoration, if we may judge by the tokens, which frequently bear the King's head, as well as other insignia of royalty.

RIPON.

283. O. WILLIAM . HOLMES = 1658.

SEDBERGH.

302. O.* NICHOLAS . CORNEY . IN . SEDBERGH = A Turk's head.
R. HIS . PENNY . 1672 = N . W . C. 1

303. O. IAMES . HARRISON = The Grocers' Arms.
R. IN . SEDBRIDGE . 1666 = I . H. $\frac{1}{4}$

Mr. H. S. Gill says: "It is believed by some that this uncertain token" (Boyne, p. 526, No. 7) "may belong to Sedbergh, Sed-brig (the local name for bridge) being similar in sound; moreover, the above has the same device on the obverse and date on the reverse as another Sedbergh farthing. There is no Sedbridge in the kingdom."

304. O.* Tho . Shaw . & . Nicho . Corney (in three lines).

310. O.* IOHN . PVRRATT = The Grocers' Arms.
R. CHRISTO . BACON = SELBY. $\frac{1}{4}$

In the "History of Selby" is the following curious extract from the records of Wakefield Sessions. The name as given may be a mistake, for Farrett might easily be copied instead of Pvrratt:

"Forasmuch as Jane, the wife of William Farrett of Selby, shoemaker, stands indicted at this sessions for a common scold, to the great annoyance and disturbance of her neighbours, and breach of His Majesty's Peace: it is therefore ordered that the said Jane Farrett, for the said offence, be openly ducked, and ducked three times over head and ears by the Constables of Selby aforesaid, for which this shall be their warrant—October 5, 1671."

SHEFFIELD.

The notes to many of the issuers of tokens in this town are taken from an interesting pamphlet on the "Traders' Tokens of Sheffield," by the late Llewellynn Jewitt, Esq., F.S.A., etc.

317. O.* MICHAELL . BAKER = HIS HALFE PENNY. 1/2
R. OF . SHEFFEILD . 1667 = S . B.

The initials on the reverse do not agree with the issuer's name.

318. O.* SAMVELL . BARLOW = The Grocers' Arms. 1/4

319. O.* ROBERT . BOUGHTON = His Penny. R . M . B. I

322. O.* STEPHEN . BRIGHT = HIS HALFE PENNY. 1/2
R. OF . SHEFFEILD . 1667 = S . B.

These two issuers, Robert and Stephen Bright, are believed to have been brothers, and to have been the second and third sons of Robert Bright, of Banner-Cross. Robert was born April 18, 1641, and was buried at Sheffield January 3, 1671, having married Bridgett Scargell. Stephen was born in October, 1644.

323. O.* GEORGE . BROADBENT = A greyhound. 1/2
R. IN . SHEFFEILD . 1670 = HIS HALF PENY.

The Broadbents, a Quaker family from the beginning of Quakerism, were a well-to-do family connected with the staple trade of the town; their descendants became merchants and bankers.

He carried on a considerable business; and besides his manufactory in Sheffield, he had a shop in the Minories, London, where he was succeeded by his nephew, Thomas Hollis, the founder of the Hollis's Hospital and School in Sheffield."—Hunter's "Hallamshire."

332. O. ABELL . ROLLINSON = The Ironmongers' Arms.
R. IN . SHEFFEILD . 1667 = HIS HALF PENY. $\frac{1}{2}$

Abel Rollinson is the same as the issuer of the token No. 329. In the year 1667 he seems to have been in business by himself as an ironmonger, but in 1670 was in partnership in the same trade with Richard Ibotson, a well-known manufacturing name in Sheffield of late years.

John Naylor was probably a son of the religious and fanatic impostor, James Naylor, a native of Ardsley, and who lived in Wakefield. During the civil wars James Naylor served various offices on the Parliamentary side; he took an active part in the siege of Leeds in 1643, and rose to be Quartermaster under General Lambert. For his blasphemy he was severely punished, and confined in prison in 1660. After his discharge he set out for Wakefield to see his wife and family; some miles from Huntingdon he was robbed, and from the injuries he received he shortly after died at a friend's house at Holme, near King's Repton.

- The above notes of the issuers of tokens at Whitby have been kindly sent me by Mr. G. W. Waddington, of Whitby.

Whitby Abbey is situated on a high bleak hill above the town, in this respect unlike most of the other Yorkshire abbeys, which are in low, sheltered situations; it was founded at an early period by St. Hilda, a Saxon Princess. Its arms are three ammonites; these fossils are commonly found in the rocks of the vicinity, and are vulgarly called snake-stones. The number three is emblematic of the Trinity, and frequently occurs on the bearings of the Yorkshire abbeys: Bridlington, for instance, has three Roman B's, Kirkstall three swords, Selby three swans, etc.

TOWN PIECES ISSUED AT BANDON, BELFAST, CORK, DINGLE, DUBLIN, DUNDALK, KERRY, KILKENNY, KINSALE, LIMERICK, WATERFORD, AND YOUGHAL.

Ireland.

THE copper money of Ireland is earlier in date than that of England; pennies and halfpennies of that metal having been issued by command of Queen Elizabeth. The patent farthings of James I. and Charles I. circulated equally in both countries. Soon after the Restoration, Charles II. granted a patent to Sir Thomas Armstrong for coining copper farthings; those which were issued by him average twenty-five grains in weight; but as he was not allowed by the chief Governor of Ireland to make use of his grant, very few were struck.

The five pieces of money of necessity, as called by Dr. Aquilla Smith, stand first in order of date, having been issued in 1646. Six varieties are known, three of which are dated, and were struck at Youghal and Cork. The Kerry town-piece, No. 503, is the same shape and rude execution, and may have been struck about the same time, or even earlier.

As the tokens of this kingdom are not numerous, they are placed in the alphabetical order of the towns. All the thirty-two counties issued them except Mayo; for the County of Clare there is only one; Fermanagh is only represented by Enniskillen; Leitrim has but one token, issued at Manorhamilton; Longford, three tokens, of Bellinalee, Edgworthstown, and Longford. The city of Dublin issued one hundred and fifty, about one-fifth of the entire number; the Metropolis of Ireland consequently occupies a lower position in regard to that kingdom than the Metropolis of England does to the whole country, the latter having nearly one-third of the entire series. The county of Antrim has seventy tokens distributed among twelve towns; Cork forty-two tokens to fourteen towns; and Tipperary thirty-one tokens to ten towns. Town-pieces were issued in Bandon, Belfast, Cork, Dingle, Dublin, Dundalk, Kerry, Kilkenny, Kinsale, Limerick, Waterford and Youghal.

The Irish tokens are very different from those of England, in being generally of a smaller size, in proportion to their value, and in the great preponderance of pennies, many of them being no larger than the smallest English farthings; the business of the issuer is commonly expressed by the word MERCHANT, which is rarely found on those of England.

Two proclamations were issued in 1661, prohibiting the issue of tokens; this will account for the rarity of the dates 1660, 1661, and 1662, of which years this list furnishes but two examples, viz., Hen. Coker, of Drogheda, 1660, and Thomas Cook, of Michelstown, 1661. In 1663 they seemed to have been issued as before, and were continued till 1673, when, on October 17, a proclamation forbade anyone to issue them without license from his Majesty; this seems to have checked their circulation. Probably about this period some of the older tokens were counterstruck, to make them pass at a lower value. There are twenty-two tokens of various dates from 1673 to 1679, but they are of a different style of work; two of them, issued at Cork and Kinsale, have inscribed edges.

In 1680 Sir Thomas Armstrong obtained another patent from the King to make copper halfpence. When a sufficient quantity had been struck by the patentee, the Lord-Lieutenant, by a proclamation, declared them the current coin of the realm, and forbade the use of traders' tokens, and from this time their circulation appears to have ceased.

Dr. Aquilla Smith, M.R.I.A., of Dublin, has most obligingly given me descriptions of the principal portion of the Irish tokens, placing at my disposal the whole of the very valuable manuscripts and the stores of accumulated information on the subject, the result of many years of labour. I am also indebted to Mr. J. Davis White, of Cashel; the Rev. Canon Hayman, of Youghal; Mr. R. Malcolmson, of Carlow; the Rev. Canon Grainger, D.D.; W. Fraser, Esq.; and W. J. Gillespie, Esq., and others, for constant and most kindly aid, and for many particulars of tokens from their cabinets, and of valuable notes as to issuers. To each and to all my hearty thanks are respectfully tendered.

CARLOW (Co. CARLOW).

128. O. IOHN . MASTERS . 1657 = 1^p.
R. IN . CARTHELOVGH = A bull. I

The issuer was portreve of Carlow in 1660, and is named in "The Sufferings of the Quakers" as having caused to be apprehended in that year twelve Quakers for meeting together in the fear of the Lord, and he committed them to prison till the next Session without examination or Mittinius. They were afterwards fined £320.

The Portreve resided "within ye gate," and his name is returned in that district of the town now representing Dublin Street in a schedule to an applotment of vestry cess made October 13, 1669, in which he is assessed at 10s., being the highest amount charged upon any individual in the list.

129. O. THOMAS . MOORE . OF = A stag.
R. CARLO . POSTMASTER = 1^p. I

The name of Moore appears in the vestry assessment of 1669, but this particular issuer is not named.

Postmasters' tokens are known of Antrim, Belburbet and Youghall.

130. O. GARRETT . QVIGLEY = A harp.
R. OF . CARLO . MARCH = G . Q. 1^p. I

By a charter, dated April 19, 1613, James I. granted certain privileges to the inhabitants of the town. By the charter the Corporation was to consist of "the portrieve, free burgesses, and commonalty of the borough of Carlow."

The privileges granted were confirmed by Charles II. by a charter made in 1675, changing the style of the Corporation to that of "The Sovereign, free burgesses, and communitie of the borough of Catherlough."

James II. seized to himself all the liberties and privileges of the town, by a decree of his Court of Exchequer, of his own "special grace, certain knowledge, and mere motion"; the charter granted by the late King was abrogated, and another granted in its stead, bearing date February 24, 4th year of reign Jas. II. By it the King did "make, nominate, and constitute Garrett Quigley, merchant, to be the first and modern sovereign of the said burrough."

The Quigleys were of a Munster stock, hailing from county Tipperary, and the issuer is named upon the vestry assessment already quoted. He appears to have resided in Dublin Street, and, judging from the amount of his assessment, probably occupied one of the best positions in the town.

He is said to have taken away the oak timber from the castle of Carlow, and with it roofed the houses at the Market Cross during the year of his reign over the town.

In 1693, in the vestry records of the parish church, we find his name appearing as a donor of £10 towards the "repayre of the church," which is one-third part of the entire amount raised by the parish.

The family does not now exist in Carlow.

In the list of free burgesses previously referred to in the charter of 1675, the name of Edward Reynolds, gentleman, appears fifth on the list. At the time of the granting of this new charter he filled the office of deputy-portreve under the charter of James I. He afterwards became sovereign of the borough, and is supposed to have died between 1686 and 1694.

Peter Boyton is one of the subscribing witnesses to the will of Edward Mihill, dated February 6, 1663 (see hereafter).

The name appears amongst the names of Common Council and Aldermen appointed in 1687 by the charter of James II., and amongst those in the marriage registry of about that date.

In the old cathedral upon the rock there is a small shield, upon which are the arms of Boyton, three spur-rowels, with the name of Boyton in old English letters upon it.

The issuer was one of the Common Council appointed under the charter above mentioned, and by the same charter two of the same name were appointed Aldermen, and three of the same name Common Councillors, so that evidently the family was of some importance at the time.

The issuer was most probably connected with the Roman Catholic Archbishop of Cashell, David Kearney, who was descended from a family whose name was long honourably connected with Cashell, and who was born in 1568. It is probable that from this dignitary the crozier which belonged to St. Patrick came into possession of the Kearney family, in whose hands the precious relic remained until handed over to the late Most Rev. Dr. Slattery, Roman Catholic Archbishop of Cashell; and it now constitutes a part of the crozier in the possession of the present Archbishop.

The relic, the authenticity of which can be proved by legal evidence, conferred upon the family of its possessors the proud title of "Kearney Crux."

Monuments to various members of the family in Cashell attest to the importance of its status in the seventeenth century.

150. O. EDWARD . MIHILL = A cathedral.

R. OF . CASHALL = E . M. 1^D. and five stars of five points. I

The issuer is believed to have been a retired trooper of Cromwell's, and his will appears in the district registry of the Probate Court, Waterford, and in it he bequeaths all his property to his wife, and appoints her sole executrix. It is dated February 6, 1663, and probate was granted June 10, 1663.

151. O. IOHN . NEVE = Arms of the family: on a cross five fleurs-de-lys.

R. IN . CASHELL = I . N. 1^D. I

The name of John Neve, sen., is found as witness to a will of John Neve, dated 1667, and a John Neaves was buried February 28, 1672.

The will of John Neve, dated December 25, 1667, is in existence, and is supposed to be the will of the issuer; and the family continued to reside in Cashell until the year 1820, when it became extinct by death.

152. O. IOHN . PEENE = The Arms of the Neve family, as above.

R. IN . CASHELL = I . P. 1^D. and two cinquefoils. I

153. O. ROBERT . PRINCE = A castle.

R. OF . CASHELL . 1664 = 1^D. and two stars of five points. I

KILKENNY (Co. KILKENNY).

The notes on these tokens are extracted from a valuable article by John G. A. Prim, Esq., in the "Transactions of the Kilkenny Archæological Society" (vol. ii., p. 159). If the entire series of tokens were illustrated in a similar manner, valuable information might be obtained relative to the eventful period at which they were struck. Now that the antiquities of our native land are better appreciated, it is to be hoped that many provincial antiquaries will follow Mr. Prim's example; as the study of these memorials of a past age can only be efficiently carried on by persons possessing an intimate knowledge of the localities in which the tokens were issued.

512. O. FOR . THE . POORE = C . K. 1659.

R. KILKENNY . PENY = A castle, below it a lion couchant. I

The letters C . K. are the initials of "City of Kilkenny"; the triple-towered castle and lion couchant are the city arms. This piece was issued by the authority of the Corporation, which at that time exercised a supervision and control over everything appertaining to the trade of the city. The first mention of tokens in the Corporation books is under the date August 12, 1658, the Mayor, Thomas Adams, presiding, when an "Acte touching Brass Coyne" was passed.

513. O. THOMAS . ADAMS = C . K. 1658.

R. KILKENNY . PENY = A castle and a lion couchant. I

514. O. THOMAS . ADAMS = C . K. 1658.

R. KILKENNY . HAPENY = A castle and a lion couchant. $\frac{1}{2}$

The two preceding were issued by the Corporation during the Mayoralty of Thomas Adams, the year in which he died. Further reference is made to tokens in the Corporation books, December 12, 1672, when a number of resolutions were passed; one, that Mayor Adams' pence should go for a farthing; another, that such persons as put out pence should give bail. It is evident from this that tokens were circulated in Ireland after Charles II.'s Proclamation of 1673 forbidding them, which is further supported by the existence of a few specimens issued after this date.

515. O. IOHN . BEAVOR = A beaver standing.

R. OF . KILKENY = I . B. 1^d. I

John Beavor, or Beaver, as his named is frequently spelled, seems to have been a settler in Kilkenny after its subjugation by Cromwell, the name not being previously met with in the municipal records. He held the Puritan doctrines introduced by the Parliamentary soldiers, as he is returned as one of the frequenters of "an unlawful conventicle," after the Restoration. In 1661 he was a member of the Corporation. He was ordered by that body in 1667 to give security to pay in good money for such tokens as were returned to him, otherwise they were to be cried down.

516. O. THOMAS . DAVIS . KILKENY = A lion's head erased.

R. EXCISE . OFFIS = 1^d. I

There is a difficulty as to the identification of the particular Thomas Davis who struck the token. A muster-roll of the militia at that time raised in Kilkenny mentions three of the name; one is particularly specified as "Tho. Davys, Taylor," who carried a pike; a second was armed with a musket, and the third with a pike. A Thomas Davis was elected Sheriff in 1660. The family of Davis, Davys, or Davies, of Kilkenny, claim to be of the stock of Sir John Davys, Knight, Marshal of Connaught, temp. Elizabeth, descended through the Shropshire branch from the ancient family of Davies of Gwassanan, Flintshire, who bore for their crest a lion's head erased, quarterly argent and sable.

517. O. PETER . GOODIN . OF = 1^D.

R. KILKENY . MARCHANT = A fleur-de-lys. I

Peter Goodin was Sheriff of Kilkenny in 1657, and Mayor for two years consecutively in 1664 and 1665. The family was very ancient in the city; a John Godyn was sovereign of the town as early as 1316. The name was sometimes written Goodwin.

518. O. RICHARD . INWOOD = A windmill.

R. IN . KILLKENY = 1^D. I

Richard Inwood was, like Beavor, a settler in Kilkenny; he was an innkeeper, probably his house was called the Windmill. At the commencement of the seventeenth century the business of an innkeeper was a rare one; the necessity of an establishment where strangers could procure lodging and entertainment was felt so much in Kilkenny, that the Corporation offered premiums to induce people to open hotels. In 1591 an annuity of forty shillings was granted, according to the Red Book of Kilkenny, to a person for "keeping an ordinary for strangers"; and in 1619 an allowance of £5 per annum was given to a person to induce him to "keep an inn to entertain the Lords Justices, and noblemen and gentlemen coming to the city." Bishop Williams names Richard Inwood, innkeeper, amongst the frequenters of the conventicle in 1661. He was Common Councilman in 1667, probably elected to that office before the Restoration, as the order of Charles II., for having the oath of supremacy taken by all civic officials seems to have been for some time a sad stumbling-block in the way of his subsequent advancement to municipal dignities. When elected Sheriff in 1668, he did not take the whole oath of supremacy, for which he was summoned to show cause why the fine should not be paid for refusing; the termination of the proceedings is uncertain, it is only known that another person was elected the same year. Whether Inwood was converted from dissent by the indefatigable denunciation, oral and written, of Bishop Williams, does not appear; but in a few years after, all his conscientious scruples about the oath of supremacy would seem to have vanished. At a meeting of the Corporation in 1671, there is an entry in the White Book, to the effect that Henry Cookson, having been elected Sheriff, was called to be sworn, but not appearing, he was fined ten pounds for his default; "Mr. Richard Inwood was chosen in his place and sworn, and he took the oath of supremacy." In 1672 he was sworn Coroner of the city, and again took the previously obnoxious oath.

519. O. WILLIAM . KEOUGH = 1^D.

R. KILKENY . GOLDSMITH = A mermaid.

small I

Keough, like many of his contemporaries, appears to have had conscientious scruples about subscribing to the oath of supremacy, though whether as a Protestant Dissenter or a Roman Catholic is uncertain. He was sworn Master of the Company of Hammermen, having bought a dispensation from the Lord-Lieutenant and Council for not taking the oath of supremacy. The population and trade of Kilkenny were so reduced by the wars and disturbances of the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries, that the Corporation reduced the number of trade companies; amongst the hammermen were included smiths, cutlers, goldsmiths, and all others working with the hammer in metals.

520. O. JOHN . LANGTON . IN = Arms of the Langton family: three chevrons.

R. KILKENNY . MAR = 1^D. I

John Langton was grandson of Nicholas Langton, who was employed by the Corporation in 1609 to go to London to obtain from King James I. the great charter, creating Kilkenny a city. Nicholas Langton built the great stone house, now known as the Butter-slip, and also the mansion of Grenan, near Durrow. His eldest son, James, had twenty-five sons and daughters; of these the third was John, the issuer of the token.

521. O. THOMAS . NEVELL . OF = 1658. 1^D.

R. KILKENY . 1658 = A harp. I

Nothing is known of Thomas Nevell.

522. O. THOMAS . POOLE . OF = A lion rampant.

R. KILKENY . MARCH = 1^D. I

Engraved in "Kilkenny Transactions," vol. i., p. 392, New Series.

523. O. IAMES . PURCELL = Arms of the Purcell family: three boars' heads, a crescent for difference.

R. IRISHTOWNE . KILLNY = I . P. 1^D. I

There were many persons of this name in trade in Kilkenny in the seventeenth century. The family was one of great respectability, having for its head the Baron of Loughmoe, co. Tipperary, but also having several branches possessed of large property in the county of Kilkenny, as those of Ballyfoile, Foulksrath, Lismain, etc.

524. O. EDWARD . ROTH . MARCHANT = A stag trippant in front of a tree; the crest of the Roth family.

R. IN . KILKENNY . 1663 = E . R. 1^D.

small I

The name of Roth first appears in the civic records in 1403, when Thomas Roth was sovereign or Chief Magistrate of the town. David Roth, Roman Catholic Bishop of Ossory, was son of a Kilkenny merchant, famous alike for the part he played in the politics and literature of the first half of the seventeenth century. In the charter of James I., which raised Kilkenny to the dignity of a city, four of the Roth family are nominated Aldermen.

Edward Roth, who struck the token, was Sheriff in 1651. On March 28 of the preceding year, when Cromwell's besieging army was before the city, he was one of the four commissioners nominated by the gallant governor, Sir Walter Butler, to negotiate terms of surrender; and for the fulfilment of the treaty, remained in the camp of the besiegers.

The family suffered severely by its adherence to the fortunes of James II., and has since died out in Kilkenny.

525. O. EDWARD . SEWELL . OF = A man making candles.

R. KILLKENY . TALLOW . CHAN = 1^D. I

Edward Sewell is unnoticed in the Corporation records, but a William Sewell, who united the trades of shoemaker and butcher, makes a considerable figure. When the Kilkenny trade companies were consolidated, the Glovers' Company was to consist of glovers, feltmakers, and chandlers.

526. O. RALPH . SKANLAN = 1^D.

R. KILLKENY . 1656 = A swan. I

Ralph Skanlan was a member of the Corporation, and Sheriff in 1663; he died in office on July 19.

527. O. THOMAS . TALBOT . OF = 1^D.

R. KILLKENY . VINTNER = The sun in splendour. I

Thomas Talbot was in the militia company amongst the contingent of pikemen; in the muster-roll also appear the names of John Beaver, Thomas Davis, Peter Goodwin, Richard Inwood, and John Whittle, all issuers of tokens. The company appears to have been composed of shopkeepers and traders of respectability.

A Robert Talbot built the walls of Kilkenny in 1400; the family was highly respectable amongst the trading community. The sun in splendour is part of the bearings of the Distillers' Company.

528. O. LVCAS . WALE . OF = Arms of the Wale family : on a cross five lions rampant ; a rose in the first quarter for a mark of cadency, denoting a seventh son.

R. KILKENY . MERCHANT = L . I . W . 1^d.

I

The family of Wale or Wall was of some standing ; Lucas Wale, being a Roman Catholic, could not enter the Corporation during the reign of Charles II., as the oath of supremacy was an effectual bar against him. After the accession of James II., matters were changed in the first year of his reign ; the Earl of Clarendon, then Lord-Lieutenant of Ireland, forwarded a letter to the Mayor and citizens of Kilkenny, directing them to elect Roman Catholic freemen and corporators. This order was unwillingly complied with ; an entry in the Corporation minute book, under date July 2, 1686, states that "seventeen Papists were sworn of the second council" ; and on July 6 "Luke Wall, one of the above, was elected Sheriff." He died before he had completed his year of office.

529. O. IOHN . WHITTLE . IN = The Commonwealth Arms.

R. KILKENY . 1656 = 1^d.

I

The family of Whittle was founded in Kilkenny by a soldier of Cromwell's army, one Job Whittle, who lived to the extraordinary age of 127 years. John was son of the patriarch, whose cause he obviously espoused, from the circumstance of having the Commonwealth Arms on his token, which are seldom met with, though the Royal Arms after the Restoration are very common. He filled the office of Sheriff during part of the year 1664, and Coroner the ensuing year. In 1670 he was admitted to the Common Council, having, as the record expressly states, "taken the oath of supremacy."

In 1714, Job Whittle was elected town sergeant to the Corporation of Irishtown, and his family were for nearly two centuries hereditary pound-keepers of St. Canice's parish, having obtained a long lease from the Corporation. This expired a few years since, when the present representative of the Whittles, a man in humble circumstances, bearing the name of his ancestor, Job, was dispossessed of the office by the Town Council.

530. O. FOR . Y^E . VSE . & . CONVENIENCIE = A triple tower.

R. OF . THE . INHABITANTS = KILKENY HAPENNY. 1677. $\frac{1}{2}$

This token is remarkable from its date, which is posterior to the Proclamation crying down these pieces, and was evidently illegally issued. In the White Book of the Corporation, under date December 7, 1677, is the following entry :

"The inscription of Mr. Tobin's pence (for y^e use and) with ye Castell on y^t side : on y^e other side (of y^e inhabitants) and within y^e sirckell is written (Kilkenny 1677 and 6 littell stars).

"Put to y^e vote whether y^e above named pence of Mr. Edmond Tobin should pass or not. Then voted in y^e negative ; and ordered y^t they should be suppressed or not suffered to pass as current."

Edmond Tobin was a member of the Merchants' Guild.

There are a few other Irish tokens after 1673, which are of a different style from the previously tolerated if not illegal currency.

By the kindness of Albert Wight, Esq., of Brabœuf Manor, near Guildford, the head and representative of the parent-stock of the Wight family, we are enabled to subjoin a long and most interesting note relative to the issuer of this token and of his family and descendants. The information was compiled by A. Crossley Hobart Seymour, Esq., of Naples, the representative in the female line of the Irish branch of the family, in January, 1862.

Edward Wight, son of Thomas Wight, of Brabœuf Manor, near Guildford, accompanied General Ireton to Ireland, and, settling in Limerick, was elected Sheriff of that city in 1676, and served the office of Mayor in 1694, and again in 1711. During his occupancy of the civic chair, money became very scarce in Limerick, and an Act was passed authorising him to have coin struck at the Limerick Mint. In Ferrar's "History of Limerick" there is a lengthened history of the Wights, and an accurate description of the money which was coined at that time, with the Arms of Limerick on one side, the Arms of Wight on the other side, and the name of "Edward Wight," Mayor. Several of these tokens were in the possession of Frances Wight, his daughter, but during the troubles of 1798, the rebels helped themselves to everything they could lay their hands upon.

Some years after Edward Wight was elected Mayor of Limerick, he returned to England, and brought back with him to Ireland eleven sisters, all of whom married into the most respectable families amongst the English settlers in the city and county of Limerick, and the county of Clare ; and in the records that remain, we find the names of Tierney, Pike, Piggot, Hobart, Nicholson, Stevens, Daxon, Hickman (from whom the present Lord Charlemont descends), Hartwell (from whom the present Baronet of that name descends), Holland (from whom the late Sir Gore Ouseley, Bart., and Sir William Ouseley, descend), and Odell (grandfather of the late William Odell, Esq., many years representative of the county of Limerick in the Irish Parliament).

The descendants of those families are amongst the most respectable and influential in the South of Ireland. The intermarriages between the Wights, Hobarts, and Seymours from that period to the present day have been most frequent, and for several successive generations first cousins have married first cousins, thereby confining their immediate connexions too much within their own circle.

The eldest son of Edward Wight was named Rice Wight, after several members of the Brabœuf family. He had a son John Wight, whose line became extinct.

Richard Wight, the second son, in Holy Orders, was Archdeacon of Limerick, and Rector of Rathronan. He died in 1762, and left a son and two daughters, viz. :

1. Edward Wight, also Rector of Rathronan, and Archdeacon of Limerick. He married Miss Burgh, relict of Michael Cox, Esq., nephew of Dr. Michael Cox, Archbishop of Cashell, and grandson of Sir Richard Cox, Bart., Lord Chancellor of Ireland. He left issue a son and two daughters, viz. :

Edward Wight, in Holy Orders, Rector of Rathronan, who married his cousin Mary, daughter of the Rev. William John Bowen, of Bowen's Court; and had one son, Edward, and a daughter, Catherine. Both died unmarried.

Catherine Wight, married to Thomas Spring, Esq., of Castlemain, and had an only child, Catherine Spring, who married, in 1785, Stephen Edward Rice, Esq., of Mount Trenchard, co. Limerick, and left issue Thomas Spring Rice, present Lord Monteagle, and Mary Rice, married to Sir Aubrey de Vere, Bart, of Curragh.

Elizabeth Wight, married to Molesworth Greene, Esq., of Mountpellier, near Dublin, and died without issue.

2. Elizabeth Wight, eldest daughter of Archdeacon Richard Wight, married Bartholomew Gibbons, Esq., of Gibbons' Grove, co. of Cork, and left five sons and four daughters. The eldest son, in Holy Orders, married, firstly, Miss Hyde, daughter of Arthur Hyde, of Castle Hyde, Esq., M.P. for the co. of Cork; secondly, Catherine, sister to William Odell, Esq., of the Grove, M.P. for the co. of Limerick. He left a daughter and two sons.

Two of the sons of Bartholomew Gibbons were colonels in the East India Company's service.

Dr. Thomas Gibbons, an eminent physician, was father of Mary Gibbons, now Viscountess Combermere.

Of the four daughters, one married Mr. Yielding, of Kerry; and another Mr. Crofts, of Velvetstown—both leaving a numerous issue.

3. Catherine Wight, who married the Rev. William John Bowen, of Bowen's Ford, and left several daughters, viz. : Mary, married her cousin, Rev. Edward Wight; Elizabeth, married Lullum Battwell, Esq.; another married Mr. Croker; and Jane, married John Fitzmaurice, Esq., of Lixnaw, in Kerry, grandson of the Hon. James Fitzmaurice, brother of Thomas, first Earl of Kerry, the family of the present Marquis of Lansdowne.

The first wife of Edward Wight, Mayor of Limerick, was a Miss Hoare, of a highly respectable family, long seated in Limerick, from whom descends the Rev. Dean Hoare, a gentleman of great benevolence and philanthropy, under whose superintendence the Cathedral of Limerick was much improved and beautified in 1752. He left two sons by Miss Ingram, niece of Dr. Arthur Smyth, Archbishop of Dublin, of the family of the present Lord Gert : Rev. John Hoare, who married Rachel, daughter of Sir Edward Newenham; and Rev. William Hoare, who married Miss Guinness, sister of Arthur Guinness, Esq., of Beaumont.

The second wife of Edward Wight was Miss Bindon, daughter of Alderman Henry Bindon, but by her he had no issue.

The third wife was Miss Hawkesworth (whose sister had married William Hobart, Esq., of Dunmore), by whom he had four other sons and three daughters, viz. :

1. John, of whom presently.
2. Thomas, died unmarried.
3. Williamson, in Holy Orders, who married Barbara, daughter of Sir George Mitchell, and left Edward Wight, John Wight (both of whom died without issue), Elizabeth Wight (who married William Galway, Esq.), and Philicia Wight (married to Dr. Aikenhead, of Cork).
4. George, who left a son, Picmar Wight, who married his cousin, Mary Wight, daughter of Alderman John Wight.
5. Frances, married to William Hobart, Esq., eldest son of William Hobart, Esq., of Dunmore, co. of Waterford, by his wife, Miss Hawkesworth.
6. Jane, married to William Seymour, Esq., and had a son, the Rev. John Seymour, who married his cousin, Miss Grizelda Hobart, and was father of the late Admiral Sir Michael Seymour, Bart., father of the present Sir John Hobart Culme Seymour, and Admiral Sir Michael Seymour.
7. Judith, married to William McCormack, Esq., who wrote a "History of the Siege of Derry," quoted by Lord Macaulay in his history.

Alderman Edward Wight died in 1723. His eldest son by this third marriage, John Wight, Esq., seated at Wightfield, near Limerick, was Sheriff of Limerick in 1729, and filled the civic chair in 1741. He married his cousin, Frances, daughter of William Hobart, Esq., of Dunmore, great-grandson of Sir Miles Hobart, of Buckinghamshire, whose father's will was dated 1678, and sealed with the arms of that ancient family. The aforesaid John Wight, Mayor of Limerick, died in 1782, leaving issue one son and two daughters, viz. :

The Rev. Edward Wight, Rector of Melick and St. Munchin's, in Limerick, married his cousin, Frances, eldest daughter of William Hobart, Esq., of High Mount, co. of Cork, and of Mount Melick, in the King's County, by whom he left at his decease, in 1775, two sons and two daughters, viz. :

Hobart Wight, died unmarried.

John Wight, of Trinity College, died unmarried.

Catherine Wight, married the Rev. John Crossley Seymour.

Frances Wight, who died unmarried.

Eliza Wight, married to Sexten Baylee, Esq., Alderman and Mayor of Limerick in 1758, and left issue, Jane Wight, died unmarried.

Mary Wight, married her cousin, Picmar Wight, and died in 1830, at an advanced age, leaving

George Wight, who died unmarried.

John Wight, who married Catherine, daughter of Henry Cole Bowen, of Bowen's Court, but had no surviving issue.

The eldest brother of Mrs. John Wight married the Hon. Catherine Prettie, eldest daughter of the first Lord Dunally. One of her sisters married the late Baron Metge, M.P. for Dundalk in the Irish Parliament. Another sister, Thomasine Bowen, married the Hon. George Jocelyn, second son of the first Earl of Roden. John Wight died a few years since, at an advanced age, and with him died the last of the male line of this branch of the Wight family. He was uncle by marriage of Louisa Joan Jocelyn, who married the Hon. and Rev. Edward Wingfield, brother of Lord Powerscourt; of Thomasine Jocelyn, the present Countess of Donoughmore; and Thomasine Emily, the wife of the Right Hon. Frederick Shaw, Recorder of Dublin.

The youngest surviving sister of the said John Wight, Grizelda Wight, married the Rev. Thomas Jones, who was ordained a Missionary to the South Sea Islands, in 1798, at the Countess of Huntingdon's Chapel in London, and sailed for the place of destination on board the Missionary ship Duff, which was captured by a Spanish privateer; and after suffering great hardships, and the wives of the Missionaries being separated from their husbands and children, were put on board a vessel to convey them to England, which vessel was again taken by a Portuguese ship of war, and they were taken to Lisbon, from whence they ultimately got to England, having suffered the loss of all earthly property. One of Mrs. Jones's children, Ruth Wight Jones, died on the passage, when her mortal remains were fastened to a shutter, with a stone attached to her feet, and, after the funeral service was read, and a hymn sung, were committed to the deep.

The sole representation of the Irish branch of the Wight family now rests in the children of Catherine Wight, A. Crossley Hobart Seymour and Edward Wight Seymour.

The eldest son had the name Crossley, as he inherited property with the name. He inherited also from his grandmother, whose maiden name was Hobart, and from his mother and his aunt, Frances Wight, who were heiresses.

In him, as the elder branch, both by father, mother, and grandmother's side, and in Sir John Hobart Culme Seymour, Bart., now rests the representation of the Hobart family.

YOUGHALL (Co. CORK).

760. O. THE . ARMS OF . YOUGHALL = The Arms of Youghall: a ship.R. IF . NOT . LIKED . ILE . CHANG . THEM = I^D . P . G.
1658. I

The initials are those of Peter Godwin, Bailiff in 1657, who died September 28, 1660, and was buried in St. Mary's Church.

761. O. THE . ARMES . OF . YOUGHALL = The Arms of Youghall: a ship.R. IF . NOT . LIKED . ILE . CHAING . THEM = I^D . P . G.
1658. I

The word "them" in this token is in type very considerably smaller than the rest of the token.

762. O. THOMAS . COOKE . MERCHANT = A pair of scales.R. HIS . FARTHING = TC. conjoined. 1671.

Thomas Cooke wrote a history of the town, and was Mayor of it repeatedly. On this account the token is claimed for Youghall, though the town is not named on it. No. 637 is believed to be by the same issuer, as the initials of this name are conjoined in similar fashion, and this monogram may probably have been his trade-mark.

Mitchellstown and Youghall are both in co. Cork.

763. O. IOHN . GERALD . OF = The Arms and Crest of the Fitzgerald family.R. YOVGHALL . 1667 = I . I . G.

The heraldic bearings of this token, the shield with the saltire, and the ape as crest, would apparently denote the issuer's descent from the old feudal suzerains of Youghall, the Geraldines.

A John Gerald served as Bailiff of Youghall in 1671 and 1672, and was buried May 3, 1683.

764. O. FLORENCE . GILES . OF = A griffin rampant.R. THE . TOWNE . OF . YAHALL = F . G.

This family came to Youghall from Bowden, in Devonshire, about the middle of the seventeenth century. Four anterior descents are given in the Devon visitation of 1620. At Youghall they were seated in the old colleges, and always maintained, both in town and county, a high patrician place. The issuer is supposed to be a female, and to be the person referred to in the following entry in the parish register:

"1671, Januarie 6th, Mrs. florences Gyles, widdow, was buried."

765. O. JOHN . HANCOCKE . 1666 = Arms in a shield : a dexter hand couped and erect ; on a chief three cocks, forming a rebus on the name.

R. OF . YOVGHALL . MARCHANT = I . H.

The issuer was of a Devon family seated at Combmartin, on the borders of Somersetshire. He served as Bailiff of Youghall in 1657, and as Mayor in 1668, but died June 2, 1669, and is declared as being then Mayor of the town.

766. O. WALTER . HIBBARD = The Arms of the Hibberd family : a star of six points between two flaunches ermine.

R. OF . YOVGHALL . 1668 = W . M . H.

The name of Hibbard is unknown in the neighbourhood, while that of Hubbard is common, and the token is, therefore, supposed to be the issue of a Walter Hubbert, gent., whose baby's baptism was entered November 3, 1668. This individual served as Bailiff of Youghall in 1676. The token is extremely rare.

767. O. THOMAS . IONES = An anchor.

R. IN . YOVGHALL = T . I.

The name is of common occurrence in Youghall, but it has not been found possible to exactly trace the issuer.

768. O. JOHN . LVTHER . OF = 1672. 1^p.

R. YOVGHALL . MERCHANT = JOHN LVTHER in monogram.
(Countermarked YOVGHALL, and IL. conjoined.) 1

769. A variety is not countermarked.

This family claimed kindred with the Reformer, and were large landed proprietors in Essex, and representatives of the county in Parliament.

John Luther, born in Essex 1623, settled at Youghall about 1650, and married the daughter of Richard and Florence Giles, referred to under 764. He served as Bailiff in 1659, and Mayor in 1666 and 1681, and in the latter year erected a dwelling-house in Windmill Lane, bearing a tablet with his initials and date, which, in 1858, was still standing, and in good condition.

He was appointed Alderman under the new charter in 1688, and Commissioner of Poll-tax in 1697, but in that year died of fever on December 18, aged 74, and was buried in the nave of St. Mary's Collegiate Church.

770. O. EDWARD . LAWNDEY = The Fishmongers' Arms.

R. IN . YAVGHALL = E . L.

This issuer was of a London family, served as Bailiff of Youghall in 1669, and was three times chosen as Mayor, in the years 1671, 1672, and 1679.

In 1672, June 24, he leased from the Corporation a plot of ground near the Watergate, and upon it erected the Exchange of Youghall. In 1672-73, February 26, he leased from members of the Renayne family other pieces of ground in the vicinity, and built several houses upon them ; and in 1674, May 28, he took from the Corporation ground near the Exchange, reaching towards the water, and here he made a spacious quay. Linely, in his "Irish Tour of 1681," speaking of Youghall, says :

"The harbour is very sure and safe. The chiefest trader and richest merchant of the town is one Mr. Lawndey, who erected an additional wharf, and hath built and contributed much to the decoration of the town by fair houses thereon towards ye Blackwater."

Mr. Lawndey was drowned in his passage to England, August 18, 1693. By Agnes his wife, sister of John Merrick, of Youghall, he left four sons, and died "seised of considerable real and personal estates."

771. O. IOHN . MERRICK = Arms : a chevron between three fleurs-de-lys.

R. OF . YOVGHALL = I . M.

The issuer was Bailiff in 1667, and Mayor in 1677. A copy of the Breeches Bible, once his property, and containing many family entries, was, in 1858, in the possession of Jeremiah Merrick, of 83, North Main Street, Youghall, who was his lineal descendant.

772. O. EDWARD . PERRY = The Prince of Wales's feathers.

R. OF . YOVGHALL = E . D . P. 1667.

773. O. EDWARD . PERRY = EDWARD P. in monogram.

R. OF . YOVGHALL . 1672 = The Prince of Wales's feathers

774. A variety is countermarked with a pair of shears.

The issuer served as Bailiff in 1664, and as Mayor in 1674, and he was buried at St. Mary's on November 18, 1696, aged 66 years.

775. O. IOHN . PINNE = I . P.

R. OF . YOVGHALL = 1657.

The issuer was bailiff in 1664.

The name is now spelt Pyne, and still exists in Youghall.

776. O. THOMAS . VAVGHAN = The Arms of the Vaughan family : three boys' heads couped at the shoulders, two and one.

R. OF . YOVGHALL = T . V.

The issuer was Bailiff 1654, and the next year Mayor, and he was also Mayor in 1658.

The family is an important family in Brecknockshire.

777. O. ABRAHAM . VAVGHAN . POST = A man on horseback, blowing a horn.

I

Probably a relation of the last issuer.

778. O. THOMAS . WALTERS = An acorn on a branch.

R. MARCHANT . OF . YOVGHALL = T . W.

The issuer served as Bailiff in 1687, and as Mayor in 1693. The parish register records his interment in St. Mary's Church :

"1697, August 13, Tho. Walters, Alderman, about forty, Consumption, Buried."

779. O. ANDREW . WANDRIK = A fleur-de-lys.

R. IN . YOGHILL . 1656 = A . W.

small

The issuer was Bailiff in 1648, Mayor in 1651, and Recorder in 1656, and on September 29 of that year he had voted to him by the Corporation "for his great and rare pains in the supplym^t of that Employment of Recorder the yearly sum of ten pounds."

This token was issued by Sir William Dick of Braid to circulate amongst his cutlers and saltmakers.—Leahe's "Historical Account of Eye Money," p. 104.

Sir William Dick was Lord Provost of Edinburgh, and a very eminent merchant, with a fortune of upwards of £50,000. Having the means, he did not want the inclination to assist his countrymen, the Covenanters, with large sums of money to defray the necessary expenses of the war; but they failing in their payments, he so far overstrained his credit, that his bills were returned protested, and he was totally ruined. He thereupon earnestly applied for relief to the Parliaments of England and Scotland. According to his state of the account, there were due to him from England £36,803; from Scotland, £28,131; in all, £64,934, for the payment of which he had warrants granted on the Chamber of London in 1641; on the English Customs in 1643 and 1644; on the cavaliers' estates in 1646; and on the excise of wine, in Scotland, 1651. It appears by Lord Loudon's, the Chancellor of Scotland, letters to the English House of Commons, and to the Commissioners of London, 1644, that there was a clear balance due to Dick of £34,000 from that nation. Notwithstanding these warrants for repayment, and the application of the Scots to their brethren in England, he had only recovered £1,000 in 1653, after sixteen years' solicitation, during which time he was reduced to so great straits, that he was arrested for some small debts contracted for his necessary subsistence, and, as it seems, died in prison December 19, 1655, aged 75.

This token is of good workmanship, thicker and heavier than the usual seventeenth century-tokens, which it must have preceded by a few years.

Diamond-shaped tokens will be found on pages 241, 802, 821, 1424.

INDEX VI.

INDEX OF VALUES.

It has not been found possible to prepare this Index, which was announced in Vol. I. In very many instances the value of the token does not appear on its face, and there are eccentricities of size which prevent the adoption of any fixed rule to determine the value. In Ireland especially it was found that an Index of values would be most difficult of preparation as the bulk of the tokens appear to have been current for a penny whilst equivalent in size to those passing in England for a farthing. Very many correspondents in sending in descriptions omitted to put any mark of supposed value to the tokens, which increased the difficulty of cataloguing. As a rule those marked on their face as halfpenny tokens are so designated in the book; but to group the series into the three orders of penny, halfpenny and farthing was not possible.

Special values will be found under the Index of Peculiarities, No. VIII.

INDEX VII.

TRADES.

As a general rule the issuers of tokens do not define their trade upon their pieces. In many cases the trade is determined by the presence of the arms of the craft guild (see Index of Devices). In some instances the trade is denoted, and those trades which are of special interest and unusual occurrence are here detailed. It is believed that all the trades referred to are mentioned in this Index, but to economise space reference figures are not given to those crafts which occur constantly and frequently.

Almost all the craft guilds still existing, and many of those that have ceased to exist, as the Pinners' and Websters', will be found to possess representatives in this Index.

Where the trade is not so mentioned its distinguishing device denoting it may often be found in the Index of Devices (q.v.).

The numbers refer to pages.
